THE NAVAL REVIEW.

Power of Britain's Marine Forces Exhibited.

WONDERFUL DISPLAY ON SATURDAY

At Spithead—On a Signal From the Renown Cheers Went Up Simultaneously From 25 Miles of Warships—Foreign Ships of War on View—Display of Fireworks at Sea in the Evening.

Ryde, Isle of Wight, June 26.—The apotheosis of Great Britain rightly culminated on the waters of the Solent. London witnessed the sumptuous outpouring of loyalty, the love of a proud people for their Sovereign, an exhibition of national growth and domination in the long train of princes and potentates which graced the Queen's triumph. All of it put together, however, furnished no such living picture of the might of Britain—the might that has made right over and over again—as was afforded this morning by the great naval display in these waters. Nor has there been anything this week, in all that has gone before, to bring home so vividly the material changes of the Queen's long reign. When Her Majesty ascended the throne the "Wails of England" were wooden. There were no steel battle ships, no iron cruisers, no triple engines, no steam in use in war vessels, no search lights, no electricity in the service of man, no great or quick-firing guns, no torpedoes. The sights aboard were such as with dirt and greed and were no more brilliant than wastes' oil could be; the guns were still fired with a slow match; the three-decker was still the model of all that was worthy in naval architecture, and tonnage was reckoned within such modest limits that a vessel of more than 3000 was looked upon as a marine wonder.

Never before, therefore, had a sovereign seen such changes in the bulwarks of empire as has fallen to the lot of Queen Victoria. At Spithead this morning were assembled the latest triumphs of the industrial revolution under Victoria; triumphs of workers of iron and steel and metals; triumphs of inventors; triumphs of chemists and the giants of the laboratory; triumphs of the ship builder, the engineer and the artisan; triumphs of the genius of a great nation. This may be demonstrated better by figures. In 1837 the total number of ships in commission was 196. Omitting steam paddle tugs, not then considered vessels of war, and other small craft, such as cutters, receiving ships, yachts and packet brigs, the navy list comprised 120 ships, whereof the largest had a displacement of 4000 tons. The navy list this year, including ships in and out of commission, but on the list, comprises 439 vessels, mounting 2359 guns, with a tonnage of 1,163,210 and a horse power of 1,887,595. This growth has synchronized with the change from wooden walls to armor of proof, from propulsion by sails to propulsion by steam, from armaments of many guns to armaments of few guns of tremendous power, the concentration of the 1837 broadside of 10 guns into one monster piece of ordinance.

It is perhaps a pity that in the seven lines of the British fleet at Spithead, there was not anchored one old three-decker to emphasize this startling change. For the men-of-war that first saluted the Queen in the long ago, were magnificent sights with their high decks and towering masts bearing billow on billow of swelling sail, riding the waves like great sea birds and reveling to the full all the wild witchery of the romance of the ocean. Far different were the great battle ships this morning with their sullen steel sides and short masts, great guns, rams and torpedoes—everything that gave the sense of power, the brutality of force. The total array of armed vessels was 168, manned by 45,000 men and moored in lines of five miles each. The 14 foreign war ships formed the sixth line. The aggregate British tonnage was about 670,000 tons. The fleet was drawn up in seven lines on the south of the Solent, the head of the lines being off Brading, thence stretching westward almost to Cowes. The outer line of all on either side of the Sturbridge shoal, and known as "E" line, was composed of 14 special merchant vessels, wherof the American liner New York was one.

Next, in "A" line, were the foreign men-of-war. These were United States of America—first-class armored cruiser Brooklyn; Rear Admiral Miller. France—first-class cruiser Pothuau; Rear Admiral the Marquis de Courthille. Austria-Hungary—Iron-clad Wien; Vice-Admiral Hermann Baron Spann. Italy—battle ship Lepanto; Vice-Admiral Morin. Russia—battle ship Russia; Rear Admiral Nicholas Skrydloff. Germany—first-class battle ship Konig Wilhem; Rear Admiral H. I. H. Prince Henry of Prussia, K. G. Spain—the Vizcaya; Rear Admiral Segismundo Pareojoy Moreda. Netherlands—the Evertsen; Rear Admiral F. K. Huckebrecht. Denmark—the Helligoland; Rear Admiral H. H. Koch. Sweden—the Gotha; Rear Admiral Klintberg. Portugal—battle ship Vasco di Gama; Captain Barreto de Vasconcellos. Siam—cruiser Maha Chakri.

"B," "C," "D," "E," and "G" lines consisted entirely of British men-of-war, from the Majestic and Renown the latest type of battleships down to the smallest torpedo boats in all its craft "B" to "G" lines were made up exclusively of battle ships and cruisers of the first and second-class; "D" of third-class cruisers, gun vessels and torpedo gunboats; "F" of destroyers, gunboats and sailing training brigs, while "G" line was of torpedo boats. All the lines except "G" were approximately five miles in length. Two things are to be noted after a tour of this enormous aggregation of sea-fighting power. The first is the fact that, if need be, their number and fighting value can be duplicated, as this fleet was only the channel squadron and coast defence fleet, slightly augmented by new and larger ships.

The most noteworthy fact was the remarkable testimony to the growth and improvement of the fleet. Of the 21 battleships reviewed by the Prince of Wales this afternoon only four took part in the Jubilee display of ten years ago, while of the 42 cruisers at anchor in the Solent, not one existed in 1887. Needless to say, the 30 torpedo boat destroyers are of a class which has only been introduced during the last five years. Further, the battle ships built before 1887 were armed with muzzle-loading guns, which, though extremely powerful and marvels of their day, have been entirely outclassed by breech loaders and wire guns. Then, too, the later built vessels are armored by Harveyized steel, which can scarcely be penetrated in actual warfare, whereas the guns of any of the ships of the Majestic class could easily send projectiles through the armor belts of any of the 1887 squadron.

Among the battle ships nine types were represented, the first of these being the Majestic type, the latest and most powerful model of British battleships, carrying four 12-inch fifty-ton guns. Some of the others present had heavier armament, notably the Benbow and Sanspareil, each possessing a 111-ton gun. There were four of the Royal Sovereign type. The Renown was the only one of her type, the distinctive feature of which is a huge centre battery. The admiral class of vessel was represented by the Collingwood, the unfortunate Howe and the Benbow. The Alexandra class, close upon twenty years old, the Devastation type, with their revolving turrets, were also in evidence, as were the classes of which the Inflexible, Thunderer and Sanspareil are specimens. Two types were shown in the cruiser class, of which the Powerful and Terrible, the two fastest British cruisers afloat, were the most interesting, and there were thirty-five of the old torpedo boats. All of the ships had their full complements.

The naval craft present flew about 200 pennants, a number of which but for the size and importance of the vessels would have seemed lost in the crush of attending steamers and yacht craft of every possible description in every possible condition, from the great Atlantic and Australian liners, cross-channel packets, Norway excursion steamers, Mediterranean cruisers, old paddle boats, dirty tugs and smart yachts, dainty electric launches and fishermen's dinghys, venturesome canoes and many a rowboat filled with wharf rats. The decorations of this shipping hotchpotch were as varlegated as the crafts they adorned. The stately ships were trimmed with a near approach to what is possible in ships, and the long string of flags from stem to taffrail showed up very effectively against the morning sky. The smart yachts were daintily beflagged, but not much could be said for the rest. It was therefore a great relief to the eye when at eight o'clock, on signal from the Renown, Admiral Sir Nowell Salmon's flagship, there broke out on every war vessel a perfect eruption of color. Each ship spread every stitch of bunting it possessed, streamers from every spar and rainbows over all. The flags were mainly signals of the international and naval codes, and their multiform colors added very perceptibly to an ensemble which was as striking as it was theatrical.

After a threatening morning, the weather brightened and a brilliant day for the great naval review is promised. The streets were thronged with people at an early hour, and on all sides were to be seen bewildering masses of glittering uniforms, gay multitudes of civilians, military bands and sailors of all ranks and nationalities. In gallant array off the coast were the nearly 200 British war vessels, manned by about 45,000 men, aggregating some 600,000 tons, which were to be reviewed by the Prince of Wales, representing the Queen, as the final display of the Jubilee celebrations. The colonial troops arrived at 8 o'clock and were met at the railroad station by a military guard of honor. Then, headed by military bands, they marched to the town hall, where the Lord Mayor and corporation of Portsmouth, in full robes of office, welcomed the visitors. The soldiers from the colonies received a great popular ovation. Their march from the station to the Town Hall and from the Town Hall to the point of embarkation was nothing less than a triumphal progress.

The American line steamship New York, with a large party of sightseers on board, left Southampton at 5 o'clock yesterday evening and took up the position assigned to her in the line of special merchant vessels, off Ryde. As the American greyhound traversed the lines of British warships with the Stars and Stripes flying proudly and a fine band playing national airs, each warship dipped her flag and she was greeted with hearty cheers from the many thousands of blue jackets manning the fleet. As the New York passed the German warship Konig Wilhelm the latter's band played "Hail Columbia!"

During the morning the excursion steamers, densely crowded to the rails, were every busy steaming in and out of the lines of ships, dodging about, manoeuvring for good positions and generally behaving in eccentric fashion, resembling nothing so much as a lot of huge water spiders. Owing to a wise regulation by the Admiralty that no vessel was allowed to use other than the best Welsh coal, the smoke nuisance proved less disagreeable than anticipated.

The Prince of Wales, accompanied by Admiral H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and Capt. H.R.H. the Duke of York, the Princess of Wales and other royalties with their suites, arrived at Portsmouth at one o'clock. The party immediately proceeded on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. In which 41 years ago Her Majesty inspected the fleet, whereupon Her Royal Highness' standard was hoisted. After luncheon on board at 2.30 the Victoria and Albert, with the principal royalties, left the harbor for Spithead. She was followed by the yacht Irene, by the Pando, the Carthage and the Elfin, and admiralty yacht, these vessels carrying the distinguished foreign visitors. Then came the Enchantress, an admiralty yacht, with the Hon. George J. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, and after her the Admiralty's yacht Wildfire, with Mr. Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the Colonial Premiers. She was followed by the Eldorado, carrying the ambassadors and special envoys, including the Hon. Whitelaw Reid. Then came the Danube, with the members of the House of Lords, the Campania, with the members of the House of Commons, and the Fire Queen, the yacht of the Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth.

As the Victoria and Albert was seen approaching the fleet, led by the Renown and escorted by the foreign vessels, the fleet fired a deafening royal salute of twenty-one guns simultaneously, the blue jackets and marines "manned ships," standing on the ironclads, in solid lines round their outer edges and filling their tops, while on vessels of the older type the yards were quickly dotted. It was very theatrical and interesting. The Victoria and Albert, followed by the other yachts, then steamed through the lines, the sailors heartily cheering, the bands playing "God Save the Queen." The Victoria and Albert afterwards anchored between the Renown and the foreign war vessels. Immediately the steam launches of the foreign commanders left the sides of their big ships and made for the Victoria and Albert, on the quarter deck of which the commanding officers were received by the Prince of Wales.

A WONDERFUL SCENE

Was the Display Made by the Warships at Spithead at Night.

Ryde, Isle of Wight, 10 p.m., June 26.—The illuminations of the fleet at Spithead was one of the most charming sights of a week of delighting spectacles. There was a heavy fall of rain, accompanied by thunder and lightning, shortly after 6 o'clock. The storm lasted an hour, but did not in any way mar the display. The night was pleasantly dark; no moon dimmed the effect of celestial creation, the waters of the Solent were perfectly quiet; everything contributed to enhance the success of the program. It was altogether fantastic, suggestive of fairyland and the world of magic—a fitting termination to a day of impressing realities and from facts. The brutal grimness of all the machinery of destruction—savage-looking guns, monstrous torpedoes, the actual instruments of war were lost in pictured shadow and softening gloom. The spectator knew it was all there, but it was not relentlessly thrust upon the mind as it had been the day long from every angle of vision. The magic of night shut out what was jarring to the non-combatant and revealed only that which was agreeable.

A minute before 9 the miles of waters showed only such lights as are usually associated with shipping, reds and greens of port and starboard, white lights at mastheads, gleams that, like the tiny rows of diamonds, showed the ports of passenger craft, with here and there some parti-colored lights that had been lit on private vessels before the time.

At 9 there was a rush, a rocket from the Renown zipped into the dark blue and, bursting with a shower of splendid stars, signalled the lighting up of the fleet. The stick of the rocket had not turned towards the earth ere the mighty fleet was suddenly skeletoned in brilliant yellow light, hulls, smokestacks, spars and cordage being thrown into strong relief. Light lines ran in graceful curves along the sweep of the monsters, now ghostly grey in the sudden glare, and from bow to stern and from mastheads were garlands of incandescent light like "festival necklaces hung upon the horns of a night."

Great pictures of the Queen hung between the funnels of the big battleships. "God Save the Queen," was a favorite and fervent electrically lighted wish among the cruisers, and a handsome display was made by the Russians and Frenchmen. Search-lights were not permitted so that only the outlines of the ships were seen, and this made the contrast to former illuminations of this sort all the more marked. The effect was wonderful and beautiful. It was a veritable "Feerie Verne."

A few minutes later the lights vanished with the suddenness of their appearance, leaving the spectator staring at the place where they had been.

A pause, and the darkness was pierced by hundreds of signal rockets, unobtrusively soaring into the blue with messages of jubilation, not disaster, delivering them and falling burnt out and useless into the waste of waters.

The purpose of this naval exhibition was not to be overlooked, however. The might of Britain, its ever-prepared strength, was again to be impressed upon the staring thousands. A signal rocket leaped from the Renown, and now there was provided an exhibition of what war would be like if ever an immense fleet of battleships and cruisers should engage at night. A royal salute of sixty guns was fired from every ship capable of firing it. Great guns and small guns answered each other in one prolonged roar, rising and falling in intensity as more or less of them fired together. It was truly awful; even the certain knowledge that there were no deadly missiles in the guns did not prevent a chill feeling from creeping over many of the civilian spectators.

The foreign warships moored opposite the British lines joined the cannonade, and to the superstitious there was from the deep-throated guns of the United States, Russia, France and Germany, a note of defiance, a resonant, resolute answer, gun forging, yet all was in honor of Victoria. Then the angry roaring ceased, much to the relief of thousands who were stopping their ears, and as the panoply of unpleasant smoke slowly drifted away the fleet again stood revealed in fairy lines of lightness. The signs of war were dimming and disappearing in the shadows, the gentler side of things was again put to the front to instill into the minds of departing thousands that, while the dogs of war were "Ready, Aye Ready," that, after all, what the people came out to see was the "triumph of peace and the glory of the Queen."

The illuminations continued until midnight, when, on a signal from the fleet commander, every superfluous light went out as if turned off by a single switch. And thus came to an end the greatest and most remarkable naval spectacle the world has ever known.

One of the prettiest sights of the day was when the royal yacht had come to anchor and the various foreign admirals with their staffs put off to pay their respects to the Prince of Wales. As they passed the different warships the bugles sounded, the bands played and the marines presented arms. All the admirals, with the exception of Rear Admiral Miller, went in the steam pinnaces.

The United States special envoy, Mr. Whitelaw Reid, and Mrs. Reid, as a special compliment, were the guests of the Prince and Princess of Wales on the royal yacht, instead of occupying their places with the special envoys.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, was delighted with the immense impressiveness of the review. He went on board the Eldorado, which carried the special envoys and ambassadors, with all the Colonial Premiers, dined on board, saw the illuminations, and then started for London.

The Prince and Princess of Wales returned to the harbor at midnight.

During the daylight review there occurred an incident which the hearers thereof will never forget. The Renown gave the signal, and the whole twenty-five miles of shipping gave a simultaneous cheer, which was taken up by the colonial troops aboard the Koahnoor and the crowds on board the countless pleasure craft. The cheer produced an almost indescribable effect.

Portsmouth, June 26.—Some idea of the exodus of Londoners for the naval review can be gathered from the fact that the London & Southwestern Railway alone despatched from Waterloo Station between 5 and 10 o'clock this morning 37 special trains, having on board over 18,500 passengers, besides duplicating all their regular passenger trains, each of which was crowded.

London, June 26.—Mr. W. Laird Clowes, the famous naval expert, said, after inspecting the immense array of British and foreign warships at Spithead: "If an Austrian, German or Frenchman should go home from Spithead he would tell his countrymen, 'So long as Great Britain remains in her present temper, you need harbor no dreams of naval power. To-day she is even more supreme on the broad seas than in the old times on the narrow seas, over which she then claimed dominion. You cannot, either singly or in conjunction with others, hope to rival her. Keep up your navy, if you will; it may avail you against others, but not against her. For you it is a plaything and a luxury, for her it is a necessity, and she knows it. You may be thankful if you have her as a friend, and if she never uses her magnificent weapon save in the cause of right and justice.'"

London, June 27.—The small torpedo boat Turbina, which recently developed 32½ knots an hour at Newcastle, where she was subjected to several trials of speed, passed the warships at Spithead yesterday at an average rate of 31 knots, and for a short time attained 33 knots. Her machinery worked admirably and there was an almost entire absence of vibration and discomfort. It is contended by experts that an average-sized torpedo boat constructed upon her lines and plans could reach a rate of 40 knots.

AN IRISHMAN'S WILD TALK.

Will Perhaps Call Upon the Irish in America to Liberate Prisoners

Dublin, June 27.—A meeting convened to bring further pressure to bear upon the British Government to grant amnesty to the Irish political prisoners now at Maryborough jail, was held in Phoenix Park to-day. Considerable surprise was expressed that the Jubilee week had passed without the release which had been expected.

Mr. William Field, Parnellite member for the St. Patrick's division of Dublin, in the course of a fiery speech, said: "It is useless to look further to the English Government. We will call upon the voices, and perhaps the arms, of our countrymen in America."

After three days' debate, the Italian Senate has adopted General Pelloux's army reorganization bill, increasing the peace effective footing of the Italian land forces.

The Duke of Cambridge gave a Jubilee banquet at Gloucester House Saturday night to the Prince of Wales and visiting royalties and envoys. No ladies were present.

ONTARIO CHEESE MARKETS.

(Monetary Times, June 25th.)

The increase in the production of cheese in Ontario is continued, and in the face of the heavy offerings at the different markets, values have fallen. Our reports are, unfortunately, incomplete. We have received advices from only 13 boards, but at these meetings 33,191 boxes were boarded. Our correspondents last week reported 30,794 boxes were boarded at 17 board meetings. This is a remarkable increase during the week. The London market, according to late mail advices, is very weak and Canadian buyers naturally hesitate before paying full rates. At Brockville, the salesmen complain that the buyers have combined to keep prices low, and at the close of the board meeting a conference was held and the possibility of shipping the cheese to Montreal through one agency discussed. Exports from Montreal continue very large. For the week ending the 19th of the present month 105,159 boxes of cheese were sent forward from this port, according to a table compiled by Messrs. Cunningham and Lemesourier, as compared with 68,257 boxes sent forward the corresponding week last year. The shipments to date from this port are 201,162 boxes, as against 219,983 boxes to the same date last year. The following table contains the transactions at the more important Ontario cheese markets for the week ending June 23rd :—

GOLD DUST IN THEIR EYES.

Fresh discoveries of gold in the Rainy River district of Ontario near the frontier, have created excitement in Minnesota, and people in that state are angrily declaring that the new gold districts are the territory of the United States. If, as stated, the districts have been surveyed and laid out by officials of the Ontario Government, the Americans will find that there is no ground for an international dispute. Fortunately for both Canada and the United States, the treaty between Great Britain and the United States laying down the boundary in that country, has annexed to it well drawn maps of the whole region, and on these maps the frontier line is plainly and unmistakably marked. These maps, as well as the treaty, are signed by the commissioners of both nations, and copies of them are on file at Washington and London, as well as at Toronto. It is, no doubt, very vexatious to Americans to find that all new discoveries of gold on this continent are just across the frontier in Canada, but so it is, and there is no use in kicking about it.—Montreal Witness.

The Lakefield brass band was in Peterborough and took part in the procession on Tuesday. As there was no demonstration here of any kind a great many of our citizens accompanied the band, while the Golden City took many others up the lakes.

Several of our citizens decorated their places in honour of the Queen's Jubilee.

The road on the 8th concession of Smith, from the boundary of Lakefield to very near the cheese factory, presents a good appearance, but it is a great pity while the stone can be got so handy that the work is not carried on out to Mrs. Phelan's corner. Mr. H. C. Garbutt deserves credit for having the work so well done.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The following communications were received :

LAKEFIELD, June 11th.

To the Reeve and Council of the Village of Lakefield :

GENTLEMEN,—I hereby beg to notify you that unless some satisfactory steps are at once taken to lower the drains under the culvert in front of my property opposite the skating rink, thereby draining off the stagnant water now about the houses of my tenants, I shall be compelled to take such legal steps as may be necessary to force the council to protect the health of my tenants and other inhabitants of Lakefield from the danger arising from the standing water.

I remain, yours truly,
J. P. STRICKLAND.

LAKEFIELD, June 12th, 1897.

Alex. Bell, Village Clerk :

DEAR SIR,—The following is a copy of the motion passed at the meeting of the Lakefield School Board held last night :

Moved by Messrs Harper and Richardson,—That the Council of the Village of Lakefield be requested to raise and place to the credit of the School Board the sum of $350 for current expenditure by June 20th, 1897.

By complying with the above you will oblige
Your obedient servant,
W. SHERIN,
Secretary.

To the Reeve and Council of the Village of Lakefield :

GENTLEMEN,—A meeting of a number of bicyclists of the village of Lakefield was held last night in the town hall to consider a grievance which they now suffer owing to the present unfinished state of the village roads, which makes it impossible for them to conform to the existing bylaw restricting them to the use of the road without suffering considerable inconvenience and loss, and accordingly the said meeting have requested me to ask the Reeve and council to allow bicyclists to use the sidewalks until such times as the roads resume their wonted state.

Yours respectfully,
G. WARREN.

In reply to communication, council decided not to cancel their bylaw, and in future it will be strictly enforced.

Moved by Councillor Burgis, seconded by Councillor Braden :

That the communication from J. P. Strickland and the School Board be received—Carried.

FINANCE.

To the Reeve and Council of the Village of Lakefield :

Gentlemen,—We, your Finance Committee, beg to report that we have examined the following accounts and find them correct, and recommend that they be paid :

Rathbun Co, charity	$ 1 70
John Cooper, teaming	7 80
McClill Bros, electric light	76 95
John Hendren, teaming	9 60
J McWilliams, supplies	3 00
	$99 05

That pay sheets Nos 4, 5, 6 and 7 be confirmed and that the treasurer be instructed to place the sum of $360 to the credit of the Lakefield school board.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. R. FRASER,
Chairman.

The report was on motion received and adopted.

Moved by Councillor Fraser, seconded by Councillor Burgis,

That Councillors Moore, Braden and Fraser and the Reeve be a committee to enquire into land matters, confer with the band, etc., and report to the council at the next meeting—Carried

Rule of order, No. 50, was suspended.

Moved by Councillor Fraser, seconded by Councillor Braden,

That Bylaw No. 267, entitled a bylaw to levy the rate and raise the taxes for school and county purposes for the year 1897 be read a third time and passed, and that the Reeve and Clerk sign and seal the same—Carried.

Moved by Councillor Fraser, seconded by Councillor Burgis,

That Bylaw No. 268, entitled a bylaw to borrow money for current expenditure of the School Board and corporation be now read a third time and passed, and that the Reeve and Clerk sign and seal the same—Carried.

Mr. J. Griffin addressed the council with reference to moving the boat houses on the street.

In reply, the reeve stated that the council were determined to carry out the decisions of the judge with reference thereto.

Suffered without help—Eighteen Years getting worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N.S., June 21 (Special)—There is no man in this town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who was for eighteen years had been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says:—"It began with the backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I ran down greatly in weight the doctors said it was Diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's Kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength, I am perfectly cured.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

MR. MILLER'S MOTION

Brought Up a Hot Discussion In the Senate.

SIR OLIVER HAD NO OBJECTION

To an Investigation, But Wanted it to be Thorough and Fair—Mr. Miller Declined to Alter His Proposal and the Matter Comes Up Again To-Day.

Ottawa, June 27. (Special.)—Senator Miller's motion for a committee of enquiry into the Drummond Counties Rail way deal came up in the Senate yesterday, and provoked a lively discussion. In presenting his motion,

Senator Miller said the action of the Senate a few days ago in refusing its assent to the policy of the Government as outlined in a bill submitted to Parliament placed the question in a very peculiar position. In order to checkmate the action of the Senate the Government at once took steps to carry out the policy indicated in the bill rejected by the Senate, though not in precisely the same form. The action of the Senate was based on two grounds: first, that the bargain made was an improvident one from a business standpoint; and, secondly, that the transaction was clouded with grave suspicions of corruption on the part of those persons connected with the Drummond Counties Railway Company. The Senate felt that it was in possession of information sufficient to enable it to form a fair judgment of the terms of the contract, and thought that the matter should be postponed for another year.

All members of the Senate, he thought, would agree that these grave charges demanded investigation, and in view of having that investigation he would move that a special committee of the Senate be appointed to enquire into the expenditure of the subsidies granted by the Parliament of Canada to the Drummond Counties Railway Company in the Province of Quebec; the present financial position of the said company, its liabilities of every description, whether matured or accruing; the condition and classification of the said railway as well as its equipment, and also all other matters and things relating to the said subjects, or any of them, as well as all other matters and things relating to the said railway; with power to send for papers, persons and records, and to report from time to time, and that the said committee consist of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Senators Ferguson, Power, Scott, Macdonald (P.E.I.), De Boucherville, Primrose, Cox, Landry, Prowse, Wood, Thibaudeau (La Vallière), McInnes (British Columbia), Clemow and the mover. Senator McMillan seconded the motion.

Sir Oliver Mowat said he was in favor of an enquiry being held into the affairs of the Drummond Counties Railway. The charges made in the newspapers and elsewhere made it desirable that an investigation should be made, but that investigation should be full and thorough. Now, prorogation put an end to the life of the session, and prorogation was expected on Monday or Tuesday. It would therefore be most undesirable that any such investigation should be held or begun this session. In the short time that yet remained a few witnesses might be examined, and then the committee would have to adjourn over six or seven months, and during that time this evidence of partisan witnesses would be before the country uncontradicted. This would not be fair, and it was the duty of the Senate to be fair. The mover of this resolution did not claim to have any direct information, no one claimed that, but simply founded his demand for investigation on newspaper articles. Surely both branches of Parliament would not be kept here for weeks until a committee of the Senate investigated the truth of a newspaper rumor. Besides, there was no reason for haste in this matter. The motion could be put early next session and a thorough investigation had. He trusted Senator Miller would not press his motion.

If, however, it was seriously intended to go on with the motion this session, which he sincerely hoped it was not, he would suggest certain changes in the wording of the motion. The enquiry should be a judicial one. The committee ought not to favor one side or the other. Now, a large majority of the Senate were opposed to the Government, and to this proposal of the Government to extend the Intercolonial to Montreal. If it was too much to ask that both sides should be equally represented on the committee—and he supposed it was—he would suggest to the mover of the motion if it would not be well, before the enquiry was gone on with next session—for he trusted there was no serious intention of going on this session—for him to consent to a conference to decide who were the best men to put on that committee. Next session there would be time to do all this; he only wished there was time now, but there was not, that was evident. No good could be expected of pressing the inquiry now, unless it was a party good, and the mover of the motion had disclaimed any idea of obtaining a party advantage from the motion. The reasons why the motion should be withdrawn were of the strongest possible kind. There were constitutional difficulties in the way of a motion of this kind, but he was not going to raise that issue, for he was in favor of an investigation, but he wished it conducted in a fair, equitable manner.

Senator Ferguson said there was no doubt about the inconvenience of entering into a thorough investigation of this question at the present session. Prorogation was practically in sight, and an investigation would mean serious delay; but the Senate had to consider whether delay would not complicate matters. Steps might be taken in the meantime which would render the investigation next session like locking the door after the horse was stolen.

Under the circumstances, he would join with Senator Wood in asking that the motion be postponed until next session, but only on the understanding that the whole matter of renting these lines should be allowed by the Government to rest in statu quo until next session. He was convinced of the necessity of a thorough enquiry, and would support the motion if the Government persisted in committing the country to its policy. There was no use in adopting childish tactics on either side in this matter. It was reasonable if the Senate did not press the demand for an enquiry this session, that the Government should not insist in forcing its policy on the Senate. He thought that the country demanded that the Senate should not allow Canada to be committed to this scheme.

Sir Oliver Mowat said that there was no intention on the part of the Government to commit the country to its policy by the temporary arrangement. It was an experiment with the object of demonstrating that the scheme of the Government was fair and feasible.

Senator Macdonald (P. E. I.) said that the statement made by Sir Oliver was ample vindication for the action of the Senate in refusing to pass the bill embodying the agreement, and warranted the demand now made for investigation. What did the temporary proposition mean? It was proposed to rent the lines of railway for $157,000, to pay for rolling stock to the Drummond Counties Railway $100,000, to grant a subsidy for 42 1-2 miles of the Drummond Counties road at, say, $5000 a mile, to the tune of $212,000. Totalled up, this involved an expenditure for this little experiment of $460,000, or thereabouts. He was utterly opposed to any such costly experiment.

Senator Scott pointed out that that year the Senate had granted large sums of money for the Intercolonial Railway. In a single session the Senate had voted the Conservative Government twice the amount now asked for the purchase of terminal facilities at St. John and Halifax. He did not see why different treatment should be meted out to this Government, unless the Senate thought the Government was not worthy of being trusted with the expenditure of those few thousands.

Senator Primrose said that circumstances connected with the inception of this scheme were suspicious, and so were the time and manner of its presentation to Parliament. He thought it was unsound to the core and was in favor of the investigation.

Senator Mills said the Senate was going a long way beside its constitutional functions in attempting to investigate the expenditure of public money. The practice in England was for the House of Commons to conduct all such investigations. The Senate was not competent to make this enquiry, nor could it compel the attendance of witnesses. The Senate could not initiate, and therefore could not follow, the expenditure of public money. This enquiry, he thought, should be made in the House of Commons at the motion of the majority, who control the finances and are responsible for the expenditure.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell in a vehement speech demanded that the investigation take place, and said he was prepared to wait until fall if necessary to have it completed. He resented the imputation of Sir Oliver Mowat that the proposed committee would be affected by partisanship. He wanted to know whether the Government had made any advances to the company, on the strength of the bargain.

Sir Oliver Mowat said that not one dollar had been advanced to the company and not one dollar promised. Whether the company had made some arrangement with some of the banks he could not say, for he knew nothing about it. He did not think it fair that the Opposition should have such a large preponderance on the committee, and if the matter was put off until next session, they would, no doubt, be able to agree upon its composition.

Mr. Miller refused to withdraw his motion, but would not force it to a division now if it were made the first order of business for Monday.

This was agreed to and the debate adjourned.

SMASH ON THE WABASH.

St. Louis Express Plunged Through a Trestle and Nine are Known to Have Been Killed—Twenty Wounded.

Kansas City, June 26.—The St. Louis express on the Wabash Railway, which left here at 6.20 this evening, plunged through a trestle at Missouri City, Mo., at five minutes to 7 o'clock, carrying down the entire train, with the exception of the rear car, a Pullman.

The number of dead is estimated at from 9 to 25. The known dead number nine. They are: Charles C. Copeland, conductor; Edward Greidrod, express and baggage master; C. M. Smith, postal clerk; Frank W. Brink, postal clerk; Saul Winters, postal clerk; W. S. Mills, postal clerk; Gus Smith, postal clerk; C. P. Greasley, brakeman, all of St. Louis, and the train boy, name unknown. The injured number 20.

Later—Conductor G. C. Copeland, who was reported last night among the dead, is still alive. He was removed this morning to the Railroad Hospital at Moberly. With a fractured skull and several broken ribs he lingers between life and death, but the surgeons express a hope that he will recover. Of the nineteen injured not one is in a critical condition. Among them all there is not one broken limb, though many of them were thrown three-quarters of the length of the coaches in which they were riding. Last night it was supposed that more bodies were in the stream, but a careful search to-day proved that the fatalities are limited to those already named.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

Brussels (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

When people you know give their evidence you have confidence in it much more so than when strangers talk.

These people are people you know, Peterborough People, and you can credit every word they say.

HERE IS ONE:

Mrs. Sarah Henderson, 392 McDonel St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from pain in my back, complicated with terrible headaches. Oh my! how my head did ache.

A dizziness would come over me at times, and a filmy mist seemed to cover my eyes so that I could scarcely see. Often I would stagger as if intoxicated.

I could not sleep at night; my hands and arms used to swell and puff up, and I was in a condition of great misery, unable to work and almost in despair.

I doctored a great deal and took many medicines, but everything I tried failed. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I got a box at Jas. Lynch's Drug Store. The change for the better was wonderful.

The first few doses seemed to lift a load from my aching back, and on taking three boxes I can conscientiously say that I am perfectly cured of all my complaints. I cannot too highly recommend this wonderful remedy."

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. FIRST MEETING IN THE NEW BUILDING.

The Opening Meeting of the Y. M. C. A.

On Saturday afternoon a large number of boys availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting the new building and seeing what provision had been made for their accommodation. They were all shown through the building, and there was a unanimous expression of delight from the boys.

In the gymnasium an impromptu game of basket ball was given, after which the plunge bath was put to good use for a short time.

MR. ALFRED PARKER,
PRESIDENT Y. M. C. A.

The fee for the boys' department will be $2.50 per annum, payable, of course, in advance, and the use of the same apparatus will be given the juniors as the other members, only the hours will be limited.

In the course of a few weeks an announcement will be made in reference to the many privileges provided for the boys of Peterborough between the ages of 12 and 16 years.

On Saturday evening there was a good attendance at the praise meeting for men held in the Bible class room. Mr. T. H. Best occupied the chair, and Mr. Cole, Provincial Secretary, gave an excellent exposition of the Romans v. The singing was very hearty.

On Sunday morning at 9.30 the consecration meeting was held in the class room, Mr. Cole led the meeting, and the quiet hour was enjoyed by all who attended.

At 4.15 p.m. there was a large attendance of men, when Association Hall was filled, as well as a number of seats in the adjoining class room. Over 200 were present. Mr. T. F. Best was the speaker, and for the half hour covered by his address was listened to with marked attention. His address was powerful though simple. Many times during its deliverance the speaker and many of the auditors were almost moved to tears.

MR. G. H. WILLIAMSON,
GENERAL SECRETARY Y. M. C. A.

The subject was "The Funeral in the City of Nain." Mr. Best began by picturing the scene of the familiar narrative and drew many practical lessons from it. He pointed out that the young man who had died at the city of Nain was but a type of many young men to-day who are dead in sin.

The resurrection of the man was an illustration of Christ's tender sympathy and compassion. He was the same yesterday, to-day and forever. Who would not desire the companionship of such a friend? Jesus this day restored the young man to his mother. It was the wish of the Master to restore all young men who to-day were spiritually dead.

In the names of the ladies which were used on Friday in connection with the candy tables of St. Andrew's church the following were omitted,—Mrs. J. D. Tully, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. VanEvery, Mrs. Porter, Miss Forsythe, Miss Weddell, Miss McNab and Miss Nellie McKee.

A large number of ladies were present to witness the match, and the grand old game seems to be on the verge of such a boom as it has not experienced for years in Peterborough.

BLESSING THE NEW ALTAR OF ST. PETER'S.

THE SOLEMN CEREMONY PERFORMED ON SUNDAY.

A Magnificent Devotional Adornment—Brief Description of the Grand New Altar.

On Sunday morning the important and beautiful ceremony of blessing the new altar of St. Peter's Cathedral was performed by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor in the presence of a large congregation, even at that early hour. His Lordship entered the sanctuary—accompanied by Ven. Archdeacon Casey who, with Rev. Michael O'Brien as deacon, and Mr. John O'Brien, of the Grand Seminary, Montreal, assisted in the solemn ceremony—vested in amice, alb, stole and white cope and wearing the mitre.

The ceremony began with an invocation to prayer that God might bless the altar on which the Holy Eucharist is to be offered. The Bishop then blessed the water mingled with salt, ashes and wine, with which he made the sign of the cross on five points—the centre and four corners of the altar stone, which is placed in the middle of the front part of the holy table, praying at the same time that it may be sanctified and consecrated in the name of the Holy Trinity.

Then the 50th Psalm is intoned, during which the Bishop sprinkles the altar stone which is afterwards wiped with a fine linen cloth.

A prayer, that Almighty God would be present at the dedication of the table of the Lord to be annointed with the holy oil and chrism, and that He would pour upon it the virtue of his consecration and sanctification, that those who may approach it with prayer may feel the help of His propitiation, was said.

After the Bishop had incensed the altar three times there was sung the Psalm Quam Delecta Tabernacula—"How Amiable are Thy Tabernacles"—and the five crosses on the altar stone were again annointed. The stone is again incensed with a similar prayer and the intoning of another suitable Psalm. The ceremony is repeated with the sacred chrism, followed by a similar prayer and the Psalm "O Lord our Refuge and Strength."

In the middle of the front of the top of the altar stone is excavated a receptacle for relics, called the "sepulchre," and this the Bishop annoints with the sacred chrism. The relics, in this case those of two martyrs, were brought in solemn procession from the vestry and solemnly and reverently laid in the sepulchre and the receptacle, is covered with a square stone and cemented and closed.

This is followed by an appropriate prayer and the intoning of the Psalm (87th)—"His foundation is in the holy mountains. The Lord loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob, etc."

Then follows another unction with the holy oil and chrism of the whole of the altar stone.

The next step in the ceremony is the placing of a grain of incense on each of the five crosses on the altar stone. On these small tapers are placed, lighted and allowed to burn until consumed. Then follows a prayer used only on the occasion of solemn consecrations and benedictions. After another prayer before the altar, the bishop descends and the ceremony concludes with the prayer,—Let Thy holy spirit, O, Lord God, descend upon this altar; may He sanctify our gifts and the gifts of Thy people on it, and cleanse the hearts of those partaking of the holy sacrifice of the mass.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the altar was appropriately decorated and the Bishop sang the special mass appointed to be said at the consecration of an altar.

THE NEW ALTAR.

The new altar, a beautiful and magnificent concrete expression of devotion to sacred purposes of the artificer's skill, is an imposing structure. Its central finial, an ornate cross, stands twenty-two feet above the altar platform, and its lateral extent is twenty feet. The general scheme of the altar structure is the main platform for the holy table, above which rises as a complementary background three main panels, the central, the broadest and highest; and with their enclosing pilasters richly wrought in carving and moulding, with their rich symbolic ornamentation, gleaming with gilding, the appearance is magnificent and inspiring.

The main table, which occupies the central position, consists of a platform supported on double cluster pillars, the shafts with spiral flutings, richly gilded. These enclose a deeply recessed panel containing a reproduction, en statuette, of that great masterpiece, Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper." The main table stands forward about two feet in advance of the wings, which extend four feet on each side, and are similarly constructed. Upon the rear of the middle of the main table is a beautiful canopy, resting on gilded pillars, having for a background a rich reredos, the field adorned with gilt crosses. This canopy encloses the tabernacle upon which rests the brass crucifix, and the door of the tabernacle is of hammered brass, wrought in Rome, from whence it was brought by the late Bishop Jamot. The upper central panel contains a splendid painting representing St. Peter in Chains, the titular saint of the Cathedral church. This picture is a fine work of art, and was painted in Rome by Vincenzo Pacelli. The middle panel is surmounted by a semi-circular arch, crowned by a finial, conventional cross and circle. The semi-circular space encloses the Papal arms carved and gilt. The lateral pair of panels is inclosed by pilasters, broken by middle mouldings and terminating in pointed spires. The upper panel on each side contains a finely-carved representation of a sheaf of wheat, and the lower on each side clusters of grapes—the two fruits symbolising the source of the sacred elements in the Holy Eucharist. The three panels are flanked by canopies, similar to the tabernacle canopy, over a statute of St. Peter on the Gospel side and of St. John the Evangelist on the Epistle side of the altar. Outside of these, on either side, are kneeling figures of cherubim with overshadowing wings.

The prevailing colour of the new altar is a shade between amber and primrose, relieved here and there with a harmonising tint of violet, and the general effect is a delightful blending of tones, brightened by the liberal, but judicious, employment of gilding.

During the special consecration mass His Lordship announced that the annual Cathedral picnic would be held on July 1st in the grounds of St. Joseph's Hospital.

It was also announced that the formal opening of the interiorly restored church would take place at 10.30 o'clock on Sunday next; at the solemn Pontifical High Mass. His Lordship the Bishop will officiate and give the Papal Benediction. Grand Pontifical Vespers will be sung in the evening.

BATTERY MEN HOME AGAIN.

After Spending Two Weeks in Camp they Return Home.

Bronzed and sunburnt until they look like old veterans, the members of the Right Division of the 14th Durham Field Battery returned to town on Saturday last, after spending two weeks in drill at Kingston.

The 14th is now under the command of Lt.-Col. McLean of Port Hope, Capt. "Jim" Snyder of town being in charge of the Right Division, the members of which came from Peterborough, being composed of Pr. Sgt. Hutchinson, Sgt. T. Crowe, Sgt. F. Elmhirst, Bombadier Percy Bell, Bombadier Biggs and twenty-one men, including Poundmaker and Red Cloud.

The 14th has already become the possessor of one "Gzowski Cup," through having won it three years in succession by general proficiency, and they are after the new cup again this year, being in the lead in points of all the Battalions which have been in camp this year.

In the big review at Kingston the other day, the 14th was the only battery, troop or regiment to receive personal commendation from the reviewing officer. As the battery swept past at the gallop he enthusiastically exclaimed, "Well done, 14th!"

The men report having had a very enjoyable outing.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Three citizens were fined ten dollars and $2.60 costs each this morning in the police court for obtaining liquor during forbidden hours.

—The Victoria County Council has declined to make a grant of $2,000 towards building a hospital in Lindsay, even though the general public raised $8,000 towards the same purpose.

—The new Ontario license act will come into force on July 1st. After that it will not be lawful to sell liquor to any person under twenty-one years of age, nor will druggists be allowed to sell any quantity of liquor without a physician's certificate being produced by the purchaser. The licenses issued this year will be allowed to run until May 1st, 1898.

—An enterprising Orillia butcher named Hately provided an old-fashioned English barbecue on Jubilee Day, and it proved a great attraction. A large ox purchased from a leading stock feeder was impaled on a great spit and roasted whole in the open air. Assistants cut up the meat as it was cooked and gave it out to the people. At 8 o'clock in the evening the last ounce had been disposed of, and finally the bones were distributed and carried away as Jubilee souvenirs.

RULES

—FOR—

Control and use of the Nicholls Park.

This Park as a whole is intended for the use of all the Citizens of the Town, but, part of it has been specially prepared for cricket, baseball, football and sports of that nature, and a track has been made for the use of Cyclists.

In order that these may be properly used and accidents avoided, the Park Trustees have, pursuant to the authority conferred on them by th.. Will, in the meantime adopted the following rules:—

1. The Oval shall be used exclusively for games and sports of a nature that will not injure the turf or interfere with the use of the remainder of the Park by the general public.
2. Any Club or Organization desiring to use the Oval or any part of it for such purpose shall first apply to the Park Trustees.
3. During any games no one not engaged in the same shall go upon the oval.
4. No one shall be allowed to walk about on or stand upon the track when bicyclists are using it, except those who may be instructing others to ride.
5. The Bicycle Track shall be used exclusively by those riding bicycles, except at such special times as it may be desirable to use it for other purposes, such as foot races, &c., and it shall not be so used as to interfere with bicycling without the permission of the Park Trustees.
6. Up to 10 a.m. riders using the track may go at any speed they desire. After that hour no one shall go at a greater speed than 8 miles an hour.
7. All riders using the track shall go in one direction keeping the oval to their left.
8. Any rider desiring to pass another shall pass him on his right.
9. Those learning to ride shall keep on the outer side of the track.

Those Rules are subject to such alteration as the Park Trustees may hereafter make.

Light Reading

For Hammock Days costs next to nothing at the Peterborough Bookstore. Authors and Printers were paid well for their work but somebody lost money on some of the books, and we're willing to let our customers have the benefit.

In other words, you pay us less than actual value—a possibility which seems reasonable enough under the circumstances.

Sporting Goods

Are among the special attractions for June. You may be at home, or under canvas, or summering at the lake—in any case the Peterborough Bookstore can supply what you want in out-door and in-door Games, Hammocks, Fans, &c., &c.

A Special Departure In Summer Millinery.

After a most successful stretch of business, we feel like doing something exceptional in the interests of Ladies before the 1st of July.

Perhaps we ought to say we want to sell more Hats and mean to go about it in the quickest and best way to sell them. Please yourself how you consider the matter, but the facts are that the entire stock of Straw Hats in Fancy Shapes, Sailors and Leghorns have been marked down for the balance of this month. We also offer the additional inducement of reduced prices for trimming these Hats—provided, of course, the materials are purchased here.

A SATURDAY RUNAWAY.

An Express Waggon and the Warsaw Stage Get Mixed up.

A bad accident nearly occurred on George street in front of J. B. Oke's fruit store on Saturday afternoon.

Noyes' express waggon was just in front of the store next the sidewalk and between it and the street railway track Donald McIntosh had drawn up the Warsaw stage. Just then an electric car came along and the stage team shied in against the express waggon, catching it between a telegraph pole and the heavy stage. A small boy who was sitting on the seat of the express waggon was thrown directly under the wheels, but the rig was so firmly wedged between the stage and the pole that he scrambled out in safety without being run over.

The express horse made two or three terrific bounds and finally succeeded in breaking the whiffletree and getting free. It was caught within a block, however, and no further damage was done. The waggon was caught in the right front wheel of the stage and acted as a brake so effectively that the Warsaw team could not move the heavily loaded rig to which they were attached.

WILL LIKELY WIN.

Peterborough Lee-Enfield Rifle Team Once More Heads the List.

On Saturday last No. 1 team of the 57th scored 904 points in the Military Rifle League match and once more headed the list against all Canada.

In all probability the League championship will pass into the hands of the Peterborough team this year.

Saturday's match was the last of the series and the following scores have been made in the several matches :

Capt Dennistoun	93	94	91	—
Cap Hill	87	85	87	77
Cap Clegg	85	84	83	77
Staff-Sergt Bartlett	91	91	94	91
Pte Fitzgerald	87	91	91	84
Pte A Blade	93	—	—	—
Pte C Curtis	93	89	94	89
Pte Pentland	98	92	89	81
Pte Cameron	87	91	88	79
Pte Ritchie	95	83	86	91
Pte Campbell	—	81	89	87
Capt A Stevenson	—	—	—	75
	904	880	891	831

The average score per match has therefore been 876½ points, which is very high.

Grover C. Connelly, of Richmond Corners, N.B. says of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure: "I am pleased I used Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I had it in a very severe form for nearly five years. I used several so-called cures, but got no relief. None of them did me any good. One box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure completely cured me.

HARVEY STREET FIRE BRIGADE.

It Did Effective Work on Saturday Afternoon Last.

What would probably have resulted in a disastrous fire was only averted on Saturday afternoon last by the presence of mind displayed by the Harvey street Housewives' Fire Brigade.

During the afternoon a number of youngsters whose ages range between five and nine years, procured some cigarettes, and climbing into the loft of a small barn in the rear of the house occupied by Mr. Charles Gibson on Harvey street, and owned by Mr. F. J. Jameson, proceeded to smoke them. On leaving the barn they noticed nothing wrong, but a few minutes later a small son of Mrs. Gibson's noticed the smoke and ran and told his mother.

It was at this juncture that the housewives came to the rescue. In a twinkling the garden hose had been coupled to the tap and a brisk stream of water was being played on the flames from the top of a ladder leading to the loft door. In the meantime the town fire brigade had been telephoned for, but by the time of its arrival the ladies by their presence of mind and prompt action had the flames completely extinguished.

There are a large number of old barns in the rear of the residences along the east side of Harvey street, and if the fire had once gotten under headway with the high wind which was blowing, it might have swept the whole block.

The presence of mind of the ladies of the neighbourhood in grappling with the danger so promptly is to be commended.

The youngsters have received a bad scare, which will probably keep them from indulging in cigarette smoking for some time.

A PETERBOROUGH MUSICIAN IN TEXAS.

Miss Fairweather Successfully Fills an Important Engagement.

Miss Fairweather has returned to Peterborough after filling a most successful engagement as teacher in the pianoforte department of the Belton Conservatory of Music, Belton, Texas. The Belton Evening News of June 11th thus reports the closing recital of the Conservatory :

"The entertainment given last night in the parlours of the Belton Conservatory of Music was very well attended. The programme was under the direction of that talented musician, Miss Fairweather, who took part in several pianoforte duets with Col. Miller, the director of the Conservatory. . . . Space forbids us to enter into a complete description of the affair, but suffice to say that the different numbers were rendered in a manner to reflect great credit upon the ability of the pupils and the instructive qualities of the teachers. . . . Baskets and bouquets of flowers were given the pupils by their relatives and friends, and Miss Fairweather was specially honoured by being presented with a testimonial by Miss Miller and the pupils of the Conservatory."

LAUNCH OF THE JUBILEE.

R. M. Roy's New Boat is a Little Beauty.

On Saturday night Mr. R. M. Roy launched the "Jubilee," by which name his new steam launch will be known.

He built it during the winter months in his leisure hours, and although it is not as large as the Rob Roy, still all who have seen it on the water are unanimous in the opinion that a prettier model would be hard to find.

It is twenty-four feet in length with a five foot beam and will draw a foot and a half of water. It is fitted with an acme engine and is expected to run along at about six miles an hour, carrying ten people comfortably.

Mr. George Gobiel, of the Grand Central Hotel, was suddenly summoned to Toronto yesterday by a telegram, stating that his daughter, Mrs. James Hamilton, was not expected to live.

The Toronto Globe says: "Young ladies of the Broadway tabernace, at the home of Miss Minnie Greenwood, on Spadina avenue, on Saturday night presented to Miss Ida Speer, sister of the former pastor, who has been transferred to Vancouver, a handsome silver jewel casket, on the occasion of her leaving for the West." Miss Speer is a sister of Mrs. R. A. Hamilton, of town.

THE SONG SERVICE IN MURRAY ST. CHURCH.

THE HISTORY OF SOME OF OUR MOST FAMILIAR HYMNS.

It is Related in a Most Interesting Manner by Rev. A. T. Dykeman, of the Murray Street Baptist Church, Last Evening.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman, of the Murray street Baptist church, addressed a large congregation last evening which had assembled to participate in the song service and to learn the history attached to their favourite hymns.

In opening the pastor stated that a gentleman and his child once stood on the top of Mount Washington when an awful thunderstorm was raging below them. As the view was obscured by the masses of clouds he prepared to descend but the little one demurred, as she seemed to hear everything around singing the doxology.

We are standing to-night on the mount of the present, having the valley of the past on one side of us and the future on the other. Ten thousand blessings are calling upon us to sing the Doxology.

The Doxology was then heartily sung by the congregation.

Of all the agencies appointed by God, continued the speaker, for the administration of comfort and the development and purification of mankind, few occupy or exert a more salutary influence than music. Ever since the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy, the inward feeling of thanksgiving to God, has been overleaping the limits of the human soul and outwardly expressing itself in songs of Hosanna and acclamations of praise.

Now, God is a God of order; all His works prove this. Hence at different periods and in accord with the demand of the times, He has laid His hand on certain individuals, and appointed them to give to the people in poetic and metrical forms hymns containing His thoughts, which would properly excite and elevate the imagination, and thus lead the soul to wise and hallowed reflection, resulting often in a perfect reformation of character and blessed transformation of life.

I purpose, said he, calling your attention to a few of these hymn writers, and some of their hymns and their effects when sung.

The hymn was then sung beginning :

All hail the power of Jesus' name,
Let angels prostrate fall,
Bring forth the royal diadem,
And crown Him Lord of all.

This familiar hymn was composed by Rev. Edward Perronet, of Shoreham, England. He was a man who dwelt much on heavenly and divine things. His dying words were : Glory to God in the highest of His divinity; glory to God in the depth of His humanity; glory to God in His all sufficiency. Into His hands I commit my spirit.

Some fifty years ago a preacher in London named William Dawson, who was noted for the vivid word pictures which he drew, portrayed being crowned. He drew the picture of the great coronation pageant. The procession was drawn up. First the prophets, then the patriarchs, the apostles, the martyrs and the great army of the saved. The vast church was filled with excited hearers. At the climax of the thought the preacher began to sing "All hail," and as the crowd sprang to their feet and joined him, the effect is said to have been overwhelming and indescribable. Let us then sing this wonderful hymn.

Rev. E. P. Scott was a missionary in India. One day he took his violin and started to visit an interior tribe of murderous mountaineers. When he arrived in the settlement a number of them came at him with spears. Expecting nothing but death, he adjusted his violin, and shutting his eyes began to play and sing "All Hail." When he got through the stanza he opened his eyes and found that the savages were changed in their attitude. He stayed with them for two and a half years and many were converted.

The announcement was then made of the hymn :—

Come, let us join our cheerful songs
With angels round the throne ;
Ten thousand thousand are their tongues,
But all their joys are one.

Isaac Watts, the author, was born July 17th, 1674, in the stormy days of non-conformity. Tewelve years before his birth the Act of Uniformity was passed by Charles II. This required that no one should preach unless he was ordained by an Anglican bishop and that all clergymen must use the Book of Common Prayer. This threw two thousand clergymen

OUT OF THEIR LIVINGS.

They refused to obey the requirements of the Act. Many were imprisoned as the result and the celebrated John Bunyon was amongst them. Watts' father was a deacon in an Independent congregation, and he and his pastor were imprisoned for refusing to conform.

Watts was a little short man, and one day he heard some persons speak disparaging of his height. He answered :

Were I so tall to reach the pole,
Or grasp the ocean with a span ;
I must be measured by my soul,
The mind's the standard of the man.

He was wonderfully clever and wrote a number of books on philosophy, astronomy, geography and theology, besides 6 volumes of hymns. He was particularly fond of music. Let us respond to his call in this 114th hymn.

Mr. George Matthews then sang a solo adapted from the following verses of the 21st chapter of Revelations :

And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it ; for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.

And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it ; and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it.

And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day ; for there shall be no night there.

And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations into it.

And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination or maketh a lie ; but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life.

The words, Mr. Dykeman explained, were written by a humble, zealous, persecuted clergyman named John. He was persecuted to such an extent that he was once thrown into a but miraculously escaped. He was banished to the Isle of Patmos where he penned the words just sung.

A quartette composed of Mrs. Dykeman, Miss Dykeman, Dr. Scott and Mr. Mann then sang an arrangement of "Cast Thy Bread upon the waters."

This beautiful missionary hymn was composed by Mrs. Phoebe Hannaford. She was born on Nantucket Island, May 6th, 1829, and was ordained in 1868 as pastor of the Universalist church, Hingham, Mass. She claims to be the first woman who ever offered an ordaining prayer or gave the charge to a candidate ; the only woman who ever exchanged pulpits with her own son : the first woman to officiate at the marriage of her own daughter ; the first woman to serve as a chaplain of legislature ; she wrote a life of Abraham Lincoln, also one of Charles Dickens and a book of poems.

Announcement was then made of the hymn :

Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love,
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

It was written by Rev. John Fawcett, D. D., an English Baptist minister. In 1772 he was called from Wainsgate to London to succeed Dr. Gill. His farewell sermon had been preached and his people had gone home very sad.

THE NEXT DAY

six or seven wagons were at the door all loaded with his household effects ready for departure. His parishioners, men, women and children, clung around him and his family in perfect anguish of soul. Dr. Fawcett and his wife sat down on one of the packing boxes and wept bitterly. Looking up Mrs. Fawcett said : "John, John ! I cannot bear to leave these dear people." "Nor I either," he responded. Then he ordered his servants to again unload the wagon. This hymn was written by him to commemorate this event.

The next hymn, the one beginning

Just as I am without one plea,
But that Thy blood was shed for me,
And that Thou biddest me come to thee,
O Lamb of God I Come !

It was written by Charlotte Elliott in 1836. She became a confirmed invalid at the age of . and was a fearful sufferer all her life. She was converted when 33 through the instrumentality of Dr. Malin, of Geneva. It was only with great difficulty that her conversion was accomplished. One day Dr. Malin stopped her on the street to again speak to her on the matter, but she considered herself insulted by being spoken to so openly, and the doctor thought he had undone everything. She came to him, however, a few days later to beg his pardon and tell him that she had at last found Christ.

"Let us sing this hymn."

The daughter of the poet Wordsworth was dying. Her husband read this hymn to her earnestly. She said "That is the very thing for me."

EVERY MORNING

until she died (two months) she would say on awakening, "Now, my hymn."

Dear friends, Rev. Mr. Dykeman said, death is coming. You need Jesus. Say to-night "O Lamb of God I come."

Silent prayer was then indulged in for several minutes.

Mrs. Hunter then sang as a solo, the hymn,

"Jesus Lover of My Soul," to the tune of "Annie Laurie."

This hymn was composed by Charles Wesley in 1740. Of it Henry Ward Beecher said. "I would rather have written that hymn than to have the fame of all the Kings that ever sat on earth." It is one of the most beautiful in the hymn book.

The anthem "Oh, how lovely is Zion" was then sung by the choir, Mrs. (Dr.) Scott taking the solos.

As a closing hymn the rendition was given of :

Abide with me, fast falls the eventide ;
The darkness deepens, Lord with me abide ;
When other helpers fail, and comforts flee,
Help of the helpless, O abide with me.

It was written by Rev. Henry Lyte, a clergyman in Brixham, Devonshire. He had been declining in health for some time and was forced to go to Nice in the south of France. He felt when he left his people that he would never see them again and in his agony composed the hymn. He died with the words "Peace" and "Joy" on his lips.

A large portion of the congregation remained to an after meeting which was conducted by Mr. Dykeman.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL is CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60 ; 1889 at 53 ; 1890 at 75 ; 1891 at $1.00 ; 1892 at 44 ; 1893 at 50 ; 1894 at 35 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it, in price. I will buy in for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There arrived on the market to-day, 70 carloads of stock, composed of 1500 cattle, 650 sheep, 500 lambs, 150 calves and 2140 hogs, which, with what was held over from Thursday, made about 90 carloads altogether.

Although there was an ample supply of all kinds in demand, the market opened brisk and continued so for about two hours and those that sold during that time were the lucky ones, as the market became easier, and remained so for the rest of the day.

The highest price paid for shippers was $4.75. Mr. D. O'Leary sold two carloads at that price, and E. H. Rowan sold one carload, averaging 1,241 pounds each, real good cattle, at $4.65, but too great bulk of the shippers went at $4.25 to $4.50.

Butchers' cattle were in good demand, and there was an ample supply for all, selling at $3.50 to $4, but very few got the latter price; only a few picked ones brought that money.

There were not so many bulls as usual, and good ones brought $3.50 to $3.75.

Stockers were lower, as prices were off in Buffalo, which seems to rule the market for this class of cattle, and they sold at $3.50 to $3.75, and a few at $3.85.

Sheep are in good demand, and all offered sold readily at $3.50 to $3.75 per cwt.

Lambs sold at $2.75 to $3.75 each, and a few picked ones brought $4.

Calves sold well, from $4.50 to $6.50 each, and some odd ones $7. G. Weill bought a carload for the Buffalo market.

Hogs were steady at yesterday's quotations, the best selling at $5.50 per cwt., and, when we consider the prices paid in the American markets, the hog raisers in Canada have cause to rejoice, and there is nothing that will pay the farmers in Ontario better than raising hogs.

Shipments per C.P.R.: W. H. Dean, 3 cars; R. Ironsides, 4 cars; M. Linton, 3 cars; A. Montreuil, 3 cars; S. Halligan, 3 cars; A. McKintosh, 2 cars; W. Levack, 3 cars; H. Calvott, 1 car; J. & J. W. Dunn, 9 cars from Don byres, and 2 double-deckers of sheep, and J. Lennox, 1 car, all for export; A. W. Maybee, 2 cars for St. John.

Per G.T.R.: Scott & Broff, 2 cars; H. Jack, 1 car; Brown & Snell, 10 cars, 4 of which were sheep; J. & C. Coughlin, 10 cars; James Eakins, 5 from the market and 3 from the Don byres; W. Levack, 4 cars; R. Hunter, 1 car for Kingston, and G. Weill, 1 car calves for Buffalo, and all the rest for export.

THE NEW ARCHBISHOP

Archbishop Fabre's Successor at Last Chosen.

REV. CANON BRUCHESI THE MAN

He is in the Prime of Life and Possesses All the Qualifications Necessary for the High Office Church Lands to be Opened for Settlement - The Pilots.

Montreal, June 25.—(Special.)—News was received here from Rome that Rev. Canon Bruchesi, of the Episcopal Palace, and one of the late Mgr. Fabre's most able and trusted advisers, has been appointed Archbishop of Montreal. The papacy has evidently arrived at the wise conclusion that the episcopal sees of Canada are quite safe in the hands of young prelates, as Mgr. Bruchesi is only 42 and is probably the junior of the French episcopacy. The new archbishop will be the ideal of the younger clergy of this province and his splendid administrative powers and deep piety will command the respect of the older members of the Montreal priesthood.

Louis Paul Napoleon Bruchesi was born in Montreal, Oct. 29, 1855. He entered the Montreal College at an early age and, after a full course of classics, went to complete his studies of philosophy in the Sulpician College of Issy, France. He afterwards entered the Grand Seminary of Paris to commence the study of theology and remained there for two years, after which he proceeded to Rome, there to attend the lectures of the great theological faculties. Having obtained the degrees of Doctor in Theology and Licentiate in Canon Law, he was ordained a priest on Dec. 21, 1878, and returned to Canada shortly afterwards. Upon arriving in Montreal he was called to the Cathedral and served there as chaplain for one year, after which he accepted the chair of Dogma in the theological faculty of Laval University in Quebec. After remaining four years in the Ancient Capital, he was again called back to Montreal, and, after a short stay in the parishes of St. Bridget and St. Joseph, definitely returned to the Cathedral, of which he was made one of the canons when Archbishop Fabre reorganized his chapter. Among other positions at present held by Canon Bruchesi are those of president of the Catholic School Commissioners, chaplain of the Societe des Artisans, spiritual adviser of the Sisters of St. Ann, professor of Christian Apology in Laval University. He represented the Government as commissioner for the Educational Department of the province at the Chicago World's Fair, and accompanied Archbishop Fabre as secretary during one of his voyages to Europe. Besides being a learned theologian, Canon Bruchesi is a brilliant pulpit orator, and has many times been chosen to preach special sermons on solemn occasions. Mgr. Bruchesi will arrive in Montreal from Quebec to-morrow morning.

News was received here to-day from Manitoba to the effect that the Archbishop of St. Boniface had decided to throw open for settlement all the valuable church lands belonging to the Diocese of St. Boniface. It will be remembered that these lands were acquired in the time of Mgr. Tache and have always been looked upon as of great value. It is said the terms upon which His Grace will offer these lands, which are considered amongst the best in the Canadian Northwest to-day, will be exceedingly easy, with a view no doubt to attract a large French-Canadian population to Manitoba. Actual settlers who build a habitable house will have only a small deposit to pay on taking possession. Mgr. Langevin will not ask them for either principal or interest for three years, but at the beginning of the fourth year they will be asked to pay 25 per cent. of the price and 25 per cent. annually for three years. It is believed that this territory, which is located from two to four miles from St. Boniface station, will bring from $4 to $5 per acre, according to location.

The striking pilots held a meeting to-day, but the wise counsels of yesterday did not prevail and they decided to continue the strike. In the meantime the Harbor Commissioners met and dismissed three pilots, who, having been summoned, refused to go to work. The Minister of Marine has wired the pilots that if they will go to work he will give them a commission of enquiry during recess.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature, they give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

When Blondin Was Afraid.

One of the many stories told of Blondin since his recent decease comes from a London correspondent. One of Blondin's favorite jokes was to offer to carry some distinguished spectator across the rope with him on his back. Everybody naturally refused, and the great equilibrist, with a genial smile, would say: "I am sorry you are afraid; I should drop you." But he was bolder once with his own person. He was exhibiting in Paris, and was about to cross the Seine on his rope. Cham, the great caricaturist, had come to make a sketch. Blondin, recognising him, at once invited him to cross with him.

"With pleasure," replied Cham, "but on one condition."

"And that is—?" queried Blondin.

"That I shall carry you on my back," answered Cham.

"Not if I know myself!" answered Blondin.

"Ah!" triumphantly exclaimed Cham. "This time, M. Blondin, it is you who are afraid!"

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Three Farmers Took Shelter Under a Balsam Tree and One is Dead.

Pembroke, Ont., June 24.—Duncan Cameron, William Croskery and Stephen Kenny, farmers, took shelter under a balsam tree during the storm this afternoon at Beachburg, Ont., and lightning struck the tree. Cameron was killed instantly. The others were badly stunned, but will recover. Duncan Cameron was formerly Deputy Reeve of Westmeath Township, and in his 51st year. There was also a horse killed by lightning at Beachburg.

A Pointer for Mr. Chamberlain.

London, June 24.—The Parliamentary gossip writer of The Daily News says this morning that one of the telegrams from Cecil Rhodes to Miss Flora Shaw, which will be produced at the next meeting of the British South Africa Investigating Committee, instructs Miss Shaw to inform Mr. Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that if he desires to retain the British hold upon South Africa, it would be desirable to change the tone of his communications on South African matters.

WHY SUFFER WITH PILES?

Dr. Chase's Ointment Will Cure Them at a Cost of But 60 Cents.

Piles, scrofula, eczematic eruptions, scald head, salt rheum and all other annoying and painful skin diseases can be easily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I had protruding piles for ten years," writes H. H. Sutherland, commercial traveller, of Truro, N.S., "tried many remedies, and had doctors operate. It was no use. Was completely laid up at times. Chase's Ointment was recommended to me by Mr. Brennan, of the Summerside, P.E.I., Journal. I tried it, and one box completely cured me."

Mr. Statia, the editor of the Streetsville, Ont., Review, gives this unsolicited testimonial under date of Nov. 6, 1895: "Half a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured my daughter of eczema. That was six months ago, and there has since been no reappearance of the disease."

T. Wallace, blacksmith, of Iroquois, Ont., was troubled with blind itching piles for 20 years. "I tried every remedy that came out in vain," he writes, "until I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was a godsend. One box cured me."

All dealers and Edmanson, Bates & Co., manufacturers, Toronto. Price 60c.

Linseed and turpentine are every mother's household remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung affections. Dr. Chase has disguised the taste and made the remedy pleasant to take. Large bottle only 25c.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George Street.

People shudder when they think of the possibility of sudden death by violence or accident There is a sentimental horror attached to such a death that makes people prefer the grim monster in almost any other guise. Yet all the lives that are lost each year by violence and accident are but an insignificant fraction to the untold thousands that are slain by the grim destroyer, consumption. It is the most insidious and the deadliest of all known diseases. It knows neither rank nor wealth. It attacks people in all the walks of life. It makes no distinctions. It has for centuries been considered incurable. It is not.

An almost unfailing cure for consumption is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly upon the lungs and also corrects the aggravating cause of the disease. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and makes the assimilation of the food perfect, thus nourishing and strengthening the system for its battle with its relentless foe. It fills the arteries with the rich, pure blood of health. It builds new, healthy tissue in the lungs and drives out all impurities and disease germs. It cures 98 per cent of all cases of consumption. Thousands have testified to their cures. All druggists sell it.

"I was taken sick in February, 1887, with typhoid pneumonia," writes Mrs. Henrietta Hart, of Voorheesville, Albany Co., N. Y. "I then had a miscarriage. I did not leave my bed to sit in a chair till the first of June. I had medical care all that time. I was so weak I could not turn in bed alone. The doctor said he could do no more for me. I was coughing and raising and was almost dead with consumption. I gave up to die. I took seven bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' together (not seven of each), and I was then able to do my own housework for my family of four. In less than three years from the time I began your medicine, I gave birth to a healthy baby girl that weighed eight pounds. I have had two children since, and am enjoying good health now."

Pretty eyes, bright, snappy and full of fire and life. Constipation makes the blood impure, and the eyes get dull and heavy, glazed and listless. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation speedily and permanently. They never gripe. They are tiny, anti-bilious, sugar-coated granules. One is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them.

A MOUNTAIN DAISY.

It was in a corner of the conservatory behind the palms during one of the most fashionable functions of the season. This seems a favorite situation with fate while weaving the web of human destiny. Fred Trevor, tall, dark, self-contained, with power apparent in every look, movement and feature, stood with hands crossed behind him before the magnificent woman he had just seated.

"You know, Miss Alden," as he leaned toward her, "that my knowledge of the social tenets is not profound."

"You have only to follow your instincts, Mr. Trevor."

"And you are the gentle mentor who warned me against the sin of flattery."

"If I have paid an undeserved compliment it is to society in assuming that it has attained to your standard."

"You're incorrigible, but I'll accept the verdict and carry out the thought I had in bringing you here."

She made no answer save to withdraw her eyes from his and gather in the folds of her dress to make room for him to sit down.

"I want to tell you something of my life and then ask your advice. I am not assuming that the story has any special interest for you, but I have a special desire for your opinion after I have told it."

"But don't you know it as a general truth that, with the average woman, the man who is rich, famous and honored, glorifies his antecedents, no matter what they may be?"

"If you were the average woman I would never have sought this opportunity. When I first faced the world alone I was a little, ill-fed, sallow, ragged and half-dressed boy in the Cumberland mountains. I did not know that there was such a thing as a railroad, a steamboat, a book, a hereafter, music, culture or anything different from the detestable surroundings from which I longed to escape. My father had been killed in defending an illicit still, and mother seemed to go with the mountain flowers which I had gathered for her till they had censed to bloom that fall. During the winter I was kept alive despite kicks and bruises by a family that had me as their sole reliance in 'toting, water and gathering wood.

"In the spring I went away. Made up a little bundle and stole off in the night. Till the evening of the next day I hurried over the red clay roads and paths, terror of being caught and taken back crowding out every other thought and feeling. But hunger and exhaustion are not to be denied, and at last I went stealthily to a little cabin where a girl of my own age was keepin' house in a hollow stump, just outside. She put her frowzled head over the wall of her primitive abode to conduct the examination. 'Who is youns, boy?' 'Whar's you' par?' 'Whar's you' mar?' 'What mout you be a goin'?' were questions that I answered as well as I could. Then she said wisely: 'I 'lows thet you is runned away.'

"This would have put me to flight, but she sprang out, told me to take her place, and while I sat in the cramped quarters she brought me all that I could eat and a paper of food to carry with me. After assuring me that she would have her 'par' shoot anyone who might be trying to recapture me, she pointed the nearest way to a town, walked a way with me and said as we parted: 'I reckon youns 'll heve ter kim back some time an' marry me fur all them wittles an' fur tellin' folks weuns heven't sawen you when they comes sarchin'. I promised her, of course.

"But you never told us that you were engaged," laughed his brilliant listener. "Where can we find your mountain daisy?"

"I wish I could tell you. The incident was one of the events of my life. For the first time I knew the sweetness of sympathy, I have grown to almost detest the people from whom I sprang, because of their ignorance and lack of ambition, but the little girl of the hollow stump has always had a warm place in my memory. You know most of my experience in the far west. Before I had been there six months I found the old man known as Hermit Ben lying unconscious and apparently dying in one of the mountain gorges. I brought the aid that carried him to his shanty, procured a doctor and was his nurse till he recovered. He felt toward me as I did toward the ignorant little girl back in Tennessee. I had been good to him without any selfish motive and he no sooner was well than he announced that I was his boy Jim. This was my protection, for, despite the fact that he was a recluse, Ben was known as a bad man when interfered with and commanded a respect that was heightened by the mystery with which he surrounded himself. Something had made him at enmity with the world. For years he told me nothing, though from the first he showed me all the affection of a mother and care of a father.

"It was soon a matter of common report that Ben's new boy was to be a gentleman. The hermit himself took charge of my primary education. He was delighted with my lack of knowledge and my endless list of simple questions, for it showed him that he was working on virgin soil. He molded me in accordance with his own conception of manhood, forever impressing upon me that ingratitude was the cardinal sin. When I could comprehend he told me that I would be rich, that I must spend money generously and that some time he would let me into a secret which would place at my command all the immeasurable power of gold.

"When it came time for me to go east to college I suggested that I should go back to the old place in the mountains and see if I could do anything for the girl who had been kind to me. No act of mine ever pleased him more, and when I left him it was with unlimited credit authorized by one of the greatest banking institutions of the west. I did not find the girl, but learned that she had first been employed and then adopted by a widow whose husband had fallen in the war. I left money with a lawyer, telling him to find the girl and have her educated. A year later this money was returned to me with notice that he could do nothing for me. I wrote for further information, but could get no reply.

"Before my benefactor died he told me of the rich gold find he had worked without sharing his secret with anyone. You know how it proved a veritable mine of wealth, built up a thriving city and won me the title of Bonanza King. He also told me how a heartless woman had wrecked his life, and asked me to never abandon the search for the little mountain girl until I knew what had become of her, and whether it was within my power to help her. You have no idea how man and by, thrown together as we were, could build a romance upon a foundation so slender."

"I think I understand. And you have found no trace?"

"None that I could follow. After that fight when the strikers tried to destroy the machinery at the mines, my wounds threw me into a fever, and through all the delirium I talked in the dialect of my boyhood with the little maid I had never seen but once. That shows you the hold she had upon me, and even yet I have an ideal that must either be shattered or confirmed before I can be content. Now for your advice. Should I marry before I have seen this girl?"

"Not with my approval, Mr. Trevor. Go to the end of your foolish dream, or it might haunt you, and some woman might suffer."

"I had hoped for a different answer from you," and his eyes told the old, old story.

"But I'm your friend, and can give no other. This is our waltz."

Within a month Trevor received a letter in a yellow, blotted envelope. The scrawl only said: "I reckon youuns have forgetted me. I'm back here agin', an' I have learn youuns was rich."

Trevor shuddered. His romance had died a cruel death. But gratitude was his strong point. Reluctantly he went. When at length he rode to the front of the old cabin there was a woman in a linsey dress that could not conceal the beauty of her form, her back to him, while she threw food to the noisy chickens. Just as he reached her side she turned with: "Well, youuns did kim back, hey?"

"Miss Alden," grasped Trevor, as he crushed the "Mountain Daisy" against his breast. And the promise of his babyhood was made good.—Detroit Free Press.

Understood His Questioner's Wants.

The cross-examiner had had the witness on the stand for some time and the latter was naturally getting a little weary.

"If you would only answer my questions properly," said the cross-examiner, who was called by courtesy a lawyer, "we would have no trouble."

The witness, who was a good witness, simply looked askance and let it go at that.

"If I could only get you to understand," continued the lawyer, "that all I want to know is what you know, we—"

"It would take you a lifetime to acquire that," interrupted the witness.

The lawyer recovered shortly after, being accustomed to knockout blows, and tried to explain himself.

"What I mean is that I merely want to learn what you know about this affair," he said. "I don't care anything about your abstract knowledge of law or your information in regard to theosophy, but what you know about this case."

"Oh, that isn't what you want," returned the witness in an offhand way. "I've been trying to give you that for some time, and—"

Of course the lawyer got in his deadly work in the line of objections at this point, and the witness had to stop.

"If I don't want to know what you know about this particular case and nothing else," inquired the lawyer later, "what do you think I do want to know."

That seemed so easy to the witness that he almost laughed, and he showed a willingness to speak that made the lawyer prepare to object before a word was said.

"It isn't what I know that you want to know; it's what you think I know that you're after; and you're trying to make me know it or prove me a liar."

Then it was that every one in the courtroom knew that he had been on the witness stand before.

Housework Not Drudgery.

What is drudgery?

Steadfast, continuous toil; doing the same thing over and over without hope of completion or release; work in which we feel no interest but which it is our lot in life to perform.

How will that do for an impromptu definition? Is it not a fair statement of the conditions that go to make up our idea of drudgery?

Does housework come under the head of drudgery, according to this definition?

I can understand how the girl in the store, eternally dispensing tape and buttons to more or less amiably disposed customers; the stenographer taking down interminable business letters and clicking them off on her typewriter; the accountant making out endless bills for Mrs. A.'s hat and Mrs. B.'s ribbons and gloves, may find their work monotonous drudgery. I can see how the women who sit day in and day out working buttonholes, toeing off stockings, or finishing garments can call their unvarying, endless tasks drudgery. I can fancy how the ceaseless pursuit of pleasure can wear out the seeker for it, and the routine of calls, receptions and dinners at which one must show herself or be thought "not in it" can be wearying to the spirit and the flesh, but I cannot conceive how an intelligent woman can regard the privilege of making a home attractive and happy for her husband and children, as drudgery.

Therefore it is hard to see why women despise and dislike housekeeping—except for reasons hereafter to be outlined.

The maintenance of a well-ordered home, the economical expenditure of her husband's income, the preparation of the food that keeps up physical vigor and mental health, the care and nurture of her children, are woman's nearest as well as nobles duties. None of them are unimportant; each affects the welfare of the community as well as that of the individual. The woman who performs them well is greater, it seems to me, and does a better work for humanity, than she who lobbies a suffrage bill through the Legislature, or pilots a steamboat. Why should she class her highest duties as drudgery—save, because she has not yet come fully into the knowledge of their true importance?—Beatrix, in Detroit Free Press.

PETERBOROUGH TORONTO

THE INITIAL SERMON OF REV. S. J. SHOREY.

HE SPEAKS TO HIS CONGREGATION REGARDING ITS RESPONSIBILITY.

The Church and its Minister and Officials Cannot be Made to Bear the Burden—Every Man Must Stand Upon His Own Feet and be Answerable For His Failings.

A very large congregation greeted Rev. S. J. Shorey, the new pastor of the George street Methodist church, when he assumed the duties of his charge yesterday morning. He chose his text from Acts, 3rd ch., 6th ver :—"Then Peter said, silver and gold have I none ; but such as I have give I thee ; in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk," being the words spoken by Peter to the lame man at the gate beautiful of the temple. God, the speaker stated, was more gratified in every department of human life by an erect and vigourous manhood than by the giving of alms. Many come to us in the world weak and defective and for these we have to care. In the present age there are institutions provided for such as these ; for the deaf, the dumb, the blind and the maimed. In heathen times such provisions were unknown, but when the Saviour entered the world wherever His footsteps were planted there sprang up these institutions. Nevertheless it is not the Divine intention that men should be impotent at the doors of the temples.

Any educational system which neglects anyone department is defective. In the present age the physical department is not neglected as it has hitherto been. Men used to go forth from their studies into the world with a sound mind but and therefore their sphere of usefulness and time upon earth were limited. To-day, however, there is considerable attention paid to the development of the physical as well as the mental side of the student ; but it is not enough to have a sound mind in a sound body. The training or education which does not unfold a man's spiritual nature is defective and leaves him lying impotent at the gate of the world's most beautiful temple.

A man's life does not consist merely of silver and gold, but in the exercise of God given powers.

The endless strife between capital and labour might be ended, and the solving of the world's great social problem made easier if men would but stop to think that a man may have no silver or gold and yet be a man for a' that.

Mr. Shorey then dwelt on the necessity of each man standing on his own feet and carrying his own burden in the world. There was too great a tendency in these days, he thought, to try and put the responsibility on the church and the minister. Too many parents are inclined to shirk the responsibility of training their children aright and leave it with the church. Through this reason there are a large number of impotent folks lying around the temple. They are to be regarded with pity but it ought not to be. Oh! for some Peter to take them by the hand and say rise up and walk and go forth and live the life that God intended.

Stand on your own feet and live your own life, not because it is a case of advantage or benefit, but because it means life and death for you. The church will help you, but it cannot be made responsible.

It is not for relief from responsibility for myself, continued Mr. Shorey, or for any of the officials that I am pleading, but for your own lives.

Did the lame man feel that his cure was a mixed blessing and that he would hereafter have to of his own life? No! we are told that he leaped up for joy. He felt that he had been made a complete man. If anyone puts you in the way of salvation you also should leap up for joy and show your gratitude by praising God all your life.

The speaker was particularly anxious that his congregation should thoroughly comprehend that it was not for his own relief, but for the cause at large, that he was urging everyone to recognize that they should not rest where they were saved themselves, but show their gratitude by assuming a portion of the responsibility of saving others. As with the lame man, they should bear testimony.

Upon those who were easily discouraged he urged the necessity of not being too sensitive, and he also drew the attention of others to the fact that for such, as the former, it was not a case of silver and gold, but the putting before them of their own strength that they may gather encouragement.

To the young people who have so recently taken upon themselves the vows of discipleship, Mr. Shorey inquired as to their ideal of Christian life. Would they gird up their loins, and setting their faces steadfastly towards the throne, resolutely push on ?

If the church was well organized and there was a large corps of workers, the young members would be encourged to keep their new resolutions, but in case any were not seen personally he urged them to maintain the Christian life, and not grow neglectful and finally drift back into the world again.

For whose sake is it that Gospel has come ? queried he. If it not for your own? Has not God a purpose in coming to you ? Have you any desire to accomplish it ? If so, bravely assume the new responsibility and be not content with the knowledge of your own salvation, but look also to that of others.

Remain steadfast, concluded the speaker. Not for God's sake, but for your own sake see that you do not lie around the temples helpless and dependent, but go along the pathways seeking whom ye may also save. If you falter, go to the Peters and Johns them lift you up and steady you and let for another effort.

In closing his remarks Mr. Shorey reminded his hearers that the congregation was a large one and that it would be some time before he could get around to all the homes of the members. Some one had to be the last to be called upon by him, and if they were sensitively inclined, to remember that he was doing his best and needed their help.

A Croupy Cough was Soon Driven Away by Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine.

"My little boy had a bad croupy cough," says Mrs. Smith, of 256 Bathurst street. Toronto. "My neighbor, Mrs. Hopkins, recommended me to try Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I did so, and the first dose did him good. One bottle completely cured the cold. It is surprising the popularity of Chase's Syrup in this neighborhood. It appears to me it can now be found in every house.

Is Your Pump in Working Order ?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make ; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. — G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361 ; Telephone, 92.

THE WILD WEST.

Fine Cavalry and Artillery Horsemanship—Cowboys, Indians and Marksmen Provide Amusement.

(Montreal Gazette.)

Buffalo Bill has once more pitched his tent in Montreal, this time on the Exhibition grounds, and fully 20,000 people paid their respects and their sheckels at the gate yesterday.

Fifteen or twenty years ago one could see in reality the wild west which his performances portray without a great deal of exertion. The West has changed since then, but the representation of its scenes is, therefore all the more valuable. What was then known as the American desert has changed so wonderfully as has Voltaire's "hundred leagues of snow," and the transformation is due to such hardy frontiersmen as Cody. His record as a scout, a hunter and a soldier in the service of Uncle Sam adds to the interest of his show. Whether viewed as a mere spectacle or from a military point of view, Col. Cody certainly provides a wonderful entertainment. It is in every respect clean and manly.

The performance includes deeds of daring, feats of skill in many lines, perfect discipline, grace of motion and variety of colour. The rough riders of the world is kaleidoscopic and bewildering.

Miss Annie Oakley and Johnnie Baker are still with the show, and despite the gale of wind did some remarkable shooting. Col. Cody also demonstrated that his aim is still true.

The native sports of the Riffians is a fine feature and their exhibitions of riding was remarkable. Probably the most daring horsemen in the show, however, are the Cossacks.

The Cavalry element is represented by a detachment of the Royal Irish Lancers, Kaiser William's Garde Cuirassiers and the Sixth U.S. Cavalry. The two former gave a beautiful musicial ride, while the tent-pegging of the Lancers is very effective and pretty. Besides these features there are the usual stage coach attacks and rescues, lasso work, etc. The cowboy sport is thrilling. Even a jockey would prefer to leave it to a cowboy. The Indian war dances, too, are interesting as a spectacle. The promise made for the Wild West show are amply fulfilled.

Japanese Reporters.

The Japanese reporter makes about as much money as the Japanese policeman—that is, $6 a month. In Tokio some of them make more, and in the smaller towns they make as little as $2 a month, but $6 is a fair average. They are not sent out on regular assignments as a rule, but are giving a roving commission. The editor tells them to get news—real news if there is any, but get news; and they never return empty-handed. A good newsgatherer is rare among them, but the "fakir" is plentiful enough, and really clever.

Interviewing hardly can be said to be popular. The people do not understand it and do not like it. Japan is esoteric and doesn't tell what it knows if it can help itself. Still, there are interviews in Japanese papers. Politicians have themselves interviewed occasionally, and distinguished "globe-trotters" usually submit.—New York Post.

A Comfort Sometimes.

"When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

The sports at St. Joseph's Pic-nic Thursday promise to be of a most interesting character. All should attend.

Worth Three Times The Price.

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Underwriter's Sale of FINE Clothing. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. We insist upon a certain high standard of goodness. The trash buyer is not thought of here. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customers' gain.

THE JUBILEE DOINGS

Her Majesty Visited Kensington Yesterday

AND HEARD THE CHILDREN SING.

Report That the Queen Will Take Part in No More State Functions After Thursday—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Other Premiers Have Plenty to Do.

London, June 28.—The Queen returned to London this afternoon—her final Jubilee day but one—and made what most probably was her last Jubilee appearance during her reign in the metropolis. For, with the celebration that closes at Aldershot on Thursday next, the state public appearances of Her Majesty are said, on fair official authority, to be finished; henceforth, for whatever span of life may be left to her, Queen Victoria will confine herself to such work for the state as can be done at Windsor, Balmoral or Osborne. All those official functions, drawing rooms, public ceremonies, opening town halls, hospitals and the like, which bring the Sovereign face to face with the people, will now be relegated to the Prince and Princess of Wales.

The Queen thinks, so the statement runs, that she has done enough. The unexampled devotion to and acceptance of her obligations to her people have after 60 years won for her well deserved rest, and in so far as the Sovereign can, she now proposes to let the burden of responsibility fall on those who must bear it when she passes away.

It was the knowledge of this, pathetically mingling with loyalty, that lent such deep interest to to-day's proceedings, fittingly devoted in the first instance to a visit to Kensington. As Her Majesty has always cherished with passionate attachment every tender sentiment, to-day's visit was one of mingled pleasure and sadness, it seemed indeed a farewell.

Her Majesty arrived at Paddington at 12.35 p.m. She was in the best of health and walked with less difficulty than usual.

The same ceremonies of semi-State progression were observed as on her arrival a week ago.

At St. Mary Abbot's, an address from the inhabitants of her birthplace was presented to the Queen. Six hundred children of the Kensington Church School were assembled on a platform inside the railings and sang the National Anthem as the Queen passed.

Her Majesty handed back a written reply to the address, thanking them for their loyal and kind expressions, and adding:

"I gladly renew my association with a place which, as the scene of my birth and summons to the throne, has ever held and will have with me solemn and tender recollections."

Across the gates of Kensington Palace was a banner on which was inscribed "Home, Sweet Home." Her Majesty saw it and seemed much affected.

Her Majesty reached Buckingham Palace at 1.30 p.m., and at about 5 o'clock entered the grounds to be present at the garden party, for which 6000 invitations had been issued. Her Majesty was received with almost reverential greetings, and took up her position, to which she was wheeled on leaving the palace door, in front of the small tent near the lake. The gardens were beautifully arranged, the Queen's watermen were in boats on the lake, the fountains were all playing, refreshment marquees had been erected at convenient spots and three bands of music were in attendance. The Queen received many of her guests in her tent, and there took leave of the special envoys of the foreign powers and others who had attended the Jubilee ceremonies. The Queen returned to Windsor at 7 o'clock.

LUNCHED WITH ROSEBERY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Other Colonial Premiers in Berkeley Square.

Montreal, June 28.—A Star special cable from London says: Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Colonial Premiers lunched with Lord Rosebery in Berkeley Square to-day. Their reception by the ex-Premier of Britain was most cordial. This function assumes importance as another evidence of Lord Rosebery's hankering after public life again, and a desire to take a full share in the development of the new Imperial policy, which is now engaging the earnest attention of British statesmen.

The Canadian troops are sight-seeing to-day. To-morrow the officers attend the Commander-in-Chief's levee in White Hall. On Saturday every Canadian received a medal from the Prince of Wales. Everywhere the men and officers are being splendidly entertained with free entree to all theatres, music halls, etc. They speak with especial pride of the reception at Portsmouth, Saturday, by the Mayor, civic dignitaries, admiralty and the cheering crowds. The papers to-day pay particular attention to the impression made on the Canadians by the naval review. They treat Canada as the pivot of the new imperialism, and hope Saturday's gorgeous spectacle will induce them to join the Australasians and South Africans in taking a first step towards the real federation of the Empire, through the navy.

The "Renown," which was Admiral Salmon's flag ship at Saturday's great pageant, takes its post on the North American station in the autumn, when Canadians will have a chance of repaying the British attentions.

WERE THEY SNUBBED?

Considerable Bad Feeling Over the Reception of Commoners Who Visited the Queen.

London, June 28.—The Canadian Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and a number of other distinguished people were in the strangers' gallery of the House of Commons to-day, when Sir Thomas Lough, Liberal member of the west division of Islington, questioned the Government leader in the House, Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, as to who was responsible for the bad arrangements for the reception of the members of the House of Commons at Buckingham Palace, on Wednesday last, when they were received by Queen Victoria, although a number of them failed to arrive on time, and whether it was intended to make an apology to them. Mr. Lough's remarks were greeted with cheers, mingled with cries from the Irish members of "Serves you right!"

Mr. Balfour replied that the officers of Her Majesty's household deeply regretted, in spite of their best endeavors to show the utmost respect for the Speaker and the members of the House of Commons, that anything should have occurred to cause dissatisfaction.

The newspapers have been full of comments on this contretemps, ever since the reception of the members of the House of Commons at Buckingham Palace, the Liberal newspapers being especially bitter, alleging that the bad arrangements made were an insult to the representatives of the people.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, after leaving the distinguished strangers' gallery of the House of Commons, conversed with Mr. James F. Hogan, anti-Parnellite member for the middle division of Tipperary, the well-known writer on colonial subjects, and with other members of Parliament interested in colonial affairs. Mr. Hogan was unable, however, to attend the meeting of the colonial party, owing to his presence being required at the Queen's garden party. His reception of the colonials has been postponed until next Monday.

WHAT A FRENCHMAN SAYS

Of the Great Naval Review Which Set the Whole World A-Flutter.

Paris, June 28.—The correspondent of The Matin who attended the Jubilee naval review, and who made several trips on different steamers for the purpose of learning British opinion of the visitors and the warships, sends to his paper a vivacious summing up of his experience. He says:

"How they detest the Germans. They abstained from a single cheer before the Kaiser's cruiser, and remarked with disdain her ancient construction. Coming to the superb Japanese cruiser, the crowd waxed sarcastic, crying, 'Tchin, Tchin, you, you,' which the Mikado's subjects took for marks of sympathy. The Englishmen were indifferent in the presence of the Swedish, Austrian and Spanish warships, but they saluted with pleasure the Italian warship Lepanto. Finally, reaching the French and Russian cruisers, they scanned them curiously, seeking to estimate their strength, and were visibly preoccupied and impressed."

The correspondent was struck by the undisguised feeling shown by the occupants of the legions of craft of all shapes and sizes threatening the lines of the floating citadels.

He returned to Portsmouth and started on another vessel. He found the crowds always the same. They frantically cheered their own ironclads and cruisers. The women cried and waved their handkerchiefs and the children squalled, but the enthusiasm diminished when the foreign warships were passed. Then they cheered politely, but without conviction.

Another Massacre in New Guinea.

Brisbane, Queensland, June 28.—Another European party has been massacred in New Guinea. No details of the tragedy have reached here as yet.

A Snub from Germany.

Constantinople, June 28.—A fresh attempt on the part of the Sultan to secure Germany's support of the retention of Thessaly has met with a refusal and the advice to conform to Europe's wishes on the subject.

An incident typical of the situation occurred here on Tuesday. During the panic caused by the salute fired in honor of the Jubilee of Queen Victoria, the Mussulmans trooped into the streets, armed with bludgeons, and asked the police whether the Greeks or the Armenians were to be attacked.

The Kaiser Honors His Grandma.

Kiel, June 28.—Emperor William gave a dinner yesterday evening on board the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, in honor of Queen Victoria's Jubilee. The guests included King Leopold of Belgium, the Imperial Chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe; the British Ambassador to Germany, Sir Frank C. Lascelles, and others. After the dinner, the Emperor informed King Leopold that he had been appointed a la suite in the German navy, and then His Imperial Majesty called for three cheers for Queen Victoria. While the cheers were being given a royal salute was fired by the fleet in honor of Her Majesty.

High Prices for Old Bibles.

London, June 28.—At the Ashburnham Library sale to-day, the famous Mazarin or Gutenberg Bible, on vellum, brought £4000. The first Latin Bible, with the date 1500, and several others, sold for over £1000 each.

Big Shipment of Boy's Odd Pants, 22 to 33 size, just received, to be sold at the very low price of 25c, 35c, 45c, 60c and 75c at Grafton & Co, Clothing Manufacturer.

THAT INVESTIGATION

Will Have to Go On at Once, It Appears.

MR. MILLER PRESSED HIS MOTION

And the Senators Unanimously Adopted It After Hon. David Mills Had Been Added to the Committee—Government Loan Agreed to by the Upper House.

Ottawa, June 28.—(Special.)—Senator Miller's motion to investigate the Drummond Counties Railway matters passed the Upper House to-day. Resuming the debate Mr. Miller said he had consented to an adjournment on Saturday at the request of Sir Oliver Mowat, but events which had taken place in the other House compelled him to persist in his motion. He thought that it was in the interest of the country that this committee should be granted and that the enquiry should proceed at once.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell backed up Senator Miller, and, in the course of his remarks, quoted from The Montreal Herald, which, he said, belonged principally to one of the parties interested in the deal, and from The Toronto Globe, to the effect that the Senate would not pursue this investigation because it would result in justifying the Government and implicating members of the Conservative party. If members of the Conservative party were implicated, the sooner they were driven from public life the better for the country and the party. Regarding statements that he was influenced by Sir Charles Tupper, Mr Foster and Mr. Haggart in the course he had taken, he most emphatically denied that such was the case. He had acted entirely of his own accord, and from a sense of his duty as a public man.

Sir Oliver Mowat said he would not oppose the investigation, but asked that Senator Mills be added to the committee, which was agreed to.

Senator Scott said this was purely a fishing commission, and he hoped ample time would be given for a full investigation.

Senator Clemow supported the demand for an investigation.

Senator Mills argued that the Senate had no power to investigate the expenditure of public money. If an investigation was made at all it should be conducted by the House of Commons.

Senator Ferguson replied, quoting from the constitutional authorities to show that the Senate had power to conduct such an investigation.

At the afternoon session Senator Power, continuing the debate, said that there was no doubt that the relations between the Senate and House of Commons were slightly strained at the present time.

Senator Primrose repudiated the charge that this was a fishing committee and that it was a political investigation.

Senator Cox suggested that there was no use in prolonging the debate. The investigation was evidently to go on.

The Speaker then put the motion, which was declared carried unanimously in the following form:

That a special committee of the Senate be appointed to enquire into the expenditure of subsidies granted by the Parliament of Canada to the Drummond Counties Railway Company, its liabilities of every description, whether matured or accruing, the condition and modification of the said railway, as well as its equipment, and also all other matters and things relating to the said subjects or any of them, as well as all other matters and things relating to the said railway, with power to send for papers, persons and records, and to report from time to time, and that the said committee consist of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Senators Ferguson, Power, Scott, Macdonald (P. E. I.), McInnes (New Westminster), De Boucherville, Primrose, Cox, Clemow, Landry, Prowse, Wood, Thibaudeau (La Valliere), McCallum, Mills and Miller.

The Senate then went into committee on the bill respecting judges of provincial courts.

The bill to authorize the $15,000,000 loan, the act to provide for the iron and steel bounties and the act to amend the Civil Service Superannuation Act were read a second time.

A PRETTY HOT SERMON.

Rev. Father Therien of Hull Said French Canadians Were Guilty and Had Fallen Away Below.

Ottawa, June 28.—Rev. Father Therien of Hull preached a stirring sermon on politics yesterday at high mass. He was speaking to the St. Jean Baptiste Society, and said that he felt very uneasy in not having some words of congratulation to address to the French-Canadians this year. The reason is due, he said, to the result of the federal and provincial elections, which show that the French-Canadians have not followed the requests made by their bishops. The reverend preacher caused quite a sensation when he said that the French-Canadians had fallen away below in the esteem of the clergy. The French people were guilty, and they will be punished for what they have done. Faith is disappearing and the future is very uncertain."

Rev. Father Therien afterwards made a few remarks on the Bonaventure election. He said that the result of the election was a national humiliation. The candidate who was elected had refused to sign certain documents presented by Archbishop Blais, and the French-Canadians elected him, however, with over 800 of a majority. To-day it seems impossible to win an election without promising a line of railway, some bridges or whiskey.

Rev. Father Therien, speaking of the school question, in an excited tone remarked that Sir Richard Cartwright, D'Alton McCarthy and Premier Greenway were working to have the French language abolished in the country.

Charcoal in the Hog Pen.

Charcoal for hogs is one of the essentials in every feed lot, and one of the things most neglected. Hogs are off their feed, not doing well, are rooting in the ground up to their shoulders in search of roots or gravel, or something to supply this that they must have. I know some farmers that have never supplied this one essential in ten years, and they are invariably the farmers where you first hear of cholera. Hogs become cloyed with green corn, without some grit of some kind. They refuse to eat or gain and are having their systems filled by a careless owner to take cholera or fever germs.—Rural World.

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

One of the noblest forms of benefaction of the masses that have distinguished the reign of Her Majesty is the Children's Aid Society. Its reclamatory character is less important than its preventive character. The tendency and, indeed, effect of its operations is to rescue children from the probability of becoming criminals and a prospective expense to the state, far greater than the small expenditure required to prevent the neglected children from swelling the number of the vicious classes, not to speak of the peril to society. Therefore liberal expense in carrying on the operations of the society is fully justified and the government it seems is fully justified in dealing liberally in the matter of financial aid and in such a course will receive the endorsation of the people. One of the most trying difficulties of the many that beset the path of the Children's Aid Society is the expense of providing temporary shelter for neglected and dependent children. When children are first placed in its hands, the Society has to look at three things concerning them: First, where to get a desirable home exactly suitable; next, what to do with them in the meantime, and lastly, the money required for their care till placed out. Of these three, the last is the most serious. So serious is it in fact, that, considering the very great practical importance of the work, there is no doubt the Government would be warranted in, to a large extent, relieving the Aid Societies throughout the province of the expense of temporary shelter (except of the most temporary kind) by establishing a Provincial Temporary Shelter or distributing centre. This at present is the crying need of the movement. Public opinion would seem to warrant the Government in doing this. Of all public benefactions this is the only one of purely public nature not subsidized in any way. Public opinion, in Peterborough, any way, would, we feel certain, endorse any reasonable expenditure in the direction of attaining the desirable object attained.

CANADIAN COLD STORAGE.

The Benefits of the System the Laurier Government has Established.

One of the most important steps that the Dominion Government has ever taken to advance the agricultural interests of the country, is the providing this year of a cold storage service for perishable food products, such as butter, cheese, poultry, eggs and fruit, between Canada and Great Britain. It is a well recognized fact that the market value of such products is determined not so much by their composition as their condition; indeed, so important is this latter factor that the production of these foods can never be made profitable unless means are adopted for their preservation, so that they can be placed before the consumer in as good a condition as when they left the hands of the producer. In the home market, where the goods are never sent any great distance, and the time occupied in transit is consequently limited, this is a comparatively simple matter; but in the case of goods that have to stand a voyage across the Atlantic great difficulty has hitherto been experienced in preventing their deterioration.

With the help of the refrigerator accommodation provided by the Government, these difficulties seem in a fair way to be overcome, and it is quite within the limits of probability that, wonderful as has been the development in the export trade in Canadian dairy produce in the past, it will still be more marked in the future. That there is room for it is plainly seen by a reference to the British trade returns. In the case of butter, for example, Great Britain imported last year $74,674,537 worth, of which Canada supplied only $1,653 421 worth. Even if it should be impossible for Canada to capture the share of the business that other countries at present enjoy, there is every year a large increase in the demand for butter in the British market, and this Canada has as good a chance of securing as any other country. In 1894 the value of British imports of butter amounted to $65,489,268, whereas in 1896 the value was $74,674 537, a gain of $9,000,000 in two years. This increased demand must be supplied from some source, and it is partly to enable the Canadian dairyman to secure his share of this business that the Government has inaugurated the cold storage service. Prof. Robertson, whose opinion on such matters is worthy of consideration, believes that there is a good chance of Canada more than doubling her butter exports annually for years to come.

THE WOOL SITUATION.

The movement in the new clip in this Province has never been as active as it was last week. Everyone interested in the new clip has been working with a will to get as much as possible of the crop into the United States before the passage of the new tariff at Washington. The result has been a larger movement for this time of the year than ever in the history of the market. The shipments across the lines have been very large. The sales have been to American speculators who are satisfied that if they hold the wool till the present large supplies carried by the American mills are exhausted they will make handsome profits. If the tariff bill at Washington had remained in its original form, with the retroactive clauses in it, the importation of wool under the present circumstances would have been impossible. There have been a number of American buyers in the province last week taking all the wool they could get and their purchases resulted in advancing the price of wool a cent or two a pound, as high as 21 cents having been paid this week. It is thought that pretent prices will not hold much longer. It is expected that the new tariff will take effect about the 1st of July, and dealers here would not care to load up at current prices with more wool than they could dispose of before that date.

Grover C. Connelly, of Richmond Corners, N.B. says of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure: "I am pleased I used Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I had it in a very severe form for nearly five years. I used several so-called cures, but got no relief. None of them did me any good. One box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure completely cured me.

OTONABEE.

Council Meeting.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Robert Esson made application for a grant for a wire snow fence on road allowance, lot 23, con. 6. On motion he was granted 25c per rod for about 16 rods, Mr. Grady to measure fence and give an order on the treasurer. On motion of Messrs. Lancaster and Deyell, Sarah Humphries, statute labour tax for 1895-6, $3, was refunded to road division, No 53. Complaint was made that boys are bathing in the Keene river, near the bridge. The clerk was instructed to put up notices that any persons found washing or bathing, or indecently exposing themselves within sight of the highway or any dwelling will be prosecuted. Alex. McFarlane was present requesting a grant for excavating a ditch through the Cobourg railway. On motion no action was taken. Mr. Grady was authorized to procure gravel for the roads from A Shearer, lot 27, con. 6. The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Jas Rose, $5, for 20 rods of wire fence on the west side of road through lot 24, con. 11; Richard Doris, $4 for damages drawing gravel and $1 for repairing a culvert; Hugh O'Connor, cedar, $7.95; D Kennedy, making culverts, $2.50; Robt Castle, putting in culvert and repairing road, $5; R McIntyre, care of hall, $1.50; W Hatherly, gravel, $9.10; R English, provisions for J Metcalf, $21, paint for town hall and nails for culverts, $5.20, coal oil for town hall, $1 25; J Anderson, gravel, 90c; D McCarthy, $6.44; Wm Drury, $7.80; M Breckenridge, cedar, $1.75. A resolution was adopted petitioning the Dominion Government to lower the Hastings dam for a few months in the spring during the high water as a large quantity of land along the Otonabee river is flooded, rendering it useless for crop or pasture.

Council adjourned until July 19th.

At the adjourned sitting of the Court of Revision Wm Wedlock's assessment of the n w q of lot 14, con 6, was reduced $300; G Connel was assessed for s pt lot 13, Allandale, instead of R Higgins; John Sweeney for w half lot 31, con 6, instead of Wm O'Leary; A Brown for n pt lot 27, con 4, 1-4 acre, $50, omitted from the roll. On motion the collector's roll as amended was confirmed.

TAKE CARE OF THE AGED.

Paine's Celery Compound Will Prolong Their Years and Make Them Happy.

The aged can be made healthy, happy and contented, and their lives greatly extended, if they receive what they most need in their declining years. The great and good work is accomplished by having them use Paine's Celery Compound two or three times a day.

This magnificent and strengthening medicine keeps up the nerve power, corrects digestion, clears the brain, and produces sound and natural sleep. Once these results are secured, aged men and women go on from day to day in full and perfect health, and become a blessing to all around them.

Help the old people at once; give them more care and attention than in the past; procure for them Paine's Celery Compound if they are weak, ailing and complaining. Remember the old folks were once your protectors and guardians; they shared your joys and sorrows, they cared for and attended to your pains and distresses when you were young and helpless.

Do something for the old people now, before their end comes. Make their last days bright and joyous. This is surely and effectually done by having them use Paine's Celery Compound.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

Canada's Reply to the Queen's Message Was First In—The Greatest Political Warrior—Personal Items.

Ottawa, June 27.—(Special.)—His Excellency has been informed that Canada's reply to the Queen's gracious message was the first to reach Buckingham Palace.

The Government has decided to present only three sets of Jubilee stamps. One goes to the Duke of York, a famous philatelist; another to the Duke of Norfolk, the British Postmaster-General, and the third to the Countess of Aberdeen. Mr. Mulock had them bound up in a beautiful album form, with suitable inscriptions.

A group of members were watching a game of king pedro in the smoking room of the House of Commons last night. The question of election contests cropped up, and it transpire' that Mr. "Tignish" Perry, member for West Prince, takes the prize, he having gone through 22 elections in his public career, 16 of which were victories and 6 defeats. His first contest was back in 1854, when he ran for the Local Legislature. It is doubtful whether any man in Canada can beat Mr. Perry's record.

The Countess of Aberdeen sailed for England yesterday.

Mgr. Merry del Val returned to Ottawa to-day.

Mr. Sifton will be home to-morrow.

Mrs. Dobell, of London, Ont., Cured for 25 Cents

Doctors Could Help, but Couldn't Cure—Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure Released the Prisoner, and To-day She is as Well as Ever—She Says it is a Great Remedy

"Yes, I am Mrs. Dobell," said a comely, pleasant-faced woman at her home on Horton street to a News reporter to-day, "and I will very gladly tell you what you want to know. About three years ago my husband was very ill, and I had frequently occasion to rise in the night and go for a doctor or to the druggist. In my hurry I often neglected to properly clothe myself, and contracted several heavy colds, which turned at last to chronic catarrh. I tried doctors, who helped me, but did not cure me, and several special catarrh medicines. I was relieved but not cured. I was suffering intolerably when Mr. Shuff recommended me to try CHASE'S CATARRH CURE, and it began at once to help, and in about two months had entirely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this remarkable medicine, and cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers from catarrh." The blower included is a great help to sufferers.

SOME ACRIMONY WAS EXHIBITED

Mr. Foster, of Course, Had All Sorts of Objections on Tap and Mr. Wallace Ably Assisted Him in the Obstruction - A Late Sitting.

Ottawa, June 28.—(Special.)—Just what is going to happen as a result of the adoption of Senator Miller's motion for a committee to enquire into the Drummond Counties Railway subsidies it is impossible to predict to-night. The committee meets to-morrow morning for organization, and by the time the Senate meets it is possible that the Government may have an announcement to make which will obviate for this year any investigation. There are some Liberals who strongly favor a comprehensive, while others are strong advocates of resistance to what they consider sectional interference. Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Oliver Mowat had a friendly talk to-night, but what transpired is not known, except that no agreement was reached.

On the $10,000 item for Mr. Furte's electric lighting scheme, Mr. Foster pointed out that the Ottawa Gas Company's contract for partially lighting the buildings had three years yet to run; and the company had undertaken to reduce the price and furnish the maximum quantity required. On the strength of that they had gone to an expenditure and the price had been lowered from $4 to $1.50, while improved burners of 40 candle power were now supplied at economical rates. In his opinion, therefore, the Minister of Public Works ought to move slowly.

Mr. Furte promised to consult with the company before introducing any plan.

This item concurred in, the House adjourned until 3 o'clock.

In concurrence with the opening of the afternoon sitting on the Postoffice appropriation, outside service, Mr. Foster said he had been handed a letter from the Deputy Postmaster-General stating that during his absence in Washington the papers in the Marsh Hill had been given to a clerk to be copied and must have been mislaid. In view of this, therefore, Mr. Foster would not attempt to block the Postoffice estimates, hoping that they would be looked up, for he had an important proposition to base on them.

Mr. Mulock said that if he based his objection on the fact that the resignation of Mr. King was telegraphed, the original copy of that telegram could be produced.

The items were concurred in.

On the items for public buildings in Nova Scotia, Mr. McMullen, desiring, he said, to maintain in power the principles he had advocated in Opposition, moved in amendment to strike out the appropriation of $5000 for the Postoffice at Liverpool, N. S.

Sir Louis Davies thought, while he admitted Mr. McMullen to be within his right, that he should take into consideration the fact that the county of Queens was without any public building, that Liverpool was an important place, and that the Government had no intention to depart from the spirit of the resolution of 1890, and should withdraw his amendment. As to Kentville, it was really deserving of a decent building. When he (Sir Louis) was there last year he really thought it disgraceful to the Dominion to have such a miserable cabin for a postoffice. He thought so then, although he did not say anything about it.

After further discussion, a vote was taken and the amendment defeated by 40 to 20. The item then passed.

On the item of $18,500 to pay the loss incurred in operating the Baie des Chaleurs Railway last winter, Mr. Foster and Dr. Sproule made some remarks and the item passed.

On the item of $9000 for Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Jubilee expenses Mr. Foster approved of the vote, and ended a congratulatory speech by assuring the party opposite that he did not begrudge them any honor they might come by out of the Premier's representation of Canada during the Jubilee festivities.

The foregoing item having been concurred in,

Mr. Wallace arose and moved, seconded by Mr. W. E. Maclean, that the item of $7500 for the Montmagny postoffice be struck out.

About half a dozen Opposition members signified assent to the amendment, which Mr. Speaker declared lost "on division."

Next the vote of $157,500 to carry through the G. T. R. and Drummond Counties Railway deal for nine months was taken up.

Mr. Foster referred to the somewhat curious combination of circumstances whereby an hour or two after the Senate had rejected the bill the Finance Minister laid on the table the alternative proposal in the shape of a Governor-General's message transmitting this supplementary estimate, "signed by His Excellency's own hand."

Mr. Fielding said the item would have been necessary anyway, and independent of the bill. Even had the Senate not killed the bill this supplementary would have been brought down. It was by the mere accident of press of business that the estimate was not brought till after the bill had been killed.

Mr. Maclean: I am in favor of the State ownership of railways, and I would like to see the I. C. R. brought to Montreal, and not only that, but carried on to Parry Sound. While I hold this view, and while I would have liked to have seen the Government introduce legislation to that effect, I cannot approve of the proposition before the House. It is not a well-matured proposition; it is not one in the public interest, and while I cannot approve of the proposition on its merits, still less can I approve of it when regard is had to the railway policy of this Government. I would have expected that when the Liberal party came into power they would have seen the mistakes that the Conservative party made in relation to railways, if there were any mistakes, and avoided them; but their policy is one that will only aggravate the present railway situation and do nothing to improve it.

What has taken place up to the present in regard to railways? In the first place, the railways of this country have been built chiefly by railway promoters—by men who have got large bonuses from municipalities, large subsidies from the provinces, and large subsidies from the Federal treasury; and what have these men done? They have given themselves stock; they have watered the stock of the railways they have controlled; they have issued bonds and given the bonds to themselves or sold them at a great discount; they have formed themselves into construction companies and rolling stock companies and into cartage companies and express companies. In every way they have manipulated these railways in order to make large profits for themselves at the public expense; and, so far as I can see, the Governments of this country up to the present time have aided them in so doing.

Mr. Maclean continued at some length to claim that the Government had fostered railway promoters and ignored the people who had to use the railroads and the men who work on them, instancing the C.P.R. as a case in point.

Mr. Mulock: The honorable gentleman from East York (Mr. Maclean) has done me the favor of referring to me in the course of his remarks. He has taken upon himself to announce a new policy for the Conservative party. I do not know whether he is the new leader or not, but he certainly would make a most worthy one, and I say it with all sincerity. But, sir, when the honorable gentleman (Mr. Maclean) speaks in the name of the Conservative party, I am reminded of the fact that he is the first member on the other side of the House who has yet announced this great policy. I am not going to quarrel with him about his policy—on the contrary, I largely sympathize with him in it—but when he tells us what friends of the people the Conservative party will be in formulating this policy and in liberating the people from the thraldom of railway tyranny, I am reminded of the peculiar fact that for 18 years the Conservatives were in power, and that during all that time they did all they could to fasten the shackles on the people of Canada. When did the Conservative party in the last 18 years give any evidence of adopting the policy that Mr. Maclean now announces for them.

Mr. Maclean: I am one who did so for the last seven years.

The Postmaster-General: Yes, I will give Mr. Maclean credit for that. He is consistent in advocating the same course in Opposition as he did when his friends were in power. Mr. Mulock went on to defend the policy of the Government regarding the Crow's Nest Pass Road.

Mr. McDonald of King's entered his protest against the manner in which the Government were piling up expenditure.

Mr. Blair said since the item passed the committee he had gone over the matter again, and as the original program for a 99 years' lease had fallen through and the estimate of $100,000 was based on the proposal according to the estimate furnished him by his officers, he had concluded to reduce the vote for additional rolling stock by $50,000, making the vote $50,000.

In answer to Dr. Sproule he said no portion of the amount would go to purchase the rolling stock of the Drummond Counties Railway.

Concurrence was complete and the supply bill was read a first time.

The House then took up the railway subsidies.

Mr. Foster asked the Minister how it was proposed to compute the cost of railways for purposes of determining whether the subsidy should exceed $3200 per mile. Would the cost be regarded as only the cost of outlay, or would the expenditure for exploratory surveys and promotion expenses be included?

Mr. Blair said if it were reported to the Government that a railway had cost more than $3200 per mile it would be for the chief engineer of his department to report the matter by going carefully into the outlay.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Sproule, Scriver, Dupont, McMullen, Bergeron, Oliver and others, after which the subsidies passed.

At 1 o'clock Mr. Mulock moved the House into committee on the postoffice bills.

Mr. Foster urged that the House had been in session long enough for an adjournment.

Mr. Mulock followed, charging Mr. Foster with organized obstruction. There was a lively wrangle for fifteen minutes, in the course of which, on motion by Mr. Foster to adjourn the House, was negatived. After some further talk, however, Sir Richard Cartwright consented to an adjournment, and at 1.15 the House adjourned.

THE HORRORS OF NEW YORK.

Remains of a Murdered Man Found Which Sets Everybody in Gotham Talking—What the Wounds Show.

New York, June 28.—No clue; only conjecture. A few pieces of blood-stained red oilcloth, a few bits of old burlap, a few strings of white oilcloth and some straw paper. No head, only the sawed-up body. Arms and shoulders, upper part of the chest, ghasty red blotch where the head had been severed, the legless trunk found eight miles from the arms and chest.

These are the properties in a tragedy as terrifying, as mysterious as ever was told by De Maupassant or Edgar Allen Poe.

The arms, shoulders and upper chest of a strong, apparently vigorous man were found Saturday in the East River, off 111th-street. Sunday afternoon the trunk of a body was found above the Harlem River, eight miles from the scene of the discovery on Saturday.

An autopsy held revealed the fact that the man had been stabbed three times in the region of the heart and once through the back. The palm of one hand had been cut as though the knife had been grabbed by the victim. All seemed to tell of a terrible struggle and a bloody finale. The part found in the East River was wrapped in red oilcloth, still smelling of the enamel paint. Old burlap was inside the oilcloth, then some straw paper and then the ghastly remains. Some boys saw the package floating. Other boys discovered the second bundle in the Ogden woods at Harlem, wrapped in the same manner.

The coroner examined the body, noting the build, weight, etc., but with him all is conjecture.

To-day the whole of New York is talking of the mystery.

SCIENTIFIC BURGLARY.

They Tapped a Trolley Wire and Carried Current in a Safe With Partial Success.

Cleveland, O., June 28.—Burglars resorted to a novel scheme to open a bank safe at Chagrin Falls, this county, last night. They entered the bank of Rogers & Son sometime early in the evening. They had previously attached a wire to the trolley line of the electric railway. This wire was run through over a transom and to the safe. Another wire attached to the rail of the street car track was brought into the bank. At the ends of these wires were carbon points. With these carbons an attempt was made with the arc light thus formed to melt the knob of the combination. The experiment worked all right and the knob had been nearly melted away when the current was shut off shortly after midnight. The burglars then gave up the task. The job was planned scientifically. The thieves had even gone to the trouble of placing a little pile of sand under the knob for the molten metal to fall on, and thus avoid setting fire to the floor. There is no clue to the burglars.

Jubilee at St. John's.

St. John's, Nfld., June 28.—Today all the warships in port have been gaily bedecked with bunting in honor of Her Majesty's coronation. At noon a salute of 21 guns was fired by the United States warship Massachusetts, the British warship Magicienne and the Canadian warship Quebec.

Scrofula is a word you don't quite understand, but if you talk with your doctor, he will tell you that it is generally believed to be due to the same cause which gives rise to Consumption. It appears mostly in those who are fat-starved and thin, usually in early life. A course of treatment of Scott's Emulsion with the Hypophosites wherever Scrofula manifests itself, will prevent the development of the disease. Let us send you a book. Free.

Fined Two Dollars.

A small boy was in the police court this morning, charged with trespassing on the property of Mr. James Job. The lad it seems pulled some onions, and as Mr. Job has been greatly troubled with boys, he determined to make an example of the one he caught. A fine of $2 was imposed. Strange to say in the boy's own garden at home there are fully ten times as many onions planted as on Mr. Job's premises, but it is hard to understand boys.

Pretty Mean.

The Orono News says:—"There are people in this country who will bring in old nest eggs and swear they they are fresh laid; butter so full of salt at the bottom of the keg that if it was made into a pickle a man couldn't sink in it. Cordwood, so knotty and rotten, and short in measure, that a merchant wonders where the fellow who brought it in expects to go when he dies. C. G. Armstrong has had experience in all of the above kinds of stuff; but Tom Caswell, an old Orono boy, and a solicitor for the city of Toronto, when down here speaking for our old Order S. of T., No. 70, met with something meaner than we have heard of for some time. Say, he paid his own fare down here and back, lent some one his hat to take up the collection, put in money in the hat, then some miserable cuss—we hope not a member of the order—stole his hat from him."

THE SILVER JUBILEE OF ARCHDEACON CASEY.

An Auspicious Occasion Splendidly Celebrated

SOLEMN THANKSGIVING MASS

BISHOP, CLERGY AND PEOPLE UNITE IN THE REJOICING.

Splendid Sermon by V. Rev. Dean Harris—The Bishop's Tribute—Addresses and Gifts From Clergy and People—The Honoured Archdeacon's Reply.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rector of Peterborough, would be singularly unresponsive of soul if his pulse did not quicken and his heart swell with exultant happiness over the auspicious circumstances under which the silver jubilee—the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood—was celebrated today. Standing in front of the magnificent new altar, fresh from the hands of the consecrating prelate; in the splendidly renewed church, surrounded by a distinguished gathering of his priestly confreres, and by a devoted and joyous congregation of his flock, assembled to testify their devotion and respect, and join in the jubilation the occasion called for; under the approving smile of his chief pastor, and with every omen auspicious, he has reason to feel that apart from the blessings that have rested on his past life as a priest, the occasion of his Silver Jubilee was one that specially called for gratitude and thanksgiving. This morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, of which Ven. Archdeacon Casey is rector, there was gathered a very large congregation, including a large number of Protestants, to assist in the solemn mass of thanksgiving that was celebrated by Rev. Father Casey. Within the sanctuary there were seated the Bishop, on his throne, and the following clergy, representative not only of the Diocese of Peterborough, but the Dioceses of Kingston and Toronto as well: Monsignor Farelly, Belleville; Vicar General Gauthier, Brockville; V. Rev. Dean Harris, St. Catharines; V. Rev. Dean Egan, Barrie; Rev. Father Conway, Norwood; Rev. Father Stanton, Smith's Falls; Rev. Father Davis, Madoc; Rev. Father McCloskey, Campbellford; Rev. Father Murtagh, Marmora; Rev. Father Jeffcott, Oshawa; Rev. Father McGuire, Bracebridge; Rev. Father Brown, V. G., Douro; Rev. Father Duffy, Orillia; Rev. Father Twohey, Westport; Rev. Father McColl, Ennismore; Rev. Father Sweeney, Victoria Road, Rev. Father Nolan, Fenelon Falls, and the Cathedral clergy—Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Rev. Father Scanlan, Rev. Father O'Connell, Rev. Father O'Sullivan and Rev. Father O'Brien.

The solemn and joyous mass of thanksgiving was celebrated by Ven. Archdeacon Casey with Rev. Father Twohey as deacon and Rev. Father McCloskey as sub-deacon and the service was unusually brilliant and impressive.

THE SERMON

was preached by Rev. Dean Harris, of St. Catharines, who spoke on the dignity and responsibility of the priesthood. He said it must be very gratifying to V. Rev. Father Casey to see so many of his fellow clergy and so large a representation of his flock gathered around him to unite in celebrating the occasion of his silver jubilee; to unite in recognising the great work under God which he had been permitted to do. It must be very gratifying to see the people among whom he had laboured and to whom his good qualities as their pastor were best known, gather to offer with him thanksgiving that his life had been so graciously spared for the past twenty-five years. At his ordination the oil of consecration, applied by the hands of the consecrating bishop, had specially separated and set him apart from the world, and when he had carried that sacred oil blameless, one could easily understand the gathering together of the people to do him honour, and to rejoice with him. Referring to the characteristics of the priesthood, the preacher described the priest as in a sense the saviour of his people, the preserver of their public and domestic morals. The priest might be fittingly called the "salt of the earth." All things were subject to corruption but so long as a priest preserved his own honour and piety so long would he be the preserver of his people to advise, admonish and rebuke. The priest was different from his flock he was surrounded with and if in the pursuance of his sacerdotal duties he seemed sometimes severe it must be remembered that priests have an angelic conception of their duties, they offer sacrifices for the people as well as for themselves. The office of the priest deals with the souls of men, and as great and worthy of respect as was the body of man, the temple of the Holy Ghost, according to the apostle, the undying, imperishable soul was of infinitely greater value and importance. It was with the soul of man that the priest had to deal and if the priest failed in his duty the soul returned back to the corruption from which Christ has died to rescue humanity. The preacher referred to the setting apart of Aaron to the Jewish priesthood with great elaboration of form and ceremony. The Jewish priest was chosen from the best of the people—perfect in heart, body, soul and mind. All the ceremony observed the use of the oil and the vestments worn was to show the people that these good men were specially consecrated to God's service. The responsibility of a priest was overwhelming—to preserve the knowledge of God, to lead a holy life, to teach the people, but above all to offer the holy sacrifice of the mass. Adverting to the respect and reverence due to the priest of God thus set apart, the preacher cited the fate of Korah, Dathan and Abiram, who felt God's judgment by being swallowed up by the earth for

PRESUMING TO SPEAK SLIGHTINGLY

of the priesthood whose sanctity this terrible punishment vindicated, and this taught a lesson of the reverence due their priests by the people. In speaking of the coming of the Great High Priest, the preacher pointed out that one great result of His coming was to uplift the downtrodden and oppressed woman and exalt the sex, as He had done in selecting the Blessed Virgin to become His mother. God sent His son to uplift woman, an evidence of which was her being raised to an equality with man, as shown in the command, "whom God has joined together let no man put asunder." Here the speaker eloquently condemned the great evils of modern divorce. This exaltation was preserving society and placing woman on a pedestal of equality with man. The function of the Christian religion to preserve society constituted the corner stone. The priest of God was the keystone of the social arch. Christ chose his priests and promised to be with them to the end. The priest had a position of great dignity. He was chosen, consecrated and set apart to offer the sacrifice of the mass and to be merciful to the weak, and the preacher pointed out how Father Casey had fulfilled these duties. Judas was referred to as the first bad priest and his fate was the saddest story in God's revelation. The people were enjoined to rightly estimate the responsibility of the priest and not to add one straw to the great burden of his office. His hands should be upheld and if he forgot his terrible responsibility as he approached the altar he became a Judas. The people should bear patiently with the frailties of their pastor—help him, stand by him, and above all things take care that they spake not slightingly of his great office.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS

At the close of the mass the Bishop said that the Holy Ghost tells us to honour and respect him who who hath spoken the word of God, and the Apostle tells us that he who has laboured faithfully is worthy of double honour, especially a priest, whose life is raised far above that of his people. He is an ambassador—another Jesus Christ in the offering of the mass. A priest to be worthy to appear at the altar must be pure and holy, a priest must make sacrifices and live a life of self-denial, must obey the higher powers. His life is not his own, but of one of self-denial and withdrawal from the world. He must endure all hardship and be a model of piety to his flock. A priest's life being such when he has faithfully followed that life proved worthy of his calling for twenty-five years, he is worthy of double honour, and for that reason we thank Almighty God for one (Rev. Father Casey) who has proved faithful, and whose work has been blessed with so much grace, bestowed upon the several flocks among which he has laboured, and during his stay in Peterborough all had seen what faithful work he had done, and we therefore come to congratulate him upon his Silver Jubilee, and to pray that he may live long and be spared to repeat the great zeal and fidelity of the past twenty-five years. It was our duty to give thanks and congratulations, and to express our gratitude and personal for the deep and faithful interest Ven. Archdeacon Casey has shown in the salvation of souls. A touching tribute was paid to the purity of his holy life and the good example Archdeacon Casey had set and the Bishop concluded by expressing the hope that he might be spared many years to bear fruit to the glory of God and His church, and that when his earthly labours were ended he might be called to enjoy a glorious crown surrounded by the many souls his faithfulness as a priest has been the means of saving.

FEELINGS OF LOVE AND RESPECT

While delivering this address the Bishop was deeply touched and his voice faltered with emotion, and when Ven. Archdeacon Casey took his place in front of the altar he turned his face from the people to remove the traces of emotion.

ADDRESS FROM THE CLERGY.

The Rev. Father Conway read the following address from the clergy of the diocese:

To the Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, From the Priests of the Diocese of Peterborough:

We, your brother priests and fellow-labourers in the vineyard of the Master, gather round you to-day to tender you our best wishes and warmest congratulations on this, the twenty-fifth anniversary of your ordination to the priesthood. While greetings come to you from all sides, from those among whom you lived and laboured for years, still we feel sure that none are offered, and none will be received with greater joy and satisfaction than those which are proffered you by your associates in the sacred ministry. They alone understand fully the duties of a priest, and they alone can appreciate fully his numerous labours and sacrifices in the service of our Divine Lord. There is much joy for a priest on the occasion of his silver jubilee. The festivities which accompany it, the memories which it recalls, and the encouragements for the future which it brings, are so many distinct sources of comfort and consolation.

The priest who celebrates his Silver Jubilee has already crossed the meridian of life, his best years are gone, the good seed is largely sown; and the harvest with its rich reward is fast approaching. Few of those who surround you to-day have passed a quarter of a century in the priesthood, and he who has stood the test of so long a period, is well deserving of any honour that may be given him. You, dear Archdeacon, have stood the test honourably and well, thereby proving yourself worthy of the praises and congratulations which are cordially bestowed upon you.

In the parish of Gananoque, where the first years of your ministry were passed, your name is still revered by the Catholic people, to whose spiritual wants you so faithfully attended. You were sent by your Bishop to found the present flourishing parish of Campbellford, and there we see the evidences of your skill and management in the beautiful presbytery, the well-furnished church, and the neat appointments in the different parts of the church property. But while thus engaged in building and beautifying the house of God, and in the still higher and holier work of gaining souls for heaven, you were not unmindful of the words of the prophet, "The lips of the priest shall keep knowledge, and they shall seek the law at his mouth." You have not failed to acquire that knowledge and to improve your mind by solid study. Your scholarly attainments, your varied talents in oratory and literature, your familiar acquaintance with theological questions have been justly recognized and utilized for the higher and more important sphere in which you have been placed by our illustrious and beloved Bishop when he called you to take charge of his Cathedral church, elevated you to the dignity of an Archdeacon, and made you a member of the Episcopal Council. In this new position you have been brought into more intimate relations with your confreres of the Diocese and we have learned to appreciate and esteem your many noble qualities.

We offer you, therefore, our greetings to day with sincere and heartfelt pleasure, and in asking you to accept these gifts as a token of the union which binds us together in the service of of Christ, we pray that the same kind Providence which has enabled you to work so long and so successfully for the promotion of His glory and the salvation of souls, may prolong your days of usefulness and grant that you may live to celebrate your Golden Jubilee.

Signed on behalf of the priests of the Diocese by

The gift which was presented by Rev. Father Scanlan was a beautiful silver communion chalice.

ADDRESS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Messrs. H. LeBrun, A. J. Gough, L. M. Hayes and Harry Phelan then entered the sanctuary and Mr. Hayes read the following address from the people:

To the Very Reverend Archdeacon Jeremiah Casey, Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, on the occasion of his silver Jubilee:

DEAR FATHER CASEY,—In the name and on behalf of your parishioners of St. Peter's we offer you our warmest felicitations and heartfelt congratulations on this your silver jubilee year—the twenty-fifth anniversary of your ordination to the holy priesthood.

It is indeed a source of pardonable pride and extreme pleasure to this congregation to have as their pastor one so eminently fitted to fill an office of such importance. The life of a priest of the Catholic church is one of arduous self-sacrifice, filled with many labours and sorrows and regrets for the weaknesses of frail humanity. During the years you have ministered to the spiritual necessities of this large parish, most nobly has your part been done, never have you faltered at the call of duty, always ready by night or by day to carry to those in distress the blessed consolations offered to her children by holy mother church. Nor have your good works been confined to spiritual charities only. Your boundless generosity to the poor, more especially in your tender application of the example of the Divine Master whose minister you are, in your loving solicitude for little children, the lambs of your flock, is widely known and appreciated in every home, high as well as humble, where your pastoral visits have carried hope and comfort.

Your many acts of kindness, your urbanity and truly Christian character have won for you the veneration and affection, not only of this congregation, but as well, we believe, the respect and esteem of the whole community. Under your wise and generous supervision vast improvements to our Cathedral are now completed. The interior decorations of this magnificent edifice and the additions to the body of church reflect the very greatest credit on you as rector, and as a congregation we are proud to acknowledge the many obligations we are under to you in this regard.

Our earnest desire is that Divine Providence may long spare you to aid, guide and minister to this congregation under the direction and sanction of our beloved Bishop.

It is the glorious privilege of the priest, by virtue of his exalted office, to extend to humanity the greatest boon ever conferred on man, in in the holy sacrifice of the altar. This is your greatest consolation amidst the trials and hardships and anxieties which devolve upon you.

We ask you to continue, as heretofore, to pray for the spiritual needs of this congregation, and be assured that we also supplicate the Almighty to have you always in His keeping.

On behalf of the congregation we ask your

A Croupy Cough was Soon Driven Away by Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine.

"My little boy had a bad croupy cough," says Mrs. Smith, of 256 Bathurst street, Toronto. "My neighbor, Mrs. Hopkins, recommended me to try Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I did so, and the first dose did him good. One bottle completely cured the cold. It is surprising the popularity of Chase's Syrup in this neighborhood. It appears to me it can now be found in every house.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legroe has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

$100 in Prizes.

The prizes to be competed for on Thursday (Dominion Day) at the Foresters' picnic at Jubilee Point amount to nearly $100 in value. The steamer City of Peterborough and palace barge will leave the wharf at 7.30 a.m., calling at Ashburnham. Every arrangement is being made for a good day's outing, and the Foresters are noted for the success of their annual excursions. If you want a pleasant sail do not miss this opportunity. Tickets only 40c., children, 20c. Baskets checked and stored for excursionists by a competent committee. Meals at the hotel for those not taking baskets. Don't forget it. 2d

CLOTHES LINE THIEVES.

They are Again Pursuing Their Nefarious Avocation.

Clothes-line thieves visited the residence of Mr. W. H. Isaacs, No. 224 Sherbrooke street, last evening, and as a consequence the family will have to make an immediate investment in pocket handkerchiefs.

As far as can be ascertained the sneak thieves must have been on the premises between eleven and twelve o'clock at night and as only the pocket handekerchiefs were taken from a full clothes line they must have been disturbed. It was just about the hour mentioned when Mrs. Isaacs got up and lit a lamp on account of one of the children being uneasy.

The police should keep a weather eye open for such gentry.

Please the Women.

The study of the problems of advertising is exceedingly fascinating. How is it that every woman as well as every man in Peterborough is interested in reading Gough Bros. advertisements? It is a fact that the average woman cares very little, comparatively for the news columns of a paper, and still less for the editorial. It is the advertising columns that tell a tempting tale of dry goods, clothing for herself and children, boots and shoes, groceries, housefurnishings, and so on, that interest her the most. And if not prevented she will also probably buy the clothing and men's furnishings for the whole family. It is the women of our country who buy from 75 to 90 per cent. of all the goods sold at retail in the stores. It is right here that the importance comes in of an advertiser enlisting the interest of the women in their newspaper announcements. Gough Bros. continually aim to do so; and their experience is that it has paid them well. The economically disposed wife knows, also, that it has paid her well to watch the price lists and pick out the bargains she needs. Hundreds of women have attested the present bargain sale of the great E. A. Small & Co's. stock of fine clothing, now in full swing at Gough Bros. The brightest, choicest suits for boys find ready sale to women who have been attracted by the saving of dollars; and to mothers of boys a practical lesson in economy runs all through this big sale. Its clothing that'll wear they want, and mother's can bank on the quality of the boys clothing in this splendid stock. And for such clothing it needs but little money. Boys' sailor suits, navy, 60c, 65c, $1.25, $1.40, $1.50. Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw acceptance of this portrait of yourself, given in a truly affectionate spirit and in testimony of the honour and esteem your parishioners have for you.

THE SILVER JUBILEE OF ARCHDEACON CASEY.

May God pour down upon you His choicest blessings. May His grace be always with you and may you long be spared in health and strength to fulfil the duties of your priestly office.

We pray that your life may so be directed that the happy brightness of your silver jubilee shall, as the day of life draws to its close, peacefully merge into the sunset glow of your Golden Jubilee.

Signed on behalf of the congregation of St. Peter's.

H. LeBrun,
A. J. Gough,
L. M. Hayes,
H. Phelan.

The present to Archdeacon Casey, mentioned in the address, was a fine oil portrait of himself.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey in reply said that that day was one of joy and thanksgiving to him, that he had been spared to see his Silver Jubilee. His memory reverted to the time of his ordination when the hands of many of his fellow priests, some of whom were present, were laid on his head in blessing. The life of a priest was one of hardship and few comforts but a bright spot in it was the friendship of his fellow priests which had often been a great source of consolation to him.

He specially thanked the Bishop for his kind words which would bear fruit in his his soul, for he would strive hard to deserve the kind words he had said. An eloquent tribute was paid to the Bishop, who was always ready to help and sustain his priests and this fact was to him that day a source of consolation and joy. He thanked the priests for their kind address, and their presence for, many had come from a distance to do him honour. He accepted gratefully the spirit of the address, with thanks for the beautiful chalice, and as often as he used it in the holy sacrifice of the mass he would remember in his prayers the kind donors. He was especially grateful for the address from the laity. When he came first to Peterborough nearly twenty-five years ago he was kindly welcomed, and the when he returned three years ago, and he had always been most kindly treated since. Regarding the works for which he had been given credit, especially the improvement in the church, the credit was due to the activity and kindness of the Bishop. He returned thanks for the uniform kindness of his flock to him on all occasions. He also thanked the other elements of the population of Peterborough who had honoured the celebration of his silver jubilee. He had had always found the Protestants of Peterborough men of upright character and honesty of life. He had gratefully experienced their kind generosity and help. He concluded by thanking God for the blessings of his past life and for the great privilege of seeing the twenty-fifth year of his priesthood. He thanked the Bishop, clergy and people for their kind sentiments, and the people, especially the Protestant friends, who had always shown great kindness and charity.

The singing on the occasion was under the charge of Mr. F. W. Miller and Peter's beautiful mass in D was sung. The soloists were Mr. Jas. Wyer, basso; Mrs. Ball, soprano, and duets incidental to the mass were sung by Misses Mary and Katie Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ball, and Miss Lilly Hurley and Miss Dunn.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

Very Reverend Dominick Jeremiah deacon Casey, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Archdeacon of the diocese of Peterborough, and member of the Diocesan Council of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, is a native Canadian, born at Smith's Falls on March 5th, 1849. He was a son of the late Mr. Richard Casey, who died about six years ago. His mother is still living in Ottawa. He is of Irish parentage, his father having come to Canada from Cork at the age of twelve years, his mother having been born in Clare County.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey was first educated in the Smith Falls Public and Grammar School (the then name for High School). The school at that time must have contained many clever pupils. Ven. Archdeacon Casey occupies a very high position among the many clever priests of the diocese of Peterborough, and many of his schoolmates hold prominent civil positions—Messrs. Frank Frost, M. P. for Leeds and Grenville, ex-Mayor Frost, of Smith's Falls, the ex-reeve of Smith Falls and others. Archdeacon Casey's further literary studies were continued at Regiopolis College, Kingston, where he remained three years. At the end of that time he entered upon the pursuit of his theological studies at the Grand Seminary, Montreal.

On the 29th day of May, 1872, the subject of this sketch was ordained at Smith Falls by the late Bishop Horan, and on the same occasion Rev. Father Connolly, of Hastings, whose silver jubilee was celebrated on May 28th, the celebration of Ven. Archdeacon Casey being postponed on account of the church being rendered temporarily unsuitable for religious purposes by the work of decoration that has resulted in immensely beautifying its interior.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey's ordination was performed in the church at Smith's Falls—the same in which he was baptized and made his first communion—St. Francis de Sales, Rev. Michael Clune, parish priest. The first duty to which Ven. Archdeacon Casey was assigned in his capacity of priest, was that of locum tenens for Rev. Father Stanton, at Erinsville, Addington County, whose duties he took for three months.

The next step in his career was being sent as curate to Rev. Father Lynch, now of Port Hope, then the parish priest of Peterborough. He came to Peterborough in 1872, arriving on Nov. 1st—the festival of All Saints, on which day he sang his first mass in Peterborough. One can very easily fancy that the young priest at that time little thought of the changes time and the will of Divine Providence would work—that he should again return to Peterborough as rector of the Cathedral church, and archdeacon of the diocese. He remained in Peterborough on that occasion till the first of June, 1874, when a period of illness required the temporary relinquishment of active work. Recovering shortly, however, Ven. Archdeacon Casey was appointed Chaplain of the Kingston penitentiary, a position which he occupied till Feb. 1st, 1875.

He was appointed parish priest of Gananoque, his parish including the village of Gananoque, Lansdowne and Howe Island, in the Lake of the Thousand Islands, St. Lawrence. Here he gave substantial evidences of the activity and administrative ability which were perhaps elements in his character that commended him for appointment to the position he now occupies. He built a new church at Lansdowne, on the foundation that had been placed by his predecessor, Rev. Father Gauthier. This was a difficult parish to administer; the three churches where services were held, being far apart, and one especially, Howe Island, difficult of access—the latter particularly in winter, when the moving ice, swiftly sweeping through the channel between the main land and the island, made the crossing in small boats perilous as well as unpleasant. Yet during the four and a half years Father Casey laboured in this parish he only missed one service on the Island.

On July first, 1879, Father Casey was sent to the parish of Campbellford, then in the Diocese of Kingston. Here he found, to use a familiar expression, "his work cut out for him." Material affairs in the parish were in a backward and unsatisfactory condition. But this did not daunt Father Casey. He confronted the situation bravely and entered upon the work that presented itself with energy. The parish was new and had to be built up, almost, de novo. The church building consisted principally of the walls, but in a short time a transformation was effected, a new vestry was added and the church of the Visitation was practically renewed, and all other interests of the church in the parish, substantial as well as spiritual, greatly advanced and improved. Father Casey spent fourteen and a half years in Campbellford, and the parish he found weak and struggling he left strong and flourishing.

Meanwhile (in July 1882) the new diocese of Peterborough had been erected and in the allocation of territory, the parish of Campbellford was included in the new diocese. When the new diocese was created there was an addition made to his parish of a section of country that had previously been attended to from Trenton in the Kingston diocese. Rev. Father Casey had this new district added to his parish and looked after its interests till the establishment of a parish priest at Brighton when this district came within his cure. Father Casey had also to look after Havelock till Rev. Father Conway was appointed to Norwood, when it became a part of his parish. As a circumstance showing that Rev. Father Casey did not confine his activity to the flocks over which he was placed, but took an active part in preforming the duties of citizenship in a secular capacity, and that he enjoyed the respect and confidence of the community that was not of his faith, it may be mentioned that while he was stationed at Gananoque and at Smith's Falls, he was a member of the public school boards of both places.

In the beginning of the year 1893 His Lordship Bishop O'Connor offered Father Casey the parish of Peterborough, and, though as a priest, he felt it hard to entertain the idea of leaving the flock with whose spiritual interests he had been so long and so intimately associated, and the general work of the parish that had become so dear to him, and severing the numerous ties of friendship which his admirable qualities as a priest and a citizen had formed, yet he cheerfully responded to the call of his ecclesiastical superior, and on Feb. 1st, 1894, he was made Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Archdeacon of the diocese of Peterborough, and a member of the Diocesan Council of Bishop O'Connor. On February 2nd, the Feast of the Purification, Ven. Archdeacon Casey was installed in his new position, and during the three years he has been in Peterborough, his zeal, piety and activity as a priest have commended him to the favour of his ecclesiastical superior, won him the confidence and respect of his fellow-priests, and endeared him to the people of his flock; and his course as a citizen has won him the warm respect of the people of the town irrespective of creed. His hosts of friends in all these relations will heartily join in the congratulations the auspicious occasion calls for, and they may not unreasonably unite in the wish that, seeing that he is still a comparatively young man—only 48 years of age—he may live in the enjoyment of the honour in which he is now held, to repeat the faithful and fruitful work of the past twenty-five years, and enjoy the privilege of celebrating the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood.

FOR SALE.

House and Lot on Gilmour Street.

PURSUANT TO AN ORDER OF THE High Court of Justice, made in the matter of the estate of the late Andrew Douglas, and in the cause of Fairweather against Douglas, bearing date the 25th day of November, 1896, there will be offered for sale by Charles Stapleton, Auctioneer, at the MORGAN HOUSE, on Hunter street, in the Town of Peterborough, on Thursday, the 22nd day of July, 1897,

at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the house and lot, No. 52, Gilmour Street, in the Town of Peterborough, formerly occupied by the late Andrew Douglas, as a residence, and being lot 33 according to registered plan, No. 83, for the said town.

The lot has a frontage on Gilmour steet of about 121½ feet by a depth of about 135 feet. There is erected thereon a large two-story brick house with rough-cast kitchen attached, with convenient woodshed and a large stable, all well built, and the grounds are well planted with shade and fruit bearing trees.

TERMS OF SALE—10 per cent. of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale, and the remainder thereof within 30 days thereafter, or a portion thereof may remain out on mortage upon terms to be made known at the time of sale, when further particulars and conditions of sale will be given. There will be an unreserved bid.

Further particulars can be had from Messrs. Roger & Bennet, Messrs. Stratton & Hall or from the Auctioneer.

Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of June, 1897.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.80. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

MORE OBSTRUCTION.

Mr. Foster Determined That Business Shall Not Proceed.

HE FAVORS THE CROW'S NEST BILL

Yet Keeps Niggling at the Details—The I. C. R. Extension Proposals Finally Got Through and the Crow's Nest Bill Was Reported From the Committee.

Ottawa, June 27. In the House yesterday Mr. Blair, in supply, took up the question of the extension of the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal, as an experiment for nine months, on the vote of $157,500 for this purpose.

Mr. Foster asked if there was any truth in the reports that the Government did not intend to go on with the Crow's Nest Pass Road, if this resolution did not pass. There were rumors that the one was to be contingent on the other. The action of the Minister of Railways gave some color to these reports.

Mr. Blair said that if time permitted of course, the Crow's Nest Pass bill would be passed. He moved the House into committee on the bill yesterday, and the whole forenoon was devoted to it without any progress. The leader of the Opposition and his friends, while heartily in sympathy with the Crow's Nest Pass Railway bill, wanted to appear before the country as if they were to some extent opposed to it, and therefore made an attack on the Government yesterday. He wanted to reply to that attack. He did not intend to give the Opposition any political credit for an assumed attitude of that kind.

Mr. Foster held that the Opposition had a right to criticize the details of the bill without being opposed to the measure. He did not think the Minister had been acting in a straightforward manner.

Cries of "Order!"

Sir Richard Cartwright: It will be impossible to make progress if this is to go on. The hon. gentleman must not forget that the Crow's Nest bill would have passed yesterday if he had not opposed it. Now it would be better to let the Minister go on with his statement.

Mr. Blair then went on to explain the Intercolonial Railway proposition. After showing the details briefly, Mr. Blair, amid cheers, invited investigation into the matter. "An investigation has been proposed," said Mr. Blair, "and we invite investigation. We do more than invite, we defy it. (Cheers.) We challenge them to make an investigation, for we have nothing to fear in regard to the transaction in this matter." (Cheers.)

Mr. Sproule wanted to know if he defied the right to make an investigation.

Mr. Blair said that he did not defy the right to make an investigation, for he invited it, having nothing to fear. He, however, did think it would have been better for the Senate to have made an investigation before throwing out the bill, instead of throwing out the bill and making the investigation afterwards.

Mr. Tarte followed with what proved to be a very lively utterance. After referring to the right of the Senate to reject the Intercolonial Railway bill he explained the benefits that would accrue from the extension of the road, and then devoted his attention to Mr. C. N. Armstrong, the promoter of the Opposition scheme, in a very aggressive manner. He said that Mr. Armstrong had approached the Government and wanted a loan for his scheme, and he was refused. The Government did not intend to deal with Armstrong and his schemes.

Finally the item passed; also that of $100,000 for the purchase of rolling stock.

The Crow's Nest Pass subsidy bill was reported by the committee after some discussion.

After consideration of the railway subsidies the committee rose and reported.

The committee stage on Mr. Mulock's postoffice bill was next taken up.

Mr. Foster objected to the passage of such a sweeping measure at this late hour of the session. The bill would afford in a crude way such opportunities of wholesale decapitation as were exceedingly dangerous in the present greedy humor of the Liberal party.

The debate, which was of a very amusing character, was continued.

At five minutes to twelve Mr. Mulock, seeing no possibility of getting his bill through, moved that the committee rise. Only one clause had been passed.

The bill to authorize the payment of superannuation to dismissed officials was read a third time, and the House adjourned.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion, because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood, and so makes SOLID, HEALTHY flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

Captured a Large Moose.

Gretna, Man., June 27.—A large moose was captured by some farmers at Rosenfeldt last Sunday. It came from Morris and was about exhausted. The farmers with difficulty drove the animal into Buffalo Lake, and the bottom being soft the animal was mired. By the use of a boat they fastened ropes about its horns and got it safely ashore. It has become quite docile, taking food and water from men, and seems to take kindly to confinement.

Turks Taking a Position to Harass the Greeks in Case Hostilities are Resumed—Fighting in Crete.

Athens, June 27.—The Turkish army in Epirus, having occupied several positions overlooking Agrafa, thus threatening the Greek retreat in the event of a resumption of hostilities, the Greek Government has decided to occupy Karpenisi with a strong force.

Mussulmans Made a Sortie.

Canea, June 27.—An armed force of 1200 Mussulmans made a sortie from Canea last night, crossed the military cordon, and surprised the insurgents at Kanlikastelli, three hours distant. A desperate combat ensued, in which 12 Mussulmans were killed and 12 wounded. The Christian inhabitants of the district are preparing to make reprisals by land and sea.

Later advices show that many Christians were killed, as well as many Turks, in engagements that preceded the principal fighting. The whole district is greatly excited. The trouble arose from the encroachments of Mussulman refugees, who attempted to pasture their cattle within the limits of the neutral zone.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

The chair made vacant by death is sadly missed. It is especially sad when it is mother's chair. All over this broad land there are vacant chairs that would still be occupied by healthy, happy, radiant mothers if women would but realize the importance of keeping well in a womanly way. Women cannot too soon understand that it is little less than a crime to neglect the health of the organs to which are intrusted the perpetuation of a healthy, robust race of human beings. By neglect of these organs a woman ruins her own health, destroys the happiness of her home, and fails in the performance of the most sublime duty that she owes to the world.

The best medicine for women who are weak where Nature demands the most strength is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the organs that make motherhood possible. It cures all weakness and disease that exists there and stops all distressing, debilitating drains. It prepares a woman for motherhood and insures a healthy baby. It makes the coming of baby easy and almost painless. Druggists who offer something "just as good" are either ignorant or dishonest and in either case are not to be trusted.

"I had been a great sufferer for years with female weakness," writes Mrs. John Downie, of No. 243 Lexington Avenue, Eddystone, Delaware Co., Pa. "Could not walk three squares without terrible suffering. I also had a pain in my left side for seven years—until I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' My pain has left me altogether. Have had no symptoms of it at all for two years. Can walk two or three miles at a time and it does not hurt me. I cannot recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines highly enough. My daughter also has used your medicines with great benefit. She was operated upon for appendicitis and had fainting spells from it. She took the 'Golden Medical Discovery,'

LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

A Very Successful Sale—Nearly 2,000 Boxes Disposed of for 8 8-8c. and 8 1-4c.

(Lindsay Post.)

When the salesmen for the various factories selling on the Lindsay board gathered at the council chamber last Thursday at 11 o'clock, they sympathized with each other for having sold their May cheese at the meeting held three weeks, as owing to a sudden jump in the market price a few days later, they were out at least 1c per pound on some 1,300 boxes. They had the satisfaction of knowing, however, that occasionally the buyers are losers by market fluctuations.

The buyers present were Messrs. Flavelle, Bird, Whitton, Fitzgerald and Wrighton. It was the latter's first visit this season, but we understand he will attend regularly hereafter.

Derryville boarded 25 last half of May make; Palestine, 20.

Mr. Flavelle opened with a bid of 8? for selections; Whitton raised the offer to 8 1-16?, and Flavelle jumped to 8 1 8?; Mr. Bird followed with a bid of 8¼c; Mr. Fitzgerald offered a sixteenth better, and Whitton raised to 8¾c and took eight of the largest factories. Mr. Bird next selected seven factories at the same figure, and offered 8¼ for the balance of the board, subject to Lindsay inspection, but there were no takers. Mr. Whitton took Derryville and Leaskdale at 8¼c, and later on the balance of the board sold at the same figure, with the exception of Red Rock, which factory was granted permission to make a private sale, and Ingoldsby, which was left with Mr. Flavelle subject to an offer of 8¼c by Mr. Bird.

Some minutes were then spent in discussing board matters. The advantages of a waterproof covering for cheese while being shipped from the factory were referred to by Mr. Whitton, and the salesmen were shown one manufactured by J. J. Turner & Son, of Peterborough. The salesmen also examined and purchased a very convenient cheese book in which to keep a record of the sales made and prices obtained.

The board then adjourned for two weeks.

GREATER THAN ANY CIRCUS.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the World is now touring in this direction, and will appear at Peterborough, Ont., on July 3rd, 1897. In order to accommodate the crowds from this vicinity who wish to visit this greatest of all educational and amusement enterprises, special excursions will be run on all lines of travel. This will possibly be the last time Buffalo Bill and his cohorts will ride this way, for the organization of his Wild West depends so much on circumstances and the unofficial sanction of several governments, including our own, that the slightest rupture of peace relations would prevent it from appearing with its representatives of so many nations. It therefore behooves all who wish to see this remarkable aggregation to take advantage of the present opportunity.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West is not a circus, and therefore cannot be taken as an annual visitation. It is now several years since it last appeared in this part of the country, and since that time many new and pleasing features have been added to it. Buffalo Bill has with him on this tour representatives from six different Indian tribes, numbering in all over 100. Among the other features are the famous Deadwood coach, American Cowboys, Mexican Lariat Throwers, Russian Cossacks, Royal Irish Lancers, Argentine Gauchos, and many other rough riders who are almost accustomed to live in their saddles. Buffalo Bill himself has now become a national character, known all over the country, and it is no small compliment to him to say that many of the thousands of people who have crowded into the place of exhibition, have been largely actuated by motives of curiosity to see such a celebrated personage. During the recent New York engagement at Madison Square Garden, even that immense structure proved inadequate to properly accommodate the crowds, and hundreds were turned away from the doors each night, unable to even obtain standing room.

The Small Stock.

Gough Bros. sale of the gigantic stock of E. A. Small & Co., the millionaire clothing manufacturers of Montreal, is booming along merrily. The purchase of $40,000 worth of men's, youths' and boys' suits of the highest quality at a price below the cost of manufacture gave a great opportunity to start a genuine campaign in bargains that could not fail to leap into favour. A steady demand continues every day. The firm have had to hustle to wait on customers; and still they come, and still they buy, as they never bought before. The stock is the newest and freshest that has ever been put on sale here and the prices are practically the smallest ever named in Peterborough, without any exception. Gough Bros. want a great sale this week. Dominion Day celebration will help to give a big push to sales, while the present low prices will stay at the very bottom, with double figures reduced to units, far-seeing people are not likely to skip an opportunity like this. EVERY line in the men's and boys' departments is a guide line. The vastness of the stock, the crossing line of values, the many styles and bewildering piles of patterns, all continue to create interest in this mammoth summer sale of fine clothing at Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw

LACROSSE.

The Peterborough public is to be treated to another interesting game of lacrosse on Dominion Day, when the Elms of Toronto, whose annual trips to Peterborough are always looked forward to with such interest, will play on the P.A.A.A. grounds, Ashburnham, the ball being faced at half past two in the afternoon. The Elms are stronger than ever this season, and on Saturday afternoon last easily won from the crack Stouffville team, which hitherto has always been able to work its way into the semi finals of the C. L. A. As the Peterboroughs are in fine shape the Dominion Day game will be fully as exciting as the recent match with the Tecumsehs. The 57th Battalion Band will be present and special arrangements made for seating.

Strong Men's Drink.

Athletes and cyclists in training are kept from coffee, tea, tobacco and whiskey by their trainers. In place of any form of stimulants they largely use Madden Cereal Food Coffee. Wise trainers know that the selected parts of wheat and other cereals from which Madden Cereal is made go directly to make new gray matter in the nerve cells all over the body. If needed by the athlete how much more needed by the brain worker whose business depends on his health and vigour. Leading grocers sell Madden Cereal. 2d

Gigantic Underwriter's Sale of $40,000 Worth of Fine Clothing.

Clothing buyers are having it all their own way here. Stirring times all over our two busy stores, and lively selling becomes more lively every day. There is a spirited exchange of Fine Clothing at strangely cheap prices. Money never bought such values before. We're glad to share in it. The fact that sales all over our stores are greatly in advance of previous season's acknowledges trade leadership.

Nothing to wonder at, after all. Few stores anywhere would begin to be satisfied with the profits we ask, and few merchants would dare to buy goods in such quantities. We have an immense outlet, and we turn it to your advantage in such

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Underwriter's Sale of FINE Clothing. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. We insist upon a certain high standard of goodness. The trash buyer is not thought of here. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customers' gain.

A JULY DROP.

Just now a mite of money is worth a mountain of stock. Just now, nothing seems impossible in the line of saving money at the Golden Lion.

During the zenith of Summer trade, we mark down the prices of Summer Goods.

It's Fair's Way. Better to sell than to hold. Better to lose a little than carry goods over to another season. Profits don't stand in the way when the time comes to clear out stock :—

Blouse Clearance—

We let go our whole stock of Fancy Blouses. The lot includes all the latest and most exclusive styles.

Print Wrappers Clearance

Every woman should be interested in the Reduced Prices of our Wrappers. The values are better far than ever offered.

Fancy Parasol Clearance

The Fancy Parasol Stock goes at HALF PRICE. That's a Sweeping Reduction. No fabrication or exaggeration in what we say. Parasols at Half Price just means what it says.

Summer Millinery Clearance—

Just to liven things up, we offer all Summer Millinery, both Trimmed and Untrimmed, at cost. This is the chance of the season. You know our stock.

Balance of our SPRING CAPES and JACKETS at interesting figures.

Ladies' Underwear, Gloves and Hosiery—

Nothing but an examination can give a correct idea of how cheap these wares can now be bought here.

Our WASH GOODS SALE still goes on. All prevailing prices are lost sight of. Watch the window displays and prices.

P. S.—Special offerings in Carpets and Housefurnishings during this Sale.

GOVERNMENT DEFEAT

British Commoners Went to the Queen's Party

AND IRISH MEMBERS RAN THE SHOW

Wouldn't Have an Adjournment or Report Progress—Three Times They Outvoted the Government—Lord Glencoe's Banquet Was a Brilliant Affair.

London, June 29.—The garden party given at Buckingham Palace by the Queen yesterday brought three defeats to the Government in the House of Commons. So many members of Parliament attended the garden party that the House of Commons was stripped. Business dragged along, and a division on a minor bill dealing with a church building in the Isle of Man resulted in the defeat of the Government by a vote of 52 to 65.

Thereupon the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, made some remarks upon the difficulty of doing business during the Jubilee celebration, and moved to adjourn.

Dr. Tanner, anti-Parnellite member for Mid-Cork, retorted by urging Mr. Balfour to devote more time to business and less to pleasure.

Mr. Balfour's motion was rejected by a vote of 58 to 64.

Just before the closing of the sitting of the House the Government were defeated again by a vote of 69 to 70 upon a motion to report progress.

Many Government supporters having come back from the Queen's garden party, Mr. Balfour again moved to adjourn, and the motion was carried, 133 to 76. The previous divisions were obviously trifling issues, and do not affect the position of the Government.

SHOREDITCH FERTILIZING WORKS.

Refuse of the City to be Made to Supply Power and Heat.

London, June 29.—Lord Kelvin, Professor of Natural Philosophy in the University of Glasgow, yesterday afternoon opened the works established by the municipality of Shoreditch, which are designed combinedly to destroy the local refuse, generate electric light, and supply hot water to the public baths and laundries. Lord Kelvin described the project as a supremely happy combination of scientific knowledge and mechanical skill, and said that it had received remarkable courage in its application.

It is believed that the works will effect a great economy. They will consume yearly 20,000 tons of refuse which has hitherto been carried to barges and then dumped into the sea at great expense.

BRENT GOOD HONORED.

New York Man Made an Honorary Member of a London Lodge of Freemasons.

London, June 29.—In the banquet hall of the Hotel Cecil, with elaborate ceremonies, Brent Good of New York was to-night made honorary member of the Anglo-American Lodge of Masons in London, the Columbia Lodge, A. F. & A. M. Mr. Good's is the first honorary membership in the history of the organization.

Mr. Brent Good has many friends in Toronto and Belleville, who will be delighted to hear of his good luck.

Col. Hay Gives a Banquet.

London, June 29.—The United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay, gave a dinner this evening, in honor of the Special Embassy. The guests were the United States Special Envoy, the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, and Mrs. Reid, General Nelson A. Miles and Mrs. Miles, Rear Admiral J. N. Miller and Mrs. Miller, the Secretary of the United States Embassy, Mr. Henry White, and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, the Marquis of Salisbury, the Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. A. J. Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury, Sir George Faudel-Phillips, the Lord Mayor of London, Lady Faudel-Phillips, the Lady Mayoress, Henry Francis Jeune, president of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice; Lady Jeune, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary for the Colonies; Hon. Philip James Stanhope and Countess Tolstoi, Lord and Lady Saville, the Earl and Countess of Portsmouth, the Marquis and Marchioness of Grandy, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Henry Asquith and Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Lady Vernon Harcourt.

Hanotaux Lunched the Silverites.

Paris, June 29.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Hanotaux, gave a luncheon to-day in honor of the United States Monetary Commissioner, Senator Edward O. Wolcott of Colorado, ex-Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, and General Charles Jackson Paine of Massachusetts. The United States Ambassador, General Horace Porter; the Secretary of the United States Embassy, Mr. Henry Vignaud; the Premier, M. Meline; the Minister of Finance, M. Cochery; Senator Foucairol, vice-president of the Bimetallic League of France, and M. Krantz, reporter of The Budget, were present.

Mr. Stevenson attended the sitting of the French Senate this afternoon. A high official received him at the entrance of the House and conducted him to a seat in the box of the President.

A Mean Scoundrel Shelved

London, June 29.—Charles Bertrand, known under the aliases of Col. Hay, an alleged brother of the United States Ambassador; Col. Travers, and R. S. Marshall of Chicago, and numerous other names, who was committed to trial on June 19, charged with fraud in gaining the acquaintance of women and ordering jewelry, dresses, hats, etc., for them, having the goods sent to hotels and then borrowing small sums of money from his victims, was sentenced in Old Bailey to-day to 10 years' penal servitude.

Bertrand has previously served three years' penal servitude here, and, under the aliases of St. Elmars and Donaldson, the authorities proved that he had served a term of eight years' imprisonment in San Francisco.

LORD GLENCOE'S BANQUET.

A Brilliant Affair Given in Honor of Sir Wilfrid Laurier by the High Commissioner.

London, June 29.—The dinner given tonight by Lord Glencoe, formerly Sir Donald Smith, High Commissioner for Canada, in honor of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, was an exceptionally brilliant affair. The guests numbered 350.

After the usual loyal toasts, Lord Glencoe proposed the "Prosperity of the Dominion." Dwelling upon its immense resources, he said that the Canadians might in the future equal in number their friends in the United States. He referred to the proof which the Jubilee celebrations had given of the strong ties binding the Dominion to Great Britain, and coupling the name of Sir Wilfrid Laurier with the toast.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on rising to respond, was greeted with prolonged cheering. He said it was a very keen pleasure to him to join in celebrating a nation's birthday in the Mother Country. At the same time, Canada was never dearer to his heart than at the present moment. Her history equalled, if it did not excel, in dramatic interest, the history of England, France or any other country in the world.

She did not choose to assume independence because she was already virtually independent, and could not have more power, freedom, happiness and prosperity, if she were separated from England. He dwelt at some length on the relations between England and the United States, and said that since he had been in London he had seen evidences of misapprehension on the part of the public men as to the latent sentiment of the Americans towards Great Britain. He would not hesitate to declare that this sentiment was one of affection and reverence. The enmity which once existed between Great Britain, Canada and the United States had been largely removed by the Queen herself, in such wise and kindly acts as her letter to the widow of Mr. Lincoln, and her intervention to prevent friction in the Trent affair.

After an eloquent reference to the Jubilee service at St. Paul's, Mr. Laurier said: "Let us hope that the God of War will never spread his wings between England and the United States," and concluded: "If on my deathbed every trace of racial feud has been removed, I shall die happy in the belief that I have not lived in vain." (Loud cheering.)

Other toasts followed, Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposing the health of the chairman.

"OLD HOSS" IS DEAD.

One of the Greatest Fun Makers That Ever Looked Across the Footlights Passed Away Yesterday.

New York, June 29.—William F. Hoey died this morning. He was known in theatrical circles as "Old Hoss" and one of the funniest mirth-provokers that ever looked across the footlights. For years his quaint mannerisms and seemingly inexhaustible humor have made his name famous the world over. Hoey's musical training added not a little to his success, and his wonderful make-up and seemingly endless assortment of costumes made his appearance at any time on the stage the signal for peals of laughter from the audience.

A shadow of his former self, he arrived at his home in this city a few days ago. His hair and beard were almost white and his limbs withered. It was only too evident that the end was near at hand and that Hoey had cracked his last joke.

THE COAL DUTY.

U. S. Senate Committee on Finance Fixes the Rate So as to Tally With the Duty Imposed by Canada.

Washington, June 29.—The Senate Committee on Finance have fixed the duty on coal at 67 cents per long ton. This rate applies only to coal shipped from countries which do not impose a higher rate on American coal. It therefore affects only Canada, the Canadian rate on American coal being the same. There has been a strong contention to hold the rate down to that originally fixed by the committee and even to lower it, but this effort was vigorously contested by the senators from the coal producing states, and the latter class have won.

BLOODHOUNDS ON HIS TRAIL.

A Scoundrel Who Chloroformed and Carried Off an Innocent Girl.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 29.—The little town of Downey, in the southern part of the county, is terribly excited over a case of abduction Monday night. Miss Maya, the daughter of respectable, well-to-do parents, was chloroformed and taken from her bedroom in her nightdress by an unknown man, who entered through a window. At daylight this morning, the young woman was found wandering in a dazed condition, several miles from her home. She has been unable as yet to give a clear description of her abductor, but a posse with bloodhounds is scouring the country about Downey.

THE AGONY IS OVER.

Parliament Was Prorogued in Due Form Last Night.

THAT INVESTIGATION GOES OVER

Sir Oliver Mowat Explained Matters to the Satisfaction of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, and the Members are Thus Allowed to Go Home—Speech From the Throne

Ottawa, June 29.—(Special.)—The House of Commons made short work of the order paper this morning. The first thing disposed of was the supply list, the committee stage and the third reading being taken, and then the measure was sent forward to the Senate.

After this came the Railway Subsidy bill, which was amended by Mr. Blair's suggestion so as to define the manner in which payments over $3200 per mile are to be made. The basis of payment of the increased subsidy is to be on an expenditure amounting to over $15,000 per mile. This is Mr. Blair's amendment, defined to be the actual necessary and reasonable cost of construction, and shall include the amount expended on any bridge up to but not exceeding $25,000, forming part of the line of the railway subsidized, but not to include the cost of equipping the railway, nor the cost of terminals or right of way in any city or incorporated town.

The amendment was adopted and the bill reported.

Then the Crow's Nest Pass subsidy bill was read the third time, no one dissenting.

The assistant clerk then called the order for the committee stage of Mr. Mulock's bill to amend the Postoffice Act, about which there has been contention, and over which the House was wrangling when it adjourned at 1 o'clock this morning. Mr. Mulock was not in the House, and Mr. Foster called attention to the fact that the Postmaster-General ought to be there to give explanations. "Oh, we'll try and satisfy the hon. gentlemen," said Sir Richard coaxingly. "Let us try and put it through."

The committee made rapid progress with the bill, Sir Richard consenting to the withdrawal of two obnoxious clauses. Just as the finishing touches were being put to the measure Mr. Mulock entered the chamber and was greeted with cheers and laughter from both sides. He soon learned what was in progress, and took the floor to argue in favor of the bill. He admitted the force of Opposition criticism to a clause permitting the Postmaster-General to award mail contracts without tender, and was willing to meet the objections by accepting any amendment that Mr. Foster might feel disposed to offer. If, however, it was felt to be better to allow this provision to go over until next session then he would not question it.

Thereupon Mr. Foster observed: "It won't spoil by keeping," and Mr. Mulock gracefully gave way.

The bill in its changed form was accordingly read the third time.

Mr. Mulock then remarked: "I have got the Civil Service bill, which goes with it. Let us put that through."

Mr. Foster (in a weary tone of voice): We are dead tired.

Mr. Mulock (coaxingly): It won't take long.

Minister and ex-Minister then got together, and while the House waited they discussed the provisions of the bill. Having arrived at an agreement the bill was passed.

A somewhat unusual motion was that which Major Sutherland, as chairman of the Railway Committee, next submitted to the House. It was to the following effect:

That all proceedings held in this House on Bill No. 53, to revive and further amend the acts respecting the Saskatchewan Railway & Mining Co., and to change the name to the Saskatchewan & Pacific Railway Mining Co., be declared null and void.

He said his object in moving this motion was that the usual fee for private bill legislation had in this case been paid by cheque, which cheque had been dishonored at the bank. He thought it was disgraceful that railway promoters should be guilty of such conduct, and, if only as a warning for the future to those interested in private bill legislation, such a resolution should be adopted.

The motion was adopted.

Dr. Montague called attention to the indifferent mail service into the Kootenay mining regions. People were suffering great inconvenience from it.

The Postmaster-General said that he expected Chief Inspector Sweetman would return from British Columbia with a full report in a few days. He fully realized that the service was not what it ought to be. He contemplated many extensions during the year, which would cost considerable money, but it was quite impossible for him to reach any estimate as to the cost, and consequently he had not put in an estimate. Charges were abnormally high, but he hoped before very long to organize such a mail service as would give satisfaction to everybody.

The House then adjourned.

At the afternoon session Mr. Blair announced that the total amount of railway subsidies voted amounted to $4,336,000, on a basis of $3200 per mile.

At 6 o'clock the House resumed, when the Speaker stated that prorogation would take place at 8 o'clock.

On reassembling at eight the Speaker informed the House that the Senate had passed certain bills. Then there was a wait for Black Rod.

Dr. Sproule, noticing Mr. Sifton in his place, said he understood the hon. gentleman had been to Winnipeg to finally settle the school question. The House would like to know how he had succeeded.

Mr. Sifton: I have pleasure in informing the hon. gentleman that the prospects for the wheat crop in Manitoba are very good. [Laughter.] I may also say that I ascertained that the rumor that there is considerable trouble among the Indians is without any foundation.

Dr. Sproule: The hon. gentleman, like his colleagues, has the faculty of evading the question. [Laughter.]

Mr. Henderson said as this was Jubilee year Her Majesty might certainly be congratulated for the great loyalty manifested by the Government in voting supplies to Her Majesty. [Laughter.]

There was another wait, during which time Mr. Logan sang "[illegible]"

SIR WILFRID ON FRENCH-CANADIAN LOYALTY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his Liverpool speech made a statement respecting the attitude of his French-Canadian compatriots towards Great Britain which should be read by all Canadians and preserved in their memories against the day when political incendiaries endeavour to light the fires of racial animosities. Sir Wilfrid introduced the subject by referring to the old-time struggles of French and English :

"What are the feelings of Canada?" he asked. "There is a mixed population in Canada. The people of Canada are not all of British blood ; one-third of them are of French descent. What are the sentiments of the people of French descent? What are their aspirations? Gentlemen, the answer is an easy one. My ancestors fought the soldiers of England upon many and many battle fields to keep and to preserve to the King of France the colony of Canada. They repulsed invasion after invasion, and of all the quarters where French valour and British pluck and endurance met in conflict there is perhaps no part of the world where the characteristics of the two people shone with such eclat as in the forests of America. But the day came when the fortune of war declared against my ancestors. They became by the fate of war, followed by solemn treaty, British subjects, and the day when they became British subjects they claimed from the Imperial authority the right of British subjects to exercise their own religion, to speak their own language, and to maintain their own institutions. Their religion was always respected, I am glad to say ; but their political rights were long denied, though when the concession was made it was made gracefully and with the greatest amplitude"

Then he, who is surely well qualified to speak on behalf of his fellows, said :

"My fellow countrymen, having obtained the rights of British subjects, it is with them a matter of duty, a point of honour, a labour of love, to accept and maintain to the fullest extent the obligations and responsibilities of British subjects. They are proud of their origin ; they are descended from a proud race ; but if they have a pride of origin, they have in their hearts another pride—a pride of gratitude ; and let me tell you their is no class of Her Majesty's subjects in this broad empire from whom will ascend to heaven on Jubilee Day more fervent prayers than from Her Majesty's French subjects that the Queen may live and live long."

If Britain's immense Spithead display is not heeded by the European powers, a little Spitfire display would be more convincing.

The 166 British ships of war and 45,000 men on board at Spithead Saturday indicated why, remarks the Ottawa Journal, Canadian trade, ships and people abroad get along without trouble, and that Canada does not give something for nothing when for British goods she knocks something off her regular customs duties.

RYE IN WHEAT.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

Sir,—A number of reports have reached me that the growing winter wheat shows a considerable percentage of rye in the fields. Rye in wheat is most objectionable, as it cannot be separated by any known kind of milling machinery. If it is not cut out it will greatly reduce the value of wheat for milling purposes, and if it is exported it will give our grains bad name in the markets of Great Britain and the continent, which would have a very injurious effect on Canada. Many millers will refuse to buy wheat containing rye at any price, as it injures the flour and can not be used except for making low grades, and the mills that do buy it deduct from five to fifteen cents per bushel off the price they would pay for good clean wheat. Every farmer with rye growing in his wheat should send men through the fields and cut off the heads of the rye before the grain is ripe. This is very easily done, as the rye can be plainly seen, having longer straw than the wheat, but care should be taken that it is not cut too early, and allow the rye to come out again. It would be well if the local papers throughout the country would take up this matter and impress upon the farmers the great loss which will inevitably occur if steps are no taken to prevent the rye getting mixed in the wheat, as it will lead to a repetition of the trouble we had a few years ago from this cause, when some farmers had to sell their wheat for fifteen and twenty cents per bushel less than they would otherwise have got.

CENTRAL CANADA FAIR.

This is the record year in the history of the British Empire and the directors of the Central Canada Exhibition Association, keeping pace with the times, will make it also the record year in the history of the Canada Central Fair, now second to none in the dominion.

The exhibition will be far ahead of any in the past, so far as the prize list is concerned. That is certain. Besides $15,000 in cash prizes, the directors are offering a very large number of special prizes, including 45 of the beautiful medals which are so highly prized by those who have won them in Ottawa in the past. The increases are principally in the live stock and dairy departments. The directors, desirous of making the fair especially attractive to the farming community and anxious to please their exhibitors, are year by year adding to the prizes in the lines which are being especially followed by farmers. To this end the dairy test is to be made one of the feature's of this year's show. As will be seen by the list, the prizes for it are munificent.

The special attractions, always an important feature of an exhibition from the spectators' point of view, will be exceptionally fine this year. The directors mean to have the most novel and entertaining specialties that can be secured. Already several have been secured, and New York and other leading centres will be visited in search of others.

The night spectacular, now an indispensable part of the Central Canada Fair, has been arranged for. Messrs. Hand & Teale of Hamilton, who so successfully presented the "Siege of Algiers," last year, and the "Siege of Sebastapol" the year before, have been engaged to produce that thrilling historic spectacle, "The Taking of the Bastile," with the usual fireworks and other inspiring accessories. The fireworks in connection with this piece will be of a magnitude never attempted in Canada before, and the militia display will be made by 600 of the militia of Ottawa, including the 43rd Battalion, the crack corp of the Dominion, and which made such a wonderful showing at the entertainment last year.

At considerable expense, the directors have arranged for the showing of Delorme's great painting, "The Blacksmith." This is the masterpiece of the renowned painter of France, and sold for $60,000. In cities in the United States where the painting has been exhibited the thousands who viewed it agreed that it was the grandest picture they had ever seen.

The cinematographe, the wonder of the age, will also be seen at the fair. This marvellous invention presents pictures taken in different parts of the world to the view in perfect life like action and as though they were actually occurring.

Altogether the annual fair, the tenth, will without doubt excel its predecessors in variety of features, in the magnitude of its attractions, and in the munificence of its prize list. The dates are September 17th to 25th, entries to close on September 14th. Secretary McMahon informs us that he will be pleased to furnish copies of the prize list, catalogues, etc., to all who apply for them.

Barns Blown Down, Trees Levelled and Crops Destroyed—Buggy Capsized and People Hurt.

Lambeth, June 29.—A terrific electric storm, accompanied by wind, struck this vicinity about 4.15 this afternoon. Mr. Nixon's barn was blown completely down and demolished. The roof was torn off another barn and a brick house was also blown down. Mr. Pincombe's bush is nearly destroyed, the trees being broken like straws. The storm crossed the Spring Creek, about two miles east of here. All grain in the path of the storm was blown down, and the telegraph poles broken. A great amount of damage was done, but so far as known only one accident happened. Mr. Bertwhistle, in company with his mother, Mrs. Shaver, and another lady, were driving along the road when the storm caught them. The buggy was blown over and the occupants thrown violently to the ground. Mrs. Shaver is supposed to have received serious injuries, while the other two escaped with a good shaking up.

Then Black Rod arrived and summoned the faithful Commoners to the Upper House, where they heard the speech.

The members of both Houses were delighted at the session closing to-day. It is questionable whether the Senate Committee could have carried on its work as there was a bare quorum of members of the upper House in town, and the total number of commoners in attendance in the House to-day was less than 50.

Sir Louis Davies left for England, via New York, this afternoon. He has been sent for to aid Sir Wilfrid in pressing the Canadian case for exclusion of this country from the operation of the most favored nation clauses.

Sir A. P. Caron also left for England to-day on taking business.

His Excellency the Governor-General leaves for Cacouna to-morrow for a few weeks' fishing. He will be in Toronto at the time of the meeting of the British Association, and in Montreal when the British Medical Association meets there.

A young man named Joseph Seance fell into 40 feet of water, between two barges at Hull to-day, and was drowned before assistance could reach him.

Mr. Sifton returned from Winnipeg to-day. It is admitted that his visit to the Prairie Capital was in connection with Catholic representation on the Provincial Education Board.

IN THE SENATE.

After an Explanation by Sir Oliver Mowat Sir Mackenzie Bowell Agrees to Postponement.

Ottawa, June 29.—(Special.)—The Speaker of the Senate announced this morning that he had received the supply bill. It was introduced and read the first time.

On motion for the second reading Sir Mackenzie Bowell enquired whether it was the intention of the Government to bring down the Crow's Nest Pass Railway bill, and the bill now before the Lower House for subsidies to railways, as well as another important bill, relieving the Government of the responsibility of disposing of moneys of which they were the custodians, for educational purposes in Manitoba.

Sir Oliver Mowat said: "It is intended to pass the Crow's Nest Pass bill and bring it to this House. It will probably be down to-day. The same with regard to the subsidies. With reference to the educational fund bill I shall probably be able to answer that question when we met this afternoon. I have had no recent conversation about it."

Sir Oliver went on to explain matters in regard to the Drummond Railway and the I. C. R. extension to Montreal. He favored the investigation, but urged that the object of it would be better attained next session than now. He stated that in the meantime no agreement binding on the Government or the country would be made.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell agreed to the proposa, on the assurances given by the Minister of Justice.

During the afternoon session on the second reading of the supply bill, Senator Scott explained that the total amount asked for this year was $36,121,342, as compared with $46,124,926 last year. There was quite a long discussion before the bill was finally passed.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Senator Ferguson criticize the action of the Government in increasing the annual expenditure of the country from $38,000,000, to something over $50,000,000, in the face of their ante-election pledges of economy.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

His Excellency Thanks the Members for Their Hard Work and the Supplies.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In relieving you from further attendance in Parliament I desire to thank you for the assiduity with which you have discharged the duties of a fatiguing session, and I congratulate you on the very important legislation which has been the outcome of your deliberations.

The revision of the tariff, which occupied a large part of the session, has been completed in a manner which, I trust, will prove effective in promoting the trade and commerce of the Dominion. It is gratifying to know that this measure has been recognized as one of Imperial importance, and that it has already had a marked effect in strengthening the bonds which unite Canada to the Motherland. The arrangements for establishing a fast steamship line of the highest class between Great Britain and Canada, with the co-operation and assistance of the Imperial and Canadian Governments, encourage me to hope that at no distant day we shall see the accomplishment of that very important project.

The bill to provide an effective system of cold storage on land and sea will promote the interest of our agriculturists by affording means for the transportation of perishable food products, and placing them in the best condition in the great markets of the world.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I thank you for the liberal provision which you have made for the public services.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The session now closing will be memorable not only on account of the important measures which have been passed, but also because it has been held during the year of Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee, in which the people of all parts of the Empire united in celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. The splendid demonstrations which have taken place throughout the Queen's dominions testify at once the loyalty and affection of the people towards their Sovereign, and the unity of the British Empire. I know that you rejoice with me that Canada has worthily performed her part in these great events.

In now taking leave of you, I desire to express my best wishes for your personal happiness, and my earnest hope that the work of the session may prove useful in advancing the prosperity of the people whom you represent.

The Commoners came back to their chamber, gave three cheers for the Speaker and members of the fourth estate, and then proceeded to bid goodbye to Mr. Edgar.

LAUGHTON CLUBBED SIFTON.

Walked Up the Aisle in a Methodist Church and Hit Him Over the Head Sent for Trial.

Strathroy, Ont., June 29.—The preliminary hearing of Sanford Laughton of Metcalfe on the charge of assault and doing bodily harm to Charles Sifton, a young farmer of the same township, came up before Police Magistrate Noble yesterday. A week ago Sunday Sifton was attending the morning service in a Methodist Church in Metcalfe, when Laughton came in, walked up the aisle and struck him a severe blow with a club on the head, causing the blood to flow. A great deal of excitement was caused by the incident among the worshippers, and after the service was over Laughton was arrested. No cause is given for Laughton's action, except, it is said, he had the idea Sifton was interfering with his love affairs, as he had been paying marked attention to Sifton's sister, and was given to understand he was not wanted around. The prisoner was committed for trial. Bail was not accepted, but it is likely it will be granted by the judge. Both parties are well known and much respected and great interest is taken in the case by their friends.

POWLEY PAID THE PENALTY.

The Niagara Falls Man Who Murdered His Wife Some Months Ago Executed by Electricity at Auburn.

Auburn, June 29. They shocked Robert J. Powley's soul out of his body at Auburn at 11.16 o'clock this morning.

The operation was expeditious and successful. There was nothing sensational or disturbing about it. The twenty odd men who sat like spectators at a play and saw the man die, did not even grow pale, so commonplace seemed the affair. They say at the prison that this was one of the most successful electrocutions they have had.

Just at 11 o'clock Warden Mead formed the witnesses in two lines in the long main hall of the prison, with a burly guard at their head. The men who came to see Powley die marched through the corridors to the little whitewashed death chamber down in the depths of the prison.

Electrician Davis was there. He had a bank of incandescent lights across the arms of the chair. Just as the party entered the chamber he turned the electricity, with a sudden dash, through the lights, and the room became intolerably light. There were three rows of chairs for the spectators. The men sat down. Then the warden cautioned everybody to remain seated, no matter what happened, and the guards went after Powley.

It was 10 minutes after 11 o'clock when the door leading to the corridor where the condemned men are kept swung open. Warden Mead walked in. Then came the Rev. C. N. Clement Brown of St. John's Episcopal Church, in full vestments, reading from that beautiful passage of Scripture beginning: "I am the resurrection and the life."

Powley walked close behind. He was pale, very pale, but he walked firmly and needed no support. In his right hand he held a small silver crucifix. He walked to the side of the chair and stood looking seriously at the witnesses. His eyes fell on District Attorney Hopkins of Niagara County. Powley started, and stretched out the hand containing the crucifix.

"Can I make a speech?" he said. "I would like to say a few words."

A guard took Powley by the arm and brought him in front of the chair.

"Mr. Hopkins," said Powley, "Mr. Hopkins, you know all about my wife."

The guard pushed Powley down into the chair.

"Mr. Hopkins," the condemned man said again, "you were prejudiced against me."

Mr. Brown stopped reading and said, warningly, "Robert, prepare your soul to meet your God."

By this time Powley was in the chair and almost strapped. The electricians were fixing the electrodes.

Just before the hood was placed over Powley's face he said very distinctly: "Mr. Hopkins, I forgive you."

Then the hood was pulled over his mouth, but from behind it came muffled ejaculations of, "Oh, God, have mercy on my soul," "Oh, God, forgive me for my sins."

Powley called on his Maker continuously until the warden lifted his finger, the electrician turned the switch and the electricity shot through his body. The body strained against the straps, the hands clasped and unclasped and after about 45 seconds the switch was turned off and the body fell back limply into the chair.

There were four contacts. The first was made at 11.16 o'clock, and at 11.23 o'clock the doctors said the wife murderer was dead. As a matter of fact he was dead long before 11.23 o'clock.

Brutal murderer that he was, it must be said of Powley that he walked to his death unflinchingly and like a man.

On the night of March 8 last, in the City of Niagara Falls, Robert J. Powley committed one of the most brutal and cold-blooded murders of which any account stands on the annals of crime in Western New York.

On that night, incited by a mad desire for revenge for fancied wrongs, he smashed in the door of the bedroom in which his wife lay sleeping, dragged her from the bed by her hair, and fired shot after shot into her breast.

In the struggle for life or death a lighted lamp was overturned. The lamp exploded, setting fire to the room. In the confusion which followed the arrival of the firemen the murderer escaped, but his liberty was of short duration, for after a hot chase the police caught him only two blocks away from the scene of his crime.

Some years ago Powley lived in Buffalo, where he worked for the New York Central Railroad. During their life in that city he and his wife had frequent quarrels, and the couple finally separated, the woman going to the home of her father in the West. After a time the two became reconciled, and started housekeeping in Niagara Falls, only to quarrel more bitterly than ever and to separate again, about fifteen months ago.

A NOVA SCOTIA CASE.

Suffered without help—Eighteen Years getting worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N.S., June 21 (Special)—There is no man in this town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who was for eighteen years had been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says:—"It began with the backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I ran down greatly in weight the doctors said it was Diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength, I am perfectly cured.

The Ramadan.

Most of the recent military operations of the Turkish army occurred during the month's fast of Ramadan, but soldiers are not required to observe all its rules. Other Mussulmans must not eat or drink anything between dawn and sunset, nor use tobacco during that time. After the first few days of the fast the strain shows plainly in the faces of the people. When the gun booms at sunset the whole population take a long draught of water. At night no limit is placed on eating and drinking.

Damaged by Rain.

Yesterday's rain was just what the country needed. Its effect on trade was damaging, however, with the snaps we are offering to-day in Shirts, Sweaters, Bicycle Hose, Bicycle Suits, etc. We hope to make up for lost time—open this evening. Sword, 55 King-street east.

Tired, Nervous, Sleepless

Men and women — how gratefully they write about Hood's Sarsaparilla. Once helpless and discouraged, having lost all faith in medicines, now in good health and "able to do my work," because Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to enrich and purify the blood and make weak strong — this is the experience of a host of people.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favour.

Gigantic Underwriter's Sale of $40,000 Worth of Fine Clothing.

Clothing buyers are having it all their own way here. Stirring times all over our two busy stores, and lively selling becomes more lively every day. There is a spirited exchange of Fine Clothing at strangely cheap prices. Money never bought such values before. We're glad to see such signs of Peterborough's prosperity. We're glad to share in it. The fact that sales all over our stores are greatly in advance of previous season's acknowledges trade leadership.

Nothing to wonder at, after all. Few stores anywhere would begin to be satisfied with the profits we ask, and few merchants would dare to buy goods in such quantities. We have an immense outlet, and we turn it to your advantage in such

REVOLUTIONIZED PRICES

As these. Better read them and Save Money:—

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Underwriter's Sale of FINE Clothing. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. We insist upon a certain high standard of goodness. The trash buyer is not thought of here. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customers' gain.

President Isaac Lewis of Sabina, Ohio, is highly respected all through that section. He has lived in Clinton Co. 75 years, and has been president of the Sabina Bank 20 years. He gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and what he says is worthy attention. All brain workers find Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiarly adapted to their needs. It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

"I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a very good medicine, especially as a blood purifier. It has done me good many times. For several years I suffered greatly with pains of in one eye and about my temples, especially at night when I had been having a hard day of physical and mental labor. I took many remedies, but found help only in Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured me of rheumatism, neuralgia and headache. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved itself a true friend. I also take Hood's Pills to keep my bowels regular, and like the pills very much." ISAAC LEWIS, Sabina, Ohio.

Mr. Thomas McDonald, living on the Bay of Quinte, has made a black bass hatchery of a disused quarry at Point Ann, which has been filled with water by a spring. He put in 14 bass several weeks since, and now there are at least 200,000 fry in the pond, which is about 100 ft. by 70 ft.

Do Not Believe

Everything you hear or read about Cereal Coffee, but go to E. F. Mason & Co. on Monday or Tuesday, June 28th and 29th, and see it brewed and taste it for yourself. Mr. Redner and assistant will be there on above days, and you are invited to try it. Free to all.

The Rain Interfered.

The garden party on St. John's church grounds last evening could not be carried out successfully on account of the rain. A short musical programme, however, was given in the school house, and the entertainment is to be repeated this evening, when it is hoped the attendance will be very large.

Some Omissions.

In the hurry and pressure of matter on Jubilee Day mention of the handsome decoration of the Phelan House was omitted. A citizen so highly esteemed and who has lived so long in Peterborough is hardly likely to have been remiss in such a matter. Ed. Welsh's popular restaurant on Hunter street was also most beautifully decorated inside with drapings of coloured silk and flags.

Will Go to Lindsay.

The following players will compose the Peterborough cricket team which goes over to play in Lindsay to-morrow: Rev. H. Symonds, Rev. E. V. Stevenson, Dr. Young, Guy Rogers, Harold Burnham, W. Stocker, A. A. Hollingshead, T. Burnham, W. J. Montgomery, Thomas, W.D. Parker, V. McGill and M. Poussette. The players will bear in mind that the train now leaves at 8.10 a.m. instead of 8.25.

It Pleases People.

The new food drink has become a popular beverage with thousands who have good health and want to retain it, and millions who have not good health but want to regain it. Madden Cereal Food Coffee is made of the albumen, gluten and phosphates of wheat. It furnishes the elements absolutely demanded by nature to rebuild the gray matter in the nerve cells. Try leaving off coffee ten days, it may solve your problem when medicine fails. Look out for imitations and various mixtures. The genuine and original cereal food coffee has on each package a Red Diamond bearing the words:—"It makes red blood; take no substitute." All grocers. 14

A Young Lad From Owen Sound Tries to Get Away With a Pair of Trousers and Some Money.

Joseph Revell was in the dock at the police court this morning, charged with the theft of a box of cartridges, a pair of trousers and $2 50 in gold from Samuel Londry.

It seems that young Revell hails from Owen Sound, and came to visit at Londry's, being slightly related to the family. He had been there about ten days, and suddenly disappeared last night. Immediately afterwards the articles stated were missed, and Mr. Londry suspecting the lad went to the C.P.R. station and found him waiting there for the train.

On being caught Revill gave up the money and cartridges. He had the trousers on. His arrest followed, and this morning he was remanded until July 6th.

NON-JURY SITTINGS.

Verdict for the Plaintiff in the Case of Ashe vs. Wilson.

Non-jury sittings were held yesterday before Judge Weller in the County Court, when the case of Ashe vs. Wilson was heard, occupying the attention of the court from 10 a.m. until 5.45 in the afternoon.

Judgment was given for the plaintiff in the sum of $93, the costs going with the judgment.

A. P. Poussette, Q.C., counsel for plaintiff; W. A. F. Campbell, Norwood, solicitor for plaintiff; and Kilmer & Irving, of Toronto, for defendant.

The court sits again on July 5th, when the case of Moncrief vs. Peterborough will be heard.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Senator Cox is in town to-day.

Miss B. Pope is visiting friends at Young's Point.

Mr. W. A. F. Campbell, of Norwood, was in town yesterday.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams left for Gravenhurst this morning, on a business trip.

Mr. E. B. Stone returned from Montreal yesterday, the physicians there advising against an operation.

Mr. G A. Pope, valuator on the Trent Valley Canal, is in town in connection with the Nassau dam, and other matters connected with these works.

Mr. John A. Macdonald of Arnprior, special agent for the Canadian Railway Accident Co., of Ottawa, is in town on a business visit in the interest of his popular company.

Mr. R. Neil and daughter are in Brantford to-day attending the wedding of Mr. Neil's sister, Miss Nellie Nell, which takes place to-day. The groom is Mr. E. Gregory, druggist, of Lindsay.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Messrs. O. Lapiante and F. Sullivan, of Peterborough, wheeled to town yesterday and spent a pleasant day with friends. They were the guests of Mr. Burke McHugh."

Mr. R. B. McKee, who was supposed to be only slightly injured by the fall of the grand stand on Jubilee Day, is now having a great deal of trouble with his side, being unable to rest well on account of it.

Mr. E. S. Clarry, of Millbrook, has been invited to referee the game between the Elms and the Peterboroughs on the P. A. A.A. grounds. The Elms asked for an impartial man to officiate, and as Mr. Clarry is thoroughly posted in the game his work should be satisfactory.

Mr. Richard J. Neithercutt, son of Mr. R. S. Neithercutt, president of the West End Lumber Co., Bridgeport, Connecticut, formerly of Peterborough, recently graduated with high honours from the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University. After a year's course he has received the degree of P.H.B., and expects to follow the line in which he has studied—Electrical Engineering.

The Bowmanville Statesman says:—"Rev. J. J. Rae, the new pastor of the Methodist church in this town, entered upon his duties on Sunday last, preaching two very suitable, excellent and much appreciated sermons. In the morning his text was II Cor. iv, 5. His evening discourse was an able effort, exceedingly appropriate and well delivered, his text being, What think ye of Christ? The attendance was large at both services, and the choir was out in good force. In the afternoon he addressed the Sabbath school and won the good will of young and old. Mr. Rae has made a very favourable beginning and from his popularity in former charges we predict for him a successful pastorate in Bowmanville.

An Apple Tree Blight.

Some sort of a blight is troubling apple trees in some parts of the country. It seems to turn the leaves black as if bitten by some insect, causing them to shrink up and fall off. The cause of the blight has not so far been located. Much disappointment is felt, too, at the outlook for apples. There was a splendid bloom on the trees, but apples are exceedingly scarce.

Peterboroughs.
57th Band in Attendance.

The Elms played here on July 1st of last year. The score was 3—2 in Peterborough's favour. During the week they have secured some of the players of the Senior Torontos, and are determined to win to-morrow.

Sculling Race.

A rowing race has been arranged between Robert Brown, of Toronto, and Jas. Crothers, of Bobcaygeon, to take place on July 29th. Stakes of $100 a side have been already posted and the men go into training next week. The distance is to be two miles, in even-sized lapstreaks, and the best man will take the entire purse. Mr. P. J. Galvin intended having the race rowed off Jacob's Island, in Pigeon Lake, but if better accommodation can be procured elsewhere he will be glad to receive notice thereof. Those having suitable accommodation should place themselves in communication with Mr. Galvin at once. On the day in question cheap rates will prevail on the railroads and boats.

A Croupy Cough was Soon Driven Away by Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine.

"My little boy had a bad croupy cough," says Mrs. Smith, of 256 Bathurst street, Toronto. "My neighbor, Mrs. Hopkins, recommended me to try Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I did so, and the first dose did him good. One bottle completely cured the cold. It is surprising the popularity of Chase's Syrup in this neighborhood. It appears to me it can now be found in every home.

CONVENT CHILDREN'S BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE.

SPLENDID JUVENILE SILVER JUBILEE CONTRIBUTION.

A Scene From Fairy Land—Beautiful Music, Graceful Movements and Delightful Sentiments Dutifully Expressed.

Of all the marks of respect, and of all the tributes of congratulation Ven. Archdeacon Casey has received, whether from robed ecclesiastics or prominent citizens, none were more beautiful, none came from truer and more unselfish hearts, none was more beautiful and graceful than the exquisite festal greeting entertainment given by the pupils of the convent congregation de Notre Dame last night.

The beautiful hall of the convent was garbed en fete for the occasion. Flowers were profusely disposed. At the east was a broad fancy scroll bearing the legend "Our Father's Silver Jubilee," and the cornice surrounding the room at the ceiling was draped with festoons of evergreens entwined with a large-linked silver chain.

Besides the honoured guest of the evening there were present His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, several of the visiting clergy, the Cathedral clergy, several prominent citizens, and a large company of the parents and friends of the pupils who, clad in white, made a beautiful sight ranged on the sloping platform.

As the procession, consisting of Bishop, Archdeacon and clergy, entered the hall and took their places, a grand galop was performed by the Convent pupils.

An attempt to describe in detail the programme that followed would be a failure to express the beauty and merit of its character and style of presentation.

It opened with a song, "Greeting to our Honoured Guest," and a simultaneous recitation by about twenty girls of a poem descriptive of the character, duties and virtues of "The Priest of God." A brilliant musical selection, "Military Review," was followed by a delightful song, "Sweet Silver Bells," sung by a quartette (and chorus), Misses Jennie Riley, Nettie Lewis, Annie Simons and Lily Jackson, the two latter taking the solos.

"Our Father's Silver Jubilee"—the little ones' floral offering, was an exquisitely beautiful scene; the tripping fairy-like little girls, bearing bouquets and floral devices performed intricate and graceful evolutions, with a military precision and grace that elicited unstinted admiration. They were in command of Miss Irene Potvin, daughter of Mr. Fred Potvin, and the amusing assumption of dignity and martinet severity, added to grace that marked her demeanour, as well as the splendid evolutions of her little fairy army, was quite fetching. This number consisted of little choruses, recitations, etc., embodying tributes to the Archdeacon and congratulations on his silver jubilee. The closing scene was very striking. At the conclusion of an intricate series of evolutions, those bearing the floral designs advanced and laid at the feet of the Archdeacon their flowery burdens in a form to represent the words "Silver Jubilee," the several letters of which formed the floral devices.

After a song, "We've Twined a Crown," and a sparkling musical selection, "The Nightingale," in which Misses Bell and Pollock played violins, another beautiful feature was the "Jubilee Cantata," which included more beautiful marching; and a May pole dance was introduced. The May-pole was crowned with a trophy of brightly be ribboned bannerets, containing paintings representing the different fields of labour Ven. Archdeacon Casey has occupied during the past twenty-five years, and as each banneret was taken from the May pole and the trophy re-arranged in front of the Archdeacon, the performer recited a little poem detailing the features of usefulness that had characterized the Archdeacon's occupancy of the several positions he had filled. In this the excellent recitation of a beautiful poetical tribute by Miss Lily Simons was specially to be remarked. The whole scene was indescribably beautiful, and could only be appreciated by being seen.

A violin solo, "Carnival of Venice," was well performed by Miss Lottie Bell.

Then followed a formal address from the pupils read by Miss Brennan, of Ashburnham, and the delightful programme was brought to a close by the hearty singing of "God Save the Queen" by the pure, sweet voices of the children.

This concluded one of the most delightful of the many delightful entertainments provided from time to time by the Convent sisters, who are entitled to the highest praise. It is not generally known that the scenes presented, the poems recited and the words, and in many cases the music of the pretty songs sung, are all original, being prepared specially for each occasion by the sisters of the Convent.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey on rising to reply was greeted with very warm applause, and said he felt that that day happiness had been thrust upon him, but of all the kind things that had been said of him the tributes of the dear children had touched him most. He referred to the great work of preparation involved in the splendid programme that had been presented both on the part of the good sisters and the children. He gave his most earnest thanks to the children, though his heart was too full for expression. He contrasted the condition of educational advantage in Peterborough twenty-five years ago, almost, at the time of his first visit, with the admirable system of the present, that had made such a display as that of the evening possible. The flowers presented were emblems of the purity and innocence of the givers. In conclusion he referred to the wish for his golden jubilee; if he were spared to see that he hoped there would not on that occasion be one of the dear children missing.

His Lordship said nothing could be more pleasing to Archdeacon Casey than the delightful silver jubilee celebration of the children. It was a pleasure to the clergy to watch carefully over the little ones and nothing would give Father Casey greater joy than to see the children grow up virtuous and pious. In after life they could look back with gratitude for having so good a pastor as Venerable Father Casey.

Mr. Dumble congratulated Father Casey on having been so honoured that evening. He had like his Master gone about doing good and was always at the call of his flock. His work in the matter of education was exemplified in the scenes like the present, which the speaker had never seen the like of in Peterborough.

Mr. Hampden Burnham in a few words gracefully conveyed his congratulations and his appreciation of the event of the evening.

Mr. James Stevenson paid a tribute to the warm-hearted character of Father Casey, whose works of charity were quietly and faithfully done.

Mr. L. M. Hayes joined in the congratulations presented and endorsed all that had been said in Father Casey's praise and especially complimented the clever work of the children.

THE PRESENTS RECEIVED.

The following is a partial lists of the many material presents showered on Archdeacon Casey on the momentous occasion of his silver jubilee: His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, silver epergne with central flask for flowers; Rev. Father Conway, Norwood, gentleman's toilet set in silver; Nuns Congregation de Notre Dame, silver mounted clock; Rev. Dr. Teefy, St. Michael's College, Toronto, silver pyx; Sisters of St. Joseph, sick call communion service; toilet set, handmade, worked in silver, Sisters of Mount St. Joseph; fancy emblems and silver soup ladle, Sisters of St. Joseph, Lindsay; Sisters of St. Joseph, Cobourg, handsome silver present; silver sick call set and statuette, Sister Mary Calvary (sister of the archdeacon) Holyoke, Mass.; the Archdeacon's mother and sisters, Ottawa, silver cigar chest; Mr. Meloche, artist of church decorations, rare model Franciscan crucifix; a friend in town, fancy basket from Key West, Florida; silver whisk holder, Mrs. Carroll; Ladies Aid Society St. Peter's, silver letter balance; Miss McCarthy, silver cigar case; Rev. Father Davis, Madoc, missal; priests of Kingston Diocese, purse; Lake street school, silver fruit dish and spoon; Murray street school, address and flowers; Cathedral Sodality of Mary, silver cake and bread basket; besides a large number of elegant trifles from persons whose names were not given. In the report of yesterday's ceremonies the present of a beautiful silver chalice by the priests was recorded, also the gift by the congregation of an oil painting. This fine picture consists of a full length portrait of the Archdeacon, a capital likeness, painted by Mr. D. A. Shaw, artist.

The engrossing and illumination of the addresses presented was the work of Mr. Pringle of the Peterborough Business College.

In the midst of all the festivities of his silver Jubilee, Rev. Father Casey's warm heart did not permit him to forget the 52 inmates of the House of Providence. He provided, at his own expense, a sumptuous repast, including all the delicacies of the season, and visited the Home during the afternoon, speaking kind words and showing his personal interest in the happiness of those whose life possesses little brightness except that given by such noble hearts as the Archdeacon.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Lacrosse P.A.A.A. grounds.

—The town butcher shops will be closed to-morrow—Dominion Day.

—The rain of yesterday and to-day was much needed by the crops and should induce great growth.

—Two Toronto Courts of the Catholic Order of Foresters run an excursion to Peterborough on Saturday, July 17th.

—Lindsay has struck its estimates, which call for a rate of 24 mills on the dollar. Lindsay is bound to lead the district in something.

—The new steamer "Eclipse" will begin making her regular trips down the river on Saturday next. Watch for advertisement.

—There was no quorum at the meeting of the Court of Revision last night. Councillor Robertson was the only member who showed up.

—Mr. Chas. Rowlison, of Kinmount, while working the heading machine at Watson's and Davis' stave mill, was struck on the forehead by a flying bit of wood, which inflicted a bad wound, but it is not dangerous.

—Owing to the Dominion Government having reduced the rate of interest on deposits from 3½ to 3 per cent., the chartered banks have been compelled to follow suit, and the staff of the local branches have been working almost night and day of late preparing statements and notifications for depositors, as the change goes into effect July 1st. A great deal of additional work is thus thrown on the post office staff, as the notices are sent by registered mail.

If you require a piano, organ or sewing machine call on the old reliable firm, the Peterborough Music Co.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legroe has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

$100 in Prizes.

The prizes to be competed for on Thursday (Dominion Day) at the Foresters' picnic at Jubilee Point amount to nearly $100 in value. The steamer City of Peterborough and palace barge will leave the wharf at 7.30 a.m., calling at Ashburnham. Every arrangement is being made for a good day's outing, and the Foresters are noted for the success of their annual excursions. If you want a pleasant sail do not miss this opportunity. Tickets only 40c., children, 20c. Baskets checked and stored for excursionists by a competent committee. Meals at the hotel for those not taking baskets. Don't forget it. 2d

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse match to-morrow afternoon with the Elms, of Toronto, begins at 2.30 p. m. sharp and will be preceded by an exhibition of heavy weight and hammer throwing by Mr. D. McDonald, of Rochester, who claims the championship of the world in these sports.

The Elms come to Peterborough every season and are well known here. On Dominion Day last year they were only beaten by the local team by three goals to two and therefore to-morrow's match will be one of the most interesting of the season.

The Peterboroughs will probably line up as follows:—Goal, Dobbin; point, Brown; cover point, Borland; 3rd defense, Mein; 2nd defense, Glover; 1st defense, King; centre, Galley; 1st home, Jim McCabe; 2nd home, Rubidge; 3rd home, Lipsett; outside home, Phelan; inside home, Jack McCabe.

The Peterborough II team will play the Maitlands of Toronto at the Agricultural Grounds, where the games of the Toronto Civic Employees' Association will be held. The local team will be picked from following:—Thompson, L. Dobbin Craig, Rickey, Lewis, Crossley, Sam Adams, Ernie Wasson, Wilson, Jack McDonough, E. Rutherford, Vic McWilliams, W. Wilgar. All players are requested to be out for a practice game with the seniors to-night in order to ascertain just which ones will be available to-morrow.

The crack Markham team will play in Peterborough on July 23rd. A big Oddfellows excursion accompanies them.

BASEBALL TO-MORROW.

At 10.30 in P.A.A.A. grounds, Ashburnham, Eurekas of Toronto, champions of the Toronto City League vs. Park Nine, Peterborough. First home game of the season. Fast ball will be played.

BASEBALL.

The Galt Reporter of June 24th has the following to say re our one-armed twirler in connection with the sports run off on Jubilee Day at Hespeler:

The Waterloo-Hespeler baseball match was the next attraction and the largest crowd that has attended a game this season was on hand. Waterloo went to bat first with McCabe in the box for Hespeler. Dan was just getting ready to put one over the plate when Miss Fanny McCaffery stepped up and on behalf of the young ladies of the village presented him with a nicely worded address, expressing the esteem in which he is held.

The address was accompanied by a bouquet, concealed in which was a purse of money. He acknowledged the gift, but was too bashful to make a speech. The game was a good one up to the 7th innings when several costly errors were made, which allowed Waterloo to score six runs. They were blanked in the remaining three innings and at the close of the game the score stood 6—7 in favour of the visitors.

The score:

Waterloo	0 1 0 0 2 0 6 0 0—9
Hespeler	0 1 2 0 0 0 3 0 1—7

Ward pitched a rattling good game for the visitors and McCabe put up his usual star performance for Hespeler.

The Eureka Baseball Club, which heads the Toronto City League, will play against the Park Nine on the P. A. A. A. Grounds to-morrow morning, the game being called at 10.30 a. m. This is the first baseball match of the year and will doubtless be well patronized. The local team is in fine shape through having been practising steadily.

Please the Women.

The study of the problems of advertising is exceedingly fascinating. How is it that every woman as well as every man in Peterborough is interested in reading Gough Bros. advertisements? It is a fact that the average woman cares very little, comparatively for the news columns of a paper, and still less for the editorial. It is the advertising columns that tell a tempting tale of dry goods, clothing for herself and children, boots and shoes, groceries, housefurnishings, and so on, that interest her the most. And if not prevented she will also probably buy the clothing and men's furnishings for the whole family. It is the women of our country who buy from 75 to 90 per cent. of all the goods sold at retail in the stores. It is right here that the importance comes in of an advertiser enlisting the interest of the women in their newspaper announcements. Gough Bros. continually aim to do so; and their experience is that it has paid them well. The economically disposed wife knows, also, that it has paid her well to watch the price lists and pick out the bargains she needs. Hundreds of women have attested the present bargain sale of the great E. A. Small & Co's. stock of fine clothing, now in full swing at Gough Bros. The brightest, choicest suits for boys find ready sale to women who have been attracted by the saving of dollars; and to mothers of boys a practical lesson in economy runs all through this big sale. Its clothing that'll wear they want, and mother's can bank on the quality of the boys clothing in this splendid stock. And for such clothing it needs but little money. Boys' sailor suits, navy, 60c, 65c, $1.25, $1.40, $1.50. Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw

PETERBOROUGH BAPTISTS IN SESSION ASSEMBLED.

THEY ARE MEETING IN BELLEVILLE THIS YEAR.

The Opening Meeting — Election of Officers — Addresses Delivered — The Next Meeting to be Held in the Haldimand Church.

Belleville, June 28.—The nine 17th annual meeting of the Peterborough Baptist Association commenced here this evening in the Baptist church. The pastor of the Belleville church, Rev. V. H. Cowart, presided at a brief devotional service, and in a few well chosen words, welcomed the delegates to the city, and to the homes of his people.

Rev. T. Watson, of Colborne, was then elected as Moderator, and Rev. C. E. McLeod, of Gilmour Memorial Church, as clerk to fill vacancies caused by removal.

After singing a hymn and prayer by Rev. A. T. Dykeman, of Peterborough, the Rev. J. P. McEwen, superintendent of Home Missions, gave an address on the needs of that work. He pointed out that what was needed was a greater devotion to Christ, and deeper, stronger desires to see His kingdom extended on the part of members of Baptist churches. Without this all else would be in vain. God was not limited to any plan in accomplishing His purposes in the past. He sometimes had worked independently of His people, at other times He sought the co-operation of the few, and at others He commanded the assistance of all His people. The same condition exists now. God calls every one to His service, whom He has called into His kingdom, regardless of age, sex or attainment, and success can only be attained by obeying that call. He expressed gratitude that during the last seven years the offerings to Home Missions had quadrupled, while there had been an increase in the gifts to other objects. He then pointed out a number of places where work should be taken up, and expressed the hope that the Home Mission Board would be furnished with sufficient funds to undertake this work.

After a selection by the choir

REV. C. E. MCLEOD,

of Gilmour Memorial Church, gave the experience of a day spent at the Convention of Baptist Young People held in Milwaukee last year. The meeting was the largest Baptist gathering the world had ever seen. For nearly an hour he gave an inspiring address on the many rich and helpful things heard by him during his attendance at the convention.

After singing a hymn, and prayer by Pastor Riggs, the meeting was closed with the benediction

TUESDAY MORNING'S SESSION.

Devotional exercises at the opening of this morning's session were led by Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick, of Bailieboro.

The following report of the Nominating Committee was received and adopted:

Moderator—Rev. V. H. Cowsert.
Clerk—Rev. C. E. McLeod.
Annual sermon—Rev. A. T. Dykeman; alternate, Rev. W. Peer.
Nominating Committee—P. Hinman, C. E. McLeod, P. K. Dayfoot, Maj. A. Caswell, A. L. Grover, —. Montgomery, W. Peer.
Arrangements — Moderator, clerk and pastor of Haldimand church.
Resolutions—J. W. Kirkpatrick, P. K. Dayfoot, W. Graham.
Obituaries—J. R. Bonner, N. Nichols, —. Burton.
Home Missions—Watson, McLeod, Dayfoot, Dykeman and P. Hinman.
Foreign Missions—R. K. Dayfoot.
Grand Ligne—A. T. Dykeman.
Educational Secretary—Kirkpatrick.
Baptist Young People's Union Representative—C. E. McLeod.

The next annual meeting will be held at Haldimand church on the third Tuesday in June next.

Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, M.A., of Port Hope, preached the annual sermon on the subject of "The faith," and his discourse was both eloquent and able.

Then followed the introduction of new pastors and visiting brethren.

The report of the Picton Committee and the discussion that followed took up the balance of the morning session.

Amongst the delegates are: Peterborough—Mr. Wm. Graham, Rev. A. T. Dykeman, Mrs. A. T. Dykeman, Rev. C. E. McLeod, Mrs. C. E. McLeod, Mr. G. W. Mann, Rev. O. C. Elliott, Mrs. G. J. Hunter, Mrs. Frank Matthews, Miss Annie Watson, Miss Ada Bradshaw, Mr. John H. Hubbie, Mrs. M. Hubbie, Mr. A.L. Grover.

Bailieboro—Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick, Miss J. Perrin, Mrs. Nurse.

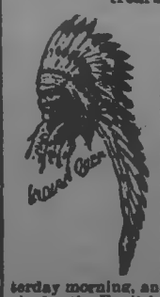
BUFFALO BILL.

The Big Show was a Feature of Montreal's Jubilee.



The presence of Buffalo Bill and his Congress of all Nations, and races of warriors at the Montreal Jubilee festival was very appropriate, as giving an idea of the varied racial interest gathered at the same time in London. His street cavalcade in kaleidoscopic picturesqueness vividly recalled the descriptive writing of the famed journalists yesterday morning, and his happy thought of placing the English Lancer and the American cavalry man side by side with the flag of both nations, also a la cote with white winged doves perched on each, was symbolical of international amity among kinsmen, as was the colonial display, typical of the union of the British Empire and the foreign envoys, injected friendship from exhibited strength engendered by respect.

This romantic character, who has true claim to being the modern 'man on horse,' having probably appeared en cheval in more cities, towns, capitals and nations—from the Missouri to the Danube and from Vesuvius to Ben Nevis—than any other living person, will be here on Saturday next and lead the grand cavalcade. It is twelve years since this original Wild West has been here and it should not be confounded with the various efforts at imitation that have at various times attempted to reflect its glories.

Since here its interest has been added to in many ways, displaying a march of progress in depicting every phase of equestrianism, until to-day it eclipses in scope of subject, grandeur and magnitude its conditions when it won such grand endorsements at London, Paris, Chicago and Ancient Rome have crowned it.

DOMINION DAY.

Thirty years ago to-day the present solid and flourishing Federated Dominion was a scattered stretch of eight provinces. On July 1, '67, the experiment of Confederation was begun. That it has been a great success, the present condition of Canada shows. We have become a nation, with a people though of different races, all one in their love for, and desire for, the advancement of Canada. Racial questions, burning creed divisions, local jealousies, divergent aims, have all disappeared and thirtieth anniversary sees Canada in the proud position of the first colonial confederation, first in practical loyalty and first in the affections and solicitude of the centre of the Empire. Canada's representative of the Dominion at the Queen's Jubilee celebration was for the sake of Canada, as well as for his own, the subject of special favour and honour. We enter the thirtieth year of our national life under the happiest auspices with a future full of hope and it is no idle wish to form the prayer:

"God save the Queen and Heaven bless
The Maple Leaf Forever."

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 39; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

RULES
—FOR—
Control and use of the Nicholls Park.

This Park as a whole, is intended for the use of all the Citizens of the Town, but, part of it has been specially prepared for cricket, baseball, football and sports of that nature, and a track has been made for the use of Cyclists.

In order that these may be properly used and accidents avoided, the Park Trustees have, pursuant to the authority conferred on them by the Will, in the meantime adopted the following rules:—

1. The Oval shall be used exclusively for games and sports of a nature that will not injure the turf or interfere with the use of the remainder of the Park by the general public.
2. Any Club or Organization desiring to use the Oval or any part of it for such purpose shall first apply to the Park Trustees.
3. During any games no one not engaged in the same shall go upon the oval.
4. No one shall be allowed to walk about on or stand upon the track when bicyclists are using it, except those who may be instructing others to ride.
5. The Bicycle Track shall be used exclusively by those riding bicycles, except at such special times as it may be desirable to use it for other purposes, such as foot races, &c., and it shall not be so used as to interfere with bicycling without the permission of the Park Trustees.
6. Up to 10 a.m. riders using the track may go at any speed they desire. After that hour no one shall go at a greater speed than 8 miles an hour.
7. All riders using the track shall go in one direction keeping the oval to their left.
8. Any rider desiring to pass another shall pass him on his right.
9. Those learning to ride shall keep on the outer side of the track.

These Rules are subject to such alteration as the Park Trustees may hereafter make.

SHOOTING IN A CHURCH.

These Men Worshipped in the Same Edifice, but Brotherly Love Did Not Continue.

Dallas, Texas, June 28.—One of the most sensational tragedies ever enacted in North Texas took place in the Methodist Episcopal Church in Pleasant Valley, Dallas County, 22 miles north of this city, in the course of the services Sunday. As a result August Garrison and Frank Jones are dead and Thomas Jones probably fatally wounded.

The Garrison and Jones families are among the most prominent planters in this section of Texas. They own adjoining plantations and have been on the best social relations for many years. August Garrison was a married man and had a daughter 16 years old named Lola. The Jones brothers were single. Frank Jones for a year or more had been very partial in his attentions to Garrison's daughter. Recently the girl charged him with having ruined her under promise of marriage. Garrison swore he would have the life of the betrayer of his daughter. Mutual friends succeeded in keeping the men apart until yesterday, when the first meeting between them took place. Garrison and the Jones family worship at the same church. Just as the preacher had taken his text after prayer, and the singing of a hymn, Garrison, who had a seat near the door, stepped to the door, it is believed, to get some fresh air, as the atmosphere in the building was oppressive. He had no more than reached the doorway, when the congregation were startled by a fusillade of pistol shots. Nearly a dozen were fired in about as many seconds' time. When the firing ceased August Garrison and Frank Jones were lying dead in front of the church steps and Thomas Jones was stretched on the lawn near by. One hand clasped on his right thigh and in his left he had a pistol. His right thigh bone in front was shattered by a 42 calibre pistol ball that tore its way downward, mutilating the flesh for a distance of six inches. Frank Jones was shot three times, once in the region of the heart, once in the right side and once in the head. Garrison received but one bullet and that pierced his heart. Neither man lived long enough to quite realize his fate.

FOUND THEIR FATHER DEAD.

Daniel Carman Expires From Heart Failure While His Family Were Away.

Toronto, June 29.

Daniel Carman, a retired farmer, who lived with his son, William M. Carman, the well-known bicyclist, at 214 Borden-street, died very suddenly from heart disease yesterday morning. He has been suffering from heart trouble for a considerable time and was very unwell shortly before his son and daughter-in-law left the house for a short time in the morning. When they returned they found the old gentleman dead. Dr. Milner was called in and he notified Coroner Powell, who decided that no inquest was necessary. Mr. Carman was 57 years of age and was once a well-known breeder of horses at Norwich, Ont.

Young Woman Drowned.

Miss Margaret (Myra) Hopkirk was drowned in the lake opposite the foot of Tyndall-avenue owing to the upsetting of a canoe at 3.30 yesterday afternoon. The body has not been recovered, although a searching party was out until dark last night. William P. King, jr., 71 Melbourne-avenue, who was in the canoe with Miss Hopkirk, was rescued in a most exhausted condition by some men, who went to the scene on a raft.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion, because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood, and so makes SOLID, HEALTHY flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

Spain Will Make a Last Strike.

Madrid, June 28.—Senor Canovas Del Castillo says that in case the Spanish forces in Cuba should suffer severely from sickness during the rainy season the Government will send 20,000 additional troops to the island in October to maintain the army at its full strength and to inflict a final blow upon the insurgents.

A Matter of Difficulty.

London, June 25.—During the debate on the colonial estimates Sir Charles Dilke urged that the Government of the West Indies be placed on a wider popular representative basis.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain replied that this would be a matter of great difficulty, in consequence of the islands and the interests involved.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Rochester, June 28.—Gaston was in great form to-day, and kept the Brownies' hits so well scattered that even their only run was not earned. The Torontos bunched hits, with bases on balls, and ran around the bags like demons. Gannon was not the puzzle he proved to be last week. McGann and Freeman cracked out nice three-base hits. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Toronto .... 1 0 1 0 0 2 1 0 *—5

At Springfield: Wilkes-Barre gave Keenan very poor support, and the home team had an easy victory. Four errors were accountable for five runs in the second innings and in the third the home team batted in five more. In the sixth Malus retired to save his arm. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Springfield .. .. 0 5 5 1 0 1 1 0 0—13 15 3
Wilkes-Barre .. 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1— 3 12 6

Batteries—Whitehill and Duncan; Keenan and Diggins.

At Providence: The home team defeated Scranton in a heavy batting game. Scranton made a good start, and had all the best of the game for a few innings, after which Providence pounded Harper freely for singles, doubles and home runs. Score:

Providence .... 0 0 2 2 4 1 0 3 1—13 19 1
Scranton .... .. 2 0 3 0 1 0 0 1 0— 7 14 4

Batteries—Braun and Dixon; Harper and Gunson.

At Buffalo: The leaders fought it out to a finish, Buffalo winning in the 10th on Gremminger's base on balls and Zahner's single, which Garry let go through his legs. Gremminger scoring. Gray retired in the eighth, claiming that he had snapped a tendon in his pitching arm. Brown replaced him, and held the Stars down. There was a great deal of kicking from both sides over Gruber's work. Score:

Syracuse .... .. 2 1 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0—5 7 4

Batteries—Gray, Brown and Zahner; Wills and Ryan.

EASTERN LEAGUE RECORD.

Buffalo	34	16	.680
Syracuse	31	19	.620
Springfield	28	22	.560
Scranton	23	23	.511
Toronto	26	25	.509
Providence	22	27	.440
Rochester	19	32	.370
Wilkes-Barre	14	32	.318

Games to-day: Toronto at Rochester, Syracuse at Buffalo, Wilkes-Barre at Springfield, Scranton at Providence.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

At Philadelphia: The Phillies defeated Washington in a well-played and exciting game. The visitors played superbly in the field, and also hit well, but the hits were not so close together as those of the locals. The hitting of Delehanty was the particular feature. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Washington .... 1 0 0 2 1 0 2 0 0—6 13 1
Philadelphia .... 4 1 0 1 0 0 0 1 *—7 16 3

Batteries—McJames and Maguire; Wheeler and Clements.

At New York: New York opened up on Nops in the first innings, and, with an error, two singles and a home run by Davis, made enough runs to win the game from the Orioles. Pond was substituted in the second innings, and the Giants got only one hit off his delivery. A hard inshoot hit Jennings on the head in the first, and after he had completed the innings he was compelled to retire. It is said he is seriously injured. Doyle was laid low by a grounder going through his hands in the first innings, closing his left eye. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Rusie and Warner; Nops, Pond and Bowerman.

At Boston: With the game apparently safe for the Brooklyns in the ninth, the crowd so rattled Daub that he gave three Bostonians their bases on balls, and singles by Duffy and Stivetts brought in the necessary runs. The playing of Long and Collins for the home team and Griffin and Jones for the visitors were the features of the game. Score:

Boston .... .. 4 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 3—9 10 3
Brooklyn .... .. 0 0 0 0 0 1 2 3 2—8 14 1

Batteries—Lewis and Ganzel; Daub and Grim.

At Chicago: The Colonels played all around the Colts and won an easy game. Both pitchers were very wild, but Evans steadied down after making his gifts, while Kerwan was hit with men on bases. Anson made a two-base hit in the first, after Everett and McCormick had singled, but Sheridan called it foul, and in the argument that followed the captain was ordered to the bench. Score:

Louisville .... .. 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 1 3—7 8 1

Batteries—Kerwan and Kittridge; Evans and Butler.

At Cleveland: While the visitors were unable to hit Young, the Indians pounded Killen freely. That tells the story. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland .. .. 5 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 5—12 18 1
Pittsburg .... 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 0—2 7 1

Batteries—Young and Criger; Killen and Sugden.

SUNDAY BALL IN ROCHESTER.

Manager Buckley Got Off Through a Technicality—Gannon to Be Tried.

Rochester, N. Y., June 28.—James J. Buckley, one of the managers of the Rochester baseball team, was acquitted to-day in the County Court of the charge of violating the Sunday law. Buckley, the other two proprietors of the team and all the members of the club were recently indicted by the grand jury for playing ball on Sunday. The indictments were largely secured through the influence of an association of local clergymen and church people known as the Law and Order League.

Buckley's acquittal was largely due to an error in the indictment, which charged him with actually participating in the playing.

To-morrow James Gannon, one of the pitchers on the team, will be placed on trial for the same offence. It is generally believed he will be convicted.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

ADVERTISE IN "THE EXAMINER."

Good health, healthful exercise, and proper medication are the three great conservators of health. Good health is the greatest beautifier. Neither a man nor a woman can have an attractive personality who suffers from ill-health. If it were not for disorders of the digestive organs, nine-tenths of the medical books in the world could be safely destroyed. Not only the minor maladies, but the majority of serious diseases have their inception in a disordered digestion. Consumption is undoubtedly the most deadly enemy with which mankind has to contend. Like all other wasting diseases, it has its origin in disorders of the digestive organs. As a result of these disorders, the appetite falls off; the life-giving elements of the food are not properly assimilated; the blood becomes thin and impure, and all the tissues of the body are imperfectly and improperly nourished; the lungs become clogged with inert, half dead tissues that offer an attractive soil for the invasion of the germs of consumption. It has been said thousands of times that consumption is incurable. It is not.

Ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects all disorders of the digestive organs, invigorates the liver and makes the appetite keen and the assimilation perfect; it makes new blood, pure blood, and lots of it. It builds new and healthy tissue. It is the great flesh-builder. It acts directly on the lungs, driving out all impurities and disease germs. Thousands have testified to its merits. All good druggists keep it.

Geo. H. Slater, Esq., of Yates City, Knox Co., Ills., writes: "I have been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia for the last two years. I got a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it did me so much good I am going to get another bottle. It is the best medicine in the world for stomach trouble."

Good health is the best endowment. Those who have it cannot be too careful to preserve it. Constipation is the worst enemy of good health. It causes nearly every disorder known to physicians. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure, swift, safe and permanent cure for constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Druggists sell them.

THIS BOAT WILL ROLL

THE STARTLING MARINE INVENTION OF A CANADIAN LAWYER.

A Wonderful Ship Now Being Built at Polson's Shipyard, Toronto—A Practical Revolution—We May Cross the Atlantic in 48 Hours.

CROSS SECTION.

A PRACTICAL revolution in passenger shipbuilding will result if the invention of Lawyer F. A. Knapp, of Prescott, Ont., succeeds. The extraordinary ship or machine that is to work this wonder is now in process of construction at the Polson shipyard in the city of Toronto, and as the craft is nearing completion a full description will prove of interest to the public. As viewed on the stocks the boat seems to be nothing more or less than a huge tank or boiler, its dimensions being 110 feet long by 22 feet in diameter. Everyone who first sees it wonders what it is to be used for, but their wonder is very often turned into incredulity when they are informed that it is intended for a ship.

Mr. Knapp has been like other inventors in that he has had great difficulty in getting anyone to believe in the utility of his invention. He first conceived his idea about three years ago, and commenced working on the principle that if it was quite easy to turn a saw log in the water, even when it is nearly wholly submerged, it would naturally take but very little power to keep a large and heavy tubular construction moving when once it was set in motion, particularly when, by reason of its air-tight compartments, it would practically be resting on the surface of the water. He also thought that if such a construction was once started, it would acquire tremendous speed, assisted by the force of its own momentum. He eventually had a little model made and submitted it to a number of gentlemen who were interested in solving the problem of a quicker ocean passage, but all at first scouted the idea. Nothing daunted, Mr. Knapp continued his experiments, some of which led to improvements, and he finally met in Toronto the naval architect who is now supervising the construction of the vessel. On seeing the model he at first felt rather dubious as to its success, but Mr. Knapp invited him to go down with him to the Bay at the foot of Bay street, and he would show him what it would do. The little model was only fitted up with a clock-work arrangement for its motive power, but when it was wound up and placed in the water it started off at such a rate that the architect was taken completely by surprise, and what was more to the point came to the conclusion that "there was something in it." He advised Mr. Knapp to go to Scotland and submit his plans and model to some of the great shipbuilding firms there. Some of these firms came to the same conclusion as the Toronto architect, but none of them had enterprise enough to go into the matter. Returning to Canada he eventually had the good fortune to meet Mr. George Goodwin of Ottawa, the well-known contractor of the Soulanges Canal, who soon became as enthusiastic as the inventor. The result was that negotiations were entered upon with the Polson firm, and it was finally decided between them that they would construct an experimental craft, Mr. Goodwin guaranteeing at least $10,000 of the expense. Since commencing to put the craft together three weeks ago, the builders have also become enthusiastic, and the experiments will now be carried on no matter what the expense.

THE KNAPP BOAT LENGTHWISE.

Perhaps the best illustration of the principle involved in this novel vessel would be to think of a squirrel in a revolving cage, the engine in the craft being the squirrel, or to think of a huge paddle-wheel without a ship. Imagine the paddle-wheel to be 110 feet long by 22 feet in diameter. The stationary paddles on the outside cylinder and in the centre of the vessel will be 16 in number, and 20 feet in length, and will correspond to the buckets of a paddle wheel. In the centre of this huge paddle wheel imagine a cylinder 12 feet in diameter, braced strongly to the outside cylinder, with a shaft in the centre of this 12-foot cylinder, and connected with a vessel one would have an ordinary paddle wheel in shape and principle. But in the vessel now under construction in place of the shaft there is a third cylinder, which will be joined to the outside or revolving portion of the vessel by ball bearings.

ROLLING ACROSS THE ATANTIC.

Inside this third cylinder a platform will be constructed, on either side of which engines of 150 horse-power will be placed. By means of friction these engines will cause the outside cylinders to revolve rapidly, while the inside cylinder retains its equilibrium.

It is intended to provide passenger accommodation within the inside, or third, cylinder, the outside or revolving cylinder being used as air-tight compartments. The ends of the inner cylinder will be open, and as they will be eight feet above the water no trouble is expected from waves. The actual draught of the cylinder boat will, it is expected, be only about two feet, six inches, which will allow it to roll on the top of the water.

The particular vessel now under construction will not have a great deal of accommodation for passengers or freight, and the entire space of the inside cylinder will be principally used for the development of power. The steering gear will consist of chains and steel plates, on the lee board principle, which will be placed at each end of the vessel.

The material used is quarter-inch steel stoutly ribbed. The vessel will be ready for launching in about one week, and then it is thought that about six weeks will be required to put the machinery in place, so that the trial trip will not take place before Aug. 1. All this expense is being undertaken solely for the purpose of proving the correctness of Mr. Knapp's theories, for no matter what amount of success may be achieved the present vessel will be of very little use as a carrying craft, but it will have served its purpose, for after all the experiments have been made and the correct data obtained it will enable a naval architect by the law of comparison to construct what Mr. Knapp had in his mind when he first started out—a giant vessel at least 750 feet long by 150 feet in diameter, which he claims will be able to roll across the Atlantic in at most 48 hours, or, in other words, will allow a passenger in fine weather to get his breakfast in Canada one day and his supper in England the next. If the thing proves a success the great vessels will be constructed chiefly for the passenger trade, as time would be too valuable to allow of much of it being taken up in loading and unloading freight. Ample ventilation will be furnished by the open ends and by means of diamond-shaped ventilators cut in the outside cylinder in the centre and in other places where they will be found to be needed. These will be cut on the same principle as the holes in the bottom of a lifeboat. They will also serve to let out the smoke from the engines. The draft will be obtained by reason of the terrific speed of the vessel. The shipyard is daily besieged by curious sightseers, and the outcome of the experiment will be eagerly looked for by seafaring men all over the world.

END VIEW OF THE KNAPP BOAT.

The accompanying sketches give fair representations of the boat, except that a mistake was made by the artist in making the paddles in the second cut appear as divided into sections. As intended at present there will be 16 paddles placed amidships, each paddle being 20 feet in length. The diamond-shaped ventilators in the centre of the boat are also omitted, but with these exceptions the cut will give the reader a fair idea of what the vessel will be like when completed.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

GOOD-BYE.

We say it for an hour or for years;
We say it smiling, say it choked with tears
We say it coldly, say it with a kiss,
And yet we have no other word than this Good-bye.

We have no dearer word for our heart' friend,
For him who journeys to the world's far end
And scars our soul with 'going;' thus we say
And on to him who steps out over the way
Good-bye.

Alike to those we love and those we hate
We say no more in parting. At life's gate
To him who passes out, beyond earth's sight
We cry as to the wanderer for a night:
Good bye.

All's Fair in a Case of This Kind.

When the young married man tells this story he makes sure that his father is not within ear shot.

"I never had but one falling out with the governor," he declares. "When I went home one evening and told him that I was engaged, he cross-questioned me like a lawyer and each answer increased his wrath, till he positively forbade the banns. I have something of a temper myself, and after a stormy interchange we agreed upon a compromise. He didn't like the girl's family. He would have it that she was a fortune-hunter. He could never approve of her under any circumstances, but if I would go abroad for two years, see other women, hold no communication with my fiancee and then return to marry her, he would interpose no obstacle. I accepted his terms.

"After I had been in Paris a year I met an American girl who was in all respects my ideal. She was with a wealthy aunt whose name she had taken and whose fortune she was to inherit. I wrote the governor about her, sent him the opinion of some of my countrymen whom he knew and said that his scheme had proved a good one after all. With his permission I would wed the girl in Paris.

"He cabled his permission and his approval, but in the letter that followed there was a tone of mild reproval for my inconstancy. You notice that my wife is a prime favorite with him. He never tires of singing her praises and doesn't allow a day to go by without reminding me how he saved me from the blunder that would have spoiled my life."

"But wasn't it a little hard on the one you left behind?"

"Not at all. She's the same girl I met in Paris. But he doesn't know it and I mean that he never shall."—Detroit Free Press.

Important Meeting.

A meeting of the ladies who so successfully conducted the Friday evening "At Home and High Tea" in connection with the Y.M.C.A. opening will be held on Saturday afternoon of this week, at 3.30. All who have not made returns will do so before that day.

The Small Stock.

Gough Bros. sale of the gigantic stock of E. A. Small & Co., the millionaire clothing manufacturers of Montreal, is booming along merrily. The purchase of $40,000 worth of men's, youths' and boys' suits of the highest quality at a price below the cost of manufacture gave a great opportunity to start a genuine campaign in bargains that could not fail to leap into favour. A steady demand continues every day. The firm have had to hustle to wait on customers ; and still they come, and still they buy, as they never bought before. The stock is the newest and freshest that has ever been put on sale here and the prices are practically the smallest ever named in Peterborough, without any exception. Gough Bros. want a great sale this week. Dominion Day celebration will help to give a big push to sales, while the present low prices will stay at the very bottom, with double figures reduced to units, far-seeing people are not likely to skip an opportunity like this. EVERY line in the men's and boys' departments is a guide line. The vastness of the stock, the crossing line of values, the many styles and bewildering piles of patterns, all continue to create interest in this mammoth summer sale of fine clothing at Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw

TERRIBLE HUMOR

A Little Boy's Sufferings. Covered with Sores and Raw from Scratching. Cured by Cuticura.

About eighteen months ago my baby boy (now three years old) broke out with horrible sores all over his body, which tortured him night and day. He would scratch to such an extent, that his face and such parts of his body that he could reach with his hands were almost raw from scratching. After being under treatment by doctors for three months the child got worse, and there seemed nothing that would relieve him.

He had wasted away to a mere skeleton, from want of sleep. A Mr. J. G. Ahern, of the Gate City Loan Co., who happened to call at our residence, was attracted by the fearful screams of the child, and asked if he might see him. He was brought in, and upon seeing him, Mr. Ahern said, that "while it was the worst case he had ever seen, he felt satisfied that it could be speedily cured by the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES." I finally consented to try them, purchasing the CUTICURA SOAP, CUTICURA ointment, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and used them according to directions. Before we had been using them three weeks, we noticed a decided change for the better, the itching began to subside and a healing process had set in. In seven weeks from the time we began with CUTICURA REMEDIES, my little one was completely cured, and without a sign of the trouble left. It is over a year since he has been cured ; there has been no return of the trouble, and the little man is now fat and hearty, with a beautiful, clear skin.

A JULY DROP.

Just now a mite of money is worth a mountain of stock. Just now, nothing seems impossible in the line of saving money at the Golden Lion.

During the zenith of Summer trade, we mark down the prices of Summer Goods.

It's Fair's Way. Better to sell than to hold. Better to lose a little than carry goods over to another season. Profits don't stand in the way when the time comes to clear out stock :—

Blouse Clearance—

We let go our whole stock of Fancy Blouses. The lot includes all the latest and most exclusive styles.

Print Wrappers Clearance

Every woman should be interested in the Reduced Prices of our Wrappers. The values are better far than ever offered.

Fancy Parasol Clearance

The Fancy Parasol Stock goes at HALF PRICE. That's a Sweeping Reduction. No fabrication or exaggeration in what we say. Parasols at Half Price just means what it says.

Summer Millinery Clearance—

Just to liven things up, we offer all Summer Millinery, both Trimmed and Untrimmed, at cost. This is the chance of the season. You know our stock.

Balance of our SPRING CAPES and JACKETS at interesting figures.

Ladies' Underwear, Gloves and Hosiery—

Nothing but an examination can give a correct idea of how cheap these wares can now be bought here.

Our WASH GOODS SALE still goes on. All prevailing prices are lost sight of. Watch the window displays and prices.

P. S.—Special offerings in Carpets and Housefurnishings during this Sale.

TOO MANY BLOUSES.

On account of a delay in sending forward a Repeat order for Blouses we had to order elsewhere. Now our Repeat order has also arrived, and rather than have them returned the firm has agreed to leave in our hands for speedy sale so as to realize 60c on the dollar.

The pressure on our Blouse Stock must be relieved before the first of July, so it has been decided to rush out the whole lot at a very little over

One half the Regular Retail Price

A large assortment of choicest colours and designs to select from, with the prices starting at 50 cents, beautifully laundried and finished.

The only profit we expect from these Sales, the advertising such Bargains will bring us.

Blouse Sets and Links as pretty and as cheap in Proportion as the Blouses.

Special Sale of Hosiery

At prices so interesting that there will be no lagging in business. Dont enslave your feet during the hot weather, when Stainless Black, Fancy Black and Tan Hosiery can be bought here at 5c, 10c, 12½c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 29c and 50c.

Ladies' Cool Underwear.

If you can't keep cool this hot weather, it wont be our fault. Ladies Vests, with or without sleeves, from 5c up. A good opportunity to replenish the wardrobe.

Ladies' Belts at 15 cts.

And upwards, with and without the handy, side pocket.

880 Dozen handkerchiefs

At 5c each and upwards. Best lines with fancy borders, for ladies and gentlemen. The balance of the month will be a great time for Bargains at

THE C.W.A. MEETING.

Chatham Filled With Wheelmen and Music.

MANY FAST ONES WERE PHERE.

Harley Davidson Took the Half-Mile and Mile Championships—Moore of Toronto Captured the Mile Amateur—A Winnipegger Ran Off With the Five Mile.

Chatham, July 1.—(Special.)—Dominion Day of '97 was the greatest ever celebrated in Chatham. The town was overcrowded with wheelmen and people coming from other towns wanting to see the fun at the meet. From 6 a.m. it was almost impossible to get along the main street, and the parks were fully as crowded.

The first excitement of the day was the arrival of two specials from Toronto, the first arriving at 6.30 with the Athenaeums and their band, which started to play from the time of their arrival. Then came the great Wanderers with a first-class band of 31 pieces, they arriving at 7.30, bringing with them about 250. Then came the Woodstock contingent and band about 20 strong and the bugle band 20 strong headed by MacCampbell. The different bands paraded the town all morning. The Athenaeums gave a band concert in the park, while the Wanderers went down to serenade the Chatham papers.

The next event was the presenting of a handsome Union Jack to the city by T. L. Pardo, M.L.A., at which addresses were made by Mayor Henry Smith, Dr. Bray and T. L. Pardo, and while the city band played the National Anthem the flag was hoisted on the staff in Tecumseh Park.

Then there was a lacrosse match between Detroit and Chatham, the latter winning. At the C.L.T. grounds there was a tennis tournament and a bowling tournament at Tecumseh Park, as well as baseball.

The bands formed in line as follows for the parade to the track: The bugle band, in German soldiery uniform. Then came C.W.A. President George Orr, the Acting Mayor, the Wanderers band dressed in white duck, followed by the club members. Then came the Metro Orient band from London, the Chatham band bringing up the rear.

There were over 4000 spectators at the races, which were about half an hour late in starting, but proved to be a great success, and the professional half-mile race record was lowered from 1.05 1-5 to 1.03.

The first event on the program was the mile novice in three heats. The first heat had 12 starters and was fought out in the stretch by J. Crouch (London) and S. Gascoyne (Toronto), second, and F. Abrahams third. The second heat had 10 starters, with three post entries, and was won by J. Robinson (Hamilton), Oake (Toronto) second, A. Muir third and Jones (Bridgetown) qualified for pacing. The third heat went to F. Robinson, a post entry; A. Murray (Hamilton) a good second, and Clements (Petrolea) a poor third. Then came the final. The first, second and third finished all in a bunch and being won by F. Robinson (Toronto), J. Robinson (Hamilton) second, S. Gascoyne third.

The next was the half-mile professional, eight starters. Elliott fell, and the riders were called back. McCarthy took the lead, but finished third, as Harley Davidson beat him out in the stretch, McLeod getting second.

Then came the amateur mile. The first heat was won by F. Moore, Toronto, R. Axton second, J. F. Davidson third. In the second heat the riders got a poor start, and it went to Richardson of Toronto, Barnes, Hamilton, second, Davie Wilson third. Clements qualified for pacing. In the third heat, McEachren, Toronto, got first, Drury of Muriel second, Graves, Toronto, third. The final went to F. Moore, Toronto. There not being a length difference between first, second and third.

The mile professional was won by Harley Davidson, Toronto, McCarthy a close second, with Elliott a poor third.

The mile open amateur was run off in heats, W. Taft, Montreal, winning the first, Gascoyne second, Craise, Petrolea, third. The second heat went to Riddle of Winnipeg, Bain, Winnipeg, second, McCullough, Winnipeg, third. The next went to Richardson, Toronto, D. Wilson, Toronto, second, McEachren, Toronto, third. The final was won in a pretty way, Richardson coming up from fourth place and winning by a length, Taft, Montreal, second, Bain, Winnipeg, third.

The next event was the professional two-mile handicap, which was won by Blayney, Elliott finishing second and Westbrook third. This race was a hot go between Blayney and Elliott, but Blayney won in the stretch. Elliott was afterwards disqualified as the referee thought he did some jockey work in the track, Westbrook being awarded a cond and Van Tuyl third.

The two-mile tandem race was ridden off next, and proved to be one of the closest finishes of the day. Coussirat and Robertson of Montreal beating McEachren and McGill of Toronto out by about two feet. Then came the last race of the day, it being the five-mile amateur championship, which was run off in two one-mile heats to qualify for the final. This was won by Riddle of Winnipeg, he getting in behind the tandem and staying there to the finish.

There were only two spills, and the day passed off without an accident. While the races were going on the Athenaeums' and Wanderers' bands supplied the music, and Bert Harvey of the Athenaeums greatly amused the crowd with his comic songs. During the interval in the program the youngest tandem riders in the world rode a quarter, they being Ted and Hank Rose-brough of Toronto, aged 6 and 4. Ike Lomas and Vic Leach of the Wanderers gave solos on trombone and cornet.

In the evening the concert given in the Grand Opera House was a great success, and the place was well filled and a good program gone through.

The officials of the day were: Referee, T A Beament, Ottawa, chairman Racing Board; starter, George H. Orr, Toronto, president C W A; assistant starter, A T Allen, Detroit, chairman Michigan Racing Board; L A W judge, R A Robertson, Hamilton; E B Ryckman, Toronto; R P Corry, Petrolea; Louis Rubenstein, Montreal; E N Hines, Detroit; chief consul L. A. W., J G Gauld, Hamilton; chief clerk of course H B Donly, Simcoe, secretary-treasurer A W; assistant clerks of course, W Montague Perrett, Chicago; W B Clark, jr, Sarnia; W Hartrick, Chatham; official scorer, J E Willows, Toronto; assistant scorer, C W Wells, Waterloo, vice-president C W A; R J Wilson, Kingston; H L Rothwell, Walkerville; A C McPhee, Toronto.

HOTELKEEPER'S FATAL MISTAKE.

Mistook His Hired Man for a Thief and Shot Him Dead Fired in the Dark.

Lancaster, Pa., July 1.—Josiah Bushey, employed as a hostler at the Three Mile Tavern, on the Columbia turnpike, west of this city, met with a terrible death early this morning, when he was shot and instantly killed by E. L. Hambright, proprietor of the hotel, who mistook him for a thief. Pigeon shoots are frequently held at the hotel, and Hambright always has a large number of pigeons on hand. They are kept in a large coop alongside of the barn. Several times recently Hambright has been troubled by thieves, who stole pigeons.

This morning at 1 o'clock he was awakened by his daughter, who said there was somebody at the pigeon house trying to steal. Hambright went to the balcony and could hear the birds, but they soon quieted down, and he was prepared to return to bed when he heard another noise. In the meantime Bushey had been awakened by Mrs. Hambright, and he walked out of the rear door of the house and to the pigeon coop. He was carrying an unlighted lantern, but none of the family saw him leave the house. As the noise continued Hambright put shells in his double-barreled gun and started out the front door of the hotel and then towards the coop.

When some distance away he heard a noise at the coop and thought he saw some one walking near. He fired the contents of the barrel after calling to the party to stop. There was no reply, and finally, although the night was very dark, he saw a man walking towards him. He again called to the man to halt, but receiving no reply he fired the second barrel when the supposed thief was not more than 12 feet from him. He then heard a cry: "My God, Hambright, don't shoot me," and he knew that he had injured some one. A light was procured and the hostler was found lying dead in the pathway. The entire second shot had entered his abdomen, tearing a tremendous hole in the body.

It was found that the first load had struck Bushey in the hand and broke the glass in the lantern. Still the hostler made no outcry until after he had been shot a second time. Coroner Shank went out from town and at once held an inquest, in which no blame was attached to Hambright. Bushey was 57 years of age, and came from Berks county originally, although he has traveled all over the world and for a number of years was a sailor. He was of a very quiet disposition and generally liked in the neighborhood. He had been at work for Hambright for almost two years.

Consuls for Canadian Ports.

Washington, July 1.—The President to-day sent the following nominations to the Senate: George N. West, new Consul at Pictou, N.S., to be Consul at Sydney, N.S.W.; Ossian Bedell of New York, to be Consul at Fort Erie, Ont.

The well-known sealing schooner Agnes McDonald, Captain Cutlet, the greyhound of the Victoria, B.C., fleet, has been wrecked off the coast of Japan. All the crew and 400 skins were saved.

Leon Olchefski's business block and dwelling at Scranton, Pa., were blown up by dynamite Monday night, and the loss is $25,000. Olchefski and his family are badly injured, besides several other people who were asleep in the buildings.

The National Review of London says it is able to announce that Great Britain is willing to re-open the Indian mints, and contribute to the rehabilitation of silver by extending its use in England, and empowering the Bank of England to use its silver reserve.

FOR $1 A THOUSAND

White Pine Lumber May Go Into the States.

THE SENATORS CUT DOWN THE DUTY

Mr. Teller Proposed to Make It Free, But That Was Defeated by One Vote Then the Reduction From $2 to $1 Was Proposed and It Was Carried.

Washington, D. C., July 1.—The Finance Committee of the Senate suffered several unexpected reverses during the progress of the tariff bill to-day, being defeated on three important votes. Cotton bagging was placed on the free list, as were also cotton ties, and the duty on white pine lumber was reduced from $2 to $1 per thousand.

The tariff bill was promptly taken up when the session opened.

Mr. Allison reported back the amendment to the coal paragraph offered by Mr. White yesterday, allowing a drawback of duty on coal used in American vessels engaged in foreign trade, and the trade between Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States. The original amendment was modified by the committee to omit the coastwise trade.

The amendment caused much debate and several Senators urged that it go over. It was decided to go on with the amendment.

Mr. Allen of Nebraska proposed a further amendment, allowing the drawback on coal, not only to vessels, but to "inhabitants of the United States."

After considerable debate, Mr. Allen's amendment was rejected, and the committee amendment allowing drawbacks to American vessels was agreed to without division.

Charcoal was struck from the free list.

An amendment placing floor matting, including Chinese matting, on the free list was agreed to without division.

The House paragraph, placing on the free list hides and skins not specifically provided for, was restored.

Paragraph 622, placing on the free list regalia and gems for use by societies, was agreed to with slight modifications.

The paragraph relating to the personal effects of persons arriving in the United States was modified so that the effects taken abroad may be brought back without limit, while effects acquired abroad and admissible free are to be limited to $100.

A new paragraph was inserted in the free list, covering works of art, the production of American artists temporarily living abroad, and other works of art imported for presentation purposes.

The iron ore paragraph was further changed, making the reference to manganese ore as follows: "Manganese ore containing less than forty metallic units in dry state, $1 per ton."

Mr. Teller moved an amendment, including in the free list "rough lumber manufactured of white pine."

Mr. Teller said he was for protection, but he would not carry it to extremes, compelling every man building a home or using a stick of pine to pay tribute to the few owners of pine. This was not Republican doctrine, which was opposed to the advance of prices on the necessaries of life. Mr. Teller declared that the duty on pine was one of the many absolutely indefensible features of this bill.

This reopened the discussion on the duty on white pine, which was vigorously contested in the early stages of the bill, resulting at that time in retaining pine on the dutiable list at $2 per 1000 feet.

Senators Gray and Mantle supported Mr. Teller's motion.

Mr. Spooner opposed the motion on the grounds that the duty was a fair measure of protection to an extensive industry of three border states. This was not a proposition to place all kinds of lumber on the free list, but merely to discriminate against the white pine of three states.

Secretary Alger came on the floor while the vote on the Teller amendment was being taken. The vote proved very close, the amendment being defeated, yeas 32, nays 33. It caused a surprising break in party lines on both sides of the chamber.

Mr. Mantle moved to reduce the duty on white pine from $2 to $1 per 1000 feet. He read from the statement of a lumber man that a $2 rate would be prohibitory, and he appealed to the Democratic Senators to vote unitedly and thus overcome this high rate. The amendment was carried by the close vote of 32 to 31, after another break in party lines on both sides of the chamber.

The bill is now completed with the exception of the reciprocity section and some comparatively minor paragraphs.

Much progress was made to-day in clearing up detached paragraphs heretofore passed over. Only three of these—coal tar, potash and tea—remain, so that these items, the reciprocity section and the brief internal revenue and administrative provisions are all that remain of the bill to be disposed of before the final vote is taken.

THE HURRIED WINDING UP

Was Not to Let His Excellency Go Fishing, But to Make Money Votes Secure—Railway Committee.

Ottawa, July 1.—(Special.)—The statement in a Toronto paper that Parliament was hurriedly prorogued on Tuesday evening to enable His Excellency to get away on a fishing trip is wholly incorrect, as well as very unfair to the Governor-General. The explanation of the celerity displayed by the Government to close up on Tuesday, when it was found that the Senate was willing to leave the Drummond Counties investigation until next session, is that certain sums had been voted by Parliament for the fiscal year ending yesterday, and it was essential to get these appropriations assented to before the end of the fiscal year, in order that the money might not lapse.

The Railway Committee of the Privy Council meets to-morrow to clear off a number of crossings cases. Messrs. William Wainwright and Joseph Hobson of the Grand Trunk and J. S. Fullerton, Q. C., of Toronto, arrived here to-night to attend the meeting.

WESTWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Put on your linen.

Miss Maggie Cardwell, Otonabee, was home last Sunday.

Mrs. M. E. Cardwell and Miss Phœbe have gone for summer vacation to South Dummer and Norwood.

Rev. Mr. Buckler, lately of Demorestville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Metcalfe on Saturday.

Rev. Mr. Peake and family were renewing old acquaintances in the village the past few days.

Mr. D. M. Hunter was away last Thursday week attending the I.O.G.T. convention at Toronto. His report was full of interest, fresh and palatable. He brought us home something for Good Templars to digest.

Many of the sports went down to Norwood Jubilee celebration via coaches, pairs, wheels and ox carts. They report a good time.

The Y.P.S.C.E. and Epworth League held a union meeting in the Presbyterian church on Jubilee Sunday. The meeting was very well attended and every person had the desire seemingly, to take part. During the evening a male quartette was rendered by Messrs. Hunter, Comstock, Slade Warr and McMillen, which was appreciated to the full.

Our football team is going to Warkworth on the 1st to play the return match with that team. A big day is expected and many of our people will journey thither to cheer our boys on.

Our local boys have organized a second eleven in Association Football and they are anxious to get on matches with any of the neighbouring city teams.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Edward Carter of Pittsburg, Pa., passed through here last week with a snug little yacht. He had the boat built in Pittsburg, and it is run by gasoline.

Miss B Pope, of Peterborough, is visiting her friends here.

Moses Levi McPherson visited the village recently on his wheel.

Mr. George O'Brien, of Toronto, passed through here the other day buying cattle and sheep for the Montreal market.

Tuesday, 22nd inst., passed off quietly here on account of Peterborough's celebration, therefore the majority of the villagers went to Peterborough and other places.

The guests registered at the Lake View hotel the past were: Messrs. A. E. Benjamin, M. H. Benjamin, J. Dowes, M. Condolf, A. Petersberger, A. Goldsmith, all of Rochester, N.Y.

Fishing is elegant and quite a number of Americans are enjoying themselves around this locality.

THE LAMBETH CONFERENCE

List of the Canadian Episcopacy in Attendance Program e. the Conference for the Next Week.

London, July 1. Of the Canadian Episcopacy there are in attendance at the Pan-Anglican or Lambeth Conference the Archbishop of Ontario and the Bishops of Algoma, Fredericton, Huron, Montreal, Niagara, Nova Scotia, Quibec and Toronto; the Archbishop of Rupert's Land and the Bishops of Qu'Appelle and Saskatchewan. The bishops visit St. Martin's in an informal way to-morrow morning. Later they will assemble in Canterbury Cathedral, robed, to hear an address by the Archbishop of Canterbury. At 1.30 they lunch in St. Augustine's College, and on even song in the Cathedral at 3.30, and a reception given at the official residence of Dean Farrar at 4.30.

Religious services are to be held on Sunday in those three great centres of Church of England dignity Canterbury Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral. Bishop Porter of New York has the unusual honor of preaching twice—in the morning at Canterbury and in the afternoon at Westminster. The afternoon preacher at Canterbury is Archbishop Gregg of Armagh, Primate of Ireland, and the morning preacher at Westminster is the Lord Bishop of Rochester. Both preachers at St. Paul's next Sunday are Americans—Bishop Doane of Albany in the morning, and Bishop Perry of Iowa in the afternoon.

On Monday after the celebration of the Holy Communion in Westminster Abbey at 9 o'clock in the morning, the conference will open at Lambeth Palace at 11 o'clock, the Archbishop of Canterbury presiding and delivering the opening address. This will be followed by the discussion of the first subject on the program of the conference: "The Organization of the Anglican Communion." This has been divided into four heads, as follows: "A Central Consultative Body," introduced by the Bishops of Jamaica and Tasmania; "A Tribunal of the Ference," by the Bishops of Cape Town and Salisbury; "The Relations of Primates and Metropolitans in the Colonies and Elsewhere to the See of Canterbury," by the Bishop of Brechin, and "The Position and Functions of the Lambeth Conference," by the Bishops of Manchester and Pennsylvania.

Each of the subsequent days of the conference will open with prayers at 10.30 a.m. in the chapel of Lambeth Palace, and on each day one or more subjects will be discussed, these being: "The Relation of Religious Communities Within the Church to Episcopate," introduced by the Bishops of Bloemfontein, Fond du Lac, Oxford and Wakefield; "Critical Study of Holy Scripture," by the Bishops of Durham, Adelaide and Michigan; "Foreign Missions," under which head is included the duty of the Church to the Followers of Ethnic Religions, Judaism and Islam;" "The Development of Native Churches and the Relation of Missionary and Clergy to Missionary Societies." These topics will be introduced by the Bishops of Colombo, Stepney, South Tokio and Newcastle.

"Reformation Movements on the Continent of Europe and Elsewhere," will be introduced by the Bishops of Albany, Gibraltar and Down; "Church Unity in Its Relations to the Churches of the East, the Latin Communion, and Other Christian Bodies," by the Bishops of Jerusalem, London, Pittsburg and the Archbishop of Armagh; "International Arbitration," by the Bishops of Calcutta, New York and Ripon; "The Office of the Church with Respect to Industrial Problems," by the Bishops of Hereford, Washington and Christchurch. "Additional Services and Local Adaptation," by the Bishops of Cork, Edinburgh, Ely and Springfield; "The Duties of the Church to the Colonies," by the Archbishop of Rupert's Land and the Bishops of Norwich and Sydney; "Degrees in Divinity," by the Bishop of Goulburn.

This will bring to a close the first week of the conference, and from Monday, July 12, to Wednesday, July 21, the conference will not sit, the time being devoted to committee work.

The committees to whom the various subjects already enumerated are referred will meet in the Church House, Westminster. From Thursday, July 22, to Saturday, July 31, the conference will meet daily to receive the reports of the committees, and on Monday, August, 2, there will be a concluding service with the celebration of Holy Communion at St. Paul's Cathedral, at which the Archbishop of Canterbury will preach.

No part of the debates or discussions of the conference will be open to the public.

WHEN PHYSICIANS FAIL

TO EFFECT A CURE IN CASES OF ECZEMA TRY RYCKMAN'S KOOTENAY CURE. IT HAS A RECORD OF CURES UNEQUALLED IN THE HISTORY OF ANY REMEDY.

There is no escaping the fact that Eczema is one of the most intractable of diseases. Its symptoms are so severe and the irritation it causes so great that a sufferer would gladly give anything, do anything, to get relief.

Physicians are often at their wit's end to know what to do with cases of this nature, and in all kindness we would advise them to prescribe for their patients Ryckman's Kootenay Cure. So far we know of ten medical men who have either used it or recommended it.

In the city of London, Ont., at 440 Park Ave., there lives Mrs. Burdick, who is today a grateful woman for having been cured by Kootenay of an Eczema of few years' standing. The disease had spread all over her body and was a constant source of irritation, so much so that she was unable to obtain more than one hour's sleep at a time. She had three physicians in attendance and took many patent medicines, but none of them cured her.

After taking eight bottles of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure her blood became pure and she has not the slightest sign of Eczema or any other eruption on her body.

Another lady, Mrs. Richards, living at 28 Aikman Ave., Hamilton, had a somewhat similar experience. For two months she was unable to rest night or day with the awful itching and pain. Medical men failed to cure her, but four bottles of Kootenay did, and she now says the Eczema has entirely disappeared and she feels like another person.

We could multiply instances like the above, and if you are desirous of further indisputable proof of Kootenay's Kingship over disease, send your name to the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont. Phrenological chart book sent free to any address.

One bottle lasts over a month.

WHO WAS THIS MAN?

He Died Alongside the C. P. R. Track at Claremont and Coroner Eastwood Wants to Know His Identity.

Claremont, Ont., July 1.—An old man, dressed above the average tramp, died alongside the C.P.R. track about three miles east of here to-day. The cause of death was apparently sunstroke or heart failure. He was 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighed about 160 pounds and apparently about 60 years of age. There was nothing on his person to make out his identity. He apparently came from the West and was a mason by trade, having informed some of the section men shortly before he died that he sold his trowel in Guelph a few days ago. He was clean shaven, except a grey moustache, grey eyes, round face, which was very much freckled, as were also his hands; checked tweed suit, black and grey, black fedora hat, gaiter boots, which had been half soled, grey flannel shirt, undershirt and drawers on, light striped necktie. His pockets contained a razor, brush, soap and small glass, a line, apparently a mason's, pearl-handled jackknife, a two-foot rule and a piece of chewing tobacco. He had an Ottawa Morning Journal of June 25. Communicate any information to Coroner Eastwood, Claremont, Ont.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

THE QUEEN WAS OUT

And Saw the Review on Dominion Day.

MOUNTED POLICE LED THE MARCH

With Lord Roberts, the Hero of Candahar, at Their Head—The Colonial Troops in the Van of a Parade of 25,000 Troops A Grand Day at Aldershot.

Aldershot Camp, England, July 1.—The great Jubilee review of troops took place to-day. Queen's weather prevailed. The town of Aldershot was gaily decorated with flags and festoons of flowers. Crowds of people flocked towards the camp from very early morning. Queen Victoria arrived at Farnborough shortly before 4 o'clock and was received by the Commander-in-Chief, Lord Wolseley; the Adjutant-General, Sir Redvers Buller; the Quartermaster-General, Sir Evelyn Wood, and a brilliant staff. From the railroad station to the saluting point on Laffaun's Plain, three miles distant, the route was gay with decorations, including arches with mottoes of welcome at different points.

The Duke of Connaught, commanding the military district, was in supreme command of the troops, who numbered 25,000 men, including all the colonial forces, a division of cavalry, artillery and engineers, and four divisions of infantry.

In the march past the colonial troops had the lead, and were headed by Lord Roberts of Kandahar, at the head of the Canadian Mounted Police.

The Prince of Wales led the 10th Hussars past the saluting point.

Accompanying Queen Victoria were the Princess of Wales, Princess Victoria of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark, all the colonial premiers and a brilliant throng of titled spectators.

The march past was by squadrons, batteries and double companies. The firing of a royal salute closed the ceremony.

The colonial troops lined the route followed by the Queen after leaving the saluting point. The heat was intense, and the crowd present was enormous.

The Queen was received with the greatest enthusiasm. On arriving at the saluting point Her Majesty's carriage drew up in front of those occupied by the Princess of Wales and the Duchess of Connaught. The royal party was surrounded by a glittering crowd of attachees and the members of the different royal families now in England.

The Prince of Wales wore the uniform of his regiment, the 10th Hussars, to which the late Duke of Clarence, his son, belonged.

The Duke of Cambridge wore the uniform of a field marshal and the Duke of York wore a Hussar uniform.

The Queen seemed much interested in the march past, and smiled as the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and the Duke of Cambridge led their regiments past her. Her Majesty sat still until the end, and departed amid a roar of cheers.

LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

A Distinguished Company Joined the Colonial Premiers at Mansion House.

London, July 1.—A distinguished company was present at the banquet given this evening by the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House, to the colonial premiers. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier were the guests of honor. The company included the Marquis of Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, the Earl and Countess of Jersey, the Duke of Norfolk, the Marquis of Ripon, Lord Charles Beresford and Lord Glencoe, the Canadian High Commissioner.

The Lord Mayor, in toasting the colonial premiers, laid stress upon the special significance of their presence in London during the Jubilee festivities, and Lord Salisbury spoke in the same strain.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who responded, dwelt upon the loyalty of the colonies to the Mother Country. His remarks were received with loud cheers.

Imposing Service in the Abbey.

London, July 1.—An imposing service was held this evening at Westminster Abbey in connection with the Pan-Anglican, or Lambeth, Conference, at which most of the delegates were present. The latter arrived in a procession, the bishops wearing their full episcopal robes and taking their places in the procession attended by their chaplains, according to the date of their consecration, the Archbishop of Canterbury coming last. Large crowds witnessed the unusual and gorgeous scene at both the arrival and departure of the procession, which went to and fro between the cathedral and the church house, where the robing and disrobing took place.

German Cabinet Crisis.

Berlin, July 1.—The German Cabinet crisis has made further progress. Dr. Miquelberger, Minister of Finance in the Grand Duchy of Baden, has declined the secretaryship of the Imperial treasury, vacated by Count Posadowski-Wehner, probably fearing the fate of Baron Marschall von Bieberstein. It is also expected that Freiherr Badiner, President of Duesseldorf, will succeed Count Posadowski-Wehner.

Dr. Miquel will retain the Prussian member of the Cabinet, will assume the office of Vice-President of the Prussian Ministry. This, it is believed, completes the changes for the present. The Emperor being reluctant to repeat the dramatic feature that accompanied the removals of Prince Bismarck and Count Caprivi, more gradual methods are now employed.

Dr. Miquel will have to wait for a new crisis in order to get higher promotion, but nobody expects that this is far distant, though for the moment matters have been smoothed over. Prince Hohenlohe will start to-day for a vacation of several weeks at Schillingsfuerst and Aussee.

The Ministerial Post, in a magnificent and probably inspired article, declares that without doubt Prince Hohenlohe visited Prince Bismarck with the Emperor's sanction, and that the visit, therefore, implies that the Bismarckian traditions are still to determine the foreign policy of the empire and to lead it in the direction of keeping on friendly terms with Russia.

Russia and Turkey.

London, July 1. The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: M. Zinoview, the Russian Minister to Sweden and Norway, has been appointed to succeed Count Nelidoff as Russian Ambassador to Turkey. This announcement has caused great surprise, as the appointment is believed to indicate a new departure in Russian policy.

Napoleon's Letters.

Paris, July 1. Leon Lecestre, curator of the French archives, will issue during the present week the first volume of 800 letters which were suppressed by the editors of Napoleon's correspondence, issued in 1869, as not calculated to increase the glory of the great French Emperor. The volume includes some heated family [illegible] and some vigorously worded [illegible] to Fouche and Dubois, the Ministers of Police and War.

In Honor of Sir Wilfrid.

London, July 1.—Lord Glencoe, the Canadian High Commissioner, gave a reception at the Imperial Institute this evening in honor of Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier. More than fifteen hundred persons were present. Madame Albani sang.

Greece and Turkey.

Hamburg, July 1.—The Hamburgischer correspondent to-day publishes a semi-official despatch from Berlin to the effect that the negotiations between Greece and Turkey may be ordered to be concluded in three weeks' time.

SERIOUS RIOTS IN CALCUTTA.

Mussulmans Paraded the Streets and Hooted and Stoned Europeans.

Calcutta, July 1.—Serious riots among the Mussulmans occurred here yesterday evening. Besides the main mob, scattered gangs of rioters paraded the streets, hooting and stoning the Europeans, several of whom were injured. Finally the authorities were compelled to call out the troops. It is regarded as significant that the Hindoos passively sympathize with the rioters. The situation this morning is still grave. An additional force of cavalry was required to disperse the rioters, but the mobs quickly gathered again.

A Little Less Serious.

Calcutta, July 2, 2 a.m.—The situation in the suburbs of Shitpore is now much more reassuring, but the police patrols were compelled to fire on the rioters. It is estimated that at one time more than 5000 were holding the northeast portion of the town. The number of killed and injured is not yet known, but it is believed to be considerable.

WILL HANG ON TO THESSALY.

That Is the Decision Which Turkey Will Announce to the Powers.

London, July 2.—A despatch to The Times from Constantinople, dated Wednesday, says:

Tewfik Pasha will announce to the Ambassadors of the powers to-morrow (Thursday) that the Cabinet maintains the indefeasible right of Turkey to retain Thessaly by virtue of conquest.

A Constantinople despatch to The Standard says that Edhem Pasha, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces in Thessaly, has tendered his resignation of command to the Sultan on the ground that under the proposed peace conditions he will be unable to guarantee the discipline of the army.

A NOVA SCOTIA CASE.

Suffered without help—Eighteen Years getting worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N.S., June 21 (Special)—There is no man in this town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who was for eighteen years had been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says:—"It began with the backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I ran down greatly in weight the doctors said it was Diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength, I am perfectly cured.

WON'T GIVE OUT NEWS.

The Premier of Spain Takes No Stock in the Honesty of U. S Reporters.

Madrid, July 1.—Senor Canovas del Castillo, the Spanish Premier, and the Duke of Tetuan, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, have had a long conference on the subject of the latest news from the United States.

The Premier has notified reporters here that he will not give them any news hereafter, on the ground that they publish it in a form calculated to influence the stock exchange.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Barrie, July 1.—At the meeting of the cheese board here to-day 3070 boxes were offered; five buyers were present. The market was dull and bidding slow. Four hundred boxes sold at 8c and 602 boxes at 7 15-16c. The balance unsold. Salesmen holding for 8c. The board adjourned till July 15 at 1 o'clock.

Kingston, July 1.—At cheese board to-day 1500 boxes boarded. Sales 500 boxes at 8 cents.

Kingston, July 1.—At the cheese board to-day 1411 boxes were sold at 8c to 8 1-16c per lb.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and manliness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

The Steamer Hope Chartered and Captain Bartlett Will Command.

St. John's, Nfld., July 1.—To-day Capt. John Bartlett completed negotiations with her owners for the hire of the steamer Hope to convey Lieut. Peary on his Arctic expedition. She will go into dry dock immediately, will receive a thorough overhauling, and sail for Boston on Wednesday next.

Lieut. Peary and a party of scientists will join her about the 14th inst. The Hope will call at Sydney for coal. Then, going north by way of Belle Isle, she will land a first party at Resolution Island, the second at some point of South Greenland, to survey the coast, and a third on Wilcox Island, from which Lieut. Peary will attempt to remove the meteorite.

Capt. Bartlett takes with him the same crew as last year. His reputation stands high as an Arctic navigator. The plan is for the Hope to return in September.

Gigantic Underwriter's Sale of $40,000 Worth of Fine Clothing.

Clothing buyers are having it all their own way here. Stirring times all over our two busy stores, and lively selling becomes more lively every day. There is a spirited exchange of Fine Clothing at strangely cheap prices. Money never bought such values before. We're glad to see such signs of Peterborough's prosperity. We're glad to share in it. The fact that sales all over our stores are greatly in advance of previous season's acknowledges trade leadership.

Nothing to wonder at, after all. Few stores anywhere would begin to be satisfied with the profits we ask, and few merchants would dare to buy goods in such quantities. We have an immense outlet, and we turn it to your advantage in such

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Underwriter's Sale of FINE Clothing. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. We insist upon a certain high standard of goodness. The trash buyer is not thought of here. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customers' gain.

An Injunction Issued.

On Tuesday the C.P.R. began filling in at the recently erected steel bridge on the spur line along the river. It being feared that the filling in would greatly injure the passage and prevent its use for the egress of boats and canoes, an injunction was served on the Company at the instance of Mr. J. Z. Rogers, of the Peterborough Canoe Company, restraining the railway from further prosecuting the work. Meantime the gravel which had been brought in large quantities, will be used for other purposes, and some of it is being used to raise the level of the station yard.

Roses.

The month of roses is past but the lateness of the season has transferred the traditions to July. Every year the Examiner has the pleasure of receiving and acknowledging a gift of superb roses by Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald and this morning the pleasure was repeated. Mrs. Hesback has also kindly remembered the sanctum with a shower bouquet of beautiful white yellow and cream roses, including a curiosity—twin roses, two roses on a single flower stem, not starting as buds do usually but a veritable twin rose. Strewing the editorial pathway with flowers is the highest form of mundane beneficence.

How the Citizens of Peterborough Enjoyed Themselves on July 1st.

Finer weather for a Dominion Day celebration could not have been asked for than that which was enjoyed yesterday in It was a little close and warm in the morning, but during the afternoon a cool breeze sprang up, effectually cooling the atmosphere.

A great number of citizens were out of town for the day. Many went back to Chemong and Stony Lake, and hundreds paddled down the river in canoes as well as patronizing the various excursions on the Otonabee. Accounts of the different events transpiring during the day will be found in other columns.

TWO PICKPOCKETS ARRESTED.

They Came Down With the Big Excursion From Toronto Yesterday.

Just as the excursionists were disembarking from the special train from Toronto, yesterday, Mrs. True, of town, who was waiting at the station for friends, suddenly felt a hand in her pocket. She turned instantly and detected a man in the act of picking her pocket. Catching him by the wrist she called for help, and Messrs. Charles Chandler and John Walsh, of Toronto, who were getting off the train, came to her assistance stating that they also had observed the man in the act. Taking hold of him they turned him over to the police.

A special session of the police court was held at 5.30 p.m., with J. Ps. R. S. Davidson and H. T. Strickland on the bench.

The prisoner, who gave his name as T. Murray, of Mexico, was committed for trial upon the evidence of Mrs. True and the two gentlemen from Toronto.

In the evening, when the Toronto excursionists were gathering at the station, the Chief of Police had a man pointed out to him as one who was worth watching. He kept an eye on the man accordingly and observed him stagger into a crowd of ladies and made some very suspicious movements. The Chief grabbed him, but found nothing on him at the time of a suspicious character. Whilst he had him under arrest a Toronto gentleman came up and stated that his niece would give evidence against the prisoner, as being a man whom she had caught with his hand in her pocket.

The man was taken to the police station and searched and a letter found on him addressed to Miss Birdie Thompson, of Water street.

Miss Thompson was the young lady whom he staggered against in the crowd and the police think that they have therefore strong proof against their prisoner. He gives his name as Wm. J. Smith, of Boston, and his photograph was taken this morning in order that his career may be traced.

He was remanded until Wednesday by Mr. R. S. Davidson, J.P., this morning.

DEMISE OF JOHN GILBAR.

After an Illness Extending Through the Recent Session of the House of Parliament.

The death of Mr. John Gilbar, of Cobourg, who has been connected with the Speaker's staff in the House of Commons, Ottawa, for a great many years, occurred on Tuesday.

Mr. Gilbar was the father of Mrs. Wm. Sallsbury, of town, and has been ill since the opening day of the present session. He died on the day that Parliament was prorogued, having been in the hospital at Ottawa since the opening day. Interment will take place in Cobourg.

A LITERARY LEGAL CURIOSITY.

A Man Wants Damages Bad but a Spelling Book Worse.

A member of the Central Jubilee Committee has received an anonymous communication respecting the payment of damages for injuries sustained by the fall of the grand stand at the Driving Park on June 22nd; this communication and accompanying detailed bill of damages is such a literary and clerical curiosity that it is reproduced below as literally as type can reproduce manuscript:

CHARLOTTE STREET'S NEW PASTOR.

A Reception was Tendered Him Last Evening Under the Auspices of the Ladies of the Church.

Rev. Mr. Crossley, the new pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, arrived in town last evening on the 5.25 express, with his family from Napanee.

During the evening a reception was tendered him under the auspices of the ladies of the church, and several hours were spent very enjoyably in the Sunday school room, refreshments being served.

Mr. Crossley has almost entirely recovered from his recent severe illness, and will assume his new duties immediately, being assisted for the present by Rev. Mr. Smith, of the Hamilton Conference.

Wedded at Wyevale.

On Tuesday, 29th June, at the residence of the bride's father, Wyevale, Simcoe County, Miss Jessie Reid, second daughter of Mr. James Reid, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Lount, of Morrisburgh. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Carey, Presbyterian minister. Miss Reid, is well known in Peterborough, especially to the younger element of the congregation of St. Andrew's, in whose work doing a lengthened visit with her aunt Mrs. John Frame, Gilmour street, she took an active interest. Her many friends here will unite in cordial congratulation on the occasion, especially when it is known that Mr. Lount is an exceptionally worthy, steady and industrious young man.

PETERBOROUGHS WIN FROM TORONTO ELMS.

GOOD LACROSSE SEEN ON THE P. A. A. A. GROUNDS.

The Local Team is in Fine Shape and had no Trouble in Winning From Their old Rivals the Toronto Elms—Fine Combination Play by the Peterboroughs.

The Peterborough's had no difficulty, whatever, yesterday in administering a decisive defeat to the Elms, of Toronto, for, although the play was close throughout the game and at times very exciting, the result was never in doubt, as the Peterboroughs took six straight goals before their opponents scored one. As this insured victory the defense did not check so close afterwards and in consequence the visitors, who were playing a strong game throughout the match, tallied twice, leaving the result 6-2 in favour of the home team.

No prettier combination work was ever seen on the field than the Peterboroughs gave an exhibition of yesterday. If they had played such a game against the Tecumsehs as they did yesterday they would certainly have won out against that team.

THE ATTENDANCE

was not as large yesterday as was expected, only about 400 citizens being in attendance.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Elms.		Peterboroughs,
H O'Neil	goal	Dobbin
Carr	point	Brown
Nealer	cover point	Borland
Harvey	1st defence	Mein
Soulis	2nd defence	Glover
Wardrole	3rd defence	King
Moran	centre	Galley
Whalen	3rd home	McCabe
Modland	2nd home	Lipsett
Kyle	1st home	Rubidge
Martin	outside home	Phelan
Lennox	inside home	McCabe
Waghorne	field captain	Begley
R F McWilliams	umpire	F Might

Referee—Fred Clarry, Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

The ball was faced at four minutes past three, after the referee had cautioned the men against rough play. Peterborough took the ball from the face off and it never touched the stick of an Elm on the ground until it was sent whizzing through the flags by Jack McCabe. It was no wonder that the Elms felt discouraged, as the passing was as quick, clean and accurate as could be imagined, and although the ball passed over considerable space it was just a minute after the face-off that the goal was scored.

In the next game the play was a trifle more even, but in five minutes' time it again went to the Peterboroughs.

PHELAN BROUGHT THE BALL

in from the field and passed to Lipsett, who was directly in front of the flags and so closely beset that he could not pass it. The way he dodged through the entire defence was a sight to see. He finally got a chance to shoot and scored.

The Elms woke up in the next game and for a time made things lively for the Peterboroughs, but the local defence was too much for them. Galley got a good chance for a shot a little later and came so close as to hit the post. A second later Jack McCabe did exactly the same thing. Some pretty combination work was then seen between Jim McCabe, Phelan and Lipsett. The latter scored. Time, 17 minutes.

The next game also went to the Peterboroughs. Glover in relieving his goal passed out to Phelan, who passed to Lipsett, who slipped it in to Jack McCabe. The latter scored. Time, 3 minutes.

This made four straights for the Peterboroughs.

The Elms in the next game made desperate efforts to tally and for a time made things warm for the Peterborough defence, who, however, again outplayed the visitors and finally relieved after a number of ineffectual shots had been made. Jack McCabe then had a good chance to score but the goal keeper was too many for him and stopped the shot. Rubidge too made a neat effort a second later, when he was so closely pressed as to have to make a shot over his shoulder. The ball struck the post.

The ball went up the field, but King brought it down, passing to Galley from whom it went to Rubidge, to Phelan, and then to Jim McCabe, who scored. Time—9 minutes.

IN ANOTHER MINUTE

Peterborough scored again, Galley taking the ball up the field to Phelan, the latter scoring. Time—1 minute.

Six straights.

With such a margin as six goals to play on, the home team somewhat relaxed in vigilance, and as the Elms had been playing a hard game all day, they took advantage of the lull and assuming the offensive scored a game in two minutes, Bob Lennox doing "the necessary."

Honours were about even in the next game, and the ball travelled rapidly up and down the field. The Elms were awarded a free throw through King touching the ball with his hand, but it gave them no advantage, as the ball was back again immediately and the Elms goal keeper was kept busy defending his flags, Galley sending in some hot ones which were hard to stop. The Elms then got in some neat combination work and Dobbin had two hard ones to stop, but one finally got by him. It was a shot from the side and there was some doubt as to whether it went through or not. There was just about a foot in which to place the ball.

Time was called before any more scoring was done leaving Peterborough the victor by 6 to 2.

NOTES.

The Elms did some good combination work, but did not carry it in close enough to the flags, having to make their shots from too far.

The defence field of the Peterboroughs is not in as good working order yet as it will be in the course of another week or so on account of the changes which have been made. The moving of Borland from 3rd defence to cover point and the placing of King in the vacant position naturally makes a difference.

Too much cannot be said about the work of the home field of the Peterboroughs. King and Galley fed them well and the way the ball was carried in on the visitors' flags delighted the spectators. Jim McCabe, Lipsett, Rubidge, Phelan and Jack McCabe seemed to know just where to place themselves to secure the ball and their shooting in goal was marvellously sure and accurate. The posts were struck by the ball at least a dozen times during the game, showing how close the shots were.

King has gotten into shape with wonderful rapidity. He played a very strong game yesterday.

Phelan seems faster and surer than ever. An amusing incident occurred yesterday when one of the visitors attempted to "body" him. The Elm man must have gone ten feet through the air before he "Scuddy" on the field.

Dobbin made a number of most difficult stops in goal and relieved as brilliantly as ever.

Jack McCabe is developing into a great inside home.

Jimmy McCabe seemed to bring the ball into play and start the combination working every time.

Rubidge and Lipsett did some great passing. The latter dodged through the defence several times.

"Shooky" Mein seemed to check closer than ever yesterday on the defence. He never leaves a man who has the ball. Glover played his usual brilliant game and Borland and Brown behind him were hard men to pass.

Mr. Fred Clarry proved a most efficient referee.

The 57th Battalion Band was present throughout the afternoon, and their enlivening music added a great deal to the day's pleasure.

CAVAN WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. Wm. E. Earl and Miss Lena M. Lang.

On Wednesday, June 23rd, a very pretty bridal event was added to the long list of June weddings. At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. A. Lang, Fairmont, Lena M. Lang was united in marriage to William E. Earl. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Kilgour. The bride was dressed in cream silk, trimmed with moire silk, ribbons and chiffon lace, and a cream veil and orange blossoms, and she was heartily congratulated as being the prettiest bride in all the county side for a long time. She was assisted by Miss Mary Earl, sister of the groom, who was charming in cream brocade. Mr. Harry Lang, brother of the bride, performed the duties of best man. The bride was bountifully remembered in the way of beautiful presents, and the union of their two young lives is regarded as a happy combination. Mr. and Mrs. Earl did not take a bridal tour but will spend their honeymoon at their future home, to which they departed after the ceremony, under showers of rice.

APSLEY.

The Late Mrs. P. W. C. Shewan.

A very large circle of friends will regret to learn of the death on June 24th, of the wife of Mr. Peyton W. C. Shewan, township clerk of Burleigh. The deceased lady who was a daughter of the late Thomas Eastland, and sister of Mr. T. G. Eastland, one of the representatives of the Lakehurst division if the County Council, was very highly esteemed, and general sympathy will be extended the afflicted husband in his bereavement.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. —G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

SUCCESSFUL PICNIC.

AN EXCELLENT DAY'S ENJOYMENT ON THE GROUNDS.

Beautiful Weather and a Large Gathering Contribute to its Success—An Excellent Programme of Sports.

The 9th annual picnic in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital was held on the hospital grounds, yesterday, and was in every way a grand success. At early hour in the morning willing workers were on the grounds, and soon had everything in order for the day's enjoyment.

Shortly after nine o'clock the crowd began to assemble on the grounds, and before many hours this beautiful spot was alive with gay picnicers. Each ward in the town, as well as Ashburnham and country, had their dinner tables, and the bill of fare presented at each is worthy of special mention. The ladies in charge (who have long since established a reputation for the excellent quality of the meals served) were kept bustling during dinner and supper hour. Besides there was the the refreshment booths, where gayly dressed young ladies dispensed cooling beverages to the thirsty public.

The dancing platform, too, in charge of Messrs. M. Costello, M. Collins and J. Duffis, was kept busy, the young tripping the light fantastic to their heart's content, excellent music being supplied by Hodgson's orchestra. During the afternoon the Fire Brigade Band visited the grounds and furnished an excellent programme.

Amongst the clergy noticed on the grounds during the day were His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Ven. Archdeacon Casey (who was kept busy during the day), Rev. Fathers O'Connel, Fitzpatrick, Scanlan, O'Sullivan of the Cathedral; Father McColl, Ennismore; Father McGuire, Bracebridge; and Father Phelan, Douro.

The different booths were in charge of the following ladies and gentlemen: No. 1 Ward—Misses A. Kenneally and K. Simons; No. 2 Ward—Misses G. Ciunan, M. Doherty and M. Kelly; Wards Nos. 3 and 4—Mesdames Geo. Ball and J. J. Lynch and Mr. J. J. Lynch; Ashburnham—Misses Maggie and M. O'Connel and Mr. Wm. Collins; county booth—Misses S. Crowley and F. Coughlin, and Messrs. P. Lynch and J. Devlin.

The graphophone in charge of Messrs. C. LeGros and John Kelly did a big business, as did also the nine pins in charge of Mr. Michael Lynch.

In the afternoon the following excellent programme of sports was run off by an efficient committee:

200 yards race—1 W. Heffernan, 2 G. Gauthier.

200 yards race (boys)—1 Hec Clancy, 2 F. McGrath.

100 yards race (men)—1 W. Heffernan, 2 G. Gauthier.

Mrs. Calvert and Miss Calvert, of Toronto, spent Dominion Day in town as guests at the residence of Mr. J. M. White. They left to-day to visit Miss Johnston, Rice Lake.

Rev. J. McB. Scott, B.A., pastor of St. John's Presbyterian church, Toronto, spent yesterday in town with his mother and sisters. Mr. Scott is on his way to Scotland, and it is understood will not return alone.

The Globe of Monday mentions that Mr. W. A. Shaw, of Peterborough, the Eastern representative of Messrs. Octavius Newcome and Company, presided and made a brief address at a meeting of the employees, who presented the manager of the company, Mr. W. T. Giles, with a complimentary address.

Dr. Bingham was about to-day making his adieux previous to his departure in the afternoon to Toronto, which will become his future residence. The doctor's presence will be greatly missed by the numerous friends he won during his residence in Peterborough of about twenty years. His dry, caustic wit, his quaint way of putting things, his invariable good nature, his cheerful philosophy of life, and his genuineness of character, were highly appreciated. He will resume the practice of his profession in the city, to which he goes to be near his daughter. Dr. Bingham leaves town in the enjoyment of unusual respect and followed by the heartiest of good wishes.

The Small Stock.

Gough Bros. sale of the gigantic stock of E. A. Small & Co., the millionaire clothing manufacturers of Montreal, is booming along merrily. The purchase of $40,000 worth of men's, youths' and boys' suits of the highest quality at a price below the cost of manufacture gave a great opportunity to start a genuine campaign in bargains that could not fail to leap into favour. A steady demand continues every day. The firm have had to hustle to wait on customers; and still they come, and still they buy, as they never bought before. The stock is the newest and freshest that has ever been put on sale here and the prices are practically the smallest ever named in Peterborough, without any exception. Gough Bros. want a great sale this week. Dominion Day celebration will help to give a big push to sales, while the present low prices will stay at the very bottom, with double figures reduced to units, far-seeing people are not likely to skip an opportunity like this. EVERY line in the men's and boys' departments is a guide line. The vastness of the stock, the crossing line of values, the many styles and bewildering piles of patterns, all continue to create interest in this mammoth summer sale of fine clothing at Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw

WEDDING BELLS.

CARVETH—HEFFERNAN.

On Tuesday, at 10 o'clock, in St. Joseph's church, Douro, Rev. Father Phelan, performed the ceremony that united in wedlock Mr. Richard Carveth and Miss Ellen Heffernan, both of Douro. Miss Ellen McGrath assisted the bride and Mr. P. Heffernan, the bride's brother, was best man.

KIDD—ROBESON.

A very pretty and quiet home wedding was that of Mr. Allan Kidd, of Warsaw, and Miss Mattie Robeson, daughter of Rev. J. E. Robeson, of Colborne, which was solemnized on Thursday last, June 24th, at the residence of the bride's parents. Only the immediate relatives of the parties and a few intimate friends were present. The ceremony was solemnized by the father of the bride, assisted by Rev. T. W. Joliffe. Mr. and Mrs. Kidd left on the evening train for a visit to Belleville and other places.

FIFE—WELBURN.

On Wednesday evening, June 30th, at eight o'clock, a very pretty wedding took place at "Fairy Glen," Otonabee, the residence of Mr. John Fife, when his daughter, Miss Leah Fife, was united in marriage to Mr. John Nelson Welburn, of the Grand Trunk Railway.

The bride was most becomingly gowned in cream Henrietta, trimmed with chiffon and lace and carried a magnificent bouquet of orchids. Her bridesmaids were Miss Louisa Fife (her sister) and Miss Micks, of Warkworth. The former was attired in cream serge and the latter in Swiss muslin.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Morley Nelson.

Rev. Mr. Liddy, of the Keene Methodist church, performed the ceremony, at the conclusion of which Mrs. Liddy played the wedding march. A reception was afterwards held when the wedding dejeuner was served.

Amongst the many handsome presents which were received was a marble clock from the choir of Bethel church, of which the bride was a valued member.

THE WONDERS OF THIS JUBILEE YEAR.

Elegant Gold Watches Given Away at H. LeBrun & Co's Clothing Store—The Biggest Hit of the Season.

Wonders are coming thicker and faster than ever. This Jubilee year is to be full of new and startling wonders. Just imagine all the wonderful things you have heard and read about lately, and then listen to this: The latest wonder of the day has been started by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co., who are holding their annual summer clearance sale during the months of July and August.

This firm intend to make the Jubilee summer holidays of 1897 memorable to the people of Peterborough by giving away elaborate ladies' and gentlemen's electro-gold hunting case watches to every purchaser of $35 worth of clothing or furnishings at their store.

This wonderful Victor Watch is the greatest watch the world has ever seen given away. The cases are electro gold plated, engraved in the most magnificent style—stem winding and setting—and guaranteed for time and durability. A princely present to a lady or gentleman. Specimens of the watches on exhibition in H. LeBrun & Co's show window, and you can have the choice of any of these beautifully chased patterns.

Ladies as well as gentlemen can take advantage of this wonderful offer. Every purchaser will receive a ticket on which the amount of each cash purchase will be recorded.

Prizes! Prizes! In order to make our summer clearance sale still more interesting, we offer three special prizes to the three largest purchasers of goods at our store during July and August as follows:

1st prize—To the largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.

2nd prize—To the second largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.

3rd prize—To the third largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.

Those who are not lucky enough to get one of these special prizes, their amounts will be allowed on a $35 purchase.

Better hurry up if you want to share in these special gifts. The town will be after them hot foot.

Prices all over the store greatly reduced during July and August.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL is CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

A Croupy Cough was Soon Driven Away by Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine.

"My little boy had a bad croupy cough," says Mrs. Smith, of 256 Bathurst street, Toronto. "My neighbor, Mrs. Hopkins, recommended me to try Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I did so, and the first dose did him good. One bottle completely cured the cold. It is surprising the popularity of Chase's Syrup in this neighborhood. It appears to me it can now be found in every house.

THE BASEBALL RECORD

Chicago, June 29.—The greatest picnic of the season in the line of baseball occurred at the West Side Park to-day, when the Colts broke the record by scoring 37 runs, on 32 hits, for a total of 51 bases. Fraser lasted two and a half innings, then gave way to Jones, but to no advantage. Johnson had an eye badly cut by an ugly bounder, and Decker was painfully injured by a pitched ball, both being forced to retire. Callahan made but little effort to pitch after the third. Score:

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

On the live stock market yesterday there were 60 car-loads, composed of 1117 cattle, 1000 sheep and lambs, 80 calves and 1000 hogs.

The market for cattle was not as brisk as last Tuesday or Friday, and there were some cattle unsold and prices were somewhat easier.

The bulk of export cattle sold at $4.25 to $4.50, and we saw one lot of choice sold for $4.60.

The demand for butchers' cattle was not so good, and good sold at $3.50 to $3.60, and one lot of 5 choice heifers, weighing 950 lbs each brought $3.80. Stockers were worth from $2.50 to $2.90. There were not many bulls on the market, but good ones were worth $3.50 to $3.60.

Milk cows sold from $20 up to $38, and there were about 25 on the market.

The market was good for sheep, and they sold from 3½c to 3 2-5c per lb for ewes, and bucks brought 3c to 3½c per lb. Lambs sold from $2.75 to $3.75 each.

The hog market was stronger, and good ones brought $5.00 per cwt.

Calves in good demand, and good ones sold from $5 to $6.50 each.

Nine Children Killed.

Madrid, June 29.—Nine children have been killed and many others injured by the collapse of a church wall at Solana, in the province of Ciudad Real.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion, because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood, and so makes SOLID, HEALTHY flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

A CALAMITY AT SEA.

Scores of Lives Lost in the Indian Ocean.

THE STEAMSHIP ADEN WRECKED.

Blown by a Monsoon on to a Reef, Where She Went to Pieces—The Lifeboats Swamped One After Another—Fearful Suspense for 17 Days of Survivors.

Aden, June 29.—The Indian Government's steamer Mayo, sent out in search of the missing steamer Aden, from Yokohama on April 28, via Colombo and Aden for London, which was last heard of when leaving Colombo on June 1 for this port, has returned here and reports that the Aden was totally lost off the Island of Socotra, at the eastern extremity of Africa, during the morning of June 9.

The Aden carried 34 passengers from China and Japan. The captain of the wrecked steamer, some of her officers and crew and seven white passengers were swept overboard and drowned very soon after she ran ashore. Eight lady passengers, nine children, two officers and a few of the Aden's crew succeeded in getting away from the wreck in a boat, but they have not been heard of since, and little hope, owing to the bad weather which has since prevailed, is entertained of their safety.

The Mayo saved nine of the Aden's passengers, three of the white members of the crew and 33 of the natives, who formed part of the steamer's crew. All these persons were rescued just as the Aden was breaking up. The survivors of the wrecked steamer were brought to this port by the Mayo, and are being cared for by the local authorities.

In all, the drowned and missing include 25 passengers, 20 European officers and 33 natives of the Aden's crew.

THE DETAILS TOLD.

A Monsoon Struck the Vessel and Drove Her on Ras-ad-dras Reef.

London, June 30.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Aden, Arabia, says:

"Two days after leaving Colombo, the Aden was struck by a severe monsoon with squalls, violent and incessant.

"On June 9 the vessel struck upon the Ras-ad-dras reef, on the eastern coast of the Island of Socotra. It was soon seen that the steamer could not survive the shock and that the only chance for safety lay in the boats. Life belts were distributed, distress signals given, and the boats on the lee side prepared for launching. Those on the weather side had already been washed away.

"A life boat was lowered, only to be swept away immediately with three lascars and the first officer, Mr. Carden. The gig was despatched to the rescue, with Mr. Miller, the second officer, but, to the despair of all, both boats were rapidly swept away.

"The only remaining lifeboat was then lowered amid a scene of intense emotion. A cry of anguish broke from the lips even of the men, when this half capsized, throwing the sailors and the stores into the sea. After great efforts the boat was righted and the women and children were lowered into it, with the exception of Mesdames Gillett, Pearce and Strain, who heroically decided to share the fate of their husbands and the Misses Lloyd and Welter, who remained on board. The boat, manned by a European crew, left in a tremendous sea and drifted rapidly out of sight.

"Vast waves still swept the wreck, and, one by one, men, women and children, grown too weak to withstand the repeated buffetings, were washed overboard in sight of those who were momentarily expecting the same fate.

"All day the victims were picked off one by one, until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when those who still survived retreated below in suspense. Day after day the desperate men kept a sharp lookout, but no vessel was sighted until the 13th, and even then the distress signal was not seen. On the 17th and on the 20th other vessels were sighted, but the signals either were not seen or were ignored.

"These unhappy episodes caused painful and half-crazy scenes of rage among those who had previously been self-controlled. Each day it was necessary to curtail the allowance of rations. Mrs. Gillett did the catering, and contributed greatly to cheering up the ship's company.

"On June 25, when things were at their worst and the food supply was almost exhausted, two steamers were sighted. One proceeded without paying any attention to the distress signal. The other anchored under the lee of the island. As soon as she was sighted a lascar mounted the rigging and signalled her. In reply candles burned at her port holes, and at day-break on the 27th a suspense of 17 days was relieved by the spectacle of the steamer rounding the point and heading towards the wreck. She dropped anchor about a mile away. It took three-quarters of an hour for a lifeboat to reach the wreck. It was the lifeboat of the Indian Government steamer Mayo, and in charge of Lieutenants Dobin and Goldsmith. They skilfully avoided the tremendous wash and rescued all of the survivors in two trips."

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favour.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

The laws of the world in regard to the marriageable age show queer variations. In many countries husbands of 14 and wives of 12 are no curiosity, and in some even a smaller number of years suffice for the requirements of the law.

In Austria a "man" and a "woman" are supposed to be able to be capable of conducting a home of their own from the age of 14.

In Germany the man must be at least 18 years of age.

In France the man must be 18 and the woman 15; in Belgium the same.

In Spain the intended husband must have passed his fourteenth year and the woman her twelfth.

In Hungary, for Roman Catholics the man must be 14 years old and the woman 12; for Protestants, the man must be 18 and woman 15.

In Greece the man must have seen at least 14 summers and the woman 12.

In Portugal a boy of 14 is considered marriageable and a woman of 12.

In Russia and Saxony they are a little more sensible, and a youth must refrain from entering into matrimony until he can count 18 years and the woman till she can count 16.

In Switzerland the men from the age of 14 and the women from the age of 12 are allowed to marry.

In Turkey any youth and maiden who can walk properly and can understand the necessary religious service are allowed to be united for life.

Boils, pimples and eruptions, scrofula, salt rheum and all other manifestations of impure blood are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ADVERTISE IN "THE EXAMINER."

The sick, nervous, fretful useless, helpless, "irritable, woman makes her husband miserable. If he is a good-tempered, good man, he tries to soothe and comfort her. If he is only an ordinary man, he swears and gets drunk. Few men realize what it is that makes a woman cross, fretful, and nervous. If they did, they would see to it that their wives took proper care of the health of the organs distinctly feminine, and resorted to the proper remedy to make them strong and healthy in a womanly way.

The best medicine for nervous, fretful, irritable women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It goes to and corrects the cause. It acts directly on the feminine organism and re-stores it to natural health and vigor. It soothes inflammation and corrects all weakening drains. It will make a sick woman well, and a fretful, cross woman happy and amiable. It prepares a woman for the duties of motherhood, and taken during the expectant period makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. Women who wish to know more about this great remedy should write to its discoverer, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. S. J. Bartlett (Teacher), of Granger, Sweetwater Co., Wyo., writes: "Dr. Pierce: I desire to certify that your Favorite Prescription' is a boon and a great help to all females. My wife has used your medicine. Prior to taking it she was constantly troubled with female weakness and monthly, and frequently oftener, irregular flows that incapacitated her for the labors incident to raising a large family. She is now well."

Whoever would find a conclusive answer to the problem: "How to be well" should send to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a copy of Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This book is all that its title implies. It uses no technical terms. Its 1,008 pages of graphic explanation and carefully correct illustrations make it a treasure for any household. Its 90 pages especially relating to women are worth many times its original price, which was $1.50. There is now ready a large edition to be given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps, to pay for customs and mailing only, and you will receive the book in paper covers absolutely FREE. You may have it in cloth covers for 50 stamps.

THE EYE IS DECEIVED

SECRET OF THE SUCCESS OF MOVING-PICTURE MACHINES.

The Peculiar Physiological Law That Is Utilised by the Makers and Manipulators of the Kinetoscope, the Cinematograph, Etc.

Of the thousands of people who witness the wonderfully accurate life-like effects produced by moving-picture machines comparatively few are aware of the fact that the success of the exhibitions is due solely to a peculiar property of the human eye known to physiologists as the persistence of vision. For a brief time, averaging about one-fortieth of a second, the image of every object seen is held by the retina. Proof of this is given by the rapid twirling of a stick with a spark of fire on the end of it. There is only one spark, and it is never in more than one spot at one time, but its lively revolution produces to the eye the semblance of a complete and unbroken circle of fire. This is because the retina holds the sight of the spark as it passes, the movement being so rapid that it is almost impossible to detect any break in the circle. School children unwittingly illustrate the same principle with their bird-cage trick. One side of a disk of cardboard bears the figure of a bird, and on the opposite side there is a cage. When the disk is given a fast rotatory motion the image of the cage persists in the retina until the bird comes into view, and then the illusion of the bird being inside of the cage is produced. On this curious physiological law the operation of the moving-picture machine is based. If it were not for the persistence of vision in the retina it would be impossible to give life-like effects to the pictures. As now exhibited, the pictures are simply a succession of rapid changes, but the speed is so nicely graded to fit the properties of the eye that the effect is that of a stationary background or setting in which the figures and other animated things appear to move. By this means prize fights, horse races, football games, sham battles and other scenes full of dramatic action are reproduced in a pleasing manner.

All these machines—known to the trade as kinetoscopes, vitascopes, verascopes, magniscopes, biographs and cinematographs—work on the same principle. They are the ordinary stereopticons fitted with a mechanism for giving a fast rotary motion to the views as the latter are passed between the lenses. The only difference is that in operating the common stereopticon the views are put in sight by hand and allowed to remain a few seconds so the spectators may get full sight of them on the canvas. In using the stereopticon as a moving-picture machine, however, the views are combined on an endless film and rushed through the lenses at a speed that would make them a jumbled mess were it not for the peculiar persistence of vision in the human eye. When the machines were first introduced fancy prices were charged for them, some makers asking as much as $500. Now that the mechanism is understood any ordinarily expert craftsman can make them, the best being offered as low as $150.

The most delicate and important part of the business is the taking of the pictures from which the films for exhibition are printed. For this purpose any good camera of standard make will answer. It must be firmly fixed in place to avoid shocks or vibrations. To the camera is attached a device that will draw the negative film behind the lens at exactly the same rate of speed at which the finished pictures are to be shown on the canvas. These films are generally 50 feet in length, but may be joined to one another indefinitely. The width is about 1 3-8 inches. As the highly-sensitized film passes through the camera a delicate bit of mechanism checks it at every inch for the fortieth part of a second, and by this system of instantaneous exposure perfect photographs in the shape of a succession of minute pictures are secured. No horse can move so fast but what every motion is caught and recorded. Examination of the pictures with the naked eye will fail to disclose any apparent difference in a string of 15 or 20, but there is a difference, and it becomes plain as the strip of film moves along. From these negatives the pictures intended for exhibition purposes are printed, and these consitute the most expensive part of the outfit. The charge for a 50-foot strip is $15, and, as it takes 175 of them to keep a machine in operation for one hour the cost of the pictures alone is $2,525.

Having secured a stereopticon and set of films it requires considerable ability to adjust them properly. The films are joined together and strung on an upright frame back of the lantern. From this the strip is led into the receiver by turning a wheel. As the pic- pass into the receiver a self-regulating apparatus holds each view before the condensing lens for just one-fortieth of a second and then like a flash of lightning, and even quicker in fact, it is yanked out of the way to make room for the next one. If the operator turns the wheel too fast or too slow the effect is marred and the projection on the canvas is blurred and indistinct. Some of the machines are provided with electric lights, while in other the common calcium light is used. There is one serious drawback to the machines as now operated, and this is a lack of clearness and steadiness in the views as they are thrown upon the screen, and it is to find a remedy for this that the efforts of experts are being directed.

The largest job yet undertaken with the moving-picture machine was the photographing of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prize fight, and in this connection here are some interesting figures. There were 14 rounds of three minutes each of actual fighting with 13 one-minute rests, making a total of 55 minutes. The machine was in operation during the entire 55 minutes, the film being fed through it at a speed of 150 feet a minute, the entire amount used being 8250 feet. Each strip of film holds 2400 pictures, making the total number taken 132,000.

Credit for the invention of the mechanism has been given to Edison, but there are a number of other claimants, and from the fact of there being so many machines of similar make in use without litigation for alleged infringement it is probable no single inventor can justly claim priority. Mechanics all over the country are making them and the demand seems to increase every day. The industry of supplying films on new and interesting subjects has grown to be an important one, and there is a great rivalry in the securing of timely and popular views. One enterprising chap put up a camera with a kinetoscope attachment near the grand stand during the inauguration of President McKinley and got a series of pictures which have already netted him a fortune. Military companies are especially engaged to give exhibition drills; fire engines are called out on false alarms; railways are induced to run fast trains, and even pugilists are hired to fight in private in order that the moving-picture machines may be kept supplied with views that will be attractive to lovers of novelty.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

CURIOUS BOOK TITLES

Some Remarkable Ones Apparently of the Time of Cromwell.

I have run across the titles of a lot of curious old books of Cromwell's time, says a writer in The Overland. They rival our modern appellations of "The Tinted Venus," "The Gilded Sin" and "The Heavenly Twins." Listen: "The Christian Sodality; or, Catholic Hive of Bees, Sucking the Honey of the Churches' Prayer From the Blossoms of the Word of God, Blown Out of the Epistles and Gospels of the Divine Service Throughout the Leare, Collected by the Puny Bee of All the Hive, Not Worthy to be Named Otherwise Than by These Elements of His Name, F.P." "A Fan to Drive Away Flies; A Theological Treatise on Purgatory"; "A Most Delectable Sweet Perfumed Nosegay for God's Saints to Smell At"; "A Reaping Hook, Well Tempered, for the Stubborn Ears of the Coming Crop; or, Biscuit Baked in the Oven of Charity, Carefully Conserved for the Chickens of the Church, the Sparrows of the Spirit and the Sweet Swallows of Salvation"; "Eggs of Charity, Layed by the Chickens of the Covenant, and Boiled With the Water of Divine Love; Take Ye and Eat"; "Hooks and Eyes for Believers' Breeches"; "High-Heeled Shoes for Dwarfs in Holiness"; "The Spiritual Mustard Pot, to Make the Soul Sneeze With Devotion."

As I went through a list of these archaic book captions, the thought came to me that I might bring some fame to the circle by inditing a lobelet on "The Fashion in Book Titles—How They Change." There is a fashion in naming of new books—that is, novels. In Thackeray, Dickens and Lever's day the name of the hero generally gave the name to the volume. J. Fenimore Cooper, Victor Hugo, Dumas and Walter Scott affected descriptive titles, while Charles Reade and Wilkie Collins went in for mystery. To-day the title is more often chosen without regard to anything between the covers, like Artemus Ward's celebrated lecture on "The Babes in the Wood"—for example, "Ships That Pass in the Night"—or for pure sensational note, "An Amazing Marriage," "A Sawdust Doll," "Two Women and a Fool," "Two Men in a Boat."

BAPTIST CONVENTION AT BELLEVILLE.

REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS ON WEDNESDAY.

Several Interesting Topics Dealt With—Missionary Matters Receive Attention—Offices Conferred on Peterborough Ladies.

Belleville, Wednesday, June 30th.—All day yesterday and to-day the ninety-fifth annual convention of the Peterborough Baptist Association has been in progress and it has been one of the most successful and most pleasant to those who are participating in it. The reports presented have all been very satisfactory, while the different addresses delivered have been of very great interest and full of practical and helpful suggestions.

Yesterday afternoon the Baptist convention continued its meetings by praise and prayer service led by Pastor Bonner, Stirling, and afterwards the church reports and letters were read and the associational home mission secretary read his report for the past year.

A conference on "new openings" was held, led by Pastor Pier, Norwood, and Student Pastor A. K. Scott, Picton, and also a conference on "Territory still Unoccupied," led by Bro. Platt Hinman, Haldimand.

The evening session of the convention was opened by Rev. J. E. Davis, returned missionary from India, who read the lesson and led in prayer.

Mr. J. W. Russell, B. A., McMaster University, then addressed the meeting on "Our Educational Work." He gave a very practical and instructive address in regard to the educational work of the Baptist denomination of Ontario, speaking very practically in reference to the educational work of the denomination and referred to Woodstock College as unsurpassed as an academical school for boys, and the equipment of the school in its Science Department was unexcelled, and it also had the manual training department, which no other school in Canada has. He also spoke of the work that McMaster University had done and is doing in the educational work of Canada. He also recommended Moulton Ladies' College as a school which gives to the girls a good liberal education.

A quartette composed of Revs. P. K. Dayfoot, C. E. McLeod, J. W. Kirkpatrick then sang the jubilee anthem.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman spoke very earnestly upon "Our Grand Ligne Work." He said that Grand Ligne Mission was a great mission, because—1, of the great field; 2, because of the difficulties, and 3, because of its success. He urged the churches of this denomination to help this work more liberally with their contributions.

The choir than sang an anthem.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

This morning's session opened with a prayer and praise service led by Student-Pastor Marshall of Cobourg.

The Associational Foreign Mission Secretary presented his report, which showed a healthy state of affairs in that department.

Reports of the Associational Representative of the Baptist Young Peoples' Union, the Secretary for Manitoba and Northwest Missions, and the Canadian Baptist and Book Room were presented and discussions followed upon each.

Rev. R. Wallace delivered an address on "A charge to Young People," which was practical and full of food for thought. He made an eloquent and forcible appeal for renewed interest in the foreign mission work and gave some very instructive information regarding the Chinese and Japanese, gathered while travelling in those countries.

WOMEN'S WORK.

THE TORONTO CIVIC EXCURSIONISTS' VISIT.

A DELIGHTFUL DOMINION DAY

What they Did in Peterborough—An Agricultural Game of Lacrosse—Programme of Sports and Games—Fine Bicycle Races at East Nicholls Park.

It was about half-past eleven before the excursion train from Toronto arrived, having about 500 members of the Toronto Civic Employees' Union and their friends. There was a big crowd of citizens at the station to meet them, and as the gayly-decorated engine passed the platform the visitors were welcomed with a cheer. The leading officials were taken in charge by Councillors J. M. White and Adam Dawson and conducted to their headquarters at the Snowden House. The excursionists who, counting those who arrived on the regular express, and those who came the night previous, numbered about 800, patronized the various hotels for dinner, and after viewing the principal streets of the town, repaired to the Agricultural park, where a long list of games, open only to members of the Department were run off first, and followed by a few open events.

AT AGRICULTURAL GROUNDS.

A large number of the Toronto Civic Employees' Union excursion assembled at the Agricultural Grounds yesterday, where the games and sports took place, and a large programme was very successfully run off.

The chief attraction was a lacrosse match between the Maitlands, of Toronto, and the Peterborough II. The teams lined up as follows :

Maitlands.		Peterborough II.
Barlow	goal	Moncrief
Whale	point	Craig
Stewart	cover point	Rickey
Nicholls	1st defence	Archambault
Green	2nd defence	McDonagh
Dowling	3rd defence	Kelly
Burns	centre	Thompson
Greenwood	3rd home	Dobbin (Lou)
Clewes	2nd home	Adams
Blight	1st home	Crossley
Hewitson	outside home	Wasson
Cole (F. C.)	inside home	McWilliams
W J Green	field captain	C LeBrun umpire

Mr. W. H. Hull, a former member of the Old Ontarios was chosen as referee. The chances of playing scientific lacrosse were small. Though the field was large enough and level enough, it was rough and the long grass, was long enough to completely conceal a player when he fell.

The first game went to the Maitlands from Hewitson's stick three minutes after the face. It was a sort of snatch verdict and Peterborough took care that it didn't happen again. Their second game fell to the Peterboroughs after 32 minutes' hard play in which some fine lacrosse, under the circumstances was displayed when Wasson did the trick. The third game went to the visitors in 12 minutes, Burns being the immediate instrument. The fourth game, following the usual order, was snapped up by the Peterboroughs, in three-quarters of a minute. Kelly captured the sphere, and making a splendid run down the field dropped it over to Dobbin, and the deed was done. This put the teams on even terms, and the rubber was a hot one, lasting thirteen minutes, when Hewitson threw the ball whizzing between the "flags" into the $40 silver cup, which was the reward of the victors, and after the match the Maitlands no doubt tested its capacity at the Snowden House, where it was left during the day.

Three or four minutes of the time remained, play was resumed, and the home dozen made the pace hot, both goals being at times in danger, especially that of the Maitlands, being threatend by a scrimmage directly in front of goal as time was called.

Though narrowly defeated the home team was honourably bested. They made a splendid fight of it, especially considering the scratch character of the team, many of the players not having handled a stick this year, and so "emergent" was the team that the players' names and positions could not be learned till they lined up before the referee.

Of the Juniors, Kelly, whose fine running was to be noted, Archambault, whose cleverness was almost simultaneous catching and throwing, McDonough, Craig, Dobbin (Lou), Thompson and Rickey, showed up excellently, and though not having the advantage of practice in position did some pretty combination work, and all showed fine individual play. The "green" players, who have not practised at all this season, some not having had on shoes for two or three seasons—Wasson, Sam Adams, Victor McWilliams, Crossley and Moncrief—are entitled to great credit for the good work they did. With a few weeks' practice they would shine as start of "seniors" magnitude; and if yesterday's team had had a week's practice together in position, the cup trophy would doubtless have remained in Peterborough. As it is, the game yesterday was, as the score showed, an even one, and rather good lacrosse, though the abundance of the waving hay gave it in this respect the character of agricultural lacrosse.

The Bicycle Races.

As the track on the Agricultural Grounds was totally unfit for racing the open wheel contests took place in the Nicholls Park track and four or five hundred spectators assembled there to see the events run off.

The entry list in the amateur events was so large as to necessitate them being run off in heats, which proved very exciting, all the finishes being close and hard fought out. In each of the professional events there were only two riders, viz: Roy Gordon and Alf. Young, of Toronto, but excellent time was made, particularly in the five mile race, which was ridden out in 12.47. The Toronto riders were delighted with the track and stated that if the corners were banked a trifle higher it would easily be the fastest clay track in Canada, being very "lively." The results were as follows :

FIVE MILE PROFESSIONAL.

1, Roy Gordon; 2, Alf. Young. Time, 12.47.

TWO MILE AMATEUR.

In this event there were fourteen entries and it was therefore run off in two heats, with seven men in each. The first three men in each heat were then eligible to ride in the final. In the first heat there were M. E. Collins, F. Burton, H. Handcock, G. B. Gordon, W. B. Borland, D. Bain and Oscar Johnston. Result,—1, Handcock, of Toronto; 2, W. B. Borland, of Peterborough; 3, M. E. Collins, Toronto. Time, 5.13 1-5.

Second heat—entries—Geo. Evans, G. L. Nicholson, H. Hearn, W. J. Stewart, of Toronto; Milt Walker and F. McPherson, Peterborough; R. Bell, Lindsay. Result, 1, Walker; 2, Evans; 3, Bell.

In this heat Bell was too close to the wheel in front of him and touched it causing his bicycle so swerve, and catching the man behind him, piled four of the riders in a heap, but escaped scathless himself and as there were only three riders left he finished third. Walker won by about 20 feet in a great burst of speed down the home stretch. Time, 5.07 3 5.

Final heat—Those eligible for this were the first three in the other two heats. Walker and Handcock rode a dead heat for first place, and Evans and Borland were only a few feet behind, also riding exactly even, when a couple of young fellows jumped out on the track and Borland went crashing into them. He drove the first man he struck so hard into the second one as to seriously injure the latter, who was a brother of Handcock, one of the riders. The young fellow, it is feared, was internally injured, and Borland was so badly shaken up as to necessitate his retirement from the race. The heat was run off in 5 16 1-5. Evans was given 3rd place, and Walker and Handcock rode again to decide the winner, when the Peterborough flyer carried off the honours.

THREE MILE PROFESSIONAL.

1, Alf Young; 2, Roy Gordon. Time—7.47 2-5.

There being only two contestants in this race it was somewhat lacking in interest, although the finish was exciting.

ONE MILE AMATEUR.

1st heat—1, George Nicholson of Toronto; 2, Bain of Toronto; 3, Parkin, of Lindsay. Time—2 39 2-5.

The second heat was also made the final one, as the time was limited.

Result—1, H. Handcock of Toronto; 2 Bond, of Toronto, 3, Parkin, of Lindsay.

Both Stewart and Handcock are members of the Queen City Bicycle Club, Toronto.

Roy Gordon is riding a Cleveland this year.

Walker rode his Red Bird.

Handcock was on a Gendron.

Alf Young rode a Stearnes.

Mr. Campbell, of Lindsay, District Counsel, was present to look after the races and was assisted by Mr. Nesworthy of the same place.

Assistant Commissioner Johnston, of Toronto and Councillor J. M. White, of Peterborough, acted as starters and Mr. Alex Gibson, of town, as official timer.

The Judges were Mr. Thos. Hilton, of Toronto, and Mr. Alf. Terrill, of Peterborough.

Please the Women.

The study of the problems of advertising is exceedingly fascinating. How is it that every woman as well as every man in Peterborough is interested in reading Gough Bros. advertisements? It is a fact that the average woman cares very little, comparatively for the news columns of a paper, and still less for the editorial. It is the advertising columns that tell a tempting tale of dry goods, clothing for herself and children, boots and shoes, groceries, housefurnishings, and so on, that interest her the most. And if not prevented she will also probably buy the clothing and men's furnishings for the whole family. It is the women of our country who buy from 75 to 90 per cent. of all the goods sold at retail in the stores. It is right here that the importance comes in of an advertiser enlisting the interest of the women in their newspaper announcements. Gough Bros. continually aim to do so; and their experience is that it has paid them well. The economically disposed wife knows, also, that it has paid her well to watch the price lists and pick out the bargains she needs. Hundreds of women have attested the present bargain sale of the great E. A. Small & Co's. stock of fine clothing, now in full swing at Gough Bros. The brightest, choicest suits for boys find ready sale to women who have been attracted by the saving of dollars; and to mothers of boys a practical lesson in economy runs all through this big sale. Its clothing that'll wear they want, and mother's can bank on the quality of the boys clothing in this splendid stock. And for such clothing it needs but little money. Boys' sailor suits, navy, 60c, 65c, $1.25, $1.40, $1.50. Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw

A GRAVE SITUATION.

The Trouble in India Assumes a Serious Aspect.

MOHAMMEDAN FANATICS ARE UGLY

Though the Outbreak Has Been Suppressed in the Meantime There is No Security —Europeans in Danger of Being Maltreated or Killed if They Go Out.

Bombay, July 2.—The assassins of Lieut. Ayerst of the commissariat corps, who was shot and killed by concealed natives while leaving the Governor's reception at Ganeshkind on the evening of June 22 (Jubilee Day), Plague Commissioner Rand being dangerously wounded at the same time, are still at large.

The aggressive attitude of the natives prior to the shootings was remarked. There were whisperings of impending disaster to Europeans, and it is thought that the whole native community, including the police, had foreknowledge that something was going to happen. On Jubilee night a delayed anonymous letter arrived at Commissioner Rand's bungalow, saying:

"You will die to-day, and the Queen will die two days after. Many others will follow, and the soldiers will all be killed."

Threatening letters have been received by other Europeans. During the progress of the plague prominent Hindoos made violent accusations against the British soldiers, charging them with robbing, ravishing and ill-treating all who came in contact with them.

The allegations that the Brahmins are responsible for the murders which have recently occurred are repudiated vigorously. The whole matter is causing the gravest disquiet in official circles.

The Rioting Ended.

Calcutta, July 2.—The rioting has ended, a compromise on the plague measures having been arranged between the authorities and the rioters, whereupon the disturbances have immediately ceased.

The absence of rain is causing the greatest anxiety throughout India.

How the Trouble Arose.

Calcutta, July 2.—The rioting arose out of the growing practice of the Mohammedans of seizing and refusing to pay rent for certain so-called mosques, built contrary to the tenets of the Mohammedan religion on ground belonging to infidels.

The demolition of a mud hut, a so-called mosque, led to the outbreak. The rioters were continually reinforced, in response to telegrams sent up the country, in which they appealed to all true Mohammedans to come to the aid of their co-religionists. For 48 hours the police and military were repeatedly obliged to clear the streets. Detached parties of Mohammedans stoned Europeans wherever they found them, in some cases dragging them from their garbs.

All telegraph lines were cut and the buildings containing Europeans were besieged. There were many narrow escapes. The rioters shouted war cries and vile epithets and grossly insulted the European women.

Europeans Still in Danger.

In several parts of Calcutta it is still dangerous for Europeans to go about, and it will remain so, owing to the nature of the compromise by which the riot was brought to an end.

The trouble is greatly increased by the absence of the higher officials, most of whom are now in the hills. Those who remained behind hesitated to undertake the responsibility of extreme measures. The result was that the troops were not allowed to fire or to take the offensive, even when exposed to every kind of indignity and insult. Their behavior and self-restraint under the circumstances were admirable. It is understood that the compromise is based upon the unconditional surrender of the land, but it is believed that this concession will prove a standing menace to the safety of Europeans, as the rioters will celebrate the victory throughout all India. In spite of the cessation of the riots, the situation is regarded as extremely grave, and it is felt that unless some official is invested with plenary powers during the absence of the governing authorities, European officials will be compelled to act on their own responsibility.

London Newspapers Anxious.

London, July 2.—The newspapers of this city express anxiety at the occurrences in India, intimating that the mass of the natives there are less content under British rule than was generally believed, and that a rebellion of unpleasant proportions may be threatening. Constant communications are passing between the Indian and Home Governments.

Many Policemen Were Injured.

Calcutta, July 2.—In the fighting which took place yesterday in the suburb of Chinpore between the police and the rioters, during which the former were compelled to fire on the latter, many policemen were injured. A party of 24 members of the native police was surrounded by a mob and so roughly handled that all of them are expected to die of the injuries they received. The rioters suffered heavily, but they carried off their dead and wounded.

A DAZZLING DISPLAY.

The Duke of Devonshire Has Eclipsed Everybody, Even in the Present Round of Exceptional Grandeur

London, July 2.—The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire gave a magnificent fancy dress ball to-night at Devonshire House, Piccadilly. It was an exceptionally brilliant affair, even for this season for brilliant social functions. Two thousand guests were present, among them nearly every royal family in Europe was represented. The costumes were mainly those of the sixteenth century, being for the most part copied from portraits of the kings, queens and courtiers who flourished in Europe during the reign of Elizabeth.

Along with these were personations of other historical or classical celebrities, such as the Queen of Sheba, Cleopatra, Agrippina, Zenobia, Messalina, Juno, Hebe and the Graces.

The Duke of Devonshire received his guests attired in the garb of the Emperor Charles V. of Germany.

MISS SHAW AND CECIL RHODES.

Contents of Telegrams Exchanged Between Them re Transvaal Raid.

London, July 2.—At the resumption to-day of the sittings of the Parliamentary Committee appointed to enquire into the Transvaal raid, four telegrams exchanged between Miss Flora Shaw, the colonial editor of The Times, and Mr. Cecil Rhodes, then Premier of Cape Colony, were produced. The first, from Miss Shaw, asks for the date of the commencement of plans, owing to the necessity of instructing European correspondents of The London Times, so that they might use their influence in favor of Mr. Rhodes.

The second despatch points out the danger of delay, as the European situation was considered serious, and a protest from the other powers might paralyze the Government.

The third message says Mr. Chamberlain (the Secretary of State for the Colonies) is sound in case of the interference of European powers, but have special reason to believe he wishes you to act immediately." One despatch from Mr. Rhodes to Miss Shaw says, "Inform Mr. Chamberlain I shall get through all right if he supports me, but he must not send cables like the one sent to the High Commissioner. I'll win, and South Africa will belong to England."

Mr. Chamberlain, replying to a question of the chairman, Mr. William L. Jackson, said: "There has been so much baseless chatter that I had better state exactly what happened.

"At the Colonial Office, in discussing the possibility of a rising, Under-Secretary Fairfield remarked: 'If the Johannesburgers are going to rise, it is to be hoped they will do it soon.' Having special knowledge of the subject, I think this remark gave the ground for saying it was wished the rising would occur immediately."

Replying to a question from Mr. Henry Labouchere, relative to Under-Secretary Fairfield's remark, Mr. Chamberlain said it was a "casual observation, and," he added, "it was possible Mr. Fairfield was laughing at Miss Shaw."

The chairman announced that he intended to re-examine Dr. Rutherford Harris, formerly Secretary of the British South Africa Company, but, continued the chairman, Dr. Harris was abroad, and he was unable to reach him.

The sitting of the committee was then adjourned.

SIR WILFRID SPOKE.

The Banquet to the Colonial Premiers by the Colonial Institute.

London, July 2.—The Duke of Connaught presided at a banquet given this evening by the Colonial Institute to the colonial premiers at the Hotel Cecil. Covers were laid for 600. Among those present were Lord Salisbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Selborne, the Earl of Jersey, Lord Loch, Mr. Goschen, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir George Faudel-Phillips, the Lord Mayor, and most of the consular agents-general.

The Duke of Connaught toasted the "United Empire," coupling Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name with the toast.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in responding, said that if the colonial premiers remained much longer in England, they would all be killed by kindness. He admitted that the goal of his aspirations was to see Canadians of French descent sitting at Westminster. If he was a younger man he would hope to realize that ambition, but to-day his only ambition was to get a denunciation of certain foreign treaties, which were a blot on colonial development.

VISITED THE QUEEN.

The Colonial Troops Were Reviewed by Her Majesty at the Royal Home.

London, July 2.—(Telegram Cable.)—The Canadian contingent, on leaving London for Windsor to-day, to be inspected, with the other colonial troops, by Her Majesty, were flatteringly received all along the route to Paddington Station. To-morrow they will bid good-bye to London and embark at Liverpool for home.

The people of Windsor gave a grand reception to the colonials on arriving, and all the way to the castle cheered them repeatedly. Her Majesty, after the inspection, expressed the greatest satisfaction with the appearance of the men.

20,000 PEOPLE HOMELESS.

The Late Floods in Moldavia Have Been Terrible in Destruction.

London, July 2.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Braila, the principal port of Roumania, says that 20,000 inhabitants of Galats, in Moldavia, on the left bank of the Danube, between the confluences of the Sereth and the Pruth with that river, are homeless, as a result of the recent floods. Most of them are destitute also and camping in the streets, where they are fed by the military. The Roumania gunboats are busy rescuing families still in danger. It is estimated that no fewer than 100 persons have been drowned, though the authorities are reticent on the subject, for fear of censure for their failure to adopt precautions earlier which might have mitigated the disaster.

A NEW SCHEME ON

By Which it is Proposed to Give Delagoa Bay to the Boers.

London, July 2.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Mail asserts that Dr. W. J. Leyds, the Transvaal Secretary of State, has engineered a syndicate, ostensibly French, in order to conceal its political nature, which has bought up all the available shares of the Mozambique Company. The money is said to be contributed, according to the correspondent, by the Transvaal Government and several German financial houses, and the syndicate will pay Portugal a large sum for a new charter to the Mozambique Company, including the whole of Delagoa Bay, with its port, customs and entire administration.

"Thus," continues the correspondent, "unless England acts quickly, the Delagoa region will fall within the control of a Boer-German group."

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

Crow's Nest Road to be Pushed at Once—Climbing the Tower Stairs Personal and Other Items.

Ottawa, July 2.—(Special.) T. G. Shaughnessy, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific, was in town to-day. He had a conference with M. J. Haney, superintendent of construction on the Crow's Nest Line, as a result of which it was decided to immediately call for tenders for construction of the first 100 miles of the new line from Lethbridge Westerly. Mr. Haney left for Montreal with Mr. Shaughnessy this afternoon. He proceeds to Winnipeg on Monday, thence on to Macleod, where he will open the tenders, which are for two or five-mile sections.

During the past fiscal year 10,000 people climbed the stairs leading to the main tower of the Parliament Buildings, whence such a splendid view of the city and its beautiful surroundings is to be had. All visitors to the tower are expected to conform to the practice of recording their names and addresses in the register, kept for that purpose at the foot of the stairs. The register is in charge of a most obliging messenger, who is quite a statistician. He finds that the total number of visitors to the tower for the year just closed was 10,-247, and they registered as follows:

From Ontario 7296, Quebec 2085, Nova Scotia 48, New Brunswick 58, Prince Edward Island 19, Manitoba 47, British Columbia 32, Northwest Territories 22, United States 646, Europe 94. This total is some 2000 in excess of the number of visitors last year.

The reduction of the staff of the Government Printing Bureau has commenced. The first relay of 24 men was laid off to-day.

The Premier of Prince Edward Island, Hon. Fred Peters, Q.C., is not likely to take much vacation this Summer. At present he is campaigning in his Province in preparation for the general election to be held July 21. After that he will have his hands full as British counsel in the Behring Sea seizure arbitration, for the commission will meet at Halifax, August 28, when final arguments will be made on both sides.

Sir Richard Cartwright is taking a few days' rest in Kingston and is not expected to return to the Capital before Tuesday.

A prominent lumberman said to-day he was very glad to hear of the reduction in the American duty on white pine to a dollar, and hoped it would be finally passed by the President. He does not think Canada should retaliate, as the duty formerly was $1 a thousand. If the United States duty had been left at $2, and a Canadian export duty put on logs, it would practically prohibit all export. The new duty will, he thinks, be not too hard upon the Canadian trade. The Journal urges an export duty on logs equivalent to the duty on sawn lumber.

Mgr. Merry del Val, the Papal Abbegate, will stay in Ottawa the remainder of this week. Next week he will pay a visit to Toronto, and as he expressed a wish to view Niagara Falls it is likely he will go there for a few days' rest. This will end the delegate's visit in Canada. After seeing the Falls he will proceed direct to New York and thence take steamer home to Rome.

Ottawa's oldest inhabitant died last evening in the person of Joseph Dubois, who was 109 years of age. He died at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Victor Beauchamp, 467 St. Patrick-street. Mr. Dubois was born in 1788 at Point St. Claire, Que. He was in possession of all his faculties up to the day of his death, and is said to have worked when he was 100 years of age.

Mr. Bell, M. P., Pictou, N. S., and S. D. Scott, editor of The St. John Sun, left for the Northwest yesterday. A large number of the members on both sides of the House of Commons are interested in the gold and silver mines of the Province.

Mr. Bostock, M. P., and family left for home to-day.

Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, returned to Ottawa this evening after an absence of several months. His health is much improved.

Mr. Morrison, M.P., New Westminster, has gone to his home in Nova Scotia for a few days before leaving for the West.

All the Liberal members from Manitoba except Mr. Richardson are still in the city. They are looking after some business they have with the departments.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, intends leaving for British Columbia shortly.

Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, does not intend taking holidays until Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns. The report that he intends going to Europe at present is not correct.

The vacant position of Collector of Customs has not yet been filled at this port. While it has been settled that Mr. J. W. Russell is to get the appointment, there are special reasons for delay.

Dr. Fletcher of the Experimental Farm left to-day for Manitoba. He will be absent three weeks. While away Dr. Fletcher will visit Oak Lake, Carberry, Neepawa and surrounding districts. He will instruct farmers how to rid their places of weeds and pestilential insects.

Mrs. Blair and family left for New Brunswick to-night to spend a few holidays.

Coal may go up in the city to about $7 a ton before long.

WHY DID HE SHOOT?

Charles Nelson Ambushed by a Coward in Washington Park, Chicago.

Chicago, July 2.—While Charles Nelson, a stenographer, sat on a bench in Washington Park last night with his companion on a bicycle ride, Miss Margaret Staples, of 1537 Michigan-avenue, an unknown assassin fired three bullets at him from the corner of a lilac bush. A bullet entered Nelson's body near the heart, another pierced his neck and the third wounded him in the fleshy part of the leg. Nelson was immediately taken to the hospital, where the physicians pronounced his wounds fatal. After firing the three shots, the assassin ran away and was soon lost sight of by the crowd which had gathered on hearing the shots. The cause of the shooting is unknown.

NO SUNDAY BALL IN ROCHESTER.

Rochester, July 2.—Sunday baseball has been killed for the balance of the season in Rochester. A crusade against Sunday ball was begun recently by the Law and Order people. The owners of the Rochester Eastern League Team, together with the manager and nine players, were indicted by the last grand jury for Sabbath-breaking. Pitcher Kid Gleason was to-day convicted on the charge. The case will be appealed by the club owners. The balance of the cases will go over until fall. Pending the appeal, the owners have stipulated to discontinue playing Sunday games for the summer.

No other oil and no other medicine has ever been discovered which can take the place of Cod-liver Oil in all conditions of wasting. New remedies come, live their little day and die, but Cod-liver Oil remains the rock on which all hope for recovery must rest. When it is scientifically prepared, as in Scott's Emulsion, it checks the progress of the disease, the congestion and inflammation subside and the process of healing begins. There is the whole truth. Book about it free.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is generally concluded that when a man stands the test of popularity, judged by his home life, he is not at all a bad sort. Judged by such a standard the magnificent demonstration of respect and confidence tendered Premier Hardy in his home, Brantford, is something to be proud of—especially when, as there is no reason to doubt, it reflects the feeling of the province at large.

Somebody ought to give Mr. Foster and Sir Charles Tupper letters of introduction to Sir Mackenzie Bowell. It seems very proper that these distinguished Conservatives should know each other. "Know," by the way is hardly the proper word. Sir Mac knowing them so well, explains why he doesn't recognize them. There seems to be something like a mutiny among the chief officers of Her Majesty's good ship Opposition.

July 1st the silly season set in—also the long vacation; and so far as the legal fraternity is concerned, for two months the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. The courts are practically closed, and the limbs of the law perform their predatory functions in a listless, disorganized sort of a way, but, after all, a very effective one, as many a litigant will find who looks after hot-weather law.

The Turk still pitches his tent and pickets his steed in Thessaly, consuming the crops sown by the peasants, who are starving in consequence. But it is not probable that the Sultan will be allowed to stay. Great Britain won't stand it, and since, by the great parade of war ships in the Solent, Britain's paramount supremacy on the sea was demonstrated, Germany shows a disposition to think that Britain is right in the opinion that the Turk must go—from Thessaly.

The London News celebrates its first anniversary by issuing a splendid special number. This number has a strawberry mark on its face—first page—that makes one's teeth water. Its contents, 24 large pages, do to London-the-less industrially and individually in the matter of making them known, what the News does in the matter of news the year round. The News is a bright, brisk live newspaper that has come to stay. Its anniversary number, to borrow the eloquent vernacular of the small boy—"is a peach."

The flamboyant "Monroe doctrine" of the United States doesn't seem to "cut much ice" in Europe. Uncle Sam proposed to annex Hawaii, but the Russian Bear put down his paw on the proposal, and we hear no more about it. Some Jingo members of Congress proposed casting Spain out of Cuba and setting up a republic. Germany objects, and the United States will have to stand aside. The Monroe doctrine is having a hard time of it lately, and our American cousins are learning the lesson that it takes two parties, at least, to make a bargain. Put to the test by actual application the Monroe doctrine will be found to be about as dead as its presidential originator.

DEATH OF W. G. MURDOCH.

The Well-Known Toronto Lawyer the Victim of an Accidental Wound Received in Play.

Toronto, July 3.

The well-known barrister, W. G. Murdoch, died yesterday morning in Grace Hospital in this city. On Wednesday afternoon he was taken to the hospital, suffering from a wound in the eye, which he had received during the previous evening in a friendly fencing bout with umbrellas whilst in the Caer Howell Hotel.

A post-mortem was held yesterday afternoon and an inquest at the Hospital at night.

The only mark of violence on the body was that on the left eye, or more definitely between the eye-ball and the eye brow. The attendants stated that it was badly swollen when the body was taken to the Hospital.

Dr. P. J. Strathy deposed that he dressed the wound in the eye. When he saw deceased the latter had made light of what had happened and Mr. Charles Mead had told him that deceased and Frank Lockwood had been fencing with umbrellas and Lockwood's umbrella had gone into the eye of deceased.

Charles Mead swore that, in company with Dr. Strathy, he had found in the Caer Howell Hotel Frank Lockwood, Killally, Robertson and deceased. They went into a room and he heard deceased say to Lockwood: "Are you any good at fencing? you are not much good at anything else. Stand upon your feet." Lockwood did so and deceased made a sort of lunge at Lockwood with his umbrella. The latter put up his umbrella to foil the thrust and deceased ran into it catching it in the eye.

The Coroner: Did Mr. Murdoch lose his balance and fall upon the umbrella? Witness: Yes; he lunged too far, and fell over.

Frank Lockwood was next sworn. He had met deceased at the Caer-Howell Bowling Club about 5.45 p.m. on Tuesday. Deceased challenged him to a game of bowls. He accepted, and, the ground being wet, they only played a few minutes. Each won a game, then witness had won the final, the scorer being Mr. Killally. Messrs. Robertson and Mead were in the club room when the players went in. Deceased said to witness, "You can't bowl; can you fence?" Witness had objected, but tapped on the shoulder he arose and held up his umbrella to defend himself. Deceased had made a forward movement and had received witnesses' umbrella in the eye. Continuing, witness remarked that he had apologized to deceased, but the latter had said, "That's all right. It was my fault." Deceased seemed sober, but was in a funny mood. Everyone in the party was sober also.

The inquest was adjourned till next Wednesday evening at the Police Court.

This Hot Weather.

YOU ARE PHYSICALLY AND MENTALLY EXHAUSTED.

Paine's Celery Compound is the Great Builder and Recuperator.

As a rule there is no pain following physical and mental exhaustion and debility. You know you are weak, faint, languid, have loss of memory, depression of spirits, with a wasting of flesh. Your troubles proceed simply from nervous exhaustion, and though you are not suffering pain and agony, be assured your condition is extremely perilous, and demands immediate attention.

That wonderful stream (the blood) that runs to every part of the body, supplying the most minute nerves and tissues, is foul and poisoned. In your present condition your blood is not a life stream—it is a stagnant pool of disease and death.

The healthy, hale and strong, that bear up during the hottest weather, and that are blessed with clean, pure blood and steady nerves, are the people who make use of Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that revitalizes the blood, that fortifies the nervous system, that gives perfect digestive power, sound sleep and a new lease of life to those advanced in years.

Paine's Celery Compound is truly the great modern elixir of life, and no wonder that doctors approve of it and strongly recommend it.

Why go on in wretchedness and misery when such a medicine promises health, vigor and new life? We recommend you no untried remedy. Every bottle of Paine's Celery Compound is warranted to do the work it promises. There is health and life in every drop.

Dust Ignited by Sun's Rays.

An instance of the ignition of coal dust by the sun's rays is reported in The Glucknuf, a German authority. It appears that the surface works of the Maybach Colliery, near Friedrichsthal, in the Saar district, are chiefly of iron and on certain girders the floating dust, due to the tipping of coal onto the jigging screens, becomes, in course of time deposited in a layer more than an inch thick. On a workman burning his hand, while repairing a pipe running through the corrugated iron forming one of the south walls, the official inquiry showed that the layer of coal dust had been formed along the whole length of the wall, and, although the dust contained a proportion of pulverised rock, the metal plates heated by the sun had ignited it, the layer of white ash on the top proving that it had burned for a considerable period. The circumstance affords fresh proof of the ease with which coal dust may be brought to ignition, also a possible explanation of fires at similar surface works.

FROM AGONY TO JOY.

Acute Sufferings from Acute Rheumatic Ailment Relieved by South American Rheumatic Cure when hope had well-nigh Gone—Mrs. F. Ferris, wife of a well-known Manufacturer of Glencoe, Cheerfully Tells the Story of her Cure.

"I was for years a great sufferer from rheumatic affection in my ankles and at times was so bad that I could not walk. I tried every known remedy and treated with best physicians for years but with no permanent relief. Although my confidence in remedies was about exhausted, I was induced to try South American Rheumatic Cure, I purchased a bottle. The very first dose gave me relief and after taking two bottles all pain had vanished and there has been no return of it. I cheerfully recommend this great remedy." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were all told about 75 cars of live stock on the market yesterday; 25 loads came in on Dominion Day, and as the market closed early that day the most of the stock remained for yesterday's market. There were 1400 cattle, 1700 sheep and lambs, 65 calves and 1400 hogs represented in the two days.

Receipts were large of rough cattle that were not fat, also some grass cattle which are not worth as much as stall-fed by nearly $1 per hundred. Good stall-fed shippers brought from $4.50 to $4.75, and very choice selected might have been worth a little more. Two car lots brought $4.75 and they were real good ones. Prime cattle are in limited supply. Butcher's cattle were plentiful, such as they were, and there was little change in prices. Stall-fed butchers sold at $3.50 to $3.75. The demand for shipping sheep was good and all offered sold at $3.50 to $3.65 per cwt.

Hogs are in good demand and markets steady at $5.00 for the best. Good cows bring a good price, but there are a great many poor ones offered. There were about 25 on the market, which sold from $20 up to $35. Extra good ones would bring $40. Calves sold at $4 to $6 and lambs at $3 to $3.50 each. The following are the shipments per C.P.R. for Thursday and Friday: J. & J. W. Dunn 12 cars export cattle and six double-deckers of sheep. The cattle, 198 in number, were from the Don byres, and are for the London market; M. Vincent 4 cars, A. Montreuil 3 cars, all butchers' cattle, for Montreal market.

Per G.T.R.: Brown & Snell 9 cars, W. Levack 9 cars, James Eakins 5 cars, W. H. Dean 6 cars, A. Carey 1 car and H. A. Mullins 2 cars for Boston.

THE BIGGEST HIT OF THE SEASON

Wonders are coming thicker and faster than ever. The Jubilee year is to be full of new and startling wonders. Just imagine all the Wonderful things you have heard and read about lately, and then listen to this: The latest wonder of the day has been started by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co., who are holding their annual summer clearance during the months of July and August.

This firm intends to make the Jubilee summer holidays of 1897 memorable to the people of Peterborough by giving away elaborate ladies' and gentlemen's electro-gold hunting case watches to every cash purchaser of $35 worth of Clothing or Furnishings at their store.

This wonderful Victor Watch is the greatest watch the World has ever seen given away. The cases are electro gold plated, engraved in the most magnificent style—stem winding and setting—and guaranteed for time and durability. A princely present for a lady or gentleman. Specimens of the watches on exhibition in H. LeBrun & Co's show window, and you can have your choice of any of these beautifully chased patterns.

Ladies as well as gentlemen can take advantage of this wondreful offer. Every purchaser will receive a ticket on which the amount of each cash purchase will be recorded.

PRIZES! PRIZES!

In order to make our summer clearance sale still more interesting, we offer Three Special Prizes to the three largest purchasers of goods at our store during July and August as follows.

1st Prize—To the Largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.
2nd Prize—To the Second largest Purchaser, a Victor Watch
3rd Prize—To the Third largest purchaser, a Victor Watch

Those who are not lucky enough to get one of these special prizes, their amounts will be allowed on a $35 cash purchase.

Better hurry up if you want to share these special gifts. The town will be after them hot foot.

Prices all over the store greatly reduced during July and August.

ON CHATHAM'S TRACK

The Second Day of the Meet Better Than the First.

McCARTHY TOO FAST FOR DAVIDSON

Angus McLeod Won the Five-Mile Championship and Made a New Record—Axton Captured the Mile and Richardson the Half-Mile Amateur Championship.

Chatham, July 2.—(Special.)—The second day of the C.W.A.'s most successful meet came to an end without any serious mishaps, and a lot of the wheelmen left on the G.T.R. for the meet at Detroit on Monday. The first event on to-day's program was the famous cooks' parade, which started at 11 o'clock. The order of the procession was as follows:

A carriage with officials; then came the Wanderers' Band in grotesque styles; next were the Athenaeums in fancy costumes, the Chatham Band being next, with the Dunlop Tire Company's Band last. The banner for the cooks' parade was awarded to the Wanderers' Band. At 2 o'clock the races started on the keenest and fastest of tracks, and while the races were going on Collie Ross and his band entertained the crowd and rendered some good music.

The first race on the program was the half-mile, professional. Davidson had the lead, but McCarthy beat him in a fast sprint in the stretch, Blaney a good third.

The mile handicap was run off in two heats, the first going to Jack Robinson, R. Barnett second and Crelse third. Provencher, Colville and Schaffer qualified. The second was won in a sprint by Branston, Martineau getting second and McEachern third, while little Gascoyne and Wilson qualified for the final.

Then came the mile open, professional, won by McCarthy, Toronto, Davidson second and McLeod third. This race was never in doubt, for McCarthy caught the tandem and stayed there to the finish.

Next was the final of the mile handicap, won by H. Gardiner, with 60 yards handicap, Bain getting second, with same handicap, Burns of Toronto third with 40 yards and Branston of Winnipeg with 40 yards fourth. The scratch men were not in it.

The fourth race was ridden off in heats, and was won by Richardson of Toronto, Riddle second and Varney of London third. Moore qualified. The second heat went easily to A. Gascoyne, Smith second, and Graves was given third for pacing.

The fifth race was awarded to Westbrook, post entry, McIntyre second, Barry Tolton third.

The amateur championship was in two heats. The first was won in the stretch by Riddle of Winnipeg, Richardson second, J. Davidson third. Carman qualified. The second went to Moore, Graves second, Axton a close third. Clements qualified.

The team race was run off in mile heats, the first going to the Wanderers of Montreal, the second to the Winnipeg team, the third to the Royal Canadians and the fourth to the Tourists. The last heat was ridden off twice, as the riders loafed, and were threatened with disqualification if they did not go faster.

The two-mile tandem championship went to Davidson and McLeod, Greatrix and McCarthy second. This race was one of the best, Greatrix and McCarthy had the lead, but were beaten by the winners, who waited for a sprint.

Then came the final mile amateur championship, which was won by Axton, Moore having the lead to the stretch, where Axton spurted, leaving Moore second, Graves a good third.

The 10th race, the five-mile championship, professional, was won by McLeod, Greatrix second, T. B. McCarthy third. In this race the record was broken, being lowered by 35 seconds, the new record being 10.54 1-5. McCarthy got behind the tandem, but in the sprint McLeod won. McCarthy dropped to third, Greatrix coming up to his place.

The final half mile open, amateur, was won by Richardson, Toronto, Riddle second and Graves being awarded third. The finish was very close.

Next came the semi-final of the team race, which was won by the Wanderers of Montreal. Semi-final No. 2 was the Royal Canadians' all the way, as Oake started out and won by fully one-eighth of a mile, going the mile in 2.25 unpaced.

Then, after ten minutes' rest, the last race of the day, the team race final, was run off, the Wanderers of Montreal winning by 7 points. The riders of the first and second teams were:

Wanderers—Tuft, Cousinat, Robertson.

Royal Canadians—Oake, Stoner, Bounsel.

Moore and Graves were suspended, the suspension starting from to-day. Graves got suspended for 20 days for fouling on the track, and Moore 10 days for striking him in the dressing room.

The road race will finish on the track to-day, and there will be a full program, at which records will be tried. The rider winning the amateur championship will be sent to Scotland to represent Canada in the royal championships. The officials were the same as the first day. Benner and McKay did all the amateur pacing in good style, as did Tufton and Bryan. Hanks and Tucker the professional events of the day. Summary:

Half mile, professional—McCarthy, Toronto; Davidson, Toronto; Blaney, Brantford. Time 1.02 3-5.

One mile handicap, amateur, first heat—Robinson, Hamilton; Barnett, Toronto; Crabe, Petrolea. Time 2.10 1-5.

Second heat—Branston, Winnipeg; Bain, Winnipeg; McEachern, Toronto. Time 2.10 3-5.

Final—Gardiner, Toronto; Bain, Winnipeg; Brown, Toronto; Branston, Winnipeg. Time 2.23 1-5.

Mile open, professional—McCarthy, Toronto; Davidson, Toronto; McLeod, Brantford. Time 2.03 3-5.

Half mile, amateur, first heat—Richardson, Toronto; Riddle, Winnipeg; Varney, London. Time 1.06 1-5.

Second heat—A. Gascoyne, Toronto; Smith, Toronto; Graves, Toronto. Time 1.05 2-5.

Final—Richardson, Toronto; Riddle, Winnipeg; Graves, Toronto. Time 1.05.

One-mile, 2.30, professional—Westbrook (Brantford), McIntyre (Cleveland), Tolton (Galt). Time 2.13 1-5.

One-mile championship—First heat—Riddle (Winnipeg), Richardson (Toronto), J. Davidson (Toronto). Time 2.18 4-5.

Second heat—Moore (Toronto), Graves (Toronto), Axton (Brantford). Time 2.18 2-5.

Final—Axton (Brantford), Moore (Toronto), Graves (Toronto). Time 2.04 3-5.

Two-mile tandem championship, professional—Davidson and McLeod 1, McCarthy and Greatrix 2, Brown and Tolton 3. Time 4.48 4-5.

Five-mile championship, professional—McLeod (Brantford) 1, Greatrix (Toronto), 2; McCarthy (Toronto), 3. Time 10.05 4-5.

Three-mile team race—First heat—Wanderers (Montreal). Time 2.47 2-5.

Second heat—Winnipeg team. Time 3.24 1-5.

Third heat—Royal Canadians. Time 2.30.

Fourth heat—Tourists (Toronto). Time 2.37.

Semi-final, No. 1—Wanderers (Montreal). Time 2.37.

Semi-final, No. 2—Royal Canadians (Toronto). Time 2.25.

Final, three miles—Wanderers (Montreal), Royal Canadians (Toronto). Time 7.37 4-5.

The second prize for the road race to-day was stolen out of MacDonald's window. The prize was a racer.

Greatrix entered a protest and was awarded the third money in the professional two-mile handicap in Thursday's races instead of Van Tuyl. This is the race in which Elliott was disqualified, changing the order of the winners.

TOM COOPER IN FRONT.

Racine, Wis., July 2.—At the National Circuit races, under the auspices of the L.A.W., here to-day, Tom Cooper won the half mile open, professional. Eddie Bald being but a foot behind. Arthur Gardiner coming in third. The time was 1.00 4-5, and equals the world's record. The one mile professional was a dead heat between Cooper and Bald, Mertens coming in third. Time 2.05 2-5.

A NOVA SCOTIA CASE.

Suffered without help—Eighteen Years getting worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N.S., June 21 (Special)—There is no man in this town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who was for eighteen years had been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says:—"It began with the backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I ran down greatly in weight the doctors said it was Diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength, I am perfectly cured.

The Origin of the Circus.

The origin of the modern circus dates back to about 1770, when Phillip Astley, a discharged English soldier, gave exhibitions of horsemanship in an improvised ring at Lambeth, Eng. His success was so great that he shortly after built a rude circus on a piece of ground near Westminster Bridge, which has borne his name ever since. Only the seats of the first structure were roofed over, the performer's ring being in the open air. He hired several performers and his wife went into the ring—the first female equestrian known. The circus became so popular that Astley in a few years was able to build a large and handsome amphitheatre which was opened to the public in 1780. It was burned three times, in 1794, 1803 and in 1842, each time being immediately rebuilt.

COAL MINERS STRIKE

A Quarter of a Million of Men Will be Involved

AND RESULTS WILL BE SERIOUS

The Miners Say the Wages Paid are Too Low to Permit Them to Live as Respectable People Ought to Miners of Six States Affected.

Cleveland, O., July 2.—A national strike of the coal mine workers has been ordered to take place on July 4.

This order affects all the mine workers in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia and Kentucky, 250,000 in all.

The struggle will be a long and bitter one, as the operators have expected trouble and have prepared for it as far as possible by accumulating stocks of coal.

Circular to Miners.

Columbus, O., July 2. The officers of the Union Mine Workers sent out this morning a general order for a strike in all the bituminous coal mining States to go into effect on July 4. The strike was decided a week ago to-day, but it was the intention of the officials to keep it quiet up to the last minute. The circular is in part as follows:

To the mine workers of the country, greeting:

Fellow Miners, At the last annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America held in the city of Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 12-16, 1897, after a full and careful review of the distressing condition of our craftsmen, brought on by the continued reductions in our wages; in order to prevent any further reduction from taking place and to secure for us a living rate of wages that will enable us to live as Americans ought to, so as to realize from our labor at least a sufficiency to provide the necessaries of life, it was determined that the scale of prices should be advanced to the following rates:

Pennsylvania (Pittsburg district), pick mining, 69 cents per ton.

Ohio, pick mining, 60 cents per ton.

Indiana, bituminous pick mining, 60 cents per ton.

Illinois, Grape Creek, pick mining, 55 cents per ton.

The balance of the State (Illinois) mining rate of 1894.

Mining to be paid three-fifths per ton of the price paid for pick mining, except in Indiana bituminous, where the price shall be four-fifths per ton of a per ton price paid for pick mining; other mining sections a corresponding increase in price that will place them on a relative basis.

It was further agreed that the time for enforcement of the scale be left with the National Executive Board and the district president to determine when it would be most opportune.

Therefore, pursuant to the instructions of the National Convention, the National Board and District Presidents met in Columbus on June 24-26, and decided that in their judgment the time was opportune to suspend on July 4, 1897, for the enforcement of the before-mentioned scale rates.

Therefore, mine workers everywhere will take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

In conclusion, we would urge upon the mine workers everywhere the necessity of constituting themselves into local committees, for the purpose of seeing that action is at once taken to give effect and maintain the objects sought to be accomplished.

To ensure success great care should be exercised by all that no breach of peace occurs at any time or place, or under any circumstances.

Bulletins will be issued from time to time to keep you informed of the progress of affairs.

Signed by members of the National Executive Board and district presidents:

Fred Dilcher, R. L. Davis, J. H. Kennedy, Henry Stephenson, James M. Carson, Patrick Dolan.

Members of National Executive Board: W. E. Farms, W. G. Knight, James M. Carson, Patrick Dolan, district presidents.

M. D. Ratchford, president National Executive Board.

John Kane, vice-president National Executive Board.

W. C. Pierce, secretary National Executive Board.

Indiana in It, Too.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 2.—Next Sunday, or prior to that day, circulars will be placed in the hands of all bituminous miners in the United States, calling them out on strike. It is estimated that 250,000 men will be involved. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and parts of West Virginia and Kentucky will contribute to the movement. The strike is to enforce the Columbus scale of 69 cents per ton for Pennsylvania, 60 cents for Ohio, 60 cents for Indiana and 55 cents for Illinois. When the Columbus scale was adopted it was not thought advisable to attempt its enforcement. A committee was then appointed to take in hand the matter of a strike, and to order one as soon as such a course seemed opportune. This committee has decided that the time has come to act.

Struck Ahead of Time.

Streator, Ill., July 2.—A mass meeting of miners here voted unanimously to go on strike now, and not wait for a general suspension order. As a consequence, no coal is being mined here, and nearly 3000 miners are idle.

Wilmington Men in It.

Bradwood, Ill., July 2.—The miners of the entire Wilmington field met at Glacken's Grove and decided by a unanimous vote to go on strike when the National officers shall order a suspension of work.

Five Thousand Men Affected.

Cleveland, O., July 2.—The Cleveland Rolling Mill Company and the Britton Iron and Steel Works have shut down, failing to sign the amalgamated scale. About 5000 men are affected.

Tin Plate Works Closed.

Anderson, Ind., July 2.—All the tin-plate works in the gas district around Anderson, Elwood, Atlanta, Gas City and Montpelier have closed in all of the departments governed by the wage scale. All skilled labor in the union window glass factories is suspended, pending a readjustment of the wage scale.

Fear of Trouble.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 2.—The situation in the East Tennessee and Southern Kentucky coal mining sections is rapidly becoming very serious. There are now over 2000 idle men in the Jellico district and nearly the same number along the line of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad. These men struck on May 1 and have done no work since. Few of them had any money saved up, and the majority are now suffering for the necessities of life. All efforts to settle the strike have proved unavailing, and it is now admitted that none of the mines can be operated for several months. The strikers have so far made no attempts at violence, but as the suffering among them increases it is feared that trouble will come.

How It May Affect Canada.

Toronto, July 3.

Mr. Noel Marshall of the Standard Fuel Company went over to Buffalo yesterday in connection with the impending strike in the coal-producing States of the East and West. From the information Mr. Marshall gained in Buffalo he considers the situation very serious and likely to affect not only the price of coal but the supply of it to the various manufactories not only in the United States but in Canada. This may cause a number of factories on both sides of the line to shut down. All the coal companies in Buffalo are very much excited and the different railway companies are also anxious. Although they still quote prices none of them will guarantee delivery after this week. In Mr. Marshall's opinion there is not more than three weeks' supply in Canada. Hence the result would certainly be most serious if the strike should extend and production cease. Three years ago, in connection with the last strike, coal was at what was called famine prices. Nova Scotia coal had to be brought to Toronto. The Grand Trunk has not much coal ahead and the stocks of all railroads are at present very light.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter: "Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. Will Take Proceedings.

The members of the Central Committee who were in charge of the Jubilee Day celebration, have received notice from the legal firm of Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, to the effect that Mr. Wm. Brine claims $300 damages for injuries received through the fall of the grand stand on June 22nd. Unless a settlement can be made proceedings will be taken.

Remember the Auction Sale of Building Lots, the property of Mrs. James H. Dixon, on TUESDAY, July 6th, at 2 p.m., on the premises, Chemong Road.

BUFFALO BILL IS HERE.

He Led the Glittering Pageant of Cavalry Troops and Hardy Rough Riders Through the Streets This Morning.

The whole country side was in town today to attend the great Wild West performance given by Buffalo Bill and his aggregation of rough riders.

The morning parade was a whole show in itself, composed as it was of an immense cavalcade of riders from every part of the globe in all the glory of their national costumes. As to the genuineness of the nationality of these riders, there can be no doubt, as the German hussars, English cavalrymen, Russian Cossacks, American cavalry, etc., were as easily distinguishable by their faces as by their uniforms.

Capt. Sutton was in town during the day, and called upon the English cavalrymen, two of whom are just from India on furlough. He had a most interesting conversation with them on the relative merits of the Canadian volunteer cavalry and the English regulars.

The afternoon performance in the Driving Park was attended by an enormous crowd and the extravagant praise which they bestowed upon what they had witnessed in the way of expert riding, marksmanship, and feats of cavalry, has induced hundreds more to attend the evening exhibition, which will be fully as prolonged as the afternoon exhibition, as the Wild West Show has not the cumbersome apparatus to pack away which is carried by a circus. An electric light plant is carried with the concern and therefore there will be plenty of light for the evening performance, and it will be much cooler than during the afternoon.

Now for bargains in all Summer Cloth. ing at Grafton & Co, during this Summer Sale.

A meeting of the West Riding License Commissioners was held yesterday, when the business done was the transfer of the license of the late Huffman House from Mr. H. C. Winch to Mr. J. White, of the "National," the new name of the Huffman hostelrie, market square.

Addenda.

In the report of the Foresters' picnic yesterday it was made to appear that Mr. Charles Dredge had a family of 17 and Mr. D. Hiller of 19. The figures should have read seven and eight respectively. The quoit match was won by W. Taylor and A. Reid, as against McWilliams and Phillips. The score was 21—10. In the tug of war the All Comers won from the Foresters by 2 to 1.

Steamer Sunbeam Excursion.

The steamer Sunbeam will run the first of a series of weekly round trip excursions from Lakefield to Chemong and return starting from Lakefield on Wednesday, July 7th, leaving on the arrival of the morning train from Peterborough and reaching Chemong at 6 p.m. Returning on Thursday the steamer will leave Chemong at 8.30 a.m. on arrival of Leary's bus. Arrangements have been made with Mr. R. H. Leary to run busses from Peterborough to Chemong. The busses will connect with the boat on arrival at Chemong on Wednesday evening or with the steamer in the morning on Thursday morning by return trip to Lakefield, leaving postoffice corner, Peterborough, on Thursday morning at 7.30. Information at R. H. Leary's. 2d.

The Small Stock.

Gough Bros. sale of the gigantic stock of E. A. Small & Co., the millionaire clothing manufacturers of Montreal, is booming along merrily. The purchase of $40,000 worth of men's, youths' and boys' suits of the highest quality at a price below the cost of manufacture gave a great opportunity to start a genuine campaign in bargains that could not fail to leap into favour. A steady demand continues every day. The firm have had to hustle to wait on customers; and still they come, and still they buy, as they never bought before. The stock is the newest and freshest that has ever been put on sale here and the prices are practically the smallest ever named in Peterborough, without any exception. Gough Bros. want a great sale this week. Dominion Day celebration will help to give a big push to sales, while the present low prices will stay at the very bottom, with double figures reduced to units, far-seeing people are not likely to skip an opportunity like this. EVERY line in the men's and boys' departments is a guide line. The vastness of the stock, the crossing line of values, the many styles and bewildering piles of patterns, all continue to create interest in this mammoth summer sale of fine clothing at Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw

THE NEW INTERIOR OF ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

THE WORK OF RENOVATING SPLENDIDLY COMPLETED.

A Magnificent Ceiling Rich with Symbolic Significance and Chaste Ornamentation.

The days of magic are past, else one who might have gone asleep at Easter in St. Peter's cathedral and woke this morning would think that the magician's wand had wrought a miraculous material transformation in the interior of St. Peter's cathedral, converting the old, dingy, depressing, dark and unattractive interior into a bright, airy, beautiful temple of God, entirely unrecognizable from previous knowledge. The work of restoring the interior has been going forward rapidly since Easter and to morrow the congregation of St. Peter's cathedral will assemble for worship in one of the most beautiful church interiors in the diocese if not in the province. The main features of the wonderful change that has been wrought are the removal of the unsightly side galleries of the nave and the treatment of the ceiling. Previously the latter was a dull gray expanse of plaster that seemed to lower over the heads of worshippers like a storm cloud in the form of crude plaster panels enclosed by unpainted mouldings of wood. All this has been changed. Now the light streams into the nave, broken into flashing hues by the rich stained glass of the windows unobstructed by the unsightly bank of timber that composed the old gallery. Now from the floor to the beautiful ceiling the view is unbroken and the ceiling itself presents a new appearance of loftiness, seeming to be half a dozen feet higher than before.

THE GENERAL PLAN OF CEILING DECORATION

is simple but exceedingly effective. The ceiling is divided by wood mouldings into about forty large panels equally divided between nave and transept. Every alternate panel receives a different decoration; one is filled with rich but chaste ornamentation, which is merely for the sake of decoration, the general design being rectangular. The alternate panels contain a large circular field surrounded by decorative designs and containing centrally some religious emblems, such as the pelican feeding its young, representing Charity or Love; the anchor, representing Hope, and the cross, representing Faith, etc. Over the choir gallery and organ loft two medallions emblematic of Music are placed, and underneath the gallery on the respective sides are the Greek letters Alpha and Omega—"the first and the last"—and in its centre an eye, the centre of radii of lines representing light.

The most striking feature of the ceiling is a cruciform arrangement of medallions containing heroic paintings of the saints—four in the transept and two in the nave. Centrally, over the altar, is St. Matthew, with his tax gatherer's scroll on his knee. To the left of the centre and a little in advance is the medallion of St. Mark, with his lion, and opposite that of St. Luke, with his emblem, the ox. In the middle, in the panel forming the junction of the nave and transept is the medallion of St. John, with his pen and eagle, thus completing the tale of the four evangelists. On a line and about the centre of the nave is of St. Patrick, and nearer the door that of St. John the Baptist. The central panel over the sanctuary contains an emblem of the Holy Spirit, "in the form of a dove," from whose talons is suspended the ever burning sanctuary lamp. The medallion pictures are excellent specimens of the frescoer's art. The treatment of the ornamental features of the panels is also excellent—though the surface is absolutely flat yet the lights and shades are so skilfully disposed that the appearance of deep cut carvings and mouldings is presented. The heavy wood moulding inclosing the panels, is decorated and beautifully picked out with gilding. The whole effect of the ceiling decorations is superb, the tints are in perfect harmony and the general effect is exceedingly beautiful, with the addition, as before mentioned, of giving a fine appearance of loftiness.

The pilasters of the railing of the transept galleries are outlined with gilding, and the enclosed panels are richly ornamented. The choir gallery is similarly treated and with equally fine effect.

The walls are simply dealt with. They are tinted a silver gray, and underneath the junction with the ceiling a broad band of lozenge-shaped stencil work in maroon extends all around the walls of both nave and transept. Another band of similar design and colour passes around the walls just above the wainscotting of oiled ash. A middle band in olive green is broken at the window openings, and between the windows are double-arched panels enclosing the stations of the cross. The northern wall of the transept contains a large panel in deep fawn enclosed by a richly ornate scroll-work design. This field is sown with conventional fleurs de lis in gold. This stretch of wall is marked by four painted niches for statuary. These niches are so skilfully handled that, though the walls are quite flat, the niches seem to be deeply recessed. To the left of the altar, facing it, a statue of St. Anne and the Blessed Virgin; on the right side statutes of St. Joseph and St. Anthony of Padua, are placed.

COMFORT OF THE CONGREGATION.

The new seating of the church is worthy of particular mention, both for its elegance and the comfort it provides for the congregation. The ends of the seats are of solid oak with a wide curved arm, the lower part containing two recessed gothic panels, and the end is further enriched with countersunk quatrefoil and carved bosses by way of ornament. The backs and seats are of ash, the latter very comfortably curved, and the former with an equally comfortable slope. The entire seat is highly polished and is stained a rich dark colour. Each seat is provided with a comfortable prie-dieu, hinged, so that it can be folded under the seat in front when desired.

Altogether the interior of St. Peter's is magnificent, and the congregation is to be congratulated upon having so beautiful a place for their devotions.

Provisions are made for lighting the Cathedral by electricity.

The tower vestibule has had the walls tinted and a new wainscot of ash and all the stairways have been repainted and, in fact, the entire interior has been renewed, including a new floor for the nave.

The Bishop, Archdeacon Casey, the congregation and, in fact, the whole diocese has reason to be proud of the new interior, as well as exterior, of St. Peter's Cathedral, which is now in every respect worthy of the beautiful town in which it stands.

THE OPENING SERVICES.

The services on Sunday will consist of a mass at 8 o'clock, children's mass at 9.15, and solemn high mass at 10.30, at which His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will preach and explain the significance of the symbols included in the new decorations, and give the Papal benediction. At 7 p.m. grand Pontifical Vespers will be sung.

HIGH, LEVEL OR SWING?

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR—Under representative institutions, governments exist by the will and for the benefit of the people. In the department of Public Works it seems that the engineering fraternity consider that government's exist for the sake of carrying out their (the engineer's) ideas, independently of considerations of the public interests in the locality affected. They are not perhaps to blame for a proper pride in their profession and a proper confidence in their professional dicta; but there are times and circumstances when and under which modifications of the plans and recommendations of engineers, should yield to considerations of public convenience. It is contemplated, I understand, to erect a high level bridge over the canal at Lakefield, Now, so far as I can learn (and I have a good chance of discovering) the great majority of the people of the village of Lakefield, as well as those residents of the townships of Smith and Harvey, who will have to use whatever kind of bridge is constructed, are decidedly opposed to a high level bridge as against a swing on the canal level. It is urged that the high level bridge will have to be built at such an altitude that the approaches necessarily narrow, will be steep and difficult of travel as well as dangerous to travel. The bridge will, it is asserted, be as high as, or in cases higher than, the roofs of some of the houses in the vicinity thus depreciating their value. Mr. Hull's mill property is greatly damaged by the route the canal takes on the western side of it. If a high level bridge is built the mill property will in the matter of accessibility by the public be practically ruined, and the extra damages he will be in a position to claim will be of no inconsiderable amount. It is all right, no doubt, for a government to be guided by the advice of their engineers and such a course is in the main the only proper one to pursue. But there are cases when considerations of public convenience and public interest suggest the wisdom of such a variation from the Medo-Persian decrees of engineers as will meet the demands of the public. Such a case, it seems from all that can be learned, exists at Lakefield and it seems that the Government would be justified in making special inquiry into the circumstances with a view of meeting the wishes of the great majority of the public by substituting a swing for the high level bridge projected.

Yours very truly,
LOW LEVEL.

A Croupy Cough was Soon Driven Away by Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine.

"My little boy had a bad croupy cough," says Mrs. Smith, of 256 Bathurst street, Toronto. "My neighbor, Mrs. Hopkins, recommended me to try Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I did so, and the first dose did him good. One bottle completely cured the cold. It is surprising the popularity of Chase's Syrup in this neighborhood. It appears to me it can now be found in every house.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.09; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy in for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

An Ontario Lady Had Her Hands Poisoned.

Ladies should remember that the Diamond Dyes are the only pure, true and unadulterated dyes in the world. The imitation dyes sold under various names have bulk enough, but three-fourths of the contents is composed of cheap and worthless ingredients most dangerous to use and handle.

Diamond Dyes, prepared according to scientific principles, are always the same in colour and strength; these great advantages the women of Canada fully appreciate.

An Ontario lady writing about Diamond Dyes says:

"Your Diamond Dyes are the best I have ever used; they are quite harmless to work with and never irritate the skin. I had occasion to use a package of common, cheap dye that was sold me as being equal to the 'Diamond,' but it proved a source of great trouble. After using it a severe rash appeared on my hands, showing it contained poisonous matter."

HENRY OWENS' NEW IMPROVED MODEL PUMPS.

I have recently added some valuable improvements to my Model Pumps, which I have manufactured for the past thirteen years and which are known in every township and concession of Peterborough and adjoining counties. Numerous instances could be mentioned where these pumps are still doing good work after thirteen years constant use. Their durability would almost seem to have rendered further improvements unnecessary, and yet recent valuable changes which I have made deserve special mention.

The New Improved Model lift pump is supplied with a cone-shaped iron head, attached to which is an iron bracket from which a new leverage power is obtained, increasing the length of stroke for a stronger discharge of water. The movements of the handle, while they produce a more powerful action, have a steady even bearing, and the pump remains rigid and steady at every stroke. The new iron head adds increasing durability to these pumps, all checking and loosening being positively prevented. All the important working parts are of steel and consequently not liable to wear out. Another valuable improvement is the increased water space between the spout and head, which allows more freedom for the surplus water lifted, thus greatly reducing the liability of freezing in winter. Everyone requiring a new pump will find it much to their advantage, before purchasing elsewhere, to call and examine my new Improved Model Pump, at my Pump Works, corner of Simcoe and Water streets, Peterborough.

DURRANT'S APPEAL.

The Alleged Murderer of Blanche Lamont Will Live Until Oct. 12th, Unless Disease Kills Him.

Washington, July 1.—The papers in the appeal of W. H. T. Durrant, under sentence of death in San Francisco for the murder of Blanche Lamont, were received by the clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States to-day. The appeal is from the decision of the Circuit Court of the United States for the ninth circuit in refusing to grant Durrant's motion for a writ of habeas corpus. In his petition Durrant alleges the irregularity and illegality of the proceedings against him in the California State Courts, in that the trial was "conducted upon information not in accordance with the equal protection of the laws and not by due process of law," and that testimony was introduced and conviction secured without due process of law and without a trial by an impartial jury and without process of law.

As the Supreme Court will not sit again until Oct. 12 the appeal cannot be argued before that time.

SMASHED HIS HEAD.

A Polish Laborer at the Falls Met With Instant Death From Falling Rock —His Companion Hurt.

Niagara Falls, July 1. A most horrible accident took place in the new wheel pit about 7.30 o'clock last evening, when Thos. Kosmotski, a Pole, was instantly killed by a rock striking him on the head.

Kosmotski was one of the night mucking gang at work at the bottom of the pit. By some unknown means a piece of rock about 40 feet from the bottom of the pit became loosened and fell, striking Kosmotski on the head, and at the same time striking Joseph Sondig on the side, causing serious if not fatal injuries.

Coroner Slocum was notified and took charge of the dead body, while medical aid was summoned to care for the injured man.

The foreman employed on the job had just left the spot a few seconds before, and in so doing saved his life.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion, because it makes the whole body healthy—becauses it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood, and so makes SOLID, HEALTHY flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

WANTED TO DIE.

An Englishman Who Was Tired of Life—Fort William Lady Trampled to Death in London, Eng.

Fort William, July 1.—An Englishman, giving the name of H. W. Lapthorne, made a desperate attempt at suicide at the Windsor Hotel last night, but was prevented by the proprietor. He arrived in Canada from Birmingham four weeks ago and came here last Saturday, looking for work.

Word has been received that the wife of Charles Cureton of this place was trampled to death in a crowd at the Jubilee in London, Eng. She was waiting only for the Jubilee festivities to be over before returning home.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Rochester	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	2	1	0	5	11	3

Batteries—Lampe and Shaw; McFarlan and Fray. Umpire—Patton. Time 1.45.

The Rochesters won this afternoon by a home run. The game was a most peculiar one, both teams scoring in each innings alike and the first baseman of each team made a home run. Rochesters' batting was the feature of the game. The score:

Rochester 3	0	1	4	0	1	0	0	1		10	11	3
Syracuse 3	0	1	4	0	1	0	0	0		9	7	3

Batteries—Yerrick and Frary; Willis and Ryan. Umpire—Patton. Time 1.50.

LYNDON MOBBED IN LONDON.

London, July 1. The Londons took the sixth straight game from Hamilton this morning in the presence of nearly 2000 spectators. Score:

											R.	H.	E.
Hamilton	0	1	2	0	0	3	0	0	0	-	6	5	4
London	1	0	0	0	2	5	2	3	*		13	16	6

Batteries—Hardy, Roberts and Conwell; Johnson, Strowger and Hickey. Umpire—Lyndon.

Hamilton broke their losing streak this afternoon and administered a dose of whitewash to their opponents and putting a dozen runs to their own credit. The Londons were handicapped by the loss of Strowger's services and Capt. Ward, the latter being ordered out of the game in the fourth. The umpire's decisions were greatly against the home team, and after the game was over he was attacked by the excited crowd and barely escaped serious injury. Between 5000 and 6000 people were present. Score:

London	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0		0	4	4

Batteries—Cochran and Colwell; Kershaw and Hickey. Umpire Lyndon.

LEAFS WON TWO GAMES.

Guelph, July 1. The F. & P. M. B. B. Club of Saginaw, Mich., played two games here to-day with the Maple Leafs, who took them into camp both games.

Morning game—	R.	H.	E.
F. & P. M.	0	6	5
Maple Leafs	4	7	2

Batteries—Ferry and Carlton; Crow and Powers. Umpire Dyson.

Afternoon game	R.	H.	E.
F. & P. M.	8	9	7
Maple Leafs	11	10	7

Batteries—Bayley and Brown; Bradford, O'Brien and Powers. Umpire—Dyson.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia had an easy time of it in defeating Brooklyn. Daub was the most shining kind of a mark, being hit safely 20 times for a total of 30 bases. Taylor pitched a steadily effective game and came within an ace of shutting out the visitors. Score:

Philadelphia ..	2	9	2	0	1	4	6	1	x		16	20	2

Batteries—Daub and A. Smith, Grim; Taylor and Clements.

At Louisville—For Six innings the crippled Colonels gave the Reds a good argument, but after that they went to pieces and the visitors fattened their batting average considerably. Maje Hock, a local amateur, was given a trial at third base and made a good impression. Attendance 1300. Score:

Cincinnati	4	0	0	0	0	0	2	5	3	—14	20	2
Louisville	0	0	0	1	3	0	0	0	0	—	4	12	6

Batteries—Dwyer and Reitz; Cunningham and Wilson.

At Chicago—For five innings the game was a pitchers' battle and about evenly divided. The Colts commenced to take Killen's measure in the sixth. Following it up in the seventh, they pounded him for seven singles, a double and a three-bagger, earning all eight runs. Anson's fielding was a feature. Attendance 1100. Score:

											R.	H.	E.
Chicago	0	0	0	0	0	2	8	3	x	—13	20	5
Pittsburg	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	2	—	5	10	2

Batteries—Griffith and Donohue; Killen and Ingalton.

At Baltimore—The Champions won the contest with the Senators in a long drawn-out and tiresome game. Kelly's two-bagger in the seventh, scoring Bowerman and Keeler, won the game, as the score was tied up to that time. Several of O'Day's decisions gave much dissatisfaction to both sides. Attendance 2019. Score:

Baltimore	0	1	0	2	0	0	3	0	x—	6	9	1
Washington ..	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	0—	3	8	2

Batteries—Pond and Bowerman; McJames and Farrell.

At Cleveland—The Browns were unable to hit Wilson and the Indians had an easy victory. The features were the brilliant fielding of Cross and the batting of Sockalexis. Umpire McDermott is ill and substitute McGinty again officiated. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	0	0	3	0	0	0	1	2	6—	6	14	2
St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	0—	2	4	2

Batteries—Wilson and McAllister; Carsey and Murphy.

At New York—The pennant hunters from Boston won from the Giants by timely batting, assisted by errors and freakish base running. Nichols and Rusie both pitched winning ball at times. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
New York	0	0	0	0	1	0	3	0	1—	4	8	4
Boston	0	0	0	2	0	3	0	0	0—	5	8	7

A NEW MAN.

O. G. Chapin, Jeweler, of Burk's Falls, Says He is a New Man Since Using the Great South American Nervine—His Testimony is Endorsed by Thousands of Others.

"For years I have been greatly troubled with nervous debility and affection of the kidneys. I believe I tried every proprietary medicine under the sun, but none seemed to give me any relief until I had tried South American Nervine. To my surprise the first bottle gave me great relief. I have persevered in taking it, and can say that I have not felt so well for years. I do heartily recommend this great cure." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

DuChaillu at Leisure.

Mr. Paul DuChaillu, the famous author, whose books have delighted thousands of readers, has been called to Philadelphia by the students of the University of Pennsylvania, in consultation, as to the costuming of the play "The Norsemen," to be produced by the Mask and Wig Club. Mr. DuChaillu's judgment, it goes without saying, is the best authority on the "Viking Age," and Mr. DuChaillu, it seems, is unable to refuse a request from girls or witty students. The latest news from Washington is that the thousand and one friends of the explorer are urging upon President McKinley the advisability of appointing him to the United States Ministership of Norway and Sweden.—Philadelphia Press.

"I should like," said the vase from the china store,
"To have seen the world a little more.
When they carried me here I was wrapped up tight,
But they say it is really a lovely sight."

"Yes," said a little toaster bird,
"That is exactly what I've heard;
There are thousands of trees, and, oh,
what a sigh!"
It must be when the candles are all alight."

The fat top rolled on his other side:
"It is not in the least like that," he cried.
"Except myself and the kite and ball,
None of you know of the world at all.
There are houses and pavements hard and red,
And everything spins around," he said;
"Sometimes it goes slowly and sometimes fast,
And often it stops with a bump at last."

The wooden donkey nodded his head,
"I had heard the world was like that," he said.
The kite and the ball exchanged a smile,
But did not speak; it was not worth while.

THE STAR OF HOPE.

"I had lost all hope and gone to my father's to die," said Mrs. MOLLIE EVANS, of Mound, Coryell Co., Texas. "I gave birth to a baby a year ago, the 5th of June last," she adds, "and seemed to do very well for 8 or 9 days, and then I began to feel very bad, my feet began to swell, my stomach was all wrong and I seemed to suffer with everything that could be borne. I was in bed 5 months and there was not a day that it seemed I could live. We had the best doctors that our country afforded. I was a skeleton. Every one that saw me thought that I would never get well. I had palpitation and pain in the heart, terrible pain in my right side just under the ribs, terrible headaches all the time, a bearing down sensation; a distressed feeling in my stomach all the time could hardly eat anything and it looked as if I would starve. All the time I would take such weak trembling spells, and it seemed as if I could not stand it. There were six doctors treating me when I commenced taking your medicine. I had lost all hope and gone to my father's to die. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Favorite Prescription' together, and I took them regularly until I felt as if life was worth living again."

"I weigh more than I have weighed for ten years. My friends say that I look better than they ever saw me. The first two bottles did me more good than all the medicine I had taken. My stomach has never hurt me since. I can eat anything I want and as much as I want. If you want to use this in favor of your medicine, I am a living witness to testify to it, and will, to anybody who wants to know further of my case."

Mollie Evans.

MYTHICAL FORTUNES.

One of the "across the Atlantic" Families Reaches the End:

Every now and then paragraphs appear in the papers telling how some hitherto obscure and usually poverty-stricken person has unexpectedly fallen heir to a fortune left him by some relative in foreign lands. The estate in question is invariably large, so that even if the newly-discovered heir is entitled to but a part, that share is enough to make him a Croesus among his humble neighbors. But somehow the account never gets so far as to describe an actual taking possession of the fortune; it is related that this proceeding is delayed only until certain formalities have been complied with, or until he crosses the Atlantic, or until the next steamer arrives and brings him the titles to the property, but for some reason he sinks immediately into his former obscurity, and if he really gets the money the public never hears of it. It is probable that such tales are sometimes put into circulation by crafty persons engaged in prosecuting so-called claims against other mythical estates of fabulous value in order that the hopes of the victims may be stimulated; but when they have a foundation in truth the chances are that the property inherited amounts to little compared with the imposing figures published.

As showing how such things are exaggerated a case just reported from a Pennsylvania town is in point. In this instance the estate is on this side of the Atlantic and the claimants on the other, and is that of a deceased Hungarian, who migrated to this country some years ago. He was industrious and frugal, and, before he died, was classed by his simple-minded neighbors as wealthy. The report grew as it traveled, and his heirs in the Old Country heard that he left large manufactories and property valued at $4,000,000. "Eminent lawyers" were engaged to look after the matter, and they, by correspondence with the consul at Philadelphia, have learned that the reputed millionaire left an estate valued at exactly $1715, of which $907 is uncollectible.

The castles built by the expectant Hungarian relatives will fall with a crash when they get this news, and their last estate will indeed be worse than their first, for $808, the collectible balance, will hardly suffice to pay the eminent lawyers for their trouble in finding how little money there is. Possibly, however, their hopes will be sustained by the belief, cunningly instilled by "promoters," that they are being deceived, and the estate really exists and belongs to them. In this case they should have the sympathy and encouragement of Anneke Jans' heirs, who have allowed themselves to be deceived for so long that they rather like the experience and are willing to pay liberally for it, even though there is not $808 in sight at the end of the rainbow.—Indianapolis Journal.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

NEW WAY TO MAKE A TOWN.

Russia Is Building It First and Will Supply the Inhabitants Later

An engineer and some workmen have been busy for months near the Arctic ocean making a little town. They have not bothered their heads about the inhabitants, for the Russian Government will see to that. The usual order of events in making a town is being reversed in this case. Instead of a lot of persons settling in the same place and making a town, the town is being built and the residents will come later.

The town has also been provided with a name before anybody lives in it. Its name is Jekaterinograd, and the most imposing thing about the town, as yet, is this name. There was nothing there a year ago to show that a white man had ever seen the site, but now it is beginning to look something like a town, needing only inhabitants to make it quite a go-ahead place.

The town is in the bay of Kola, near the Arctic coast of Russian Lapland, a flat and uninteresting region, in a large part of which scarcely a shrub, much less a tree, will grow. In August last year the Russian Government sent to the site of the proposed town, which had already been selected, a civil engineer named Olsen, whose specialty is harbor improvements, and soon twenty men under his direction were hard at work, building a couple of piers out into the bay for the use of the fishing craft, which will give the town all its importance.

Last winter fifty wooden buildings were constructed at Archangelsk, on the other side of the White Sea. It is probable that the work is now going on of transporting them to the coast of the Arctic ocean, where they will be hammered together and set up for the people who are going to live in the new town; and as soon as everything is ready the town of Kola, further south, will be abandoned, everybody there will be transferred at the expense of Russia, and Jekaterinograd will be all ready to begin business.

The thing that will make the town is the Arctic fisheries in the neighborhood, which employ about 1500 men every summer. For the purposes of these hardy toilers the new town is much more conveniently situated than Kola, and that is the reason why Kola is to be deserted and a new town has sprung up nearer the sea.

Blue Asbestos From Africa.

Canadian and Italian asbestos will find a serious competitor in the blue asbestos recently discovered in the Cape Colony, since the South African product is less than half as heavy and furnishes fibres considerably finer and longer than any other. The South African fibre has been worked into webs, which are but little inferior to those made of vegetable fibre, and are absolutely fire-proof. Twine, cord and rope made of this blue asbestos will not only resist fire, but also most of the known chemicals, corrosive vapors and atmospheric influences. These qualities will open a new field for the employment of asbestos fabrics in chemical laboratories, and for the caulking of chemical apparatus.

In order to test the resistance of the new material, a blue asbestos rope of about three-fourths of an inch in diameter was weighed at one end with 220 pounds and exposed to a constant flame from a large gas jet, so that the rope for a considerable length was surrounded by fire. The cord only broke after 22 hours. Still it was a trifle lighter than a rope of the same diameter made of Russian hemp. Compared with a new hemp rope, the asbestos rope has two-thirds of its strength, but as the ropes get older, the proportion is altered in favor of the asbestos ropes, since they suffer but very little from the influences of the atmosphere.

Another novel application of this material is the working of blue asbestos fibre into mattresses for hospitals. They are cooler in summer and warmer in winter, than those made either of animal hair or vegetable fibre, and no vermin can live in this mattress. Experiments are now being made of working this fibre into cloth for firemen's apparel. Of course the long fibre blue asbestos can also be employed for all the uses to which white asbestos has been put heretofore. While a trifle more expensive, its superior qualities make it well worth the difference.

Wanted All in the Record.

"Now, your honor," argued the attorney in the court of Justice Brown of Santa Rosa, "I move dismissal of this case on the ground that the corpus delicti has not been established."

Judge Brown rubbed his chin in a perplexed way, fixed his gaze on the ceiling for a moment and then, clearing his throat, said:

"Of course, it is an old principle of law that the probator must correspond with the alligator, and in this case I am of the belief that the corpus is all right, but I don't know about the delicti."

"Your honor, I want that to go into the record," demanded opposing counsel. "I want the record to show that your honor said the corpus is all right, but you do not know about the delicti."

Judge Brown realized that he had blundered, and sat staring at the attorney for a moment. Then pulling himself together he said:

"All right, let that go into the record. But you fellows knew danged well I was only joking when I said it, and that will go into the record, too."—San Francisco Post.

"I was troubled with pimples on my face and head which caused me much annoyance. After trying many remedies without benefit I was advised to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle helped me and I took four bottles. I am now completly cured." JAMES REILLEY, Proprietor Chapman House, Sarnia, Ont.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

Measles Without a Physician.

Last spring when measles were prevalent I began to think our children were very likely to have them. As we live some distance from a village, it was going to be quite a saving in both trouble and expense if we could get along without medical attendance.

My experience in nursing the disease was slight, so I learned all I could, procured what I thought would be necessary, and when they began to show symptoms, braced up my courage to carry them through. The symptoms were just like those of a severe cold. There were watery discharges from eyes and nose; the bones ached; there was sore throat and headache, and a dry cough which grew more and more constant and troublesome. A high fever came on, and the cry was, "Water; cold, fresh water!" Their eyes were swollen and red; one grew delirious. On examining the mouth and throat I could see the spots plainly, and felt that it was a strong foothold to be expecting the disease, and thus able to so certainly diagnose the case. Still, I began to be afraid they might not come out properly, and gave some clover seed tea to aid the eruption. I also gave some senna as physic.

Our little boy complained of a pain in his chest, saying it hurt him to breathe. I applied a poultice of flaxseed meal and it soon gave relief. In thirty-six hours after they gave up sick the eruption was thick enough to assure me that, so far, all was working properly. They had no appetite, while nose bleed occurred often. On the third day they began to purge. This kept up with great frequency for about sixteen hours—long after the stools became watery and almost colorless; then seemed to have run its course and stopped.

I did not urge them to eat anything. After the disease turned they became hungry. One of the girls was troubled with nausea. This was relieved by covering the stomach with a cloth wet in hot vinegar. At night I wrung a linen cloth from hot water and vinegar, about equal parts, and without uncovering them sponged their bodies. This was quite soothing. As they were very restless, I changed them from one side of the bed to the other, and sometimes to a bed in the sitting-room, called "the relief station," but was very careful to prevent any chill and to protect the eyes from direct light.

They recovered rapidly, and I write this in hopes that it may help some mother similarly situated.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make ; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. — G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361 ; Telephone, 93.

Things We Ought to Know.

That an attractive table will cause a husband to come home regularly to his meals.

That books, flowers and pictures are always acceptable to the sick.

That cranberries are healing to the throat and will frequently prevent soreness.

That all left-overs should be placed in china dishes—never in tin.

That children should be carefully trained to breathe through the nostrils.

That polished steel may be kept from rust by giving it a light coating of olive oil.

That hoarseness and cold in the chest may be greatly relieved by rubbing the chest twice a day with olive oil.

That the bride's cake is an older institution than the wedding ring itself.

That children should be taught that to help mother is a pleasure rather than a duty.

That it is more economical to buy a good article rather than a cheap one.

That when boiling a lobster or crabs a half teacup of vinegar will sweeten and whiten the meat.

That a good gloss may be given to collars and cuffs if a little turpentine is added to the starch.

That a daily salt water bath given to a delicate child will greatly strengthen it.

That a penny saved is a penny earned.

Please the Women.

The study of the problems of advertising is exceedingly fascinating. How is it that every woman as well as every man in Peterborough is interested in reading Gough Bros. advertisements? It is a fact that the average woman cares very little, comparatively for the news columns of a paper, and still less for the editorial. It is the advertising columns that tell a tempting tale of dry goods, clothing for herself and children, boots and shoes, groceries, housefurnishings, and so on, that interest her the most. And if not prevented she will also probably buy the clothing and men's furnishings for the whole family. It is the women of our country who buy from 75 to 90 per cent. of all the goods sold at retail in the stores. It is right here that the importance comes in of an advertiser enlisting the interest of the women in their newspaper announcements. Gough Bros. continually aim to do so ; and their experience is that it has paid them well. The economically disposed wife knows, also, that it has paid her well to watch the price lists and pick out the bargains she needs. Hundreds of women have attested the present bargain sale of the great E. A. Small & Co's. stock of fine clothing, now in full swing at Gough Bros. The brightest, choicest suits for boys find ready sale to women who have been attracted by the saving of dollars ; and to mothers of boys a practical lesson in economy runs all through this big sale. Its clothing that'll wear they want, and mother's can bank on the quality of the boys clothing in this splendid stock. And for such clothing it needs but little money. Boys' sailor suits, navy, 60s, 65c, $1.25, $1.40, $1.50. Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men. dw

SCALY SKIN HUMOR

Body, Head, and Arms Covered With Spots Like Drops Of Mortar.

Skin Came Off in Layers. Doctors Useless. Suffered for a Year Without Relief.

Almost Given Up Hope. Cured in 8 Weeks by CUTICURA. Skin Nice and Clear as a Baby's.

I was afflicted with an obstinate skin disease, called by some doctors Eczema and others Psoriasis. My body, head, and arms were covered with spots like drops of mortar, and which came off in layers of dry scales. I suffered for over a year without relief, and consulted several doctors but without aid, and I had almost given up hope, as my case was a bad one. I happened to see an advertisement about CUTICURA REMEDIES and got them, took them according to directions, and in eight weeks I was as well as ever. I consider myself cured, for my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the CUTICURA REMEDIES have done for me.

GEO. REABURN, Hanover, Ontario, Can.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are beyond all doubt the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. They are no long-drawn-out expensive experiment. A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, a single application of CUTICURA (ointment), the great skin cure, and a full dose of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood purifiers and humor cures, will afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure of the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating of itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, pimply, and crusted skin and scalp humors with loss of hair, when all else fails.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston.

A Man's Store

And They Get There.

Gough Bros.

Are firmly established in the belief that Men's Goods are cheaper at their stores than in any other in the Dominion of Canada. Did you ever try what you can do here? Is the habit yo've got into, of paying out your money without figuring how much better you might do at GOUGH'S, so strong as to make you careless?

Get in on the ground floor while this GREAT SMASH-UP IN PRICES is going on over the E. A. SMALL & CO. STOCK, which we snapped up from under the hammer at a mere decimal fraction of the wholesale cost.

Men Have Got to Have Clothing, Hats and Boots and Furnishings.

This used to be a Clothing Store only. Now you can buy pretty near everything else a man wants to wear, and the fact that very many of them do buy all they wear here, shows creditable work somewhere.

Summer Hats!
Summer Suits!
Summer Shirts!
Summer Trousers!
Summer Neckwear!
Summer Furnishings!
Summer Boots & Shoes

The completeness of each stock and the immense variety are our guarantees that you can be fitted and suited. Small boy and big boy, young man and elderly man, can depend on getting everything they need at a minimum of expense. The way we buy has everything to do with the way we sell, and we want every man to realize the resources of this great business.

It isn't possible in a proper store system to do justice to one stock and neglect another. System implies uniform low prices, small profits and clever management. You who buy Clothing here can get equal satisfaction in Footwear and Headwear.

We keep an accurate slate of every days' business of every year, and the fact that our record for the past six months of 1897 shows an average increase of $500 every month, means that we are keeping up our Record Reign with undiminished success.

MINERS HAVE QUIT

And the Great Struggle Has Been Inaugurated.

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN OUT

Should the Fight Last Till September it Will Mean a Loss of $40,000,000—

Pitiful Condition of the Men Who Want Living Wages —The Order Obeyed.

Pittsburg, July 3.—The coal miners of the Pittsburg district, in delegate convention here to-day, decided unanimously to comply with the order of the National Executive Board to strike, and all the union miners in the district will lay down their tools to-morrow and enter upon a struggle for better wages, which promises to be one of the longest and most bitterly contested fights ever known in the labor world. The delegates to the convention left for their homes full of the strike sentiment, each man promising a complete suspension of work in the mines he represented.

The miners' officials have arranged for a series of mass meetings to be held throughout the entire district, and it is believed the effect of these meetings will be to bring out every digger in the district, those who are under ironclad agreements as well as the others.

The miners' officials claim that a conservative estimate fixes the number of men who will go on strike in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois at 200,000. They hope to increase this number as the strike sentiment grows.

Tin Plate Workers Score.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 3.—The skilled tin plate workers identified with the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers scored a decisive victory to-day. They secured an advance in wages and a protective clause that tinned plate mills will not manufacture sheet iron. The workers are jubilant and look upon the future with hope, as it is claimed the signing of the remaining scales of the association is but a question of time.

Miners' Pitiful Condition.

Brazil, Ind., July 3.—The coal miners of this district met in mass meeting here to-day. J. W. Knight, State President of the United Mine Workers' Association, addressed them. He described the condition of the miners as pitiful, and admonished them all to join in the strike. The proposition to suspend work was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

The Order Generally Obeyed.

Columbus, O., July 4.—Telegrams received by President Ratchford of the United Mine Workers to-day indicate that the order for a general strike of the miners has been complied with generally throughout the mining districts of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Western Pennsylvania and in sections of West Virginia and Kentucky. It will take several days, however, to determine with any degree of accuracy the number of men involved. President Ratchford roughly estimates the number at 200,000, but this is regarded as very liberal.

The Biggest Convention on Record.

Pittsburg, July 3.—The largest convention of coal miners ever held in this district began here at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to take action on the strike circular sent out by the general officers a few days ago. Nothing had been done when the convention adjourned for lunch, but President Nolan stated that the Committee on Resolutions had submitted a report favoring a strike. This will be presented this afternoon. The feeling among the delegates, he said, was strongly in favor of a strike, and the resolutions would probably be adopted. In case a strike among the coal miners in the Pittsburg district is declared at the convention to-day 21,000 miners will be concerned in the result. Many of these, however, have not been working regularly for some time. In the Clearfield district 2000 miners are employed when the mines are running, and District President Nolan says the whole district will also go out. The number of men in other States who are concerned in the present strike, so far as can be estimated, are as follows:

Ohio 25,000 men, Illinois 40,000 men, Indiana 9000 and in West Virginia about 22,000, a total of 142,000 all told.

What the Strike Means.

New York, July 4.—The Journal says: If the coal strike about to be inaugurated is protracted until September 1, as it bids fair to be, the loss to men and owners will reach nearly $50,000,000, as shown by the following table:

Strike's Cost to Sept. 1.

Loss to 350,000 men—50 days' work at 70 cents per day	$15,750,000
Loss to operators—two months' output, 10,000,000 tons, at 10 cents profit per ton	1,000,000
Loss to railroads freight on two months' output at 30 cents per ton	4,800,000
Loss to coal companies' stores—amount spent by 350,000 miners, 75 cents per day	13,125,000
Loss to the public increased price on two months' consumption, 32,000,000 tons, at 25 cents per ton	8,000,000
Total	$43,275,000

The foregoing estimate has been formed by a careful comparison of the present conditions with the cost of the big strikes of former years. It is based, as well, upon the Government statistics of coal production, and in all cases represents the most conservative figures.

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED.

William and Samuel Barber Went Bathing Sunday Morning and, Being Unable to Swim, Lost Their Lives.

Uxbridge, July 4.—One of the saddest drowning accidents that have happened here for many years occurred to-day at about 11.30 a.m., when William and Samuel Barber, brothers, aged respectively 22 and 24, were drowned in what is commonly known as Weir's pond, but latterly called "Brookdale."

This pond is about two miles south of here, and is owned by a syndicate of Toronto gentlemen, composed of Dr. Adam Wright and others, and is kept for breeding speckled trout. It appears that the young men, William, who works for his uncle, Levi Barber, on the 7th concession of Reach Township, and Samuel, who works for George Hart, near by, went to the pond in company with others to bathe. William got undressed first, waded out and got beyond his depth. Samuel, who was not quite undressed, rushed in after his brother, to save him, and, as neither could swim, both went down together and never came up alive.

The alarm was quickly given and a large party began the work of dragging for the bodies, which were found near where they went down. The young men were sons of Mr. Henry Barber of the 6th concession of Reach Township, and their mother had been down to see her boys this morning, and had only left them a short time previous to their going to the pond.

Drowned in Long Pond.

Highland Falls, N.Y., July 4.—A party of West Pointers, consisting of Charles Mickel, his wife and daughters, Mrs. Holtz and Adam Meisell, were rowing in Long Pond to-day when the boat capsized and Mrs. Mickel and child were drowned. First Sergeant Anthony Brechbell, of Co. E, Battalion of Engineers, swam out to the rescue, and he, too, was drowned.

Watford Man Drowned.

Thedford, July 4.—Isaac James of Watford was drowned at Port Franks, a summer resort on Lake Huron, and six miles from Thedford, at 10 o'clock this morning. The body was recovered about 2 o'clock and taken home to Watford.

YANKEE FLAG HAULED DOWN.

United States Tourists at Digby, N. S., Saw It Above the Dominion Colors and Lassoed It.

Digby, N. S., July 4.—There was a sensational Fourth of July incident in Digby to-day, the Stars and Stripes being hauled down and left lying in the dust of the streets. There are a number of United States tourists summering in the town, and they are deeply indignant over the occurrence. When the inhabitants awakened this morning they discovered a huge American flag flying from the top of a telegraph pole, while the Canadian colors were fastened below instead of above it. There was great commotion, and measures were at once adopted to remove the obnoxious spectacle. Both flags were fastened to a long staff, which had been firmly nailed to the top of the telegraph pole. A rope was thrown and the flagstaff lassooed and pulled from its high perch. Then the position of the two flags was reversed, but they were left lying on the ground. The men who hauled down the colors of the two countries say they had no desire to insult the Stars and Stripes, but merely wished to show that the Dominion flag was entitled to respect from foreigners.

FLOOD IN MINNESOTA.

Hundreds of People Driven From Their Homes—Damage $100,000.

Carlton, Minn., July 3.—As the result of torrents of rain for 15 hours Otter Creek has broken its banks and flooded the town. Hundreds of people are fleeing to safer quarters. The St. Louis River has risen 20 feet. By the breaking of booms above millions of feet of logs are crashing down the channel. All railroad traffic is suspended and will not be resumed for five days. It is estimated the damage in Carlton alone will reach $100,000.

Plague at Constantinople.

London, July 4.—A despatch to The Central News from Sofia, Bulgaria, says that owing to an outbreak of plague at Constantinople the Bulgarian authorities have instituted a 15 days' quarantine against all travelers from Turkey. The quarantine went into effect to-day.

Norway Pine Syrup strengthens the lungs and cures all throat troubles, coughs, colds, etc.

VISIT TO THE QUEEN

Of the Commoners and Their Wives and Daughters.

ABOUT A THOUSAND IN NUMBER

Taken Down to Windsor by Special Train and at the Queen's Expense—Feasted Sumptuously Terms of Autonomy for Crete Greece Will Pay Indemnity in Cash.

London, July 5. Four hundred and fifty members of the House of Commons, accompanied by their wives and daughters, making a total of a thousand persons, went to Windsor to-day to visit the Queen, in response to the invitation extended by Her Majesty after she had learned of the unceremonious treatment accorded the members when they attended the Speaker's levee to Buckingham Palace to present a Jubilee address to her. The party were conveyed in special trains at no cost to themselves, and were taken in carriages from the Windsor Station to the castle. Marquees had been erected on the lawn in which champagne, tea and strawberries were served to the visitors.

The Queen, attended by Princess Beatrice, both attired in black, drove slowly in a phaeton, drawn by two grey ponies, about the grounds where her guests were assembled. The leaders of both political parties, Mr. Balfour, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Herbert Asquith, accompanied Her Majesty on foot.

They summoned the individual members to the side of the carriage, where they made obeisance to the Queen.

Among those presented to Her Majesty were Messrs. Pickard and Abraham, the labor leaders. Sir Charles Dilke, the Radical leader, was also present.

The discourtesy in London was fully cancelled by the graciousness of to-day's reception at Windsor.

A Victory for the Press.

New York, July 4.—A London despatch to The Times says: "The manner in which the Queen conveyed her regrets to the House of Commons contained a startling innovation to British ears. Seldom, if ever, has a sovereign found it necessary to tell the Legislature that she heard for the first time through the newspapers of the events so directly concerning her, such as this palace episode. The English press is quite delighted and proud of the Jubilee cachet and honor imparted to 'the fourth estate,' while many members of the House are chuckling with delight at the snub thereby administered to Mr. Balfour, who treated with such philosophic contempt the earliest complaints made to him on the subject. The legislators hint that the First Lord of the Treasury, ever prone to laziness when off the golf links, might save himself the trouble of his night letter report to the Queen, and substitute instead a special edition of some evening paper. This might be worked but for the difficulty of fixing the organ to be so distinguished."

STEAD'S EMBARRASSING QUESTION.

The Blind Chaplain of Congress Was Asked for an Assurance He Could Not Give.

London, July 4.—The celebration of Independence Day took the form in the Robert Browning Social settlement of a meeting in favor of arbitration. Mr. William T. Stead, editor of The Review of Reviews, presided. He embarrassed Rev. Dr. Milburn, chaplain of the United States Senate, who was present, by appealing to him to assure the meeting that the United States Senators who voted for the treaty represented a majority of the people and the bulk of the intelligence of the United States.

Dr. Milburn made no reply to this appeal, but in the course of his own address he said that the descendants of Englishmen in the United States were as loyal to many English traditions as Englishmen themselves, but that America rejoiced in her own independence. In the course of the evening representatives of the Women's Press League of Chicago presented portraits of Washington and Lincoln to the settlement.

SPITEFUL AT LAURIER.

French Chauvinist Papers Don't Like His Patriotic Speeches in London.

Paris, July 4.—The Chauvinist papers make spiteful remarks at the expense of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's patriotic speeches in London. They say that, as he is the son of a Frenchwoman, he ought to declare in favor of a French party and a separatist press in Canada, while they think Louis Riel worthy of canonization.

The Bishops at Canterbury.

London, July 4.—Two hundred of the bishops who are in attendance at the Lambeth Conference visited Canterbury to-day, and, after a short service in St. Martin's, the oldest parish church in England, attended an imposing ceremony in the cathedral, at which were present the officials of many of the Kentish towns, representatives from the regiments of the garrison and many American visitors. The colored bishops of the Niger and Zambesi districts attracted much notice.

Socialist Elected in Italy

Rome, July 4.—Sig. Amilcar Cipriani, the Italian Socialist leader, has been elected a member of the Chamber of Deputies for Forli.

Welcomed at Liverpool.

Liverpool, July 3.—On their arrival at Liverpool the Canadian troops were met at the railway station by a guard of honor from the Lancashire Volunteer Artillery, accompanied by a band. They proceeded to the quay and em-

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Investors' Guardian, London, Eng., in an article on Canadian affairs, says:—"Apparently Canada is to show the States the way to prosperity; at any rate whilst the Republic is still labouring uneasily amidst general depression, trusts and tariffs, something of a boom is developing in the Dominion. The over-sea trade of the colony, both export and import, is showing great elasticity, and city men and speculators are already busily at work on the mining potentialities of British Columbia. These, among other things point to a great revival in Canadian affairs."

SPEAKING of the late session of the Dominion Parliament, the Montreal Witness says: The session has been an epoch-making one, and we use this big term advisedly, not being fond of big expressions. It is the preferential tariff that has made it of such importance that it will probably be regarded as the next in prominence to Confederation itself. It is not too much to say that the preferential tariff has proved the biggest stroke of policy that ever was hit upon by a colonial government. In the first place it simply made any serious opposition to tariff reform on the part of the Conservative party or Manufacturers' Association impossible. Yet it was a considerable measure of reform both as a relief from protective taxation and as an improved form of tariff, which may be reduced by the simple means of horizontal cuts hereafter.

OUTSIDE of Mr. Tarte, no member of the Government has received more abuse at the hands of Conservative newspapers than the Hon. William Mulock, the able man at the head of the Post Office Department. He knew that hundreds of thousands of dollars of the people's money had been wasted in the giving of contracts for the carrying of the mails, and when he assumed office he threw off his coat and went to work to effect a saving wherever he could. His first attack was upon those contracts, with the result that by the cancellation of many of them he was able to report a most gratifying saving. Under the system of the late Government the sum of $381,237 a year had been paid on contracts given to political favourites without competition. Mr. Mulock cancelled many of them and called for tenders. In each case the contract was let to the lowest tenderer, the whole costing $277,302 a year, a saving to the country of $103,936 a year, or a total of $415,000 for the four years' term.

And it is the man who did this who has been villified by the Conservative press.—St. Thomas Journal.

HIAWATHA.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Paul and Solomon are fishing.

Mr. Robert Jarvis has built a fine new barn.

Mr. Wishart Vanevery has been visiting at Mr. Thos. Thompson's this week.

Chief Paudash has been smiling all over his face lately, having been made the happy parent of a bran new daughter.

Miss E. J. Hogan is advancing her studies in music under the tutorship of Mr. Hoover, of town.

Mr. Jas. Cummisky is working at the saw mill by the new bridge.

The picnic on the first was largely attended. Among those present were, the genial agent, J. Thackery, Esq., of Roseneath, Dr. and Mrs Harrison of Keene, the rvetor of Gore's Landing, Miss Crowe of the Locks, music teacher, and the good-looking young lady principal of Harwood public school, attended by a gentlemanly escort of the same town.

CUNNING OF THE LEFT HAND.

Some of the Advantages Possessed by the Ambidextrous.

Ambidextrous men and women, or those who can use either right or left hands with equal facility, are not nearly so frequently met with as might at first e supposed; in fact, they are quite rare. This double faculty is, however, much more frequently met with among butchers and sailors than in any other walks of life. Left-handed butchers are numerous, as a walk through any of our large market houses will quickly demonstrate, but it is a very interesting study to watch one of them who will cut, chop, saw and handle his meats without once changing it from one side to the other on the block or changing his own position.

In view of the many advantages derived from the ability to use both hands equally well, many people have often expressed surprise at the action of educational authorities in insisting on the use of only the right hand, instead of trying to develop an equal skill in the other. They all stick to the right-handed idea, however, and an old resident of Frankford, noted for his ambidextrousness, is still mourning the loss of a prize at school through the use of his left hand in writing, although he was equally skillful as a penman with his right.

The benefits derived from the use of both hands were excellently illustrated in the experience of two carpenters who lived in Frankford some years ago. Their names were Cross and Walton, and the former was right-handed, the latter left-handed. As one was also very tall and the other very short, they made a curious couple, but they always worked together laying floors and putting up joiners' work in buildings.

They could take jobs of this character cheaper than any other, because they could work from either end toward each other so handily. Cross would square a floor board at one end and Walton would "scribe" and cut it off to fit at the other end and then nail down, working together from opposite ends.

Left-handed machinists are always at a disadvantage, as machinery is invariably adapted to people who work right-handed, but the ambidextrous man or woman is always at home in whatever work is undertaken.

COUNTY REGISTRAR.

All Else Failing Mr. Geo. C. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Port Hope (Special) July 5.—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Geo. C. Ward, Registrar of this county, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his intimate friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

THE WONDERS
OF THIS JUBILEE YEAR!

Elegant Gold Watches Given Away at H. LeBRUN & CO'S Clothing Store.

THE BIGGEST HIT OF THE SEASON

Wonders are coming thicker and faster than ever. The Jubilee year is to be full of new and startling wonders. Just imagine all the Wonderful things you have heard and read about lately, and then listen to this: The latest wonder of the day has been started by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co., who are holding their annual summer clearance during the months of July and August.

This firm intends to make the Jubilee summer holidays of 1897 memorable to the people of Peterborough by giving away elaborate ladies' and gentlemen's electro-gold hunting case watches to every cash purchaser of $35 worth of Clothing or Furnishings at their store.

This wonderful Victor Watch is the greatest watch the World has ever seen given away. The cases are electro gold plated, engraved in the most magnificent style—stem winding and setting—and guaranteed for time and durability. A princely present for a lady or gentleman. Specimens of the watches on exhibition in H. LeBrun & Co's show window, and you can have your choice of any of these beautifully chased patterns.

Ladies as well as gentlemen can take advantage of this wondreful offer. Every purchaser will receive a ticket on which the amount of each cash purchase will be recorded.

PRIZES! PRIZES!

In order to make our summer clearance sale still more interesting, we offer Three Special Prizes to the three largest purchasers of goods at our store during July and August as follows.

1st Prize—To the Largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.
2nd Prize—To the Second largest Purchaser, a Victor Watch
3rd Prize—To the Third largest purchaser, a Victor Watch

Those who are not lucky enough to get one of these special prizes, their amounts will be allowed on a $35 cash purchase.

Better hurry up if you want to share these special gifts. The town will be after them hot foot.

Prices all over the store greatly reduced during July and August.

SAGASTA WANTS POWER.

But He Believes Canovas Will Hang on Until the Game is Up.

Madrid, July 3.—An interview is published with Senor Sagasta, the Liberal leader, which he is quoted as [illegible] regretted the delay [illegible] General Steward [illegible] United States [illegible] an unfavorable [illegible] is also quoted [illegible] Woodford's stay [illegible] intended to [illegible] negotiations with [illegible] prepare [illegible] the view of [illegible] the attitude of the United States. The Liberal leader is said to have remarked that by the exaggerated statements of the situation in Cuba he considered the present moment the best for the Liberals to take office. But, he continued, he believed Senor Canovas del Castillo would not resign until the situation is so bad that it will be impossible to remedy it.

A CHRISTIAN GOVERNOR

To be Appointed for Crete—Greece Will Pay the Indemnity Cash Down.

London, July 4.—A despatch from Athens to The Central News says: The powers have agreed upon these conditions of Cretan autonomy: A Christian Governor is to be appointed, and the annual tribute to be paid to Turkey is fixed at £10,000, commencing after five years.

The foreign troops will remain on the island, pending the formation of an indigenous militia under European officers. The Governor is to have the right to nominate and dismiss civil officers. The Constitutional Assembly is to be composed of an equal number of Christians and Mohammedans, and there is to be a gradual withdrawal of the Turkish troops.

A despatch to The Daily Mail from Athens says that the Government has already negotiated a loan, and that the moment the peace conditions are signed the indemnity will be paid cash down.

BRITAIN AND JAPAN.

Talk of an Alliance Between Them—Salisbury Favors "Understandings."

London, July 4. One of the most important political incidents connected with the Jubilee concerns the relations between Great Britain and Japan. The latter country, since her war with China, has assumed all the dignity and prerogatives of a great power. Now, with proud humility, she confesses that she needs a European ally, preferably Great Britain. This Government has been repeatedly approached during the past year with a view to the conclusion of an Anglo-Japanese alliance. The matter was discussed at an interview of the Mikado's Jubilee envoy with Lord Salisbury on Monday last.

The British Premier does not favor alliances prior to war, but he is very fond of "understandings," and there is good reason to believe that he has arrived at an understanding with Japan which would be converted into an actual defensive and offensive alliance should trouble occur between England and Russia, which might happen at any moment. It was, therefore, in accordance with the fitness of things that Japan made a brave show at the Jubilee naval review. She was represented by one of the finest battleships anchored at Spithead, and the officers and men of no foreign warship walked about Portsmouth with a finer swagger and in more gorgeous plumes than the little Japs.

ITALY WILL HAVE A SHOW.

A Royal Demonstration on a Large Scale to be Held at Palermo.

Rome, July 4.—King Humbert will pay a state visit to Sicily on July 15, accompanied by the Premier, Marquis di Rudini, and the Ministers of Marine and Public Works. His Majesty will hold a naval review at Palermo, to which the great European nations will send warships.

England will send her entire Mediterranean squadron, France and Austria will send naval divisions, Germany and Russia one battleship each, Spain two warships, and Italy will be represented by the Italian reserve squadron of twelve ironclads and cruisers and a flotilla of torpedo boats.

TROUBLE AT SIMLA.

Mob Tried to Seize a Mosque. But the Troops and Police Opened Fire.

London, July 4.—A despatch to The Times from Simla says that a mob there tried to seize a mosque, but the police and troops opened fire and a serious conflict ensued. Finally the mob was repulsed with heavy loss. The principal ringleader was wounded and captured. He will be tried along with his chief followers.

ALL DROWNED BUT THREE.

British Vessel Sunk at the Mouth of the Ganges by a Collision.

Calcutta, July 4.—The British barque Overdale, Captain Roberts, bound for South America, came into collision with the steamer Pandua, off Hooghly Point, near the mouth of the westernmost branch of the Ganges, and sank almost immediately. All on board were drowned except the captain, the pilot and one seaman.

England Gets the Bulk.

London, July 4.—Of the 1656 square miles of territory in Manicaland, South Africa, the ownership of which has been disputed by England and Portugal, 1337 square miles have been awarded to England by the arbitrator, Signor Vigliani.

Mr. Woodford Explains.

Madrid, July 4.—It is officially said that Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, the newly appointed American Minister to Spain, has cabled to the Government here saying that he never authorized his name to appear in the list of the members of the Cuban Junta in New York, and that any speeches that he made in favor of the insurgents were made over 23 years ago.

Labby Will Censure Rhodes.

London, July 3.—It is understood that Mr. Henry Labouchere will make an individual report on the subject of the Transvaal raid, strongly censuring Mr. Cecil Rhodes, but admitting that the conduct of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, had been perfectly straightforward.

The Commoners Mollified.

London, July 3.—To soothe the historic susceptibilities which were immensely ruffled when the members of the House of Commons attended the Queen's reception at Buckingham Palace, upon which occasion many of the commoners were unable to enter at all and others arrived too late, Her Majesty to-day entertained them at a garden party at Windsor.

Col. Hays' Reception.

London, July 3.—The reception of the United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay, at his residence on Carlton House terrace to-day, was attended by 1600 people. American and British flags predominated in the decorations, and a Hungarian band was stationed on the terrace, where the guests gathered.

Fourteen Bodies Recovered.

Paris, July 4.—Fourteen bodies have been recovered from the floods caused by the rising of the River Garonne, most of them being found near Auch, the capital of the Department of Gers, on the River Gers, west of Toulouse. It is feared that others have been drowned, as many houses have been swept away. The floods are now subsiding in the Department of Gers.

Mr. Astor Wheeks Up.

London, July 4.—Mr. William Waldorf Astor has paid into the Bank of England the sum of $5000 for the Prince of Wales' hospital fund. He will annually subscribe the same amount to the fund.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

New South Wales is in the Reciprocal Class—Col. Irwin Retires Customs Ruling as to Slack Coal.

Ottawa, July 4.—(Special.)—A formal Order-in-Council has been passed admitting New South Wales to the benefits of the reciprocal tariff, the Minister of Customs having reported that the tariff of the sister colony is favorable to Canada.

Col. Irwin, Assistant Adjutant-General of Artillery, has retired, after 25 years' service. When he joined the Canadian forces he was a major in the Royal Artillery, and will now receive an Imperial pension of $1000 per annum. Col. Cotton arrives here tomorrow to assume the duties of Acting Adjutant General. Sweeping changes in the militia service are contemplated. Several district officers, brigade majors, etc., are slated for retirement.

A recent customs ruling states that for uniformity in entries for bituminous slack coal, consignments containing coal larger than will pass through a 3-4 inch screen shall not be entitled to entry for duty at the rate of 20 per cent. ad valorem. If the whole of the slack coal is such as will pass through a half-inch screen the rate of duty thereon will be 20 per cent. ad valorem. If the "slack" contains coals larger than will pass through a half-inch screen, but not larger than will pass through a three-quarter-inch screen, duty may be paid on the following basis in order to avoid the expense of screening, viz.: 80 per cent. of the weight at 20 per cent. ad valorem; 20 per cent. of the weight at the rate of duty chargeable on "round" bituminous coal: provided, however, that ordinary slack coal, such as will pass through a three-quarter inch screen, if screened by the importer through a half-inch screen and weighed under customs supervision, may be entered for duty according to the weight and size of coal thus ascertained. The standard screen is made with parallel bars, and until these are supplied to ports where required, customs officers may make a reasonable allowance for coals which will not pass through the screens with the square meshes, with which they are now provided.

Another big grain elevating and transportation company is applying to the Dominion Government for incorporation, under the name of the Kingston Elevator and Transit Company. The capital stock of the concern will be set down as $150,000. The applicants are Kingston and Duluth capitalists.

It is reported to-night that D'Arcy Scott, barrister, of this city, will be appointed postmaster of the House of Commons in succession to Mr. Stansfeld, superannuated.

Mgr. Merry del Val, the Papal Ablegate, is lying seriously ill here from some kind of a fever, brought on by over-exertion. Two trained nurses from the Water-street Hospital have been detailed to attend to his wants and decide as to the best medical assistance.

Three times last February Miss Harmon's ladies' boarding school was set on fire. All were clear cases of incendiarism, and a regular panic ensued. A servant, Theresa Kissick, was arrested on suspicion, but upon trial for arson was acquitted. A few days ago one of the resident pupils, Miss Carrie Moore, confessed to the principal that it was she who had set fire to the premises each time, actuated by some insane desire.

It is reported that Mr. Clement, private secretary to Sir Henri Joly, is to be appointed to a position in the printing bureau, and will be succeeded by Mr. Lebel, who acted as secretary to the Speaker of the Senate during the session.

AN OTTAWA LADY

SUBJECT TO VERY SEVERE NERVOUS HEADACHES

Gives an account of her rescue from the constant torture.

Mrs. A. E. Enright, 454 Lisgar street, Ottawa, Ont., spoke as follows to our reporter. "I have for a long time been subject to very severe nervous headaches, and was also affected by general nervous prostration. My rest at night was much broken, and I arose in the morning almost as tired as when I went to bed.

I have taken a number of medicines which did not help me to any great extent. I am thankful to say, however, that I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using them for a few days became very much better.

Now I am free from nervousness; the headaches have disappeared; I sleep well, and arise in the morning refreshed and reinvigorated for the duties of the day. I am better in every way, and think that aside from being the best heart and nerve remedy I ever used, that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as a general systematic tonic excel any other medicine in existence.

DOES MUNYON CURE?

That Seems Like a Very Untimely and Absurd Question After

ALL THE TESTIMONY

All the Tests and the Thousand of Absolute and Unquestioned Cures That Have Been Made by Munyon in Canada.

Mr. W. S. Nelson, engineer Evening News, Toronto, Canada, says: "I was troubled with the most severe form of Catarrh for eight years. Had tried everything to get well, but without success. The pains across my forehead were so severe at night that I was unable to obtain my needed rest. I was also subject to sneezing to such an extent that I would often sneeze as often as forty or fifty times a day. At the General Hospital, where I went for treatment, I was told that an operation was necessary and burning it out the only hope. I have used Munyon's Cold and Catarrh Cure for one month and became rapidly better. I believe Munyon has done more for me than all the others and I have sent hundreds of people to Munyon.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

First Formal Services Since the Work of Interior Restoration Was Completed—Solemn High Mass His Lordship's Address.

Yesterday the feast of SS. Peter and Paul was signalized by an impressive opening celebration of solemn high mass upon the occasion of the completion of the work of beautifying the interior. There were masses celebrated at 8, 9.15 and 10.30. At the last service there was a very large congregation. Mass was sung by Ven. Archdeacon, assisted by Rev. Fr. O'Brien as deacon and Mr. J. O'Brien as subdeacon.

His Lordship in addressing the people referred to the gratitude and thankfulness which should be felt over the fact that the church interior had been so beautifully decorated. All were delighted that the results of the grand work that had been done was satisfactory, the results exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine, and should be a cause of earnest gratitude and thankfulness.

He then entered into an explanation of the religious significance of the medallions and religious emblems that filled the panels of the ceiling. He first explained the meaning of the symbols that appeared in connection with the medallions of the four evangelists in the ceiling above the sanctuary. The medallion of St. Patrick received special attention, and the background of chapels, monasteries, etc., and round towers symbolized and expressed both the religious character and antiquity of the country over which St. Patrick was patron saint. The medallion of St. John the Baptist, the forerunner of the Messiah, with the lamb, representing Christ, was the patron saint of the French Canadians, and as there was a large number of that nationality in the congregation it was fitting that the figure of their patron saint should have a prominent place. The emblem consisting of the cross and thorns represented Faith, and were the emblems of Christ who died on the cross, and those who had faith in the redemption thus wrought would gain the salvation of their souls.

The emblem of Hope was represented by the anchor, the light house and the dove, typical of the dove that brought hope to Noah at the time of the flood.

The picture of the pelican feeding its young with the blood from its own breast set forth the love of Christ, the shedding of whose blood brought salvation to God's children.

Tradition was represented by a picture of the ark of the covenant, which as a visible type of God's presence was sacred to the Jews, and formed a connection between the Old and New Testament dispensations.

The emblem of music over the organ loft was a reminder to the choir of the important part belonging to them in singing the praises of God, and of their duty of devoting their talents to God.

Under the gallery was the all-seeing eye, suggesting to the worshipper as he entered the church that he was in the presence of God, who was typified in the Greek letters on the panels on either side—"Alpha and Omega—the first and the last."

Over the transept the triple chaplet of red, white and yellow roses represented the Blessed Virgin, and the three parts, of the rosary, the joyous, the sorrowful and the mysteries.

The dove drinking from the overflowing fountain typified the overflowing love and tenderness of the Holy Mother.

The scales were an emblem of justice and of St. Joseph, the spouse of Mary, whom the Scriptures described as a just man, and the carpenter's tools represented therewith reminded us that St. Joseph was a carpenter and that the Church recognized all honest labour.

The censer and the incense represented the ascent of the devout prayers of the just, and its contemplation was an incentive to devout prayer.

The symbolism of the altar, which has already been detailed in THE EXAMINER, was next dealt with. Reference was also made to the statue of St. Peter, the chief of the apostles, represented with the keys, as a symbol of the authority conferred by Christ upon the first pope, and of St. John the evangelist, the "beloved disciple," represented as blessing the communion cup. The bowed figures of the cherubim taught us that in the house of God we should prostrate ourselves in devotion.

The niches contained statues of St. Anne, the mother of the Blessed Virgin, represented as instructing the latter, showing how parents should bring up their children in the practice of piety, and of the Holy Mother, with the infant Jesus in her arms, and St. Joseph, and of Anthony of Padua, a Franciscan monk who lived in the early part of the 14th century. His devotion was so great that the Blessed Virgin on one occasion placed the infant Jesus in his arms, and thus he is represented in the statue.

Thus, continued the Bishop, the whole beautiful emblematic decorations of the church interior taught lessons of piety and devotion. They tended to strengthen faith, inspire devotion and elevate the thoughts heavenward. The Bishop concluded by asking the prayers of the congregation on his own behalf and on behalf of the western part of the diocese, which he would start to visit the middle of the week.

He then bestowed the Pontificial Benediction, which he had authority to do three times a year.

The choir under the leadership of Mr. F. W. Miller, rendered Peter's Mass in D in an an excellent manner, and at the offertory Millard's beautiful Ave Maria was sweetly sung by Miss Mary Dunn.

A large congregation attended the evening service, when his Lordship Bishop O'Connor sang Pontifical vespers. An instructive sermon was preached by Ven. Archdeacon Casey from the text "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church." The choir rendered the following musical programme in a most creditable manner:

Grand Magnificat.....Rossi
Soloists, Mrs Geo Ball and Jas Wyer.
Ave Maria.....Hervey
Mrs Geo Ball.
O Salutaris.....Holden
Mr A E Hurley.
Tantum Ergo.....Lambillotte
The choir.

At the conclusion of the service Mr. F. W. Miller rendered a cornet solo.

A CREDIT TO THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

A Neglected Child Becomes the Joy of a Good Home.

The Children's Aid Society often hear of their former wards; sometimes from the most distant parts. Many will remember the Smith family, than which a more hopeless lot never lived within the limits of the town. The Society after a great deal of worry and trouble, got the children into the right homes, where they are growing up as useful members of society. This morning the Government inspector advised the Secretary as follows regarding one of them:

"The boy Smith is an unusually bright lad, and by his cheerful and obedient ways has won himself a place in the affections of his foster-parents. The people think a great deal of him." This boy is a long way from here, and has a chance to grow up in more likely surrounding than a town, for one of his early training.

SOUTH DUMMER'S NEW PASTOR.

He is Presented With a Purse on Leaving St. Ola by the Churches in the District.

On the eve of the departure of the Rev. F. W. White, B.A., to his new circuit, South Dummer, a large and representative gathering, by way of a surprise party, was held at his home in St. Ola, the Bowmanville Statesman says, where a very pleasant evening was spent with a programme of speeches, music and refreshments. At the close the pastor was presented with the following address, together with a well-filled purse:

To the Rev. F. W. White, B.A.:

Dear Friend and Brother—We, the members of the several congregations of the Methodist church on the St. Ola circuit, take the liberty of addressing you as friend, feeling as we do, that friendship in its truest sense is one of the greatest boons that one human being can bestow upon another. It unites our finest feelings; it binds our hearts together; it gives us an indefinable trust in one another, and it creates an anxiety for each other's welfare. And we can assure you that since your coming amongst us we have grown to look upon you as a true friend, knowing how deeply anxious you have been for our spiritual and temporal welfare.

We therefore desire you to accept this purse as a small token of our esteem, not on account of its intrinsic value, but as a tangible evidence of the appreciation and esteem in which you are held by us, and although we deeply feel the loss we are about to sustain on account of your removal from our midst, yet we can assure you that our best wishes will go with you to your new field of labour. And we sincerely hope that God may bless you with long life, and we feel assured from personal knowledge of your manly and Christian character, that your trust is securely fixed in our Blessed Lord and Master, and that through faith in His name, that life which the Lord may give you, will continue to shine forth and be useful in the cause of Christ.

We trust you may be the instrument in God's hands of bringing many souls into the enjoyment of salvation through the blood of Christ the Saviour of the World.

Let us once more assure you that although you may be separated from us by distance, yet you will have at all times a place in our hearts; and if God should so order that your lot should ever be cast amongst us in the future, not only our homes, but our hearts will be open to receive you,—our beloved pastor, friend and brother.

Signed on behalf of the several churches on the circuit.

MONCRIEF VS. PETERBOROUGH.

The case of Moncrief vs. Peterborough, in which the town is being sued for $200 damages for injuries alleged to have been received by Mrs. George Moncrief last March, through falling on the icy sidewalk is being heard before Judge Weller to-day.

The accident is alleged by the plaintiff to have been caused by reason of the unsafe condition of the sidewalk on the north side of Simcoe street, just west of George.

Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, for the plaintiff, and E. B. Edwards for the town; Dumble & Johnston are looking after the interests of the Toronto Loan & Savings Co., which owns the building beside which the accident occurred; Edmison & Dixon are representing Mrs. A. E. Dixon, who is also interested in the building, and John Burnham, Q.C., appears for Fairweather & Co., the tenants.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

The following are readings of the official thermometers for this afternoon, as well as the highest and lowest yesterday—shade temperature:—

To-day—1 p. m.....86° above zero

	Highest.	Lowest.
Yesterday	95°	65

Yesterday was an exceedingly warm day and if it had not been for a fresh breeze that blowing the heat would have still been more oppressive. By 8 a. m. 70 degrees in the shade was reached; by 11 it was over 90 degrees, and the mercury gradually rose until at 1 p. m. it marked 95 degrees—the highest for the day. At 5 p. m. the thermometer registered 90, while at 9 o'clock it had gone down to the comparatively cool temperature (for this day) of 80 degrees. To-day was another 'scorcher.' At noon 86 degrees was registered. The lowest temperature last night was 74 degrees.

KEEP COOL.

If you want to be comfortable these scorching days buy a Coat and Vest, Negitgee Shirt and thin Light Underwear at H. LeBRUN & CO'S. A fit for everybody, and at prices to suit everybody. Take this advice and you will be as cool as if you were in a refrigerator.

JUNE WEATHER NOTES.

Taken as a whole the month of June was comparatively cool. Only on four days of the month did the thermometer rise above 80 degrees. The highest temperature was on the 24th, viz., 86 degrees. As a general rule 90 degrees in the shade is experienced on or two occasions. The lowest temperature was on the 2nd—39 degrees. The average of the whole month was 61.33. This is several degrees lower than is usual.

There was rain on 16 days to the depth of 2.66 inches. During the first half of the month there was rain on almost every day, but the latter part was comparatively dry. On the 29th, however, there was a steady rain from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. to a depth of .83 of an inch. This was also the heaviest rain fall of the year. The month was unusually free from thunderstorms.

ASHBURNHAM BRIEFS.

Interesting Bits of Information from Peterborough's Fifth Ward.

The school board meet as usual tomorrow—Tuesday—evening.

The Mark street Methodist Sunday chool hold their picnic on Tuesday, July 6th, down the river per City of Peterborough to Jubilee Point. A very enjoyable time is expected, and as a number of prizes are to be given in connection with the sports, the children are anxiously awaiting the events. The boat leaves Peterborough wharf at 8, calling at Ashburnham.

Rev. W. C. Beer preaches his farewell sermon here next Sunday. He is to be succeeded by Rev. J. E. Moore.

We are glad to be able to report continued improvement in the condition of Mr. Furber, the victim of the recent bicycle accident.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mark street Auxiliary of the W. M. S., will be held in the church on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All ladies, members or not, made welcome.

A LETTER RECEIVED FROM MR. WILL CROWE.

BUSINESS VERY QUIET OUT IN JOHANNESBURG.

Owing to the Present Unsettled Political Difficulties no Investments are Being Made in the Country, and Thousands are out of Employment The Weather is Becoming Cold and Winter is Coming on there.

Mr. Will Crowe's many Peterborough friends will be pleased to learn that he is doing well in South Africa, although he does not advise any to follow him out there, just at present. The appended letter was received from him this morning:

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Having requests from parties in Peterborough to write another letter for your valuable paper on what I think of this country after been here a little more than a year, and if I had changed my mind any in the views I expressed a year ago, I must confess I do not feel competent to giving or expressing what I would wish to convey to the minds of the people at home. Some have the idea that this city of Johannesburg being so young a place, and composed of such a cosmopolitan people, is necessarily a wild place. Such is not the case. True, you will find that there are some acts in the laws of this Republic that would not be tolerated in Canada, but as I am not a politician I will not venture to make any remarks on that point. It is my intention to write only on the mechanical or labour question as it stands to-day in Johannesburg. I have been asked my views on the political situation here at present, but I will leave that for an abler hand to write. The first question, from a machinist, what chance has a young fellow just out of his apprenticeship in securing employment in Johannesburg? None whatever at present, as there are hundreds of good machinists walking around the streets who cannot find employment; therefore, when good machinists, who have spent the better part of their lives at the trade, cannot find work it would be useless for a man just out his apprenticeship to come here and try to find employment. What chance has an iron or brass moulder in Johannesburg? No chance; too many here now. How about the building line in your country? asks another. Well, building is at a standstill and it would in my opinion be for any carpenters, stone masons or bricklayers to come here until the political situation of this country is a settled matter, then and only then will business brighten up. Capitalists will not invest money in property without having some security for their investments and this the present political situation of the Transvaal does not guarantee.

The Banks have refused to advance money on real estate until a settlement is arrived at between England and the Transvaal, and when such a settlement will occur we do not know, but are living in hopes that it may be soon. The gold mining industry is greatly hampered by the ridiculous way in which the Government bleeds it by exorbitant taxes and import duties on all things necessary to the industry. There is now a mining commission sitting to try and settle these matters with the government. Nearly all of the mines are closed down on account of the exorbitant charges which the government is directly responsible for. This has thrown a lot of idle men into Johannesburg who have spent all the money they saved in hopes that matters would change soon in their favour. Now they have no money and no where to get it and are really destitute. I go down down in the city to-night or any other time and I will be met by some of these poor fellows, who will not hesitate to ask me for enough money to get a bed in the Salvation Army Shelter, which costs nine pence. I have hundreds in a week at the factory wanting work if only enough to get a breakfast, but I am compelled to refuse them. We people from Canada and the United States know what the depression was there about two years ago, but it is not to be compared with this place. I can safely say, without exaggeration, that there are thousands of mechanics out of work who cannot get money enough to get out of the country. Some, indeed have walked to Capetown, a distance of 1,014 miles, to get to the ship, and then have to take their chances of getting employment on board to again. Now some will say: "Why don't the high rate of wages come down that we hear the mechanics of Johannesburg enjoy?" Wages cannot come down much more until the necessaries of life are made cheaper. I will give you the prices of what necessary food costs here. For first-class potatoes, as they call them here, and which would not pass for third-class in Canada, it costs $6.75 a bag; butter, 65c. to 75c. per pound; milk, 18c. a pint; meat, 20c. a pound; bread, not as large as our small loaves in Canada, costs about 18c. per loaf; sugar costs about 12c. per pound; tea costs from 75c. to $1.00 a pound; chickens $1.50 per pair; turkeys, $5 00 each; eggs per dozen, 87c. House rent is very high. The cheapest shanty to live in, only one story high, $30.00 per month, and a friend of mine pays for the house he occupies, with five rooms, kitchen and bath room, $110 00 per month, and I could get as good a house, with better accommodation, in Peterborough for $8 00 or $10 per month. The cheapest board to be got here will cost $5 00 per week, then, besides that a sleeping apartment will cost, for one bed which, must be furnished by the tenant with all clothing and necessaries will cost (for the space the bed takes up only) $12.00 per month. Now add to that the laundry, etc., each month, and the exorbitant taxes each individual has to pay such as poll tax about $4 per year, police tax about $5, and small pox tax about $5, and a lot of other taxes too numerous to mention, and you will come to the conclusion that the average mechanic has not much left when the end of the month comes. The general wage paid now is £4 10s per week for the ordinary mechanics, workers in wood, stone, brick and iron. I am still of the same opinion as last year, and that is if a mechanic has employment in Canada hold on to it "for a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

I MET FRED IRWIN

the other day out at a mine about 50 miles from here. He is working away at electrical work and is in the best of health, and from what I understand he is doing well. John Smith has left Johannesburg for pastures green. He has left for Bulawayo about six weeks from here by wagon, as no railway is running in there yet. I saw Smith shortly before he went away and he was looking fine. He has had extra good health since he came here.

We are going to celebrate her Majesty's Jubilee here in good shape. We are going to have a week of it, and everything will be free to all, no charge for admission to any of the sports. By the time this letter reaches you we will be over with it. I only hope that Peterborough will show her loyalty in right good shape as she is capable of doing. The first of July, Dominion day, will soon be here, and I presume we Canadians will have to let loose again and celebrate. We will think of our Battalion trip, if we were home what we would be doing, etc, but we cannot be here and there at the one time, but we can convey our best wishes for a jolly time of it, especially the band boys—they know how to enjoy themselves. We have made several cabinets at our factory, that were ordered by private parties, out of native woods and special designs, to be sent to Her Majesty Queen Victoria as tokens from her South African subjects. So you see that a portion of a Peterborough boy's work will grace the inside of one of the Queen's palaces. I cannot think of anything that would interest you at present. Winter is on here now, and I feel the cold more this year than last, and with pleasure. But a person's blood thins down after putting in a summer here.

Nearly every class of people here is looking forward to trouble after the celebration of the Jubilee is over. It is fully expected that John Bull will assert himself, but I think the Boers will likely look at the right side and not provoke the lion by twisting his tail. There are great reforms promised and the Transvaal Government is now in session. They will conclude their labours about July 1st, and if the grievances of the Uitlanders are not redressed, England will expect every British subject to do his duty, and convince the world that Britannia not only rules the waves, but also the land, and I hardly think there is a more anxious lot than in Johannesburg to day. Any questions your readers desire to have answered, I will be happy to answer to the best of my ability.

Hoping you will excuse the space I have have taken the liberty of occupying in your valuable paper, and also hoping that I have answered all questions satisfactorily, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
WILL H. CROWE,
Johannesburg, South Africa.

P. S.—Dr. F. H. Brennan is doing remarkably well and is all very busy. He has excellent health.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The secretary of the O. L. H. P. A. has written to Mr. Lem Felcher, requesting him to select a tug of war team in Peterborough or from the towns east of Toronto to compete in the games at the annual convention. An endeavour is to be made to have the hotelkeepers assemble in convention in Peterborough next year.

BASEBALL.

Mr. Lem. Felcher has received word from the Bowmanville club that they will play in Lindsay on July 14th. They would like to take in Peterborough on the return trip and play the Park Nine on the 15th. This is something the secretary of the Park Nine should look after at once, as those who purchased season tickets for the baseball matches are a trifle sore over the fact that they have not seen a match this year. Port Hope and Cobourg have good amateur clubs.

LACROSSE.

The Tecumsehs won from the Berlin team Saturday by seven goals to two. The Berlin or Twin City team is composed of picked players from all over the country, so that the close match which the Peterboroughs gave the Tecumsehs is all the more noteworthy. Peterborough will have to bring those Tecumsehs back again.

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

The New Pastor's First Sunday With his Flock—His Greeting to his Congregation—Regrets at His Ill Health.

Yesterday was the first service in the Charlotte street Methodist church since the arrival of the new pastor, Rev. D. O. Crossley. It is well known the reverend gentleman had a serious attack of illness in Napanee, which prevented his earlier arrival; and it is to be regretted that he has not yet gained sufficient strength to take his ministerial duties.

Yesterday morning he was present, however, and previous to the service addressed a few words to the congregation, expressing his great regret at the condition of his health, that prevented his entering upon the work of the church. There never was a time, he said, when he was more anxious to be well than at the present time. While words failed to express his regret, all that could be done was to wait with patient submission to the divine will till health was sufficiently restored to permit of his taking full charge of the important duties of the important charge over which he had been placed.

During the illness of Rev. Mr. Crossley, Rev. Mr. Smith, of the Hamilton conference, will occupy the pulpit. Yesterday he preached an excellent sermon from the last words of the last verse of the last chapter of St. Matthew's gospel, "Lo I am with you always even to the end of the world." Rev. Mr. Smith is an able young man. He has spent three years in study at college, and has been three years in the ministry. He has supplied pulpits in many important charges, was for some time supply for Rev. Dr. Torrill, Hamilton, and his services were there, as they will doubtless be in the present case, eminently satisfactory.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

THE CANUCKS MUST GO

And If They Don't Leave Them the Railroad Company Will Tear Tracks With Ice Torn Up.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., July 2. The Common Council last night at a special meeting passed a resolution declaring the franchise of the Gorge Road null and void, and giving them 30 days to remove their tracks from the streets, unless in that time the railroad should charged every Canadian employed on the road. The street superintendent was instructed to remove the tracks and wires of the road if the company did not in the time specified.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, July 3.

Pop Williams made jokes of the Bisons all through the game at the Island yesterday afternoon. Just think of it! Jim Field and his cohorts only pushed out three hits throughout the nine innings, and Gremlinger, the fat boy on third, got two of these. Besides Williams only passed three of them to first. They sent a run around in the first on errors by Dr. Smith and Taylor and another in the second, when two of the three hits occurred and Freeman worked in a fumble.

MONKEY MALARKEY A PUZZLE.

At Syracuse Malarkey was a Chinese puzzle to the Brownies until the eighth innings, and then they did not hit hard enough to overcome the lead gained by Syracuse, who handed hard on McFarlin in the fourth, when Rochester made errors. Umpire Gaffney failed to put in his appearance and two of the players had to do his work. Manager Weidman was forced to go to centre field for Rochester, owing to the absence of Richter. Score:

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

GARDEN PARTY FROCKS.

Harmonious Creations Designed For the Entire Season.

The modern organdie gown is by no means a wash frock. Muslins, dimities and thin stuffs of all kinds are built most elaborately, with frills and insertions, puffings and ruchings, shirrings and tuckings, and they are not intended to be laundered during the season. They may require a little freshening and pressing, but that is all. Among the summer models are found charming creations of organdie and mull, built into two or often more skirts of the same transparent fabrics, and depending on no other foundation. Some of the underskirts are of a different shade, giving a shadowy color effect. A lawn with a violet pattern printed on a white ground is hung over a second full skirt of yellow lawn. Black mull will be much worn over colored and white silk slips. A chic frock is of pale yellow muslin, with wreaths of pink clovers. Around the hem are six small ruffles, above which is a pattern of the lace insertion put on in loops, and around the design is sewed narrow black velvet. The waist is very full in the front and in the back, and consists of entre-deux of insertion outlined with narrow black velvet. The sash and collar are of black velvet. Narrow frills running up and down a skirt are often very effective, especially if they follow the sides of the apron front to the hips, where they turn and encircle the skirt about the tournure. The flounced skirt in muslin is successful when four or five ruffles are used, rows of insertion separating them. They curve up toward the back and an extra one is set about the hem of the back breadths; these lines are more becoming to the figure than those running straight around. Broad squares or diamonds, bow knots of lace insertion are easily arranged on cross-barred organdies. The sleeves this summer are becoming to all. The shirring and the puffing, not to mention the lace epaulets and caps over the tops of the sleeves, all give the desired breadth, and at the same time show the beauty of the arm, and they as well conceal defects if any exist.

For garden party frocks and for afternoon wear generally, canvas, with a very open mesh, is very fashionable, built over glace silk. As a rule the silk lining will be of a brilliant shade, softened and subdued by the color of the canvas. Pale green canvas is charming over bright yellow, dark blue over cerise, black over green and purple. Batistes are imported in exquisite drawn-work effects, also in plaids, stripes and embroidered designs. They are also made up over bright linings. Plaids seem to be the favorite design in every style of goods. Bands of embroidery placed vertically upon the skirt and waist will be a novel and effective manner of trimming summer frocks. A very stylish model of violet taffeta is trimmed with bands of ecru open-worked canvas. About eight or nine of these bands are placed around the skirt, the bodice having six similar bands, three in front and three at the back. The sleeves are of the violet taffeta, with deep lace cuffs. The belt and collar are of willow green velvet. Figured gauzes and grenadines are very popular. The patterns are stunning indefinable, shadowy shapes, which seem to have no design except to produce the effect of color. To be entirely up to date they must have a skirt of gauze between the outside material and the foundation. A frock of dull green gauze, patterned in red, has a red silk foundation, and green chiffon between. The same color effect is carried out in the waist. Among the pretty ties to be worn with linen collars are those in Scotch plaids, of soft silk, grenadine or satin. The Stuart plaid, with its bars of yellow; the McGregor, with its gay scarlet and touches of black; the Scotch silk, green and red, and the Fergusson, with broad blocks of white, are very pretty. The black satin or silk tie is more popular than ever this season, and it is far more effective than any other tie with light shirts. The correct bow is small and the medium width is most desirable. Puffy Ascots and the ever-present four-in-hand are worn with high collars. They are made of black satin, in plaids—in dark tones of green and blue—and in the new Parisian silks. The high black satin stocks are worn both with and without a collar, and they are tied in necktie bows and four-in-hands. Broad stocks of white duck are worn for golf.

This is a season of brilliant color, in fact many of the combinations are startling and unpleasant to the eye. Purple and green continues to be in evidence, and they are used in the most quarrelsome shades. Petticoats are as bright in color as outside skirts, and quite as elaborate in their decorations. Many are ruffled to the knee in front and to the waistband in the back. Ruches adorn the hem and over them fall clusters of ruffles, and over all is a flounce of silk tucked and frilled with lace ruffles. Shaded silks in all tones are still in vogue for petticoats. Taffeta makes the lightest garment, consequently the most desirable. In these days of brilliant effects a petticoat for the street should match the dress lining. Brocaded satins with garlands of white flowers are worn with black dresses. The new black and white skirts are very good style and they are most bewitching. White taffetas are ruffled with clusters of black and white silk, and bands of black insertion are let in the deep flounces, which are completed with a double fall of black and white lace. Elaborate India muslin petticoats are worn with colored organdies and white muslins. They are befrilled and beflounced until but a small quantity of the original material is visible. Colored lawns and cottons are also used for underclothes. The lighter colors, however, are very apt to fade in the sun when laundered. Petticoats are built without stiffening of any kind. They are full and the ruffles make them stand out, and yet they follow the figure when in movement. The extreme fineness of skirt linings and petticoats is one more fact that goes to prove that skirts will be worn much longer in the autumn, and that they will be raised on the street to disclose the ruffles of silk beneath them.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion, because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood, and so makes SOLID, HEALTHY flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

Shirt Waists Up to Date.

Of course a shirt waist, to be a shirt waist, must conform to certain rules, but it may be decorated according to fancy.

Very dainty little summer shirt waists are made of plain muslin in bright colors and are quite as stylish as those of silk. A smart cotton shirt waist is built of delft blue chambray, with a pointed yoke at the back, small tucks forming a yoke effect in front.

Plaid waists, in both cotton and silk, are en regale, and are finished with a belt of plaid and stock of the same. These are shown you by the dealers as the latest novelties. They will be much worn throughout the summer season with crash and linen skirts.

Not to Be Expected.

Recently in Belfast two farmers who had come in for the weekly market, after transacting their business, made their way to a public building, where the portrait in oils of a local church dignitary was hung.

The harsh, ascetic countenance of the reverend gentleman was by no means softened by the slovenly manner in which the colors had been laid on.

After a short and silent view one of them broke forth with the remark that "his riverance had nae a very pleasant face."

"Houts, man!" rejoined the other; "cud ye expect the like after sich a dose o' oil!"—Answers.

Dr. CHASE CURES FATHER AND CHILD

Both afflicted with Eczema of a very troublesome type and cured in a remarkably short while by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg; the itching was something terrible; would scratch until the blood came. How I came to know the value of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT, I have a little girl two years; when she was one year old the same disease began to show upon her face. It wasn't long before her face became literally covered with it. In order to keep her from scratching it we had to bandage her hands up. I tried several doctors, but got no relief. Seeing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT so highly advertised I made up my mind to purchase a box, which I did from one of our leading druggists. The first application I noticed a change. It was then I began to think about myself. With four or five applications, to my surprise, I am completely cured, no sign of the disease, and my little girl's face to-day is clear of all the scabs. I am only too glad to inform any person what a blessing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT has proved itself.

R. W. ERRETT,

The skeleton in many a household is the peculiar weakness of the wife and mother, or of the wife who ought to be a mother and is not. Happiness is destroyed by the presence of the secret sickness that may lurk like a grinning death among the most luxurious homes. The most terrible thing about this condition of affairs is that it is entirely needless. There is no reason in the world why every woman in the world should not be strong and healthful and capable of fulfilling her whole duty as a wife and mother. Many women go on month after month, and year after year, becoming weaker and weaker, because of a very natural hesitancy they feel in consulting a physician. They know that if they go to a doctor for treatment, the first thing he will insist on will be "examination" and "local treatment." This must of course be distasteful to every modest woman. They are generally as unnecessary as they are abhorrent. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures positively, perfectly, permanently, all varieties of "female weakness" and disease. It is designed to do this one thing, and it does it. It is the only medicine now before the public for woman's peculiar ailments, adapted to her delicate organization by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in these maladies. It cannot do harm in any condition of the system. Its sales exceed the combined sales of all other medicines for women.

Every woman will be healthier and happier for following the friendly, practical counsel contained in Dr. Pierce's great universal doctor book: "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is the most comprehensive medical work in one volume in the English language. It contains 1008 pages, fully illustrated. 680,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 each bound in cloth. The profits are now used in printing half-a-million free copies bound in strong manilla paper covers. To get one you have only to send 21 one cent stamps (to pay cost of customs and mailing only) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y. Send promptly before all are given away if in want of one. They are going off rapidly.

Work of Bacilli.

It is a matter of popular knowledge now that all fermentation is caused by some microscopic organism, and special cultures of particular bacilli are sold to dairymen for the purpose of inoculating their cream to give the butter a specially fine flavor or good keeping quality. In the same way specific bacteria which helps various plants to get their nitrogen from the air have been cultivated, and will probably soon become articles of commerce, so that the farmer can buy the particular kind needed when he wishes to vaccinate his fields for clover or peas or alfalfa. And now it is reported in Garden and Forest, on the authority of the British consul at Naples, that a special ferment is largely used there in the manufacture of port wine from barley. The grain is malted, after which the specific bacilli which caused the fermentation in port wine are introduced into the mead, where they multiply abundantly and transform the immature beer into the richest port. After their work is finished a sufficient stock of the microbes is preserved in the laboratory for future use, and the product is then sterilized. The manufacture of a good quality of port wine from barley mead is certainly a new triumph of science.—New York Tribune.

Told of New York.

It is stated that more than 7 per cent. of those who people New York to-day were born of foreign mothers, while more than 40 per cent. were themselves born on foreign soil. Peter Stuyvesant ruled in his day over 1400 New Yorkers, who conversed in 18 different tongues.

The population of New York cannot be called a church-going one. There are less than 600 places of Christian worship, seating only about 300,000 persons.

The most valuable spots on the face of the earth are believed to be the four corners where Wall street touches Broad. Not long ago $1,500,000 was paid for five lots on Broadway, opposite Bowling Green.

It is said that there is scarcely a nation upon earth which has not eating places of its own in New York.

Cost of Pavements.

A comparison of various pavements has been made at Wolverhampton, England, by a local engineer. The materials being laid on a Portland cement concrete six inches thick, he finds that granite costs $3 per square yard, with a life of thirty years; Australian hardwood blocks, $4.50 per square yard, lasting eighteen years; creosote deal blocks, $3 per square yard, the durability being but twelve years. A 2-inch natural rock asphalt on the same bed, good for fifteen years, costs $3.35 per square yard. To maintain 7002 square yards of pavement thirty years, including watering and scavenging, is found to cost $45,000 for granite, $87,210 for Australian hardwood, $73,800 for creosote deal, and $65,175 for natural rock asphalt.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell. 25c. 50c. and $1.00.

EARACHE.

A Specialist Gives an Insight Into Its Causes and Remedies

Dr. Gilman, of Detroit, a specialist in diseases of the eye and ear, furnished a paper on "Earache: Its Causes and Treatment," to a recent issue of The Physician and Surgeon. He says that of all the pains to which we are liable there is perhaps none more difficult to endure than a violent earache. Pain in the ear is a symptom of great importance, and often gives warning of a serious condition, demanding prompt attention. An inflammatory condition may often be benefited by the free application of warm water to the canal by means of a fountain syringe; such inflammations are often caused by the use of pens, ear-picks and other foreign substances.

Impacted cerumen, or wax, in the ear, sometimes occasions pain in the ear, if impacted on the tympanum. The syringe should be relied upon for its removal. Foreign bodies in the ear are occasionally the cause of suffering. Before attempting the removal the exact location of the object should be ascertained, and an attempt be made to dislodge it by a stream of warm water from the syringe. The use of forceps and other instruments, even by experts, is often accompanied by injury to the delicate membrane of the tympanum. A live insect in the ear often causes agonizing earache. If no other remedy is at hand fill the canal with warm water when the insect will be forced out or drowned and relief secured.

Heat, either dry or moist, will usually diminish the severity or entirely relieve many forms of earache. Poultices should not be used on the ear, they are dangerous, and apt to do great damage to the tympanum. The usual remedies, sweet oil and laudnium, roasted onions, etc., are of little real use in relieving pain; the virtue of the onion and the poultice residing in the heat applied. Ear-drops composed of five grains each of hydrochlorate of cocaine and carbolic acid to one drachm of glycerine, are useful in relieving pain. Warm two or three drops of this solution and drop into the ear.

The fountain syringe is the best to use about the ear, and care must be taken not to get too great force to the stream of water and to pull the auricle back and upward, which gives a better opening to the auditory canal. The stream of water should be directed to all parts of the canal, and the douching can be kept up for ten or fifteen minutes at a time, as frequently as the case seems to demand.

Tact and Flowers.

The most charitable person in the world may make sad mistakes even in giving flowers. A young mother was sorrowing over the death of a baby and I, yearning to comfort her, picked my prettiest tuberoses, and carried them over, only to be met, to my great astonishment with, "Take them away! They were on baby's coffin, and he is gone!" I was but too glad to throw them out of the window.

We must remember the nose connects more nearly with the brain than other parts of the face, and a scent connected with a sorrow bring it back again. And this keen bringing back of a certain perfume may be a saving grace as well. A boy went from his country home to a large city, fell in with bad companions, and went down, morally, very low. He did not write, and his father and mother mourned him as dead. One day, in a market, he saw a potted lemon verbena, and knowing it was his mother's favorite plant he bought it, carried it to his room, and the more its sweet scent went to his brain, the more he thought of his home. Suddenly he exclaimed, "I'll go and see mother!" and that was the beginning of a better life.

One might as well have an idea of "all sorts and conditions of men" in laying out a garden, especially if there is plenty of room. A "bed of nations" would interest the one who planned it, and do a real missionary work besides. Michael might have his shamrock and Andrew his thistle, while a Frenchman will grow hysterical over a fleur de lis and Fritz will be happy with his cornflowers.

Things We Ought to Know.

That it is not wise to provide too many pots, kettles and pans when furnishing a kitchen.

That it is wise for a young housekeeper to go into each room in her house at least once a day.

That the cellar should be kept clean and whitewashed at least once a year—preferably in the spring.

That all bills for marketing should be paid weekly—and, better still, when the article is bought.

That "no credit" is a very safe motto for a young couple to live up to.

That necessities should be selected before fancy articles.

That it is always decidedly cheaper in the end to buy good carpets and good furniture.

That it is wiser to furnish the necessary rooms first, leaving the spare rooms until a more convenient season.

That a small sum should be put aside regularly with which a home may be purchased.

That good cooking and a tidy home, combined with a sweet temper, go far toward persuading a husband that marriage is not a failure.

That a child in a house is a well-spring of pleasure, especially when the child is well trained.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

HOW TO COOK A HUSBAND!

In a lecture before a cooking school,
For cooking a husband was given this rule:
First, in selecting, to market don't go;
The best you'll not find there, most surely, I know.
For although there are many, yes, galore,
The prime will always be brought to your door.
Don't think for a moment, to bake or broil,
Much better the in the kettle to boil.
Use a silken cord called comfort—'twon't break—
But one called duty is apt to be weak.
To make him secure, it is well, no doubt,
Yes! for aught we know, he'd be failing out.
And then, too surely if your back were turned,
He'd become, alas! both crusty and burned.
In cooking a husband you'll plainly see,
Like lobsters and crabs, alive he must be.
Should he sputter and fuss, help there is none.
Some husbands do it until they are done.
Some sugar add, in the form of kisses,
You'll find, to absorb, he rarely misses.
Vinegar, and pepper, use none at all;
But of spice you may add a sprinkling small.
Stir some, lest to the kettle he adhere;
Thus making him useless, I greatly fear.
Please not in his side, some instrument stick.
For when he is done you will know it quick.
With proper treatment and excellent care,
You'll find him, indeed, delicious and rare.
—American Kitchen Magazine.

Stove Gives Out Cold in Hot Weather.

Prof. William M. Watts of Still Pond has a novelty in the form of a cold stove. The stove is for use in the heated months of summer for reducing temperature, just as stoves heated by fire are used to raise the temperature in winter. By the use of salt, a small quantity of ice, and a patented chemical, the most intense degree of cold is secured. So great is the cold that it is as dangerous to touch the cold stove when in operation as it would be to place the hand on a fire stove at a high degree of heat. The skin is instantly taken off, and painful injuries are the result of the slightest contact. Prof. Watts states that during the hottest weather the temperature of a room may be run down and made pleasant by the use of this novel device. The new process was discovered by a college mate of the teacher of the Still Pond school. The cost of operating the stove is very slight.—Chestertown Transcript.

A MATTER OF JUSTICE

IS THE WAY YOUNG LADY OF NEW BRUNSWICK VIEWS IT.

Suffered From Headache, Pain in the Side and Heart Palpitation—She Thinks Similar Sufferers Should Know How She Found a Cure.

From the Fredericton Gleaner.

Miss Alma Millar, of Upper Southampton, N.B., is a daughter of Mr. Ezra Millar, a wealthy and influential farmer, and the young lady is a general favourite among a wide circle of acquaintances, who have had occasion to congratulate her upon her complete restoration to health, after a severe and trying illness. When a correspondent of the Gleaner called upon her, and requested that the facts might be given for publication, the young lady, though not at all anxious for publicity, nevertheless gave her consent in the hope that her experience might prove beneficial to some of the many young girls whose condition of health is very similar to what her's was previous to her cure. Miss Millar stated that when her illness began her mother was unable to look after the affairs of the household and the duties largely devolved upon her. She felt herself growing weak and easily tired but felt that she must keep up. She says: "Notwithstanding my efforts I found myself growing worse and worse. My appetite failed, my complexion became sallow and my eyes sunken in my head. I was troubled with dizziness, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart until at times I felt as though I would suffocate. I was almost constantly troubled with a pain in the side, and severe headaches. When I went up stairs I was obliged to rest. Life had become almost a burden and at last I was forced to give up and keep my bed. My friends feared I was going into consumption and one remedy after another was tried with no beneficial results until I was induced to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. In less than three weeks I was able to leave my bed and go about the house and the use of the Pink Pills a few weeks longer completely restored my health and strength and drove away all symptoms and pains which had made my life so miserable. I feel that in in bringing this matter before the public I am but doing simple justice to suffering humanity, and I hope that those afflicted as I was will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. I might also add that other members of our family have used Pink Pills with equally good results."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for Miss Millar, they will do for thousands of other young girls throughout the country whose condition is similar. They restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks, correct functional derangements, and create a feeling of new life and energy. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Refuse all pink coloured imitations and other medicines said to be "just as good."

THE PETER HAMILTON "JUBILEE BINDER."

Its High Character Gives it Prominence in the West.

The following from the Parkhill Independent, Middlesex County, Western Ontario, is a practical proof of the high value set by agricultural specialists upon the harvesting machinery of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company. The Independent says:—"The Peter Hamilton binder, which is manufactured by the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, of Peterborough, is recognized by the farmers of Ontario as one of the best machines made, and a large number have been sold throughout the province. The County Council of Oxford recently appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Snider, C. Ross and W. Cole to purchase a binder for the farm in connection with the County House of Refuge, and the committee, after spending three weeks examining the different binders, decided to purchase the Peter Hamilton "Jubilee Binder," and Mr. T. Magladery, of Parkhill, general agent for the Peter Hamilton Company, met the committee on Saturday and booked the order. Messrs. Webber & McPherson, the Company's energetic agents at Woodstock, are building up a prosperous business in that town for the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company."

All of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company's binders and mowers are, it may be added, fitted with roller bearings throughout. The Company's new No. 5 front cut mower, with roller bearings and power foot lift is acknowledged to be the best mower in the market to day, and the Hamilton jubilee binder, as shown by the extract printed above, is recognized as the best binder. When this machinery commands so excellent an opinion outside the county, all over the Province, why should not our farmers encourage and protect home industry, when the best of machinery is manufactured in their own town?

An Ill-Fated Train.

Mr. J. Plimmer, of Windsor, Ont., was on the train which went through the bridge at St. George, Ont., in 1888. In the accident his kidneys and back were seriously injured, and have since caused him great suffering. Mr. Plimmer says:—"Until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills I never knew what it was to be free from pain. They have entirely removed the pain, and I am able to work every day now. They have produced better results than all the other medicines combined which I have used in all my years of suffering. I regard them as a specific for kidney trouble."

A Man's Store

And They Get There.

Gough Bros.

Are firmly established in the belief that Men's Goods are cheaper at their stores than in any other in the Dominion of Canada. Did you ever try what you can do here? Is the habit yo've got into, of paying out your money without figuring how much better you might do at GOUGH'S, so strong as to make you careless?

Get in on the ground floor while this GREAT SMASH-UP IN PRICES is going on over the E. A. SMALL & CO. STOCK, which we snapped up from under the hammer at a mere decimal fraction of the wholesale cost.

Men Have Got to Have Clothing, Hats and Boots and Furnishings.

This used to be a Clothing Store only. Now you can buy pretty near everything else a man wants to wear, and the fact that very many of them do buy all they wear here, shows creditable work somewhere.

Summer Hats!
Summer Suits!
Summer Shirts!
Summer Trousers!
Summer Neckwear!
Summer Furnishings!
Summer Boots & Shoes

The completeness of each stock and the immense variety are our guarantees that you can be fitted and suited. Small boy and big boy, young man and elderly man, can depend on getting everything they need at a minimum of expense. The way we buy has everything to do with the way we sell, and we want every man to realize the resources of this great business.

It isn't possible in a proper store system to do justice to one stock and neglect another. System implies uniform low prices, small profits and clever management. You who buy Clothing here can get equal satisfaction in Footwear and Headwear.

We keep an accurate slate of every days' business of every year, and the fact that our record for the past six months of 1897 shows an average increase of $500 every month, means that we are keeping up our Record Reign with undiminished success.

REMINISCENCES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The reference made on Sunday night to William Dawson by the Rev. Mr. Dykeman recalled vividly to my recollection my having heard that venerable man in the year 1835, and though only in my seventh year, I distinctly remember the vast assembly and the tremendous voice of the speaker. I also remember that he spoke from Rev. vi, 8, and that his subject was Death on the Pale Horse. Wm. Dawson was the eldest child of Luke and Ann Dawson, and was born at Garforth in the county of Yorkshire, England, on the 30th March, 1778. His parents were strong adherents to the established Church of England, but William, who was a wild boy, was converted to God in the 20th year of his age through the instrumentality of the ministers of the Wesleyan body, and was in a few months placed on the plan of the Leeds circuit as a local preacher, in which capacity he continued through life. He instantly displayed extraordinary gifts as a public speaker. He has always been acknowledged as the greatest lay preacher in the history of the churches. The Dean of York made great efforts to induce him to take orders in the establishment, but the sudden death of his father who was steward to Sir T. Gascoigne, led him to the conclusion that it was his duty to take the place of his father and care for his widowed mother and sisters, he being the only son. He accordingly assumed the stewardship of Sir T. Gascoigne's estates, and in addition to this he farmed 150 acres of land. One might well be surprised that so busy a man could find time in which to prepare sermons that won the admiration of the multitude, but it must be remembered that he was a born orator of the first class, his dramatic power being quite equal to that of John B. Gough, and though only favoured with a good common school education, he had an intense thirst for knowledge, was an extensive reader, a close observer of men and things and a profound thinker. In addition to this he had from nature a rich fancy and an imperial imagination. Whilst William Dawson was mighty in the pulpit, it was on the platform that his powers appeared to the greatest advantage. Among his popular speeches were those known as "The Telescope," "The Musical Clock," "The Reform Bill," "The Silent Man," "The British Lion," "The Slave Speech," and many others. In connection with chapel openings and on other great occasions, his name often appeared with the names of Adam Clarke, Jabez Bunting, R. Newton, R. Watson, T. Lealey, and other leading ministers of the Wesleyan body; and not a man among them could draw larger audiences, or get larger collections. He preached the morning sermon at the dedication of Brownswick chapel, Leeds, and the collection on the plates was £1,000 or $5,000. It was no uncommon thing for him to be sowing seed, stacking grain, shearing sheep, etc., one part of the day, and taking part in some great meeting the other part. In 1823 the annual meeting of the Samaritan Society was held in the large seaport town of Hull. This was a benovolent society non denominational. Mr. Wilberforce, the father of the late Bishop of Oxford, consented to preside on the occasion. Among the speakers invited was the Dean of York of the Anglican church, John Angell, of the Independent or Congregational church, Robert Hall, of the Baptist church, and Dr. Adam Clarke, of the Wesleyan. On the day preceding it was found that Dr. Clarke could not possibly be in attendance. The committee of arrangement were much perplexed, and knew not what to do. They at last decided to send post haste for Mr. Dawson. The deputation sent found him in his shirt sleeves, hard at work trimming his hedges. He instantly consented to fill the gap, went in the house, put on his drab suit, with leggings and top boots, the way in which all well-to-do farmers dressed in that day; and getting in the post chaise, arrived in Hull just in the nick of time. His address on that occasion is said to have been surpassingly effective. The Dean of York knew what manner of man he was, but Mr. James, Mr. Hall and Mr. Wilberforce, who had never heard him before, were filled with wonder and amazement. Mr. Wilberforce was intensely moved, and through the remainder of his life often referred to that astonishing Yorkshire farmer. Dr. Guthrie of the Free Church of Scotland, accidentally heard Mr. Dawson in the Wesleyan chapel, Whitby, at which watering place he, (Dr. Guthrie) was spending a few weeks for the restoration of his health. Dr. Guthrie—no mean judge—always declared that Wm. Dawson was the first allegorical preacher in Great Britain.

Such were the calls for Mr. Dawson's services in all parts of the Wesleyan connection that in 1838 and in the 64th year of his age, he gave up farming and devoted the whole of his time to the work of the Lord at a salary of £150 per annum.

His residence was at Leeds, and no man at his age could work harder. In fact the demands for his services were legion. After four years of labour as a paid agent in the Methodist church, this extraordinary man died in the full triumph of faith at the house of Mr. Philips of Colne, on the 4th of July, 1841, in the 69th year of his age. Ten thousand loving and weeping friends followed the corpse to Barwick in Elmet cemetery, where the interment took place.

An excellent biography of this remarkable man was published after his death, and passed through three editions.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars.—G. Walter Green, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

Here is the Way.

To cure all heart and nerve troubles and weak, weary, tired feeling, sleeplessness, nervousness, etc., do as Mr. Thos. Glover, Chatham, Ont., did. A Special Departure In Summer Millinery.

After a most successful stretch of business, we feel like doing something exceptional in the interests of Ladies before the 1st of July.

Perhaps we ought to say we want to sell more Hats and mean to go about it in the quickest and best way to sell them. Please yourself how you consider the matter, but the facts are that the entire stock of Straw Hats in Fancy Shapes, Sailors and Leghorns have been marked down for the balance of this month. We also offer the additional inducement of reduced prices for trimming these Hats—provided, of course, the materials are purchased here.

A JULY DROP.

Just now a mite of money is worth a mountain of stock. Just now, nothing seems impossible in the line of saving money at the Golden Lion.

During the zenith of Summer trade, we mark down the prices of Summer Goods.

It's Fair's Way. Better to sell than to hold. Better to lose a little than carry goods over to another season. Profits don't stand in the way when the time comes to clear out stock :—

Blouse Clearance—

We let go our whole stock of Fancy Blouses. The lot includes all the latest and most exclusive styles.

Print Wrappers Clearance

Every woman should be interested in the Reduced Prices of our Wrappers. The values are better far than ever offered.

Fancy Parasol Clearance

The Fancy Parasol Stock goes at HALF PRICE. That's a Sweeping Reduction. No fabrication or exaggeration in what we say. Parasols at Half Price just means what it says.

Summer Millinery Clearance—

Just to liven things up, we offer all Summer Millinery, both Trimmed and Untrimmed, at cost. This is the chance of the season. You know our stock.

Balance of our SPRING CAPES and JACKETS at interesting figures.

Ladies' Underwear, Gloves and Hosiery—

Nothing but an examination can give a correct idea of how cheap these wares can now be bought here.

Our WASH GOODS SALE still goes on. All prevailing prices are lost sight of. Watch the window displays and prices.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Ottawa Lumbermen and the U. S. Duty.

THERE WAS NO GREAT SURPRISE

At Uncle Sam's Decision to Lower the Figures—The Cry of Lower Wages in Canada Had an Effect on the Yankee Senators—News Notes.

Ottawa, Ont., July 5.—(Special.)—The action of the United States Senate in reducing the duty on lumber to $1, occasions no surprise to Ottawa mill men. When the subject of the lumber duty was before the Committee of Ways and Means of the House of Representatives one of the strongest arguments used by American producers for protection against Canadian competition was the allegation that in lower wages, royalties and expenses, generally, Canadian lumbermen were at an immense advantage over their American competitors. Evidence in rebuttal of these exparte statements was furnished by Ottawa mill men, but too late, presumably, to influence the House of Representatives. The Senate being appealed to, consulted the Bureau of Statistics at Washington for information on the points in issue. This not being obtainable at Washington, a special of the bureau, Mr. F. Sheridan, came to Ottawa to make enquiries. The books of local lumber men were freely placed at his disposal, and as a result of the investigation he was able to report that, so far from enjoying an advantage in those respects, the Canadians paid higher wages on the average than the United States and were generally at a greater expense getting out logs and sawing for the market than their rivals on the American side. It is thought these facts influenced the Senate Committee in making the reductions.

The heat to-day was worse than yesterday, the thermometer reaching 97 degrees in the shade. Builders, workmen and employes of the Granite Company, who are laying the asphalt roadways, had to quit at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. To-day was the hottest in years.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, who is Acting Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at the request of the people of St. Stephen's, N.B., has permitted the cruiser Curlew to take part in the demonstration at Calais, Maine. This has been done in return for the military and people of Calais having taken part in the Jubilee celebration at St. Stephen's.

The Liberals threaten a crusade against Conservative Senators, and say they can disqualify nearly 20 who have not the requisite $4000 of real estate free of all encumbrance.

Ottawa's exports for June totalled $818,982. During June, 1896, the exports only reached $331,914, showing a difference in favor of the present year of $487,068. In June last year the exports for the quarter were $949,422, while those of this year amounts to $1,947,043, showing an increase of $997,621.

Mr. Schreiber, Chief Engineer of Railways and Canals, has gone to Hamilton to look into certain matters in connection with the T., H. & B. On coming east he will inspect the works in progress on the St. Lawrence canals.

Sir Oliver Mowat expects to remain in the city for three days' longer, after which he will go to Toronto.

Mr. Fielding and Mr. Scott are the only other Ministers in town.

Sir Richard Cartwright returns to Ottawa to-morrow.

Mr. Jameson, M.P., for Winnipeg, left for home to-day.

The friends of Mr. Darcy Scott, barrister, emphatically deny the truth of the statement that he is to be appointed postmaster of the House of Commons. Mr. Scott says he has no desire to discontinue the practice of his profession.

It is reported that the Postoffice Department will shortly sell complete sets of Jubilee stamps up to 50 cents.

It is stated by the Liberal press that Mr. Dobel will succeed Lord Glencoe as High Commissioner.

The Customs department has issued notice that in making entries the importers must specify the country of origin.

Mgr. Merry del Val was somewhat better to-day.

Mr. Harty of the Marine Department has left for Montreal to commence his trip with supplies for all the lighthouses on the upper lakes.

THE TORRIDITY.

Many Deaths Reported From the Extreme Heat in Ohio Fire Plugs Blown Out in Detroit.

Cincinnati, O., July 5.—Specials from Ohio points report the extremes of heat yesterday as follows: Dayton, 110 degrees, two deaths, many prostrations; Lima, 105 degrees, 1 death; Newark, 105 degrees; Upper Sandusky, 105 degrees.

Full investigation up to 1 o'clock this morning, July 4-5, show that there were 14 deaths from heat here in the last 20 hours.

The heat continues to-day. Twenty-two cases of prostration have been reported in the city and eight deaths. The streets are almost deserted, only those whose business is imperative going out.

Damage Caused in Detroit.

Detroit, July 5.—The extreme heat beating down through a skylight yesterday afternoon caused the blowing out of two automatic fire plugs. The torrent of water thus released flowed down through the building, damaging the dry goods stock of Burnham, Stoepel & Co. and the clothing stock of the Peerless Manufacturing Company to the extent of nearly $100,000. The fire plugs were set to escape at a temperature of 130 degrees.

DEADLY LIGHTNING.

Paul Maynard and His Team Killed—The Father of Mr. Maynard Stunned and the Wagon Demolished.

Tecumseh, Ont., July 5.—Lightning struck Mr. Paul Maynard and killed him instantly, also stunning his father to such an extent that he cannot live only a few hours, and instantly killing the team of horses and shivering the wagon to atoms. Neither men nor team was missed for two hours and the bodies were lying out in a very heavy rainstorm.

Lightning Killed Him.

Arthur, Ont., July 5.—A Mr. Clark, farmer, near Fergus, was killed here to-day, being struck by lightning in the shed of the Royal Hotel. The roof of the barn was shattered. The corpse remains at present awaiting the coroner.

Barn Destroyed by Lightning.

Winnipeg, July 5.—On Saturday morning the four-storey barn of Herbert Mathew of Springfield was struck by lightning and splintered into matchwood. The windmill was also destroyed. A large tank of water, holding five tons, which stood on the top flat, was found some distance from the building. Some of the other buildings were also badly damaged. Loss to buildings and contents about $3000.

DROWNED IN THE CREDIT.

George T. Armstrong Went in Bathing and Got Beyond His Depth—News Notes From Brampton.

Brampton, July 5.—(Special.)—Geo. Lendale Armstrong, aged 38 years, a married man with a family of three small children, was drowned in the Credit River near Meadowvale on Saturday evening. The deceased was in the employ of Frank Jackson, farmer. After work his fellow laborers proposed a swim in the river nearby, but he refused to go and started up the bank to his home. When Armstrong had got a short distance from the place where his companions had gone swimming, he must have changed his mind. At a swimming hole known as Simpson's Dam, a heavy log, the remains of a tail-race, crosses the river. At this point the deceased stripped and walked out on the dam, submerged a few inches, and, sitting down, attempted to wash. It is supposed he slipped from the slimy log. At all events his body was found in nine feet of water, in front of the boats, where the river bed was a hole. The alarm was given by a small boy, who found the clothes on the bank. After several hours' grappling with garden rakes, the body was recovered. The funeral of deceased took place to-day, passing through here on the way to Mayfield. The dead man was a member of the A.O.U.W., but it is thought he allowed his last payment to fall into arrears.

Young Englishman Drowned.

Orillia, July 5.—A young Englishman named Sid Clark, a painter by trade, went in swimming at the end of the wharf about 10.30 o'clock to-night and was drowned. It is thought he took cramps. He has lived here for some time, but has no relatives in town. The body was recovered.

DEFENCES OF HALIFAX.

A Powerful Electric Search Light to be Placed at York Redoubt.

Halifax, July 5.—Another important move is, according to reports in circulation, to be made by the military authorities to further improve the defences at Halifax. It is said that a powerful electric searchlight is to be placed in the fort at York redoubt at the entrance to the harbor, and that a new battery for quick-firing guns is to be constructed at Point Pleasant, making four batteries within gunshot of each other, though hidden in the woods of the public park. The searchlight at York redoubt would be capable of sweeping the open ocean for miles in clear weather.

They Didn't Spar.

New York, July 5.—The exhibition sparring bout between Robert Fitzsimmons and John L. Sullivan, scheduled for this afternoon at Ambrose Park, Brooklyn, came to an inauspicious termination before a large crowd of spectators, when Martin Julian announced that the police had forbidden the contest, and that, therefore, the principals had decided to withdraw rather than violate the law.

After Julian had made the announcement Sullivan walked on to the platform. A warm reception greeted him. He spoke in about the same strain as Julian, but added that both he and Fitzsimmons were ready and anxious for a contest, but they would do nothing in violation of the will of the authorities. The veteran's remarks were roundly applauded.

Fitzsimmons did not make a speech, but he gave an exhibition in Graeco-Roman wrestling with Ernest Roeber.

The evening was taken up with other athletic sports and a balloon ascension by Lee Stevens.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Favored Direct Representation for the Colonies.

SPEECH TO BRITISH COMMONERS

The United Empire League Had a Gathering Also at Which Col. G. T. Denison Advanced His Ideas—A Skirmish in The Daily Graphic News by the Mail.

London, July 5. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion Premier, to-day addressed a meeting of members of the House of Commons, known as the Colonial Party. Sir Charles Dilke, member for the Forest of Dean; Mr. George Curzon, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Sir John Gorst, member for Cambridge University; Sir Howard Vincent, member for Central Sheffield; General John Winburn Laurie, member for Pembroke Boroughs, and others were present. Sir Charles Dilke presided.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was cordially received, urged the direct representation of the colonies in the Imperial Parliament, which ought to be he contended, a grand national council, or Imperial Federal Parliament. In the course of his address, he said that if Australia and South Africa were confederated like Canada, it would greatly simplify the question.

British League Banquet.

London, July 5.—The Duke of Devonshire presided at a meeting of the British Empire League to-day and the colonial premiers took part in the deliberations. Sir William Whiteway, the Premier of Newfoundland, caused a hearty laugh by announcing that he had just received an invitation to visit Ireland in native costume.

On the proposition of Col. Denison of Canada, Lord Salisbury was appointed vice-president of the League.

The Duke of Devonshire explained that the object of the league was the furtherance of matters now under discussion between Mr. Chamberlain and the Colonial Premiers and the promotion of the unity of the Empire.

Col. Denison urged that the 75,000 hardy seafaring men of Canada should in some way be trained and utilized to form a great naval reserve.

On the motion of Sir John Lubbock, the Right Hon. Sir Samuel Henry Strong, Chief Justice of Canada, was elected a member of the council of the league.

Sir John Bennett is Dead.

London, July 5.—Sir John Bennett, the famous watchmaker, is dead.

The late Sir John Bennett was the son of Mr. John Bennett, a watchmaker of Greenwich, where he was born in 1814. He was educated at Lewisham Grammar School, and was for many years a retail watchmaker in Cheapside.

Since 1862 he has been a member of the Common Council of the City of London. In 1871-72 he was Sheriff of London and Middlesex, and he was a member of the London School Board from 1872 to 1879. In 1877 he was three times elected alderman of the Ward of Cheap, but upon each occasion the aldermen of London refused to ratify his election. It was at the end of his shrievalty that the Queen made him a Knight. He was also a lieutenant for the City of London and a doctor of laws for Middlesex. He possessed the decoration of the Legion of Honor. He was a man of strong character, very eccentric and one of the most familiar figures in London.

TURKS CAPTURE A VILLAGE.

The Inhabitants Fought Stubbornly But Were Finally Overpowered.

Athens, July 6.—The Turkish troops, after a sharp fight with the inhabitants, have occupied the village of Kolubaka, in North Thessaly. Kalabaka, although within the territory occupied by the Turkish troops, was under Greek administration. The attack was made last Thursday by a body of Turks and Albanians 2000 strong. The inhabitants fought desperately, killing many of the Turks, but were finally overpowered. Most of them fled to the mountains. The others have probably been massacred or taken prisoners. The Turks, after pillaging the town, destroyed it.

A Violent Affray.

Athens, July 5.—A violent affray took place at the Piraeus to-day between a number of drunken Russian sailors and the inhabitants. A Russian officer, Captain de Nelidoff, son of the Russian diplomat, intervened and was seriously injured.

IT WAS A LIE.

That is the Plain Way to Say That the Report Had No Foundation.

London, July 5.—The Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, replying to a question in the House of Commons to-day, said the Government of Portugal had assured Her Majesty's Government that there was no truth in the statement made on July 2 in a despatch from Berlin to The Daily Mail of London asserting that Dr. W. J. Leyds, the Secretary of State for the Transvaal, had engineered a syndicate, ostensibly French, which has bought up all the shares of the Mozambique Company, the money being actually contributed by the Transvaal Government and several German financial houses, and that the syndicate would pay Portugal a large sum for a new charter for the Mozambique Company, including the whole of Delagoa Bay and its entire administration.

Jubilee Services at Calcutta.

Calcutta, July 5.—The Jubilee service at the cathedral here, which was postponed on account of the earthquake, was held yesterday and was very impressive. Owing to the threat of an organized attack upon the congregation as the latter was leaving the cathedral a detachment of 200 police was posted in the vicinity. But the services of the policemen were not required.

Native insults of European women are increasing throughout the city, and much indignation prevails.

Many Rioters Killed.

London, July 5.—Special despatches from Bombay say that from 600 to 1000 rioters were killed during the recent rioting in the vicinity of Calcutta, and it is added that native circles put the death roll as high as 1500.

Brilliant Ball at Guild Hall.

London, July 5.—A brilliant ball was given this evening at Guild Hall, City of London, in honor of the Jubilee.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS

CONSTIPATION
SICK HEADACHE
AND ALL LIVER TROUBLES

As a laxative, one pill acts perfectly, and if a stronger action is desired a cathartic effect is produced by two pills. In obstinate cases, where a purgative is necessary, three pills will be found sufficient. These pills leave no unpleasant after effect.

One pill taken each night during thirty days will cure constipation.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

SEND Rudyard Kipling, the "snow" poet, to luncheon in Peterborough such weather as this, with a fur-lined overcoat, and he would be inclined to write a revised version of our "Our Lady of the Snows."

AT its best the usefulness of the Canadian Senate is problematical, but when its functions are prostituted to the accomplishment of party gain, and obstruction at that, its usefulness ceases and its evil begins.

LA PATRIE reminds its readers that the Tory papers who foretold all sorts of extravagances in Mr. Tarte's department, should announce that of the amount voted for it for the years 1896-97, he has left in the Treasury nearly $800,000.

THE London (Eng.) Star says: "Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, the Liberal Premier of the Dominion, has accepted a knighthood, no doubt against his will and in obedience to entreaties from exalted quarters, for it is well-known that he has personally preferred to remain untitled as all his predecessors in the Canadian Liberal leadership elected to do."

THE bank statement of the chartered banks of Canada show, if not a marked revival of business, at least a greater state of popular prosperity. The statements mentioned deal with deposits and loans, call and current accounts, and these show large increases. The circulation has increased from $29,395,444 to $31,820,445; the deposits from $183,816,061 to $199,715,667; the call loans from $13,437,452 to $14,266,608, and the current loans from $206,970,096 to $211,750,319. The amount in circulation is the largest since May, 1893. From the fact that the exports of dairy products, cattle and hog products are all in excess of those of 1896, at this date, it is assumed that the money has gone into the country. The cheese exports have amounted to 296,514 boxes, an increase of 36,200 boxes, while the prices paid have been from 10 to 20 per cent. higher than in the previous year. There have also been an increase in the exports of butter, while the returns show that the increase in the exports of hog products has been no less than 40 per cent. At the same time the exports of cattle and the prices received therefor compare favourably with those of the previous year.

A PRIEST KNOCKED DOWN

And Twenty People Rendered Helpless at Jonquieres, Quebec.

Quebec, July 5.—A heavy thunderstorm visited the Lake St. John region yesterday and did considerable damage. At Jonquieres the lightning struck the church during high mass, carrying away part of the roof, upsetting two altars and knocking down the officiating priest. In the panic that followed one man is reported to have been killed, while some twenty people had to be carried out of the building. The church was consumed by the fire. This is the third church that has been fired by lightning in the Lake St. John district within a fortnight.

Robbed by the Hired Man.

Windsor, Ont., July 5.—William Cattle of Woodslee reported to the police that he had been robbed by his hired man of $120 on Saturday. He sold a lot of pork and received payment in bills and notes, which he put in his pocket book and laid on the table. His attention was diverted for a minute, and when he looked around the pocket book was gone, and so was the hired man.

MRS. LATTANNER'S STORY

In the Case of Her Husband, Who is Charged With Marrying Wife No. 2 An Alleged Divorce.

Toronto, July 6.

Some pathetic evidence was given in the Police Court yesterday, when the charge of bigamy against Mervin E. Lattanner, late of Bryan, O., was being investigated. As already published, Lattanner married Miss Florence Doran, a Toronto belle, while he still had a wife at his former home in the States, from whom he claims to have been legally divorced.

Mrs. Carrie Lattanner, who is the first wife, was a witness yesterday. Her marriage with the prisoner took place at Bryan, where last the parties resided Nov. 17, 1888. Lattanner being a teller in the Farmers' National Bank. The couple lived happily together until February of this year, when the husband left on a visit, and on his return told witness that he was in love with Miss Doran, a Toronto young lady, with whom he had become acquainted. He also told his wife that he did not love her as a husband should, and he asked permission to leave her. She replied that he could go if he was certain that he loved the other woman. She asked him for the sake of the two children to do nothing wrong, and after an affecting scene Lattanner became penitent and the next day went with his wife on a trip to Toledo, where he was very kind and attentive but he left shortly afterwards for Toronto, where he married Miss Doran.

To Mr. McPherson, who appeared for the prisoner, witness declared positively that Lattanner had obtained no divorce from her, although she had heard that proceedings had been taken in Yankton, Dakota, and her husband had asked her to sign some papers, but she declined to do so. A short time afterwards she was notified that a divorce had been granted, but she was satisfied that there was no divorce in justice or in fact.

Witness said that to protect her husband, who had said he was in serious trouble, she had told Florence Doran that she had authorized Lattanner to sign divorce papers on her behalf. She did this when on a visit to Toronto after Lattanner's marriage to wife No. 2.

The examination of Mrs. Lattanner, who is a rather nice-appearing little woman, was an exhausting ordeal for her, and she wept quietly while answering some of Mr. McPherson's questions. She was very worried when Magistrate Kingsford adjourned the hearing of the case at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Lattanner No. 2 was in the court-room during the proceedings.

UNITED STATES TARIFF.

A Test of Endurance Premised Good Progress in Some Respects—The Rates on Bonds.

Washington, July 5.—Senator Allison, in charge of the tariff bill, announced shortly before the adjournment of the Senate to-night that, as no agreement had been reached on the tariff bill, he would ask the Senate to remain in session to-morrow night, at least until the bill was reported from committee of the whole to the Senate. This promises a test of endurance, unless the opposition to the bill gives way. Mr. Allison's statement was made after another futile effort to fix the time for the vote.

In some respects the Senate made good progress to-day, disposing of two important amendments, that placing a stump tax being agreed to with little or no opposition and without the formality of a vote, while the Spooner amendment, proposing a tariff investigation, was withdrawn after a protracted struggle.

The stamp amendment as agreed to fixes the following rates on bonds, etc.: Bonds, debentures or certificates of indebtedness issued after Sept. 15, 1897, by any company, corporation or association, on each hundred dollars of face value or fraction thereof, five cents; and on each original issue, whether on organization or reorganization of certificates of stock by any such association, company or corporation, on each hundred dollars of face value or fraction thereof, five cents; and on all transfers of shares or certificates of stock in any association, company or corporation, on each hundred dollars of face value or fraction thereof, two cents.

Exemptions from the stamp tax are made in the case of the state, county and municipal bonds and the stocks and bonds of co-operative building associations.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

BASEBALL CRANKS HAD A BIG DAY

The Big Cities Had Two Games Each—Toronto Lost to Buffalo in the Morning But Won in the Afternoon—Games in the National League.

Buffalo, July 5.—Buffalo won the morning game by touching Gaston just at the right moment, and Toronto's errors proved costly. The fielding on both sides was extremely fast. A holiday crowd was in attendance and fireworks were touched off at a lively rate when Buffalo was announced as the winner. Score:

Toronto	0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2

THE SECOND GAME.

Fully 6000 people saw the afternoon game, and, although they all rooted hard for the home team, the Canadians had very little difficulty in winning. Dineen pitched an excellent game, keeping the hits well scattered. White saved a couple of runs in the third by taking Gilboy's fly off the left field fence. In the seventh McGann lifted the ball away over centre field fence for a home run. Freeman tried to keep up the good work, but could only make his hit good for three bases. Score:

Buffalo	0 1 0 1 1 1 1 0 0—5
Toronto	0 0 0 2 0 2 3 0 0—7

EASTERN LEAGUE, MORNING.

At Providence—Springfield won the morning game from Providence in the ninth innings, when the home team practically had a victory in hand with runs to spare. The visitors made half a dozen hits in the last inning, but they would have been retired with the result in favor of Providence if Welgand had not dropped an easy fly. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Springfield	0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 5—6	11	2

Batteries—Rudder and Dixon; Woods and Duncan.

At Scranton—Timely hitting and an error by Massey in the eighth inning gave the game to Wilkes-Barre. Score:

Batteries—Welner and Boyd; Odwell and Diggins.

At Rochester—Muffs by Henry and Shannon gave Syracuse two runs and the victory in the sixth inning. Becker pitched his first game for Rochester, and his work was excellent. Not more than one hit was made by Syracuse in any inning. Score:

Syracuse	3 0 0 0 0 2 1 0 *—6	5	3

Batteries—Becker and Frary; Lampe and Shaw.

EASTERN LEAGUE AFTERNOON.

At Wilkes-Barre—Scranton batted Keenan hard, making 12 earned runs in three innings. Manville took his place in the seventh. He was hit hard too. Wilkes-Barre fielded the best, but after the third innings could do nothing with Harper's delivery. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Scranton	0 0 0 3 5 4 1 0 4—17	24	0
Wilkes Barre	0 1 3 0 2 0 0 0 0—6	7	0

Batteries—Harper and Gunson; Keenan, Manville and Diggins.

At Providence—The afternoon game between Providence and Springfield resulted in a victory for the home club by a margin of one run, in what was an uphill game. It was intensely hot and in the early part of the game Hodson seemed likely to be overcome by the heat. Score:

Providence	3 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 0—6	10	4
Springfield	0 2 1 1 1 0 0 0 0—5	8	1

Batteries—Hodson and Dixon; McGuinnes and Duncan.

At Syracuse—The home team outbatted the visitors and won the game handily. The feature was Ryan's work behind the bat. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Syracuse	0 3 2 1 0 1 0 1 x—7	13	1
Rochester	0 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1—4	18	1

LONDON BEAT THE LEAFS.

London, July 5. The Londoners had no difficulty in winning from the Maple Leafs to-day. Johnson, who was slated to pitch for the Londons, was not present and Kortsbrook took his place. Johnson is supposed to be spending the fourth with his relatives in the Eastern States. Congalton's drive to the right field fence in the ninth was a clean home run, bringing in another run with it. AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

THE GREAT STRUGGLE.

Pittsburg Miners are All in It, But the Results of the Strike Will Not be Known for a Few Days.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 5.—The great struggle of the coal miners was inaugurated throughout the Pittsburg district to-day, but it will be impossible to tell anything about the true situation before to-morrow, as this is a general holiday and work is suspended in all the mines of the district. This was a day of mass meetings. Meetings were held in nearly every mining settlement that was represented at Saturday's convention in this city, and the miners were implored not to falter in the great struggle that has begun. What effect the meetings will have cannot be determined until Tuesday morning. When it is learned just how many men refuse to go to work, then the magnitude of the great strike will manifest itself.

In speaking of the strike President Bolan said: "The coming week will be a busy one. I have every reason to believe that, with the exception of a very few mines, the suspension will begin. Other men realize that this is the fight of their lives, and from the expressions of determination I hear all sides I have every reason to believe the strike will be successful."

"How long will it last?"

"That is a difficult question to answer. But of one thing you can rest assured: we are in good condition to stay out all summer. By good whape I mean that we have warm weather and a prospective big demand for lake coal trade in sight, which makes the time much more opportune than in winter.

"There is an erroneous impression that by reason of so many industries being shut down there will be little demand for coal. It is not generally known, but the supply of coal for the manufactories in the Pittsburg district is but a drop in the bucket when compared with the lake trade, which supplies the markets where coal mines are practically unknown."

The general suspension, to those in a position to know, presents some very discouraging features. The past winter has been severe on the mining craft. Business has been very dull, and in addition the lowest rate ever paid in the district prevailed for the little work that was done. Women and children have been sufferers nigh unto starvation; many of them have been wards of the county.

It is expected at the meetings to-day to make an effort to convince the miners that by reason of the suspension being general victory is likely to follow. It will be argued that the public is in favor of the miners being paid a higher price, and that general support will be forthcoming.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion, because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood, and so makes SOLID, HEALTHY flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

DUNDAS IS SCARED.

A Boy Bitten by a Dog Died, and the Scientists Have Discovered That It Was Hydrophobia.

Dundas, July 3.—This town, in common with several Western Ontario towns and cities, has a hydrophobia scare. About six weeks ago a young lad named McKenzie was bitten by a dog belonging to his father and died shortly afterwards. A post-mortem was held by the order of the Provincial Board of Health, and the medulla sent to Mr. McKenzie of Toronto, the head of the bacteriological department, for examination. The other day the report of authorities sent Dr. Smith that [illegible] in the case, stating it to be one of rabies. Some of the townspeople are alarmed and stringent measures will be adopted to prevent dogs running at large and to prevent the spread of the disease. James McKenzie, an elder brother of the deceased, who was also bitten, has gone to New York to receive special treatment.

SMALLPOX IN MONTREAL.

A Genuine Case Discovered by the Medical Health Officer.

Montreal, July 3.—A case of what is supposed to be smallpox has been discovered in Montreal. A patient at the Home Hospital, a private hospital formerly known as Strong's, who had recently been admitted from Point St. Charles, showed symptoms of that disease. Dr. Laberge, the city Medical Health Officer, made an examination and gave it as his opinion that the disease was not smallpox. To make certain Dr. Roddick, M.P., Dr. James Stewart and other well-known physicians were called in, and all agreed that it was a genuine case of smallpox. The patient is now isolated at the Civic Hospital.

Stubbs' Handy Milk Receiver.

Mr. Jas. Stubbs, 231 Dublin street, has invented and is manufacturing a new milk receiver which must be a great convenience. It consists of a neat box which can be fastened to some convenient point, and will hold a vessel containing from one pint to three quarts. It contains inside a milk ticket holder and an indicator, showing the milk man whether one pint or two or three quarts is wanted as the case may be. The housewife has no trouble leaving her work to answer the milkman's call. She puts her ticket and vessel in the box, and any time after the milk vendor has passed, she opens the door of the box and finds the milk ready for her. Mr. Stubbs' milk receiver is a very handy contrivance and every housewife should have one.

STRIKE ON THE CANAL.

A big strike went into effect on the Nassau-Little Lake section of the Trent Valley Canal yesterday at noon, when between seventy and a hundred teams and two hundred men stopped work to demand a raise in wages.

At present the men are getting a dollar a day and the teamsters two dollars and a quarter a day. With this they are not satisfied and claim that they have been promised a raise in wages from one week to another until they decided to work no longer until they get it. The men want $1 25 a day and the teamsters (with their teams) $2.75. Paying $1.25 for board for man and team only leaves $1 per day for the work of the two.

A number of the men who did not want to leave work were very roughly used by the strikers, who threw their barrows, picks and shovels into the canal and forced them to "quit."

Mr. Laverdure states that the men, as yet have made no proper demand for an increase of pay and in going out on strike took him greatly by surprise. At the time it took place a quantity of concrete was just about to be placed in position at Nassau, and the strikers if they had forced the cement workers to quit as they tried to do, this would have been wasted. But when Mr. Laverdure, who was on the spot, returned from seeking a constable, the strikers were gone and the mixed cement was placed in position. The contractors will endeavour to complete the work with steam tram cars and with thirty odd teams which they possess themselves.

Last evening the men drove in their waggons down the west side of the river, through the town and back again to the boarding house by the east side. This morning they again drove through the town.

DICKSON'S DAM SWEPT AWAY.

The Middle Sluice Carried out by the the Water, Which Drops Twelve Feet.

The citizens may be short of electric light for a day or two as the middle sluice in the Dickson Company's dam was swept away, lowering the water by at least twelve feet.

The company's officials think that the high water of the last three months has loosened the timbers somewhat, enabling the water to force its way beneath the sluice, washing out the stones and gradually tearing out the timbers until the whole middle slide and one pier were torn away.

It is calculated that the largest portion was swept away at about four o'clock this morning, as at that hour the power went off at the electric light house.

It will take about two days to rig up a coffer dam in the sluiceway, which will raise the water six feet and furnish power again, and in the meantime about 200 horse power can be raised by a stationary engine, which will furnish about half the light required by the town.

It is thought that if the streets are not lighted sufficient electricity can be generated to supply the stores and residences.

As soon as the coffer dam is erected repairs to the lower end of the sluiceway can be commenced. The appearance of the river above the dam is very much altered by the sudden drop in the water, the piers standing up very high out of the water and a great deal of the river bank which has heretofore been under water exposed to view. Necessarily the power being shut off the street cars are not running.

Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Chase's Pills have gained popularity because they are a specific for the uric acid condition, prevent Bright's Disease, cure Rheumatism and all Catarrhal conditions of the Kidneys and Bladder. They do this because they possess remarkable alterative, tonic and diuretic properties, exerting a wonderfully soothing influence on irritated or inflamed mucous membranes of the Kidneys of bladder. One pill a dose, 25 a box. The cheapest medicine in the world.

Red Rustic Arm Chairs.

Just the thing for verandah or lawn use, only $1.00. Folding chairs, fancy rockers and arm chairs—a large stock. See them at CLEGG'S furniture warerooms, 425 and 427 George street.

Hot Weather Suggestions.

Keep cool. People suffer unnecessarily during the heated spells of July for the want of a simple and inexpensive change of light clothing. A shell coat, a light pair of trousers, a thin vest, a cool straw or light felt hat and an extra pair of tan shoes will put a new interest in life when the thermometer is up in the 90's. Everything desirable from a 50c coat to the finest English serge can be had at Gough Bros. gigantic sale now in progress. The cost need be no hindrance. "Featherweight" prices for feather-weight garments prevail in each department. Negligee shirts, summer underwear, summer ties and summer shoes, in fact everything to make a man cool and comfortable. Fathers bring your boys and look to yourselves while you are here. It may take you only a few minutes to discover that you can save ten of fifteen dollars on your suits. It matters not what you want—a wedding suit, a business suit, a working suit or any kind of an outing suit—you will find it in our store. And it makes no difference what price you want to pay Gough Bros. can accommodate you. We never had a larger or more complete line of hot weather clothes—shell coats in alpaca, duck Russel cords, duck, flannel, silk or serge—any weight fabric you want. Fancy coloured and white vests and trousers to correspond. We're talking now about the genuine stuffs, the kind that high-class tailors charge like fury for. If we can't suit you in ready-mades, we take your measure on the spot and make up what you want to your own sweet style and taste. It is this store's business to make to ordered clothing that shall be a combination of excellence and fair cost. The power of money was never more abundantly manifest than in the great purchase which we made in Montreal of the E. A. Small & Co.'s stock of fine clothing. The clothes are elegant—the prices a curiosity. Not a stich, not a thread here that isn't worth double the price asked, and the quality ranks above the price.

KEEP COOL.

If you want to be comfortable these scorching days buy a Coat and Vest, Negligee Shirt and thin Light Underwear at H. LeBRUN & CO'S. A fit for everybody, and at prices to suit everybody. Take this advice and you will be as cool as if you were in a refrigerator.

ORDAINED A PRIEST; A SOLEMN CEREMONY.

REV. M. J. O'BRIEN ORDAINED TO THE PRIESTHOOD.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor Performs the Solemn and Impressive Ceremony—Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's Eloquent Sermon.

This morning there was a large congregation assembled in St. Peter's Cathedral to assist in the solemn and impressingly beautiful ceremony of ordination, when Rev. Michael Joseph O'Brien, son of Mr. John O'Brien, was advanced to the priesthood of the Catholic church.

At 8 30 the Episcopal procession, consisting of his Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Father Lynch, Port Hope; Rev. Father McColl, Ennismore; Rev. Father O'Connel, Rev. Father Scanlan, Rev. Father Phalen, Douro, and Rev. Father O'Brien, the postulant for ordination, entered the sanctuary.

Mass was sung by the Bishop, assisted by Rev. Father Scanlan, as deacon, and Rev. Father Phelan, as sub-deacon.

THE ORDINATION CEREMONY.

The ornination of a priest is regarded as one of the most solemn ceremonies of the Catholic church, and those who witnessed the ceremony in St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at 8.30 o'clock must have been impressed with the truth of this expression.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor sang the mass in full Pontificals—amice, alb cincture, cross, tunic, dalmatic, maniple, stole and chasuble, emblematic of the power he confers upon the suppliant for ordination, who has passed through the previous orders and is approved of as a candidate. The celebrant of the mass proceeded as far as the Tract, and being seated, the ordination ceremony began. After the Notary, Rev. Father Scanlan had read the name of the candidate, the latter approached the Bishop clothed in the vestments of a deacon and holding on his left arm a folded chasuble, in his left hand a lighted taper, and in his right a purificator for binding his hands. After the Bishop had been assured by Archdeacon Casey of the worthiness of the candidate, the former addressed the clergy and people present to the effect that if they knew any reason why the candidate should not be ordained, they should declare it.

After a moment's pause the Bishop delivered his injunction to the supplicant upon the responsibility he was assuming.

At this point the candidate prostrated himself on his face on the floor of the sanctuary, the Litany of the Saints was chanted, and at the words "Faithful departed" the Bishop, standing with crozier and mitre, thrice blessed the prostrate candidate.

When the Litanies concluded all rose, and the imposition of hands was performed by the Bishop and the clergy, in stole, by solemnly placing their hands in succession upon the head of the candidate, who remained kneeling, the Bishop repeating a prayer that God would multiply his gifts on His servant, and give him grace to fulfil the obligations of a priest.

After further prayer for the candidate, the Bishop took his seat, and removing the stole from the candidate's left shoulder crossed it upon his breast, with the words —"Receive the yoke of the Lord." The Bishop invested him with the chaussable, folded upon his shoulders, with the words —"Receive the sacerdotal vestment, by which charity is undertood."

Further pravers for blessings upon the candidate followed, and turning towards the altar the Bishop intoned the "Veni Creator," and with the holy oil, making the sign of the cross. The candidate's hands were next bound by the Bishop, who presented him with a chalice containing wine and water, and a patena with the host with the words:

"Receive the power to offer sacrifice to God, to celebrate mass as well for the living as the dead."

At this stage of the ceremony the Bishop continued the mass as far as the offertory, at which point the newly-ordained priest presented an offering with the usual ceremony. Mass was then continued, the priest repeating the words after the Bishop, who gave him communion. After further admonition, during which the Bishop prayed, "Receive the Holy Ghost, the Paraclete, in you," the ordained priest made confession of faith by repeating the creed. He then knelt before the Bishop who said:—"Receive the Holy Ghost; whose sins ye forgive are forgiven them and whose sins ye retain are retained."

Then unfolding the chasuble the Bishop clothed him entirely with it. In answer to the question he promised obedience and reverence to the Bishop and his successors. The Bishop then gave the priest the kiss of peace and resuming his mitre and crosier, he solemnly admonished the newly ordained priest.

Mass was then said till after the benediction and the priest kneeling, the Bishop enjoined the priest to consider diligently the order he had taken and the burden placed upon his shoulders and to strive to live piously and holily that he might win the grace of God.

THE SPECIAL SERMON.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick preached the sermon, taking for his text, "Let man so account of us as the priests of Christ and the ministers of the mysteries of God." After describing the significance of the solemn and impressive ceremony the people had witnessed, the preacher said: It was a cause for rejoicing when a young man of their own number had been exalted to the dignity of the priesthood. He had sacrificed the natural ambition which the fame and glory of the world had presented to her in vain. The preacher pointed out to the parents the joy they should feel in having given a son to the priesthood. He then pointed out in detail and in eloquent words the power, the dignity and the responsibilities and the sanctity of the priesthood as representing ambassadors for Christ, whose ministry and priesthood were continued in the priest that had been chosen out of the world for consecration to God alone. Priests doing the deeds of Christ should imitate His words and works of mercy and charity. This example the priests of the church must follow. As Christ was to the priesthood so was the priesthood to the people of their flock, and only was a priest worthy of his high calling so long as he conformed his life to the example of our Lord. It was necessary that Christ should die that the priesthood might be established. The priesthood cost the blood of Christ. The beginning of the priesthood was when Christ on Holy Thursday changed the bread and wine into His body and blood; then He performed His first priestly office and bestowed the same power upon His apostles, to be exercised by them and their successors. The sermon was an eloquent, well argued deliverance, which should make a deep impression on those who heard it.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

The bishop briefly addressed the congregation and pointed out that it was a day for rejoicing and thanksgiving, that one of the children of the flock had been made a priest, that he might offer prayer and sacrifice not only for himself but for the people, and especially his own family. One of the highest favours God could confer upon a family was to select a member to be dedicated to his service in the holy capacity of the priest.

In conclusion the Bishop welcomed Rev. Father O'Brien to the priesthood with the prayer that his life might be fruitful of good works.

His Lordship then announced that the young priest would then give his first blessing, which conferred a special grace, to the people present, beginning with his own family. During the blessing the choir sang the "Te Deum."

Rev. Father O'Brien will sing his first mass in the Cathedral to morrow morning at 7 o'clock.

Rev. Father Michael Joseph O'Brien, the newly ordained priest is a son of Mr. Jas. O'Brien, section foreman of the C.P.R. He received his literary education in Peterborough, his classics chiefly from the late Mr. Lynch, and at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and his theological instruction was obtained at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. As stated by the bishop, he will celebrate his first mass at St. Peter's Cathedral to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock.

THE EXTREME HEAT

Causes Cessation of Work on the Trent Valley Canal.

The extreme heat of yesterday caused a cessation of work for the day on Love, Brown and Aylmer's section of the Trent Valley Canal. About ten o'clock some of the men working in the deep rock cutting near Lakefield were prostrated with the heat, fainting at their work, but none were so serious as not to recover soon. The sun flamed down into the confined space, untempered by a breath of air, and all the men employed had to quit work. They tried it again in the afternoon, but the heat was too intense and they, as well as some men working at the locks, altogether about 70, left work for the day.

Through the Crown of your Hat.

Regular hat store prices are revolutionized in our hat department; and bear in mind that our hat department is as big as any ordinary hat store. Take a look through our immense piles of hats of all kinds, and you'll find the newest and nobbiest shapes of light summer felts and straws that have had a quarter and a third chipped off the price. It's foolish extravagance to pay $3 for some highly-finished manufacturer's hat—$2 for the hat and the balance for the name in the crown. We sell the newest of finest felt shapes for men, made of a good felt, with the same silk bands, warranted not to change colour, and to wear as look as any $3 hat—or your money back—for $2. This is an instance where we can talk better through our hats. It is not much of a trick to sell straw hats at this season of the year. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade, but we're the SELLERS, and that suits us just as well. Gentlemen's fine American straw hats for 75c, worth $1.25; very light weight straw hat, 50c., worth 90c.; fine straw hats, 20c., worth 40c.; boys' hats, 10c., 15c., 20c. and up to 65c. We sell as we buy. In this respect, this store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

WEDDED AT BRANTFORD.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Minnie Neill, of Brantford and Mr. A. E. Gregory, of Lindsay.

The Brantford Expositor contains the appended account of the wedding of Miss Minnie Neill, sister of Mr. Robert and Dr. Charles Neil, of Peterborough. She has frequently visited in town and has many friends here.

Zion church was the scene of a fashionable June wedding on Wednesday, when Miss Minnie, Youngest daughter of Mrs. Margaret Neil, of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. A. E Gregory, a well known young business man of Lindsay, Ont.

The church was lavishly decorated with palms and white flowers of every description. At the altar an imposing bank of flowers was arranged, before which the bridal party stood. At 2:30 the bride was driven to the church, and entered the sacred edifice leaning on the arm of her eldest brother, Mr. Robt. Neill, of Peterborough. She was charmingly attired in white coloured silk, with over dress of silk gauze, picture hat, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Supporting the bride were Misses Carrie Sparrow, of Montreal, and Emma Weeds, of Lindsay; little Miss Jean Neill, a daughter of Mr. R. Neill, Peterborough, and Master Samuel Neil, a son of Mr. S. Neil, Guelph.

The bridesmaids wore accordeon-pleated white silk dresses, picture hats trimmed with red roses, and carried shower bouquets of the same flowers. The little maid of honour was decidedly chic in white muslin over white silk, with gold trimmings, carrying a bouquet of marguerites and wearing a wreath of the same. The groom was assisted by Dr. Charles Neil, of Peterborough, and Mr. Herbert Gregory, of Oshawa.

As the bridal party entered, Miss Shannon, the talented organist of the church, rendered the wedding march and played during and after the ceremony. Rev. Dr. Cochrane tied the nuptial knot. The church was well filled with guests of the occasion, who comprised the relatives of the contracting parties and outsiders who gathered to witness the happy event.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the party were driven to the home of the bride's mother, 78 Brant avenue, where a recherche dejeuner was served by Mr. Gibson. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory left on the evening train, followed by a host of good wishes. Their future home will be in Lindsay.

PERSONAL.

Miss Edna Macfarlane left to-day to spend her holidays at Port Arthur.

Mr. J. W. Bennett is so far recovered from his fortnight's illness as to be able to leave his room.

Mr. Thos. Crowley, who has been visiting friends in town, has returned to his home in Thorpe, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Douglass of Owen Sound, have been visiting at the latter's sister's, Mrs. Leary, Water street.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman and Rev. J. G. Potter were in Keene on Monday attending the Sunday School Convention of Otonabee township.

Messrs. D. M. Rogers and C. H. Bradburn, (medallist in Modern Languages), have both passed their final examinations in the Arts Faculty at Trinity.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Y. Green have taken up their residence at corner of Dublin and Aylmer streets. Mrs. Green will be "at home" to her friends on Thursday and Friday, July 8th and 9th.

Quite a large party of young people left on the C.P.R. for Winnipeg this morning. Amongst them were Miss L. Fitzgerald, Miss Stevenson, Miss McGregor and Mr. E. Macfarlane.

Mrs. Dawson Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy leave this evening for Toronto to attend the wedding of Miss May Weese there to-morrow. Miss Weese has many friends in town, having visited here on different occasions. The groom is Dr. Thomas, of Petrolia.

Amongst those who recently passed the examinations at the Ontario Normal College (School of Pedagogy) are Messrs. Arthur Laing, W. A. Wood, B.A., (specialists in mathematics), and John Van Every, B.A., (specialist in English History, French and German), Miss I. Best and Miss S. Marty, B.A., (specialists in English History.

Round the Lake.

The steamer North Star will run a 5c round trip around the lake (Little Lake) during July and August, leaving the wharf at 8 o'clock each evening, and returning every 20 minutes. Here is a chance to get a cool breeze during the hot spell at a trifling cost. The steamer will begin these trips this (Tuesday) evening. Arrangements have been made so that parties taking the round trip on the street cars may drop off at the wharf and take the boat and then resume their trip on the cars without extra expense.

HOT NIGHT FOR A COUNCIL MEETING.

BUT IT WAS A PROTRACTED ONE NEVERTHELESS.

The Members Will Make an Effort to Have the Government Take up the Matter of the Cavalry Refusing to Turn Out With the Jubilee Day Parade.

Last evening was a warm one on which to hold a council meeting, and as there did not seem to be much to do, the audience which congregated anticipated a short discussion, but they reckoned without their host, as when Councillor McWilliams brought in the Street and Bridge Committee report, every councill or at the board had something to say about his ward being neglected. It was amusing at the beginning, but a lot of time was wasted, as in a half jocular fashion the different representatives put in a word for their constituencies. Those present were Councillors Best (acting-Mayor) Robertson, Denne, Neill, Davis, Dawson, McWilliams Meldrum and White.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and referred as follows:

From John Martin, proprietor of the steamer North North Star, asking that an electric light be placed on the Wolfe street wharf, as an accident might occur at any time, for which the town might be liable.—Referred to Town Solicitor.

From the Town Soliciter as follows: "As requested by the Fire, Water and Light Committee, I have communicated with Mr. Meldrum, manager of the Auburn Power Co., and have asked him to enter into an agreement with the town, as provided by the bylaw. He informed me that the Company declines to enter into any agreement or to pay a rental to the corporation for the right to place poles upon the streets.—Referred to the committee of the whole council.

From the police, asking for their usual holidays—Referred to Committee on Supervision of Police.

From R. J. Morrow and a number of others, asking that the light on Dalhousie street bridge be not moved.—On motion of Messrs. Meldrum and Dawson the lamp will remain where it is.

From Geo. S. Matthews drawing attention to the fact that a large quantity of gravel brought down by the spring floods had lodged in the bed of the stream south of the C. P. R. track and had backed the water up on his premises, as well as a number of other property holders.—Referred to the town solicitor for his opinion.

From the Peterborough Canoe Co. and Walter F. English, asking exemption from taxation on account of the corporation allowing boat houses to be erected on its property along the river bank free of charge, thereby depreciating business at their boat liveries.—Referred to the town solicitor for the purpose of ascertaining what control the town has of the water front. The Street and Bridge Committee will look after the matter.

From F. Bartlett, applying for the position of inspector of the construction of sewers.—Referred to the Sewerage Committee.

From the Town Treasurer, showing the expenditure of the month to be $51,097 33 and the receipts, $25,906.32.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Lansdowne Lodge, S.O. E., tendering the council a vote of thanks for attending divine worship with them on Jubilee Sunday.—Received.

From T. Fitzsimmons asking to be given corporation labour.—Received.

From Geo. Zigure, an Armenian, asking to be given a license to peddle small wares free of charge. This communication was accompanied by a numerously signed petition and the request was granted.

From F. Anthony, asking for refund of license fee.—To be granted on his taking the usual declaration.

From T. Hurley & Co., offering grave lots for sale.—Referred to the Property Committee.

From Hatton & Wood, again calling attention to the two unsettled accounts of the Water Co.—Received.

From the county clerk, incosing clause number three of the Road and Bridge Committee's report, adopted at the last session of the county council, in which the warden and Councillors Moloney, Casement, Burnham and Fitzgerald are appointed to confer with the town council regarding the proposition to rebuild Mud Lake bridge at an expense to be partially borne by the town.—Referred to the Joint Committee.

From the county clerk, inclosing statement of expenditure by the county on Pigeon Creek bridge, amounting to $749 60, seven twentieths of which ($262.30) is payable by the town; also statement of expenditure on Locks bridge, amounting to $35.50, one half of which ($17.75) is payable by the town.—Referred to the Joint Committee, Councillor McWilliams expressing the opinion that the town was hardly liable when it was not even consulted on the matter referred to.

From the National Conference of Charities and Correction, which meets in Toronto on July 7th, asking for delegates to attend from Peterborough.—Referred to the Charity Committee.

From Thos. J. White and thirteen others, asking for a hydrant to be placed on Homewood avenue, 500 feet west from the intersection of Walton street.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Councillor Dawson referred to the fact that although ordered, no hydrant had yet been placed on Weller street. The company, he stated, acted as if they owned the town.

Moved by Councillors Neill and Meldrum that no more money be paid to the Water Company on any consideration until the council has a clear understanding as to its position with the company, as to the placing of hydrants, etc.—Carried.

From Wm. Snowden, asking that a permanent pavement be laid in front of his hotel and agreeing to pay a fair share of the cost.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From the village clerk, Ashburnham, enclosing the following resolution passed by the village council:

Moved by Councillor Johnston, seconded by Councillor Morgan, "That the clerk be instructed to notify the council of the town of Peterborough, that this council agree to pay said council the sum of $150 for one year, dating from 1st June, 1897 to 1st June, 1898, for use of fire engine and appliances."—Received.

THE HASTINGS FIRE.

A Spark From a Blacksmith Shop Causes a Good Deal of Damage.

An appeal for aid came from Hastings at about twenty minutes to seven last evening, as the whole village was thought to be doomed.

The engine was taken to the G. T. R. station and loaded on a flat car, but at the last minute word was received that the fire was under control.

A despatch from Hastings says:

Hastings, Ont., July 5.—About 4 o'clock this afternoon fire broke out in front of John Kelly's carriage and blacksmith shop, supposed to be from a spark flying from the blacksmith shop. It quickly spread to adjoining buildings, and before it was checked had destroyed the following buildings: John Kelly's carriage and blacksmith shop, loss $2000, insured in Northern $500, Alliance $500, stock $200 in Alliance; dwelling house owned by John Kelly, loss $250, insured in Caledonia $1000. Dr. Berry lived in part of Kelly's house. His loss was $400, no insurance; and T. McGuire in the other part. His loss is $300, no insurance. W. T. Tate's undertaking and cabinet shop and dwelling, loss on contents $1500, insurance $750 in the Gore. Dwelling owned by Mrs. Orr, loss $1200, insurance $800 in Perth Mutual; Town Hall, loss $3500, insurance $2000 in the Guardian; Presbyterian Church, loss $5000, insurance $2000 in the Northern. In the Town Hall a large supply of ammunition and rifles was burned. The Catholic Church caught fire numerous times, but it was saved. The fire brigade worked hard, and but for their efforts the Clarendon House and other buildings adjoining would have gone with the rest.

FIRE AT THE EXHIBITION GROUNDS.

Over a Thousand Feet of Cattle and Poultry Sheds Consumed Last Evening.

The fire alarm called the brigade to the Exhibition grounds last night at about eleven o'clock, the poultry sheds along the fence on the north side being all ablaze.

The fire started in the western extremity and ran rapidly along to the offices at the gate, and then burnt southward through the cattle sheds for a distance of about 500 feet. Over 1,000 feet of shedding and the fence behind it was consumed altogether as well as the offices. The lumber was so dry that the fire could not be gotten under control until the sheds were torn down in advance of it.

It is suspected that the fire was started through a spark from a pipe of the tramp.

The sheds were insured for $1,000 in the Dominion Grange Mutual through the local agent, Mr. Dawson Kennedy. The loss is estimated at about $400, and work on rebuilding the sheds will be commenced immediately.

The Society had just concluded a meeting, but this event was not on the programme.

PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERY.

A Short Session Held This Morning in St. Andrew's Church.

The Peterborough Presbytery held its regular quarterly session in St. Andrew's church this morning, with Rev. J. G. Potter as moderator. Amongst those present were Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. Wm. Bennet, of Peterborough; Rev. Mr. Hay, of Cobourg; Rev. Mr. Gilchrist, of Baltimore; Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Hastings; Rev. Mr. Reeves, of Lakefield; Rev. Mr. Innis, of Bobcaygeon; Rev. Mr. McMullen, of Springville; Rev. Mr. Hyde, of Warsaw; Rev. Mr. Ross, of Harwood.

Elders—Messrs. Robt. Tully and Wm. Madill, of Peterborough; Mr. McCullough, of Harwood; Mr. Roxburgh, of Norwood.

Steps were taken to aid the Hastings congregation in the erection of a new church, that edifice having been destroyed by fire yesterday.

The resignation of Rev. Mr. Gilchrist, of Baltimore was tendered, and a deputation was appointed to visit the congregation to learn the circumstances. The deputation is composed of Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. Mr. Hay, Rev. Mr. Ross, and Messrs. J. F. Clarke, Port Hope and Mr. McCutcheon of Harwood. An effort to have the resignation recalled will be made.

A call was sustained from Centreville to Mr. McIntosh, a student of Queen's College, the salary to be $800 and manse.

Rev. Mr. Thompson was appointed Moderator of the Campbellford Session in the absence of Rev. Mr. Laird.

Gratifying reports were received from the augmented congregations and the mission fields, and delegates were appointed to visit both classes of congregation before next meeting.

The next meeting of the Presbytery is to be held on the third Tuesday of September in the Mill street church, Port Hope at two o'clock.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 50; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, July 5.

The game on Saturday afternoon at the Island was a pitchers' duel. The fielding feature was a catch by White in left field, who ran up the bicycle track and took the ball close to the wire. Score:

SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Buffalo, July 4. An immense crowd saw the game to-day, and enjoyed it, for there were plenty of fireworks in the shape of home runs. In the last two innings the locals found Stivey easy, but up to that time it was a fast, clean and even game. Score:

Buffalo ..... 0 1 1 0 0 1 4 2 *—9
Toronto ..... 1 0 0 3 0 0 0 0 0—4

At Syracuse—By bunching their hits in the first inning and aided by Willis' errors in the fifth inning, Rochester succeeded in winning from Syracuse. Yerrick kept the hits of the home team well scattered, two of their runs being due to errors by Dooley and Yerrick. Score:

Rochester ..... 2 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0—4	11	3

Batteries—Willis and Ryan; Yerrick and Frary.

At Chicago—Hard hitting and much cleaner fielding by the Colts gave them an easy victory over the Senators. Mercer was easy from the start and retired in the sixth after four hits had been registered against him. A wonderful catch by Lange and Decker's batting were the features. Reilly had a finger badly split in an attempt to stop a hot liner. Score:

GROUND TO PIECES.

Two Men Caught at a Crossing and Their Bodies Spread Along the Track.

Buffalo, July 4.—A special train on the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railroad, carrying the members of the Paul Boynton Specialty Company from Buffalo to Lime Lake, near Rochester, struck a carriage containing Robert Fowler and George Laney at a level crossing near South Wales about noon to-day. The two men were ground to pieces, portions of their bodies being strewn along the track for a mile.

THE CENTURY RIDE

Was the Feature of the Last Day at Chatham.

THERE WERE SEVERAL TUMBLES

And Many of the Riders Were Bleeding When They Came In—McLeod Made a New Canadian Record for the Mile—Old Sol Made It Hot for Everybody.

The fifteenth annual and most successful of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association meets came to an end in Chatham on Saturday afternoon under the most favorable circumstances.

From Wednesday until Saturday morning the town was overcrowded with wheelmen from all parts East and West, and they were royally entertained by the home club. The boys with the fireworks caused a number of small conflagrations, but no damage was done and the citizens of the Maple City are satisfied with the result of the meet, socially, financially and also from a racing standpoint.

The track is one of the fastest in Canada, a number of records having just been established.

The first event on Saturday's program was the initial hundred-mile road race ridden in Canada, and a new record was established in this century ride, the old one being 5.50. The new one made by Gimbert of the Tourists, Toronto, was 5.40.50. This is within 19 minutes of the world's record.

The start was made from the track in the morning at 9.44, with 27 starters, as follows: Thompson (Toronto), Coleman (Toronto), Morrison (Smith's Falls), Taft (Montreal), Wright (Toronto), Anderson (Ayr), Thomas (Ayr), Thomas (Brantford), Hugdison (Avery), Carver (Windsor), Cassidy (Toronto), Gimbert (Toronto), McCullough (Winnipeg), Hebb (Winnipeg), Simpson (Toronto), Stoner (Toronto), Smith (Toronto), Faulkner (Buffalo), Abraham (Toronto), Muir (Brantford), Cameron (Montreal), White (Brantford), Jackson (Chatham), Roberts (Toronto), Elrick (Toronto), Riddel (Winnipeg), Murray (Hamilton), Bates (Bloomtown).

Out of 27 starters only 18 finished. The first point heard from was Blenheim, at 10.38. The riders passed Wheatley at 12.04, reaching the turning point (Leamington) at 12.34. Here Cameron fell, breaking his shoulder blade and was otherwise injured. The riders made the turn fairly well together. They were heard of all along the road home. It was just 3.04 when Gimbert entered the track. Five minutes later Carver made his appearance, and the rest finished in the following order: Jackson, Chatham, 5.51.24; Faulkner, Buffalo, 5.52.00 2-5; Wright, Toronto, 5.55.24; White, Brantford, 6.07.36; Muir, Brantford, 6.16.30; Stoner, Toronto, 6.17.34; Smith, Toronto, 6.28.45; Abraham, Toronto, 6.33.00; Cassidy, Toronto, 6.51.30; Simpson, Toronto, 6.51.30; Thompson, Toronto, 6.51.31; Thomas, Brantford, 7.12.30; Roberts, Toronto, 7.12.31; Riddel, Winnipeg, 8 hours; Hebb, Winnipeg, 8 hours.

The others that did not finish were brought to Chatham on the evening train. Morrison and Gimbert were riding together and when within two miles of home Morrison was sunstruck, becoming unconscious. Saturday might be was in a serious condition.

The century riders came in all covered with dust and some of them bleeding, as nearly every one had a fall. Faulkner of Buffalo fell five times and was rendered unconscious, losing 8 minutes at one time. Riddel of Winnipeg fell after three miles. He showed pluck in walking back and starting the second time to make a record, but was too weak to ride fast. Mrs. Jackson served the riders with milk on the return trip, and they were all very grateful to this lady for her kindness.

Cassidy was rendered unconscious for 20 minutes, the result of a fall, and after recovering was driven two miles by a farmer. He finished his century by doing two miles on the track. This is Hebb's first long race, and he says he will never go on one again. For a new century rider he made a good showing.

There were only three events on the track; the first, the one-mile handicap, amateur, was won by Stackhouse, Ottawa, with 60 yards; Elliott, Woodstock, second, with 90 yards; Axton, Brantford, scratch, third. Time 2.18 4-5.

There were seven starters, and at the home stretch there was a bad spill. Gardiner getting badly hurt and Davidson badly cut about the face, but both men were all right at night.

Second event, one-mile handicap, professional, won by Tucker, Brantford, with 70 yards; Davidson, Toronto, second, scratch; Boake, Brantford, third, with 90 yards. Time 2.16 3-5.

Third event, one-mile tandem race, won by Moore and McEachern, Toronto; Burnett and Stackhouse second.

The record was lowered from 2.05 to 1.59 4-5. The tandems were paced by a quad.

After this event Angus McLeod tried to establish a paced professional record, being with a quad ahead of him, as did Frank Moore of Toronto, the amateur mile. Both failed owing to the high wind blowing down the stretch.

At 7 o'clock, McLeod, paced by Davidson, Boake, Tucker and Brown on the quad, rode the fastest mile ever ridden in Canada, establishing a paced record of 1.51 flat. About 8 o'clock the wheelmen started to leave, some for home and some for the meet at Detroit to-day, where a lot of C. W. A. professionals will ride. Cecil Elliott of Toronto and R. O. Blayney of Brantford were both suspended for 10 days for scrapping for the position on the track in Friday's five-mile professional race.

The race to have been ridden off between the three championship winners, Axton, Moore and Riddel, did not come off, and the committee of the C. W. A. will decide which of these will represent the C. W. A. in the International championships at Glasgow.

COUNTY REGISTRAR.

All Else Failing Mr. Geo. C. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Port Hope (Special) July 5.—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Geo. C. Ward, Registrar of this county, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his intimate friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

THREE MEN DEAD.

Suffocated in a Well in Assiniboia—One Was From Palmerston and Another From Toronto.

Winnipeg, July 4.—(Special)—On Saturday Henry Moore, a farmer living between Grand Coulee and Wascana, Assiniboia, descended a well he had started to dig a week before, and which was sixty feet deep, being lowered by Charles Wilson Beattie of Palmerston, Ont. Beattie felt the rope slacken and heard Moore fall. He ran for Andrew Moore, a cousin, who lowered Beattie. When 30 feet down Moore heard choking and called, but got no answer. He went for James Carroll and asked him to lower him. Carroll said he would go down himself, as he did not think the other strong enough to pull him up. At twenty feet Carroll called out: "Pull me up, I'm choking." Moore pulled him up, but when near the top Carroll fell to the bottom. Andrew Moore then went for help, and got James Johns and Sandy Howe. Howe was going down, but they decided first to lower a lantern. It went out. The three bodies were fished out with a hook, and a verdict rendered by the coroner of death by suffocation. Carroll is said to have a wife and family in Toronto.

BABY WAS CURED.

Dear Sirs,—I was troubled with Worms and commenced using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Strawberry. I found it to be the best medicine of the kind I ever used. It cured my baby of diarrhœa and summer complaint, and I would not be without it if it cost twice as much as it does. It is a splendid medicine for children.

MRS. CHAS. OTT, Hamilton, Ont.

THE HEAD MASTER

Gentlemen,—I have found great satisfaction in the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberries, and consider it invaluable in all cases of diarrhœa and summer complaint. It is a pleasure to me to recommend it to the public.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while probably successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

"WANT" ADS IN THE EXAMINER BRING THE BEST RESULTS.

A well selected text is half of the sermon. Given a good text and a preacher who is in earnest, and the result is sure to be good. The text of this article is a plain simple statement that proves itself in the reader's own mind without argument. The text is "Good health is better than great riches."

Without health nothing really matters very much. A hacking cough takes all the beauty out of a landscape or a sunset. Erysipelas or eczema will spoil the enjoyment of sprightly conversation, of a beautiful concert, of a wonderful painting. The biggest bank account in the world won't pay a man for his health, but a very small amount of money will make him healthy and keep him healthy.

Most all bodily troubles start in the digestive or respiratory organs it is here that improper living first makes an opening for disease. The development differs as constitutions and temperaments differ. The causes are almost identical. To get at the root of the matter is simple enough if you start right.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine for the whole body. It works through the digestive organs on all the others.

It cures the first thing it comes to and after that, the next. It puts health in place of disease in the stomach, and from the vantage ground thus gained, it reaches every fiber of the body and drives disease before it — indigestion, liver troubles, kidney complaint, biliousness, skin and scalp diseases, salt-rheum, tetter, eczema, and all the troubles caused by impure blood.

AWKWARD POSITION.

Ambition to get leading parts induced me to throw up a good position in the north of England to join a manager starting at Salisbury. The business turned out disastrous, the theatre closing in a fortnight. I, an utter stranger to the place, with a wife and babe, was taken ill and could hardly stir for days. But for a good-hearted landlady I do not know what would have become of us.

One morning, however, over a melancholy pipe in the grassy hollow below Old Sarum, a ray of hope dawned upon me. In my anxiety and depression one old acquaintance had altogether slipped my memory. This was Mr. Atherstone, an art dealer of Bond street. He first knew me when I had become assistant to a well-known engraver and watched my progress with great interest. I wrote, telling him the whole story of my misfortune. A prompt reply followed.

Apart from proof of Mr. Atherstone's good feeling toward me his letter contained news that I read with surprise and pleasure—not without reason, as the following extract will show:

"I want you to undertake a commission that requires tact and discrimination. It is a private inquiry, and has to be carried through at Shrewton Court, Merivale, the seat of Lord Mountfalcon, within a few miles of Salisbury. Obtain permission from the owner to see his art treasures. I shall forward to you a jeweled miniature of Lord Mountfalcon, and want you to ascertain if it is a fac-simile of one in the collection. That is the least important part of the inquiry with which I trust you. Find out, at any trouble and with all the skill you can command, the circumstances under which the fac-simile came to be painted. There is a keeper of the galleries; try and make friends with him. Keep the object of your visit as dark as possible."

On again hearing from the art dealer I wrote to Lord Mountfalcon, asking permission to visit his picture galleries. By next post I had the most courteous of replies, acceding to my request. One thing puzzled me—the handwriting of the note signed by the nobleman was familiar. Where I had before seen it I could not recollect. Next morning I went over to Merivale, Shrewton Court, situated in a spacious park, commands many picturesque objects. One is a graceful Ionic temple, half hidden in a mass of firs and white elms. So much did it strike my fancy that I left the pathway to obtain a close view. It was prevented, however, by a singular incident. As I approached, a young girl in white bounded down the marble steps. Her melancholy yet beautiful face, and sunny tresses, decked with pansies and lilies, might have been Ophelia's. To my perplexity she advanced and courtesied three times. Directly afterward a matronly woman ran out of the building. She quietly took the girl by the hand and led her away.

The Shrewton collection would be famous, if only for its Florentine and Venetian masterpieces. While absorbed before them a light footfall aroused me. I turned and saw Lord Mountfalcon. His open, handsome face would have been an excellent letter of introduction anywhere. He said:

"I have seen you before; was it not as Charles Surface at Exeter?"

From theatricals Lord Mountfalcon's talk glided into matters of pictorial art, in which he was evidently an enthusiast. Half an hour passed, and his lordship remarked:

"I must now leave you. On no account miss the small blue galleries. There is a portfolio of Rembrandt etchings that must have special value in the eyes of practical draughtsmen. Perhaps you might also like to look at my bronzes, cameos and miniatures?"

"I should, my lord," I answered, "very much. Are there many?"

"Yes, a large number," replied his lordship, "very representative, from Hilliard and Cooper to Ross and Monlo. My portrait by Monlo I regard as fine as anything painted by Conway. The keeper will now attend you. He will have orders to let you see anything in which you may have an interest."

When the keeper entered the mystery vanished about the handwriting sent to me the day before.

I had known Mr. Samuel Cracken-thorpe, and we were no longer on speaking terms. We had been intimate at Exeter, where he was then a lawyer's clerk and a small money lender. It was not long before I found out he was a mean, wily, intriguing, treacherous fellow, and on discovering him guilty of gross dishonesty I angrily cut his acquaintance. We met, of course, like perfect strangers, but Cracken-thorpe's manner was polite, even to obsequiousness.

I had looked at the water colors, bronzes, and prints, and now asked for the miniatures. They were contained in three large cases, placed upon a table in the smaller chamber of the blue gallery, and unlocked at my request. Just as I was preparing to examine the works of art a footman entered and informed me it was his master's wish I should take luncheon. I could either sit down with Mr. Cracken-thorpe or be attended separately. But I excused myself on the score of wanting to leave almost immediately, intending to resume my visit next day. Left alone, I examined several of the miniatures. At last I unhooked the Mountfalcon picture. It represented the nobleman in court dress. I satisfied myself on every point. After the closest scrutiny I was convinced the miniature I carried in my breast pocket differed in nothing from the original. It was perfect in similarity of jewels, arms and setting. It struck me that I would compare the pictures.

The light being less strong in the northern than southern division of the gallery, I entered the brighter chamber. There I looked at the miniatures side by side. I was aghast for a moment lest they should seem displaced. To tell which from which should have been impossible. Putting the copy in my pocket, I returned, placing the original on a small table near the cases. Some feeling impelled me to again visit the south apartment, where I once more examined every point in the picture Mr. Atherstone had sent. My all-absorbing thought was to get a clew to the history of that picture. My meditation was broken by a faint, sigh-like sound from the inner apartment. I looked around; it was perfectly solitary and silent. But on returning to replace Lord Mountfalcon's miniature, it had disappeared. My feelings can be conceived, I searched in vain. Everything else had been untouched. Amid bewilderment, a terrible idea occurred to me. I knew Crackenthorpe's malevolent nature. Had he, I thought, found an opportunity to pay off a grudge against me? It was time, however, to meet the difficulty. Stating but had happened, I requested Crackenthorpe to at once summon his master, if at hand.

Lord Mountfalcon listened to my statement with the greatest calmness and patience. In reply, he said most likely I must have inadvertently dropped the picture among the prints or other things on the tables. The keeper and the footman were then ordered to make a search through everything. It was perfectly fruitless. The nobleman, whose eyes had never left me, said:

"What explantion have you? I learn that you have been alone with the works of art more than half an hour, and during that time no one has been near the gallery."

"It is a matter of opinion, my lord." I returned, looking hard at the keeper: "a noise I heard warrants my belief that some one secretly did enter."

"Do you want to throw suspicion on me?" exclaimed Crackenthorpe. "It would not be the first time you have charged me with dishonesty."

The nobleman waved his hand and said to me:

"It is very painful to me, but I have no alternative. You must be searched."

"Forbear, my lord," I calmly replied; "spare me such humiliation."

"Here me for a moment only," cried the keeper. "I assure you he is a man of disreputable character," and creeping closer to me, Crackenthorpe struck my breast pocket and hissed out: "What have you there?"

I knew full well, heaven knows, but what could I do?

"I have no property of Lord Mountfalcon's," I said, "and Mr. Crackenthorpe knows that perfectly well."

"Disprove his charge, then, by producing what your pocket contains," was the answer. "I can have no more delay. If you again refuse what is demanded one of my servants must ride off to Salisbury for a constable."

Surveying the whole question, I answered:

"Allow me a private interview, Lord Mountfalcon, and I can give you such an explanation that must remove all suspicion."

What the nobleman's answer might have been, I know not. At the moment a wild, mocking cry came from the garden.

"What is that?" exclaimed Lord Mountfalcon; "surely I know the sound."

In an instant he had quitted the gallery. Soon confused voices, intermingled with angry tones, arose in the corridor. Something unusual had taken place. In a few minutes Lord Mountfalcon, strangely pale, re-entered and laid the missing miniature on the table. He said to me, with extended hand:

"I deeply regret we have caused you so much anxiety. Here my explanation. A niece of mine, unfortunately of weak intellect, gained admission in some unexplicable manner to the gallery. The noise you heard doubtless came from her entrance or departure. A gardener observed her unattended, and following the young lady, saw her cast something into the rosary. It was the portrait taken from the table where you had deposited it. I deeply regret you should have been placed in such an awkward situation."

I bowed and prepared to depart. Lord Mountfalcon would not hear of it, stating he wished to see me in private.

"By the way," he added to Crackenthorpe, "it is a mystery to me how Lady Hester could have obtained entrance here. By means of that locked door she is entirely cut off from this side of the mansion. Has the door been unlocked since my orders?"

"I have no knowledge of it," faltered the keeper, turning pale.

Lord Mountfalcon crossed to the door, and it opened on the handle being turned. What transpired I did not learn until an hour later.

As I sat over my luncheon I began to see my way to the possibility of obtaining a clew to the history of the miniature in my pocket. Atherstone had given me some facts, but I had been sensitive about disclosing them. It was not long before I was closeted with the owner of Shrewton Court, and after mutual confidences, Crackenthorpe was summoned to the room. I told the tale of the miniature, and then Lord Mountfalcon said:

"Ask him what you please."

Sam Crackenthorpe, fearful of being prosecuted by his master, answered every question I put. The examination, as near as I recollect, was as follows:

"Well, Mr. Crackenthorpe, you know this fac-simile of the miniature you asserted I had in my pocket?"

"Yes."

"Who printed it?"

"Mr. Monlo."

"Where?"

"In my sitting-room."

"Who obtained his services?"

"I did."

"At whose request?"

"A lady came to see the galleries after Lord Mountfalcon went off to the Mediterranean."

"Her name."

"Miss Wincaunton."

"Where did she see the original miniature?"

"At Moslon, the jeweler's, in Piccadilly."

"What story was told the miniature painter to blind him?"

"That his lordship's sister secretly wanted a copy."

"How came Miss Wincaunton to wish for a copy?"

"Because she so admired the likeness."

Three months afterward Mr. Atherstone and I witnessed the ceremony of the marriage at St. George's, Hanover Square, between Lord Mountfalcon and the beautiful Lady Brewster. A rival, Miss Wincaunton, had insinuated the nobleman was in love with her, producing as proof the miniature she had obtained under such mean and crafty circumstances. Lady Brewster returned Lord Mountfalcon's picture in a fit of anger, believing the falsehood, and broke off the engagement. On Mr. Atherstone communicating the facts of the case, Lady Susan became reconciled to her old lover.

After the ceremonial was over Mr. Atherstone took me out for luncheon. Later on, dallying with a cigar and a bottle of claret, the art dealer said:

"I think we are in duty bound to drink the health of the bride and bridegroom."

We did it in bumpers.

"By the by," continued my old friend, "I shall run down the week after next to Shrewton Court, for Lord Mountfalcon told me he had fitted you up capital quarters as the new keeper of his art galleries."—Lloyd's London Weekly.

STREET INSPECTORS' REPORT.

We beg to submit the following report of the work performed on the streets during the month of June:

Repairs to Aylmer street from Murray to Smith streets.

Watertabling Smith street to Reid street from Bethune street.

Watertabling Reid street from Smith street to McDonel street, and metalling the same.

Repairs to Stewart street, from Brock street to creek at the Home.

Watertabling Brock street to Aylmer street from Stewart street.

Watertabling Hunter street to Aylmer street, from Simcoe street to Aylmer street, from Aubidge street.

We have placed the excavation for the foundation of chancel of Mission church on Sherbrooke street west of Park.

Graded and metalled a portion of Haggart street.

A good deal in the way of repairs to side walks has been done, and a good deal more is required all over the town.

Several culverts have been put in and approaches where required.

We have done nothing on Aylmer or McDonel street west of George as directed. They are very rough and flat, and when sewered calculations should be made to raise them.

We have made a profile of the grading on Murray street as detailed, and will keep the material for repairs and mixing with broken stone.

We have done nothing to any of the streets on which the street railway runs, waiting the anticipated arrangement with the railway company to decide the distance for the town to maintain. The track is seriously out of repair, and should be repaired before any grading is done.

Recommendations—We would recommend some further repairs to Sherbrooke street as it is one of the most neglected streets in the town. The drains require to be opened and cleaned out. The five bridges from King street to the river require almost entire renewing. We would therefore recommend an estimate to be made for a conduit from the creek to the river on King street and the renewing of and maintaining the present bridges.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

We have the honour to be,

Your obedient servants,

RANNEY & INNES,

Inspectors.

Received.

The Jubilee Sports Committee was present and Mr. W. B. Bamford, acting as their spokesman, stated that the receipts and expenditures amounted to the same sum, viz., $687.40. One item alone remained unpaid, namely the rental of the grounds amounting to $40. He asked the council to assume this debt.

Councillor Dawson advised the council to proceed with caution in agreeing to pay this account, as in assuming it they might make themselves liable for the lawsuits which were pending for the injuries of those hurt in the grand stand accident.

Councillor Meldrum also spoke in the same strain.

Mr. Alex Gibson pointed out that the council was already directly concerned as the Central Committee was composed of 13 councillors and 13 citizens.

Councillor McWilliams stated that the report of the Sports Committee should be handed into the Central Committee. The council would not shirk any responsibility but would stand or fall with the rest of the members of the committee.

On his motion the mayor, as chairman, will call a meeting of the Central Committee immediately to settle up all accounts, etc.

THE STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. We recommend that the following work be done on the streets:

Sheridan street—Sidewalk on east side to be moved as requested by Jas Long and others.

Haggart street—Repaired and covered with broken stone.

Lock and Crescent streets, from Lake street to the boundary—To be graded and broken stone used on west side of street.

Park street, from Romaine to Albert, Charlotte, Simcoe and Hunter streets, west of Aylmer streets—To be covered with stone.

2. That the Clerk be instructed to write the C.P.R. Company to remove the siding off Park street at the corner of Perry street and to plank the crossing.

3. That this Committee be authorized to communicate with the Street Railway Company with a view of making an arrangement with the Company to keep in repair a portion of the streets on the line of their railway in lieu of the 10 inches to be kept up on each side of the rails by them.

4. Your Committee communicated with the Grand Trunk Railway Company and got them to put in culverts across their tracks at the intersections of Bethune street with Charlotte, Simcoe, Hunter and Brock streets, the town supplying material for the culverts, and these streets can now be drained.

5. Your Committee instructed the Town Solicitor to communicate with the Auburn Power Co. in order to obtain an agreement from the Company in accordance with Bylaw No. 770, regarding the erection of poles and stringing of wires for the transmission of electricity.

6. As the light and Power Co. had not paid the rental due for the privilege of having their poles on streets, your committee instructed the Treasurer to deduct the two quarters' rental from the payment due the Company on June 30th for lights.

7. That this Committee be instructed to meet the council of the Township of Smith and arrange a division of the boundary between the town and the township for each to maintain.

8 That the bridge on Donegal street be repaired.

J. B. McWILLIAMS,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1 That this council appoint delegates to attend the convention regarding the tax exemptions to be held in Toronto during the time of the exhibition.

2 That 50 copies of the new map of the county of Peterborough be taken from the Times Printing Company, 25 mounted and 25 unmounted, and that the company place an advertisement of the town, 18 inches wide, on the bottom of the map, and that the company be paid $75 for the advertisement and maps, provided that they are satisfactory to the council.

3 That the following accounts be paid:

4 That Messrs Hall and McGill be paid $1,250 for interest on money borrowed from them as trustees of the estate of the late Charlotte J Nicholls, up to July 1st, 1897.

5 That Thos Wood be paid $4, the cost of repairing vehicle damaged at the corner of George and King streets.

T H DENNE,
Chairman.

The last clause was referred to the Town Solicitor, without being passed, as it was thought the payment of the bill might establish a dangerous precedent.

The acceptance of the maps mentioned in clause 2 was left to the Street and Bridge Committee.

The report was then adopted as amended.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That the village of Ashburnham be given the service for fire protection that has been heretofore given until the 1st of July, 1898, for $175.00, to be paid quarterly.

2 That no action be taken on the application of John Montgomery for an increase of salary.

3. In regard to the application for an electric light on Paterson street, that no more lights be ordered this year.

4. That the Light and Power Co. be requested to raise the light near the corner of Lock and Ware street, and to move the light on the corner of Smith and Stewart streets.

5. That the recommendations contained in the report of the Boiler Inspection Company be carried out.

6. That the clerk be instructed to reply to the secretary of the Fire Underwriters' Association and inform him of what appliances have been purchased.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. M. WHITE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted as read.

LICENSE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

Gentlemen,—Your License Committee beg leave to report that refunds of $15.00 each be given to Nicholas Minicola and Frank Anthony and a refund of $20.60 to Frank Laplante on account of pedlars' license fees paid by them.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

N. T. LEPLANTE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The council was notified by the town solicitor that in his opinion the town was not liable in the case of the bill of $70.00 rendered by the Water Company for water to pack the earth in the sewer excavations.

Councillor Denne stated that Mr. Clinkscale, formerly street inpector, had told him he understood from Mr. Langford, chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee in 1896, that he should use the water for that purpose.

As the matter is in the hands of the Sewerage Committee they will report upon it.

SOME QUERIES.

During the evening Councillor Meldrum asked Councillor McWilliams what amount of money had been spent on the streets so far this year.

Councillor McWilliams put it at about $7,000, but Councillor Meldrum stated that he had heard it ran up to over $9,000.

Councillor McWilliams explained that this included the cost of the wood in the lumber yards and also of the broken stone, amounting to about $3,500, which showed the expenditure to be in reality less than $6,000.

In reply to a query by Councillor Denne, Councillor McWilliams stated that the expenditure this year would not run over $12,000.

Councillor Dawson asked the chairman of the Sewerage Committee if there would be any work done on the sewers this year, and if so, when it was to begin.

Councillor Best replied that the council was waiting to receive a couple of petitions which were being circulated so that the summer scheme would be complete before work was commenced.

Councillor Dawson asked if the Street Railway agreement had ever been signed. He was told that it had been done but as work had not yet commenced on the belt line, which was to have been finished on the first of August, he thought that some action should be taken by the council.

Councillor McWilliams thought that the company was trifling with the council. The body should be respected and he would move in the direction that if the work did not go on, their right to travel on the belt line streets be cancelled. The line was not being run in the interests of the town or the company either, as it was operated at present. They had fought to obtain the franchise and they would have to live up to their agreement.

He urged that negotiations be opened with other companies to operate a belt line, and Councillor Robertson stated that he knew of one which would be willing to do so.

A committee of the whole council will meet to consider the situation this week.

Councillor Denne was authorized to advertise for tenders for the town's supply of coal.

Councillor McWilliams moved that the mayor take some action in regard to the course of the cavalry in refusing to turn out with the Jubilee Day procession. The government should be urged to strip the uniforms from men who would not turn out on such a day unless they were to get a free dinner on the head of it. If the men had been misrepresented in the matter by their officers, then these officers should lose their commissions. Preferment was most partial in this cavalry troop and unless the government looked into the matter the troop would be broken up like No. 1 Company, than which there was no finer in Canada.

The cavalry had wanted to head the procession, although they had been offered the position of honour in the rear instead of the Veterans, to whom it rightly belonged. At the Queen's Jubilee in London the flower of the army had formed the rear guard.

After deciding to deal farther with the matter at their next meeting, the council adjourned.

A Special Departure In Summer Millinery.

After a most successful stretch of business, we feel like doing something exceptional in the interests of Ladies before the 1st of July.

Perhaps we ought to say we want to sell more Hats and mean to go about it in the quickest and best way to sell them. Please yourself how you consider the matter, but the facts are that the entire stock of Straw Hats in Fancy Shapes, Sailors and Leghorns have been marked down for the balance of this month. We also offer the additional inducement of reduced prices for trimming these Hats—provided, of course, the materials are purchased here.

A JULY DROP.

Just now a mite of money is worth a mountain of stock. Just now, nothing seems impossible in the line of saving money at the Golden Lion.

During the zenith of Summer trade, we mark down the prices of Summer Goods.

It's Fair's Way. Better to sell than to hold. Better to lose a little than carry goods over to another season. Profits don't stand in the way when the time comes to clear out stock:—

Blouse Clearance—

We let go our whole stock of Fancy Blouses. The lot includes all the latest and most exclusive styles.

Print Wrappers Clearance

Every woman should be interested in the Reduced Prices of our Wrappers. The values are better far than ever offered.

Fancy Parasol Clearance

The Fancy Parasol Stock goes at HALF PRICE. That's a Sweeping Reduction. No fabrication or exaggeration in what we say. Parasols at Half Price just means what it says.

Summer Millinery Clearance—

Just to liven things up, we offer all Summer Millinery, both Trimmed and Untrimmed, at cost. This is the chance of the season. You know our stock.

Balance of our SPRING CAPES and JACKETS at interesting figures.

Ladies' Underwear, Gloves and Hosiery—

Nothing but an examination can give a correct idea of how cheap these wares can now be bought here.

Our WASH GOODS SALE still goes on. All prevailing prices are lost sight of. Watch the window displays and prices.

P. S.—Special offerings in Carpets and Housefurnishings during this Sale.

Bargain Table of Trimmed Hats

All the Trimmed Hats must now be sold. If Ladies want the best dollar's worth they ever bought, let them spend their money round this Trimmed Hat Bargain Table.

Trimmed Hats from 50c to $2.00

REGULAR PRICE $3.00 to $5.00.

Can't afford to carry goods to another season. It may seem folly to work for nothing, but the Trimmed Hats must go.

TOO MANY BLOUSES.

The pressure on our Blouse Stock must be relieved, so it has been decided to rush out the whole lot at a very little over ONE HALF THE REGULAR PRICE, starting at 50c.

SPECIAL SALE OF HOSIERY.

Don't enslave your feet during the hot weather, when Stainless Black, Fancy Black and Tan Hosiery can be bought here at 5c, 10c, 12½c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 35c and 50c.

LADIES' COOL UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' Vests, with or without sleeves, from 5c up. A good opportunity to replenish the wardrobe.

LADIES' BELTS at 15c and upwards, with or without the handy side pocket.

200 DOZEN HANDKERCHIEFS at 5c. each and upwards. Best linen with fancy borders for Ladies and Gentlemen. The balance of the month will be a great time for Bargains at Developments Awaited With a Good Deal of Anxiety.

THE MOHAMMEDANS ARE RESTLESS

The Rioters in the Indian Capital Said to Be Getting Reinforcements in Large Numbers—Greco Turkish Trouble Again Assuming a Dangerous Phase—Cable News.

Calcutta, July 6, 11 p.m.—All sections of the community are in a state of anxious expectancy as to the developments of the early future. It is rumored that all the mill hands up the Hoogly have struck work and that they are preparing to march 8000 strong, to reinforce the rioters here. The Government has ordered the military to intercept them.

The Mohammedans at Garden Reach, a southern suburb of Calcutta, and a fashionable place for Europeans, are showing signs of dangerous restlessness and the Government has stationed strong guards at all the bridges leading to that quarter.

IT'S TURKEY'S FAULT.

Porte Has Carried Deliberation and Circumspection Beyond Reasonable Bounds.

London, July 6.—In the House of Lords to-day the Marquis of Salisbury, replying to Lord Connemara, said the delay in the settlement of the peace terms between Turkey and Greece was entirely the fault of the former. There was no delay as far as the powers were concerned, but Turkey had carried deliberation and circumspection to such an excess that the delay was not without danger. Though the danger was not immediate, they were at present no nearer to the solution of the question than before. Having referred to the situation in 1878, pointing out that then a Russian army was at the gates of Constantinople, the Marquis of Salisbury remarked that, in proportion to the circumstances, the year 1897 became analogous with the year 1878, so his hopes of a satisfactory result increase.

The Marquis of Salisbury further remarked: "If Prince Bismarck were presiding at the conference, as he did in 1878, the result would be different. A powerful Russian army was then within a stone's throw of Constantinople, and any suggestion from Prince Bismarck that a failure of the conference would result in the movement of that army undoubtedly produced that effect on Turkish deliberations, which is desired now."

Regarded As Extremely Grave.

London, July 7.—All the morning papers comment editorially upon the new danger in the Greco-Turkish situation. The statement of the Marquis of Salisbury in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon is regarded as extremely grave and as a clear intimation of the readiness of Great Britain to join in active coercion of the Sultan.

Plague of Locusts in India.

London, July 7.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Bombay says that a plague of locusts in North India threatens to aggravate greatly the suffering from famine.

THE TURK IS STUBBORN.

Will Not Agree to the Stipulations Laid Down by the Powers.

Constantinople, July 6.—Contrary to expectations the decision of the Council of Ministers was not favorable to the demands of the Ambassadors relative to the Greco-Turkish frontier negotiations. The situation, therefore, is regarded as being very strained, the Turkish reply virtually implying a course of the negotiations, and that the powers must make concessions or adopt measures to enforce their decisions.

It is reported that the Grand Vizier has declared to the Sultan that he will never sign an agreement based on the strategic lines proposed by the Ambassadors. At the same time it is thought in some quarters that the attitude of the Turkish Government is designed to enable the Sultan to yield later by sacrificing some of his Ministers. Rumors of impending Cabinet changes are already current.

The Boersé at Galata is largely affected by the situation. There has been a considerable fall in Turkish consolidated securities. The Turks are selling them freely, some circles expressing the opinion that Turkey will yield only to European pressure.

Russia Advises Turkey.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—The Novoe Vremya strongly exhorts the Turkish Government to abandon any further subterfuges in the negotiations for peace between Greece and Turkey, unless the latter country should wish the powers to adopt harsh measures to enforce their peace program.

Congress of Naval Architects.

London, July 6.—The International Congress of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers opened today in the Imperial Institute with a full attendance, the foreign delegates including a number of Americans. The Prince of Wales, who was accompanied by the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, and the Duke of York, welcomed the delegates in the name of the Queen and in his own name. The First Lord of the Admiralty, George J. Goschen, welcomed the delegates in behalf of the Government. The Earl of Hopetoun, the president, in his inaugural address, warmly welcomed the foreign delegates, especially the Americans, as "kinsmen of identical origin and of common language."

Bank of Spain Prospers.

Madrid, July 6.—There is a great deal of comment here on the position of the Bank of Spain. Its note circulation is larger than ever before, and it is said to have been increased to 19,000,000 pesetas.

Strike for Eight Hours.

London, July 6.—In consequence of the strike of engineers in London in support of their demand for eight hours of work only per day the Federated Employers' Association has posted notices throughout Great Britain locking out 25 per cent. of the members of the striking societies. It is understood that the societies will order the remaining 75 per cent. of their members to leave work immediately. Twenty-five thousand men will be affected.

The Results Are Fearful.

Paris, July 6.—Further advices from the South of France add to the gravity of the disasters due to the floods there. The number of houses and farms destroyed are incalculable. The losses are estimated at 200,000,000 francs. Hardly a village has escaped damage, and the number of victims is quite 300.

Mr. Blake Gets Out of It.

London, July 6.—Hon. Edward Blake, anti-Parnellite member for South Longford, has withdrawn from the committee investigating the British South Africa Company's administration and the Jameson raid because of its failure to report Mr. B. F. Hawkesley, Cecil Rhodes' lawyer, for his refusal to produce certain telegrams which it is admitted passed between London and the Cape immediately before the raid, and which it is claimed would throw important light upon the forces then at work.

Outbreak in Gazaland is Serious.

London, July 7.—A despatch to The Times from Cape Town says that the native outbreak in Gazaland is assuming alarming proportions. The Governor of Mozambique is personally in command of the column sent to suppress the rebellion.

Engaged to An Indian Prince.

London, July 6.—Prince Victor Duleep Singh, who has been long prominent in London society, and who is a son of the great Indian potentate, Dhuleep Singh, who started ten years ago to stir up a revolt in India under Russian auspices, is engaged to Lady Ann Coventry, sister-in-law of Viscountess Derhurst, and formerly Miss Virginia Bonynge.

He Extolled the States.

London, July 6.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Cape Town says that W. P. Schreiner, in a speech at the American banquet in celebration of Independence Day, extolled the United States as "One spot on God's earth where freedom finds its highest realization." This has given great offence in some quarters, because it seems to imply a slur upon Great Britain.

French Dramatic Author Dead.

Paris, July 6.—Henri Meilhac, the noted dramatic author and member of the French Academy, is dead.

The late M. Meilhac was born at Paris in 1832 and educated at the Lycee Louis-le-Grand. At the age of 20 he began to contribute with pen and pencil to dramatic journals, and pursued his work with varying success.

Death of Charles A. Gore.

London, July 6.—Charles Alexander Gore is dead.

The deceased was born in 1811, and married Lady Augusta, daughter of the fourth Earl of Bessborough, and widow of Edward Thomas, Earl of Kerry. He entered the Paymaster-General's office in 1828 and the Treasury in 1834, and from 1830 to 1839 was private secretary to Lord John Russell. From 1839 to 1886 he was a Commissioner of Woods and Forests and Land Revenue. Rev. Charles Gore, D.D., Canon of Westminster, is his son.

Two Deaths, 17 Prostrations.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 6.—As a result of the intense heat, two deaths and 17 prostrations are reported. During a heavy storm last evening Daniel Matthews, a well-known horseman, was instantly killed by lightning at Homewood race track.

THE STRIKING MINERS

Put in a Strong Plea for Arbitration.

ANXIOUS TO STOP THE CONFLICT

Before the Consequences Become Serious They Only Desire Living Wages, and Would Like to Reach a Settlement on That Basis—The Latest Strike News.

New York, July 6.—In a communication published in The Journal the leaders of the great coal strike make a strong plea for arbitration. The document says: We keenly appreciate the effect a prolongation of this strike, under most pacific surroundings, will have on the operator, miner and the general business of the country. We realize the constant menace that a great body of idle men, battling for living wages and against starvation, even under the most careful and conservative leadership, has for the peace and good of the nation and the perpetuity of its institutions.

Therefore, when there is conveyed to us a suggestion that these great questions may be arbitrated we hasten to avail ourselves of it. We are ready to arbitrate the cause upon any lines that will secure us a living by our industry. We announce this to the nation, this cause of ours, this strife for wages, that will ensure able-bodied industrious men a living for themselves and families.

A strife that involves a quarter of a million and their descendants, together with millions of capital, is a matter of importance to every citizen. It demands exposition and adjustment. We trust that some arbitration may be devised to stay the present conflict while it is yet young and its consequences are not grave beyond repair.

Justice of the Demand Conceded.

Columbus, O., July 6.—A meeting of the bituminous coal operators of the United States will be held in Detroit on Wednesday. The primary object is to take action upon the miners' national strike. So serious is the situation in the various fields that the employers of coal miners deem it necessary to co-operate in a national movement to arrive at some mutually satisfactory terms of peace. This is no meeting to devise ways and means to fight the strike. The operators, as a rule, individually concur in the justice of the miners' demand; they unreservedly admit that the present debased commercial and moral aspects of their business, both as to methods employed in quest of trade and in payment and treatment of help, are due solely to a relentless competition among themselves—a competition that has vented its worst reactions upon the miner, because a movement to retrench on the cost of production naturally found its line of least resistance in his wages. The operators admit all this.

Will Hold the Coal.

Columbus, O., July 6.—Mr. A. Brenholse, who managed the home office of the General Hocking Coal Company, says there is at least 150,000 tons of coal in storage in the Northwest. He estimates that this will supply all demands for at least four months, no matter how general the miners' strike becomes.

There is considerable coal on the Ohio docks ready for shipment by lake, but this coal will not be sent west. It will be held for the purpose of supplying transient trade.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING.

Difficult to Tell How Many Men Responded in the Pittsburg District.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 6.—The strike of coal miners is on in the Pittsburg district, but reports as to its extent are so conflicting and meagre that it is difficult to tell how many men responded to the strike order. The miners' officials have not heard from one-fourth of the mines in the district, but they expressed themselves as confident that the order had been generally obeyed, and that all the diggers would be out in a few days. The reports received say that all the mines on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad are idle. Among the mines shut down are those of the Pittsburg & Chicago Gas Coal Company, whose men, it was said, would not quit work, as they had individual contracts. The Osceola mines are also idle, as are also those at Shaner's.

The most encouraging reports of the strikers come from the River mines, and it can be stated that fully 6000 river diggers are idle. But few mines are in operation, and the indications are that by Thursday every mine will be shut down, as the miners are determined in their demands.

Working at the Advance.

A despatch from Wheeling, W.Va., says that the men at the Schenck mines, on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in Ohio, are now at work at the advance. The 3000 miners on the Cleveland, Lorraine & Wheeling Railroad voted 2 to 1 against a strike, and are all working as usual.

The mining officials are working night and main to get the individual contract miners out. Their success in the case of the Pittsburg and Chicago miners has given them renewed hope, and they now expect to induce the men at the New York and Cleveland mines also to come out. While the strike practically commenced to-day in all of the five states concerned in the movement no accurate account of the actual number of men who will take part in the strike can be known until to-morrow.

An opinion may then be formed as to its importance and the probability of its ultimate success or defeat.

Died from the Heat.

Detroit, Mich., July 6.—The list of persons who died in this city from sunstroke and heat prostration yesterday was swelled to-day to 13. One boy was killed in a runaway, caused by fireworks, and a little girl was fatally burned. Seven others were injured by fireworks accidents.

THE SENATE QUESTION.

The recent collision between the Commons and the Senate suggests reflections as to the wisdom of bringing that body more into harmony with the popular will. We have representative institutions in Canada and their spirit should prevail. One of the features of the great London Jubilee was the exaltation of the democratic idea, and we saw the practical reconciliation of two apparently opposed principles, Imperialism and Democracy. The Canadian Senate is an autocratic body, independent of popular control, incapable of removal while life gives power for irresponsible and doting senility to hold a seat. The Ottawa Journal points out that the Australians are endeavouring to improve on our style, and it is worth our while to note the principle they go on. It is that of collective voting. The convention which met in Australia in April to arrange a federation of the colonies there agreed on a house of representatives similar to our Commons, consisting of members elected each for a particular constituency. A second house, or senate, they also agreed on, but not like ours. The members are elected by the people, not appointed by the Government; but the mode of election differs from that for the house of representatives. A senator, instead of being elected by any particular constituency, is voted for by the whole state or province. Each Australian colony is to have six senators, who are to be elected by a plebiscite in the colony. The senatorial term is to be six years, and to have no connection with general elections for the house of representatives. It would seem to be worth Canada's while to think seriously of the desirability of changing the appointive system of our senate to an elective one, and our public men will watch the result of the Australian experiment with keen interest—if it be tried, for Australia is not federated yet.

The elective senate idea is a good one, but the Australian proposal seems to be cumbersome. A modification of our mode of electing members of Parliament, the modification to apply to the electoral districts, with the ordinary mode of voting, would be simpler and as satisfactory. Undoubtedly, and, as recent experience demonstrated, partizan preponderance in the Senate would be practically impossible. Parties would be more evenly divided, and mere excess of noses could not be so arbitrarily employed as now, to counteract and nullify the popular will as expressed through the representatives in the House of Commons.

One of the first benefits arising from the new protective tariff of the United States, which, of course, is to make everybody rich and prosperous, is the great strike of the coal miners who are ungrateful enough not to recognise the rampant prosperity a high tariff brings. The result of the strike will be to add to the cost of living of every home in the United States.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

Mr. Schreiber on the York Street Bridge in Toronto Traffic Through the Soo Canal Other Notes

Ottawa, July 6. (Special.)—Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, chief engineer of Government Railways, returned from Hamilton this morning, where he looked into the proposed crossing of the G.T.R. by the Hamilton Radial Railway, on which he will report to the Railway Committee of the Privy Council. On his way homeward he stopped off at Toronto for a short while and met Mr. Keating, City Engineer. Together they examined the York-street bridge, in view of the application of the city to take out the level space on the bridge. Mr. Schreiber is of opinion that the change is a desirable one and that it will not have an injurious effect upon horses, which, it was claimed before the Railway Committee, would be the case. As the city or Street Railway Company is to bear the expense of the alteration, which will not be much, the Railway Committee will approve of it on Mr. Schreiber's report.

To-day there went out two orders from the Railway Committee, affecting the T., H. & B. Railway. The high level bridge near Desjardins Canal has been approved, and the bridge accepted for traffic. Accordingly the turnpike road in the vicinity will now be closed. A road diversion within the limits of the city of Hamilton, and not far from Desjardins Canal, has also been approved.

Traffic through the Canadian Sault Ste. Marie Canal shows a considerable falling off for last year. In the month of April there were 32 vessels passed through the Canadian Soo, of 22,065 tons of freight; in May 397 vessels of 295,449 tonnage, and bearing 336,745 tons of freight, and in June 686 vessels, with a tonnage of 612,255 tons, and freight to the extent of 667,258 tons. The total up to the end of June was, therefore, 1097 vessels of 929,769 tonnage, and carrying 1,015,253 tons of freight.

The Controller of Customs is preparing instructions for Collectors of Customs in respect to the reciprocal tariff. Before Canadian importers can get the benefit of the preferential clause (that is, of the reduced duty on British and New South Wales goods) a declaration will be required to be made by the exporter as well as the importer as to the country of origin. Mr. Paterson will submit the regulations to the Cabinet to-morrow.

Among the Canadians specially decorated in connection with the Queen's Diamond Jubilee was Sir Arthur Halliburton, permanent Under Secretary for War, who was given a Grand Cross of the Bath. Sir Arthur is a native of Nova Scotia and a brother of the distinguished scientist, Robert Grant Halliburton. Both brothers are members of the Canadian bar.

THE PERSONIFICATION OF KINDNESS.

Is Sir Richard Cartwright, and a Gentleman of Broad Views and Devotion to the Public Service.

Montreal, July 6.—(Special.)—Hon. Mr. Tarte publishes the following letter article, which needs no comment:

"When I was a Conservative journalist I entertained the strongest prejudice against Sir Richard. When he is judged at a distance, you take him as being brusque, violent and difficult to approach. The Liberal press has in fact permitted Tory newspapers to attack him for 20 years without defending Sir Richard, as they should have done. Loyal to the finger ends, and free from all prejudices, he is the personification of kindness, breadth of view, and devotion to the public service. Since we came to power we have had many knotty questions to discuss, and I must say right here that I have never found in any of my colleagues a more refined thinker and a greater degree of which the English call gyves and take them in Sir Richard Cartwright. The Globe's article referring to him as the new Sir Richard was inexact. He has always been what he is to-day, but he has not been properly appreciated. For a long time a number of Grits and Liberals caused him all possible annoyance because he was at one time a Conservative; for it must not be forgotten that there are people here and there who think there is no salvation for a man who has not always been a Liberal. When Mr. Blake took the leadership of the Liberal party, Sir Richard again had more trouble, for, in spite of Mr. Blake's great talent, he had his weakness, and he did not like Sir Richard Cartwright. Sir Richard, however, bided his time, and now he is indispensable, both to the Government and to Parliament. I wish to close by saying that I am proud of the friendship Sir Richard has shown me since I entered the ranks of the Liberal party. I wish also to add that the French-Canadians and Catholics generally have never had a more friendly ally than the veteran statesman to whom Sir Wilfrid Laurier has given supreme command during his absence in Europe.

LIGHTNING STRUCK THE TREE.

Paul Menard and a Horse Were Instantly Killed and Peter Menard Injured.

Windsor, Ont., July 6.—Peter Menard, a Price farmer, was working in the fields with his son Paul, a young man of 22 years, yesterday afternoon. When the thunderstorm came on they took shelter under a tree. The tree was struck by lightning. The young man and the horse were instantly killed and the father rendered unconscious. Two hours later they were found by some of the neighbors, the body of the young man lying under that of the horse. The father had just recovered consciousness, and was calling to his son to come to his assistance. He was so badly injured that he will probably die. He is the father-in-law of "Dode" Malsonville, one of the best-known hotel-keepers in Windsor.

ANOTHER BLAZE AT HASTINGS.

H. M. Fowld's Woolen Mill Destroyed—Other Buildings Narrowly Escaped.

Hastings, Ont., July 6.—At 3.30 o'clock this afternoon the alarm of fire was again sounded. This time the fire was in H. M. Fowld's woollen mills, and in an instant it was enveloped in flames. No attempt was made to save it, but all the efforts of the brigade were concentrated to save H. M. Fowld's grain elevator and the Royal Hotel, which they succeeded in doing. Loss on building $2000; no insurance. The building was leased by Mr. J. Cummings. Loss not known at present.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

THE UNGALLANT JAPS.

Sailors from the Warship Naniwa Beat An American Lady Who Was Trying to Assist Her Brother.

Vancouver, B.C., July 6.—The latest mail advices from Honolulu say that Miss Nellie West, an American lady, was severely beaten by two Japanese marines from the warship Naniwa recently, while trying to assist her brother, who had been attacked by a number of man-of-war men from the Japanese craft.

Miss West was confined to her bed next morning and was unable to appear against her assailants in court, where they were charged with assault and battery.

The feeling here runs very high over the matter. A well-known business man knocked down three Naniwa sailors on the streets the following morning in consequence, while American blue-jackets went hunting for the leaders of the Japanese who made the assault. One who was pointed out to them as being guilty was so severely beaten by them that his life now depends on the result of a delicate operation.

THE AWFUL HEAT.

Prostrations in Many Places, Particularly in Ohio Farmers Cannot Work.

Cincinnati, O., July 6.—The Commercial-Tribune specials report the results of the extreme heat from outside points as follows:

Springfield, Ohio—Nine cases of heat prostration to-day.

Toledo, O.—To-day's sham battle resulted in 20 men being overcome by the heat.

Wapakoneta, Ohio—Friday, Saturday Sunday and to-day, the mercury stood all the way from 102 to 108. The farmers cannot do their harvesting. The extreme heat has serious effects on horses. Wheat is dead ripe and is beginning to become brittle.

Parkersburg, W. Va.—Yesterday and to-day were the two hottest days on record here, the temperature being 112 in the shade on the street.

For Weak People.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for weak people having heart or nerve troubles, such as palpitation, throbbing, spasms, dizziness, shortness of breath, smothering feeling, pain in the breast, etc., are an invaluable medicine as hundreds of certified cures bear witness. Ratchford is Pleased.

Columbus, O., July 6.—President Ratchford of the United Mine Workers is greatly pleased with the progress of the present strike and regards the outlook as exceedingly bright. With the exception of the mine of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company, and one or two mines where the miners are under contract, all were out.

Speaking of the magnitude of the strike and the interest being taken in it, President Ratchford said: "The enormity of this movement is attracting the attention of the country. Our national legislators and members of the National Cabinet express some alarm at the outcome of the present conflict. This is the first time in the history of the mining trade that the regulation of our wages or our trade affairs has given high circles any particular concern. We are pleased to know that even now interest is being expressed in the matter.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

THE WONDERS OF THIS JUBILEE YEAR!

Elegant Gold Watches Given Away at H. LeBRUN & CO'S Clothing Store.

THE BIGGEST HIT OF THE SEASON

Wonders are coming thicker and faster than ever. The Jubilee year is to be full of new and startling wonders. Just imagine all the Wonderful things you have heard and read about lately, and then listen to this: The latest wonder of the day has been started by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co., who are holding their annual summer clearance during the months of July and August.

This firm intends to make the Jubilee summer holidays of 1897 memorable to the people of Peterborough by giving away elaborate ladies' and gentlemen's electro-gold hunting case watches to every cash purchaser of $35 worth of Clothing or Furnishings at their store.

This wonderful Victor Watch is the greatest watch the World has ever seen given away. The cases are electro gold plated, engraved in the most magnificent style—stem winding and setting—and guaranteed for time and durability. A princely present for a lady or gentleman. Specimens of the watches on exhibition in H. LeBrun & Co's show window, and you can have your choice of any of these beautifully chased patterns.

Ladies as well as gentlemen can take advantage of this wondreful offer. Every purchaser will receive a ticket on which the amount of each cash purchase will be recorded.

PRIZES! PRIZES!

In order to make our summer clearance sale still more interesting, we offer Three Special Prizes to the three largest purchasers of goods at our store during July and August as follows.

1st Prize—To the Largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.
2nd Prize—To the Second largest Purchaser, a Victor Watch
3rd Prize—To the Third largest purchaser, a Victor Watch

Those who are not lucky enough to get one of these special prizes, their amounts will be allowed on a $35 cash purchase.

Better hurry up if you want to share these special gifts. The town will be after them hot foot.

Prices all over the store greatly reduced during July and August.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

Impure

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our

TWO YEARS IN THE CENTRAL.

This is the Sentence Imposed on Pickpocket Carroll, of Toronto.

The man who was arrested on Dominion Day by the Chief of Police at the C. P. R. station on suspicion of being a pickpocket, and who gave his name as William J. Smith, turned out to be none other than Wm. Carroll of Toronto, one of Canada's most notorious pickpockets.

As stated at the time of the arrest, the Chief was on the station platform and had his attention called to Carroll as "a man worth watching." He kept his eye on him accordingly, and a few minutes later saw him jostle a young woman in the crowd and make some lightning movements with his hands in apparently transferring something from her pocket to his own. The Chief collared him immediately and turned him over to Constable Stewart. On the prisoner being searched, a letter addressed to Miss Birdie Thompson was found in his pocket.

Miss Thompson on seeing the letter recognized it as one she had just received from Miss Laura Belleghem, and which had been in her pocket previous to going to the station.

On this evidence the prisoner was sentenced to two years, less one day, in the Central Prison, Toronto.

While he had the man in custody the Chief had his photograph taken and forwarded to the Chief of Police in Toronto, who recognized the prisoner as being Wm. Carroll, one of the most notorious pickpockets in the country. He was sent to the Central for a year on June 20th, 1892, for picking pockets, and on May 1st, 1893, went back for three months for attempting to repeat the trick. On May 30th, 1895, he was sentenced to the Central for a year on a similar charge.

His travelling companion was Fred Collins, who is now spending three years in the penitentiary for picking pockets.

The police here have still another charge up their sleeves against Carroll, as it seems he attempted to pick other pockets, but was caught in the act. This charge, however, will not be investigated at present.

WIFEBEATER IN COURT.

He is Allowed to go on Suspended Sentence on Pleading for Another Chance.

An Ashburnham citizen was before County Magistrate Edmison yesterday charged with beating his wife.

He was found guilty but was allowed to go on suspended sentence on promising to abstain from liquor and never to raise his hand against his wife again. The magistrate explained to the prisoner that in allowing him to go on suspended sentence he was in reality putting the matter into his own hands, and that if he misbehaved in future he would be practically sentencing himself, and that the severest penalty the law allowed would be meted out to him.

BATTALION NOTES.

The officers of the 57th who visited the Military Institute in Montreal on the recent trip to that city, will regret very much to learn that Mr. H. J. A. Goddard, the secretary, has since died of smallpox.

On returning from Montreal Lt.-Col. Bell wrote to several of the officers who showed the 57th personal attention, thanking them for their kindness. In reply one of the officers writes in highly complimentary terms of the record which the Peterborough boys left behind them in Montreal.

Col. Bell has not yet recovered from the accident with which he met on his way home from Montreal, when one of the partitions in the sleeper fell and struck him on the head. He has not been able to leave the house since his return and still complains of great dizziness.

Hot Weather Suggestions.

Keep cool. People suffer unnecessarily during the heated spells of July for the want of a simple and inexpensive change of light clothing. A shell coat, a light pair of trousers, a thin vest, a cool straw or light felt hat and an extra pair of tan shoes will put a new interest in life when the thermometer is up in the 90's. Everything desirable from a 50c coat to the finest English serge can be had at Gough Bros. gigantic sale now in progress. The cost need be no hindrance. "Featherweight" prices for feather-weight garments prevail in each department. Negligee shirts, summer underwear, summer ties and summer shoes, in fact everything to make a man cool and comfortable. Fathers bring your boys and look to yourselves while you are here. It may take you only a few minutes to discover that you can save ten of fifteen dollars on your suits. It matters not what you want—a wedding suit, a business suit, a working suit or any kind of an outing suit—you will find it in our store. And it makes no difference what price you want to pay Gough Bros. can accommodate you. We never had a larger or more complete line of hot weather clothes—shell coats in alpaca, duck Russel cords, duck, flannel, silk or serge—any weight fabric you want. Fancy coloured and white vests and trousers to correspond. We're talking now about the genuine stuffs, the kind that high-class tailors charge like fury for. If we can't suit you in ready-mades, we take your measure on the spot and make up what you want to your own sweet style and taste. It is this store's business to make to order clothing that shall be a combination of excellence and fair cost. The power of money was never more abundantly manifest than in the great purchase which we made in Montreal of the E. A. Small & Co.'s stock of fine clothing. The clothes are elegant—the prices a curiosity. Not a stich, not a thread here that isn't worth double the price asked, and the quality ranks above the price.

JUDGMENT FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

In the Case of Moncrief Against the Town for Damages—Argument Heard Last Night.

This is an action brought by Mr. George Moncrief and his wife, Eliza Moncrief, against the town for damages for injuries sustained by the female plaintiff on the evening of the 16th day of March last. She was passing eastward on Simcoe street, and when opposite the store recently occupied by Mr. Robert Weir, she put her foot into a hole in a trap door covering leading to a cellarr, and fell forward, sustaining serious injuries.

The hole was caused by one of the planks in the trap having fallen down into the area and the plaintiff contended that the town was liable by reason of the defective construction of the trap door.

The town added as third parties, The Toronto Savings and Loan Co., and Albert E Dixon (the owner of the building), and Fairweather & Co., tenants, claiming that the trap door and area were maintained by the third parties for their own convenience and without leave or license from the town authorities.

The third parties replied that the town had constructed the sidewalk and the trap door in a defective manner and contrary to the express intentions of the third party, Fairweather, and they denied all responsibility for the matter.

The whole of Monday was occupied in the taking of evidence, when the case was adjourned until yesterday evening at 8 o'clock in argument.

Owing to the number of counsel engaged on the case, there was some discussion as to the manner and order in which their addresses should be delivered. The argument was finally taken as follows: Mr. Edwards for the town, followed by Mr. Burnham, Q.C., for Fairweather & Co., Mr. Dumble for the Company and Mr. Edmison for A. E. Dixon. Mr. Edwards then replied to the arguments of the third parties and Mr. Dennistoun for the plaintiff, replied upon the whole case. At the conclusion of the argument judgment was delivered substantially as follows:

JUDGMENT.

I find the accident did not arise from the opening underneath the sidewalk. It may be the opening might have increased the injuries or it might not. The accident was caused by the plank being out. It is the duty of the corporation to maintain the sidewalks. It may not be their duty to build them. More care would be expected at a place like this.

I find at the time the accident occurred the sidewalk was not properly constructed, having regard to the place. It seems to have been constructed less securely than in other places, because the plank was cut in two. The cause of the accident was the fact of a part of the sidewalk being up, a board being out of its place. There is a defense of contributory negligence. There is nothing to show it and it is not argued. It is impossible for the town to rid itself of its liability because some one else did the thing which caused the accident—they can't transfer the liability. I find that what this lad did was in addition to the imperfect construction—the cause of the accident—that does not free the town. They should have properly constructed it in the first place and maintained it in the second place. Want of notice is argued. I can't agree to that. If the defect was patent notice was required. In this case it was patent to no one. No one could see the defect in construction. It was apparently right, but was really all wrong. I reserve my right to extend my views in case of appeal. The town is liable.

On question of damages:—The damages sustained by husband were $25.00, $15.00, $6.60—$46 60. Also something for other damages. His damages I put at $60.00. The woman's damages is hard to estimate. The pain and suffering, shock, etc. I give her $75.00.

There will be plaintiffs' costs against the corporation.

Central Loan and Dixon are not liable.

As against Fairweather, I find it was not an opening placed, made, left or maintained by Fairweather or his servant. He left no opening, though what he did caused the plank to come off in a short time.

Claims of the corporation against the third parties dismissed with costs.

When seen in reference to the judgment this afternoon Mr. E. B. Edwards stated that he would advise the town council to make an appeal on the ground that Judge Weller found that Fairweather & Co's employees removed the boards in question.

THE T.V.C. STRIKE.

The Contractor Complains That the Men are Using Violence.

The strike on the canal is still in progress.

Contractor Laverdure complains that a large number of the men are satisfied with the pay they get, but the strikers will not allow them to work and go so far as to take their tools from their hands and carry them off in wagons. He has placed the matter in the hands of County Crown Attorney Wood.

There is no truth in the rumour that Mr. Laverdure was thrown into the river yesterday by the strikers, although he has been openly threatened with violence.

It is said that the 57th Battalion may possibly be called out to intervene if the strikers will not allow those men to work who wish to do so. Lt.-Col. Bell states although he deprecates extreme measures he will do his duty if called upon by the magistrate.

THE PLOT EXPOSED.

It is to Get 300 New Members for the Y.M.C.A. by Aug. 15th.

A most enthusiastic and well-attended meeting of Y.M.C.A. workers was held in the Bible Class room last evening in the new building.

Mr. Williamson acted as chairman and in a brief address laid bare the plot of which notice had previously been given.

It was to boom the membership of the Association, and after some discussion it was decided to make a thorough canvas of the town, same to be concluded on the 15th day of August.

In order to encourage work it was decided to give three prizes on the following conditions, open to members who wished to canvas, as well as to all who might join subsequently.

The first prize is a full membership ticket and locker for one year, 2nd prize, a full membership ticket, 3rd prize, a limited membership.

In order to get the prize over 12 members members must be secured or membership to the value of $60.

It is provided that in case there be a tie, the contestants be given another week at the end of the time to work it off.

Everyone who wishes to take part in the canvass must receive a book from the secretary, in which a record must be kept of work done, and reports must be made as often as possible as the contest proceeds.

A committee was appointed to get out a list of those canvassed and the list will be placed upon the desk in the secretary's front office where names can be obtained.

There are some difficulties in carrying forward plans at this season of the year. The young men of the Association are, however, encouraged by their past success, and feeling confident that the work they espouse offers great inducements to young men, they are assured of rolling the membership up to 300 or over by the 15th of August.

After the business had been disposed of refreshments were served, which all enjoyed.

STREET WATERING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—Why is it that our corporation contracts are allowed to be trifled with in a manner that would not for a moment be tolerated by a private employer? This applies to our snowploughing contracts as well as to the street watering contracts. The street watering is a farce. I came down Hunter street this morning at about 9.30 and was almost blinded with dust from teams that preceded the watering cart making its first visit to the street. And the scanty way the water is applied on this, as well as other streets, is pure waste. The sprinkling is so light that by the time the round is completed the hot sun has made the street dry again. Is anybody looking after the contractors or do they run the business at their own sweet wills? The people have to pay the contract price, and in addition suffer all the inconveniences that dust brings. Some of the councillors are talking—talking, of course—about cancelling the present system and adopting the frontage tax system. This is not right. The street watering is for the benefit of the whole town who have to use the streets in the area watered. They get the benefit and it seems unfair that ratepayers living on the streets watered should pay the whole shot.

Something should be done at once. At present the street watering is a farce and the money spent is largely wasted. The condition of our streets is simply disgraceful and the damage to goods in the shops is far in excess of the cost of watering. Something should be done to give us effective street watering. Either compel the present contractors to do their work or cancel the contracts and employ others. It's a good thing we have traffic enough to raise the dust; let us have enterprise enough to lay it. The corporation authorities are gaining a great reputation for not doing things. Let them strive to do things right and give the people something within cannon shot of fair value for money expended.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER.

LACROSSE.

The next game is with Port Hope at that town on Monday, July 12th, and all players are asked to turn out for practice to-night and Friday nights. Markham plays here on the 26th of this month, bringing an excursion of over 600 people with them. It is expected.

The players certificates are here for signature and will be at the field to-night.

Arrangements are being made for some junior games in the near future.

The secretary of the Y. M. C. A. has very kindly invited the Peterboroughs to visit the new building on Friday evening next after practice and to test the plunge and shower baths. The boys desire to express their appreciation of Mr. Williamson's thoughtfulness and will go in a body from the field to the building at about nine o'clock.

THE WHEEL.

That the Victoria Bicycle club is a live organization, is shown by the fact that the executive has again been at work devising a scheme for a pleasant evening. The members and their friends will leave the club rooms at 6.30 to-morrow evening in busses for Lakefield, where they will board the Majestic for a moonlight sail on Stony lake. The executive have been very busy arranging details and have not had time to see personally all the members of the club. To those who have not been seen an invitation if extended.

A Michigan judge has handed down a decision that will fill the hearts of a wheelmen with joy. He has decided that a bicycle is exempt from seizure under proceedings to collect a debt, being a means of conveyance necessary to carrying on work. THE KINDERGARTENS.

The following report was received from Miss McIntyre, Inspector of Kindergartens:

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

Staff—Miss Warner, three students, one paid assistant.

Accommodations—A good sized room, bright, with cloak room attached. It has the disadvantage of being a basement room, which the director tells me detracts from the attendance.

Order—Very good.
Teaching—Very good.
Average attendance up to May 14—54.

There are two very good Kindergartens in Peterborough. It is to be hoped that the Board of Trustees will soon be able to open a Kindergarten in connection with each public school.

SOUTH WARD SCHOOL.

Staff—Miss Davidson, four students.

Average attendance for the half of the month of May—62.

Number of pupils enrolled for May—72.

Accommodations—Excellent. This is one of the finest Kindergarten rooms in the Province. It is large, very bright, with an excellent class room and a cloak room. It is beautifully decorated.

Order—Very good.
Teaching—Very good.

Through the Crown of your Hat.

Regular hat store prices are revolutionized in our hat department; and bear in mind that our hat department is as big as any ordinary hat store. Take a look through our immense piles of hats of all kinds, and you'll find the newest and nobbiest shapes of light summer felts and straws that have had a quarter and a third chipped off the price. It's foolish extravagance to pay $3 for some highly-advertised manufacturer's hat—$2 for the hat and the balance for the name in the crown. We sell the newest of finest felt shapes for men, made of a good felt, with the same silk bands, warranted not to change colour, and to wear as long as any $3 hat—or your money back—for $2. This is an instance where we can talk better through our hats. It is not much of a trick to sell straw hats at this season of the year. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade but we're the SELLERS, and that suits us just as well. Gentlemen's fine American straw hats for 75c, worth $1.25; very light weight straw hat, 50c., worth 90c.; fine straw hats, 20c., worth 40c.; boys' hats, 10c., 15c., 20c. and up to 65c. We sell as we buy. In this respect, this store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

GOUGH BROS.,
The Wonderful Cheap Men.

A GLOBE TROTTER.

He is on a Trip Around the World and Visits Peterborough.

Frank Phelps blew into the EXAMINER office on Tuesday, stating that he was making a trip around the world on a wager, and that he intended spending a day or two in Peterborough.

Mr. Phelps made a wager with a New York club why which he must leave New York city on July 4, 1895, travel around the world and be back at New York by July 3, 1898, three years being the time allowed for the trip. He had to start out without clothes and with only three cents in money. The wager was $3,000, and during his trip he must earn $3,000, besides paying his expenses, the condition being that that he must not beg, borrow or steal. He must ride a wheel 12,000 miles in each hemisphere, and he is allowed to ride on boats and cars.

He said that the first clothes that he had were made of paper, he buying it with the three cents which he was given to start with. After making money first by blacking the shoes of a member of the New York Club, then after having his picture taken, by selling a number of these, and by several other ways of making small amounts of money, he left New York for Liverpool. He has now travelled across both oceans and through the Eastern Hemisphere.

When he left New York he weighed 200 pounds, and he has been reduced so much in flesh by fevers which he has suffered and by the constant travelling, change of climate, etc., that he now weighs but 135 pounds. From Great Britain he went to France, and he rode his wheel, a Columbia, over the celebrated Paris bicycle path. He rode within seventy-five miles of the place where Frank Lenz, the American around-the-world rider, was killed while attempting to cut across the plains of the Bosphorus. Phelps went around this plain, though it made 300 miles, just twice as far as it would have been across, as Lenz attempted to make it.

Mr. Phelps has had many thrilling experiences, as would naturally be expected from such a trip, one of them being a fall down a mountain in Switzerland. He travelled as much as 175 miles in a day over the smooth roads of France and Germany. He was in jail in Russia for four days on account of being without a passport.

A great many of these round-the-world travellers are fakes, but Mr. Phelps certainly does not seem like one of them. He has many articles which he secured while in the old country. He has yet to travel through Canada, South America and Mexico.

DEVLIN

In Harness Again!

I take pleasure in announcing to all my old friends and the public generally both in the town and county of Peterborough, that I have just Opened up a New Harness Shop at No. 133 Hunter St., Opposite Post Office.

In again soliciting a renewal of the patronage of the public, I promise to give my best attention to all orders which I may be favoured with. Customers may depend upon it that all work will be manufactured on the premises, and under my own supervision.

After 19 years experience in the business, every one knows the superior class of Hand-made work which DEVLIN has always turned out, and I am determined to keep up this record in the future.

SINGLE AND DOUBLE HARNESS, well sewed and well put together, guaranteed to fit and wear well. If you want the right kind of outfit for your horses, DEVLIN is the right man to make it.

DEVLIN'S HORSE COLLARS are my specialty, and I challenge all collar makers to beat them.

Bridles, Whips, Curry Combs, Harness Oil, and all kinds of Saddlery, Hardware and Stable Furnishings always in stock. Also a full line of Trunks, Valises and Satchels.

REPAIRING DONE neatly and substantially. All work done first-class and the old reliable DEVLIN will stand back of everything he says and does.

The competition of the day necessitates goods being sold at CLOSEST PRICES FOR CASH. While I will be glad to welcome all my old and new customers, I wish to state that business will be conducted on the STRICTLY CASH PRINCIPLE and ONE PRICE ONLY—money back if you want. Go where you will you won't find closer prices than at

DEVLIN'S, The Harness King,

City Harness Shop, Opposite Post Office, Peterborough.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL is CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 54; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 50; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy in for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

All orders executed on the New York Stock and Cotton Exchanges and Chicago Board of Trade. Write for full information, my Vest Pocket Manual and Board of Trade Red Book. (Established 1886.) Only regular Stock Broker in Vermont.

KILLING HORN FLIES.

Methods of Treatment Tested at Various Experiment Stations.

The following bulletin on this subject is issued by the Purdue University Agricultural Experimental Station:

At this season of the year cattle are suffering from the persistent biting of the horn fly. This fly, congregates in colonies about the base of the horns, along up the back and sides, at tender parts about the flanks and udder, and on the belly. This fly sucks blood from cattle, and so irritates them as no doubt to retard the laying on of flesh with beef cattle, and the production of milk by milch cows.

Many substances have been recommended to keep away the flies. The Mississippi Experiment Station recommends two parts cottonseed oil or fish oil and one part pine tar. This station applied this mixture to 350 head, at a total cost for material of $52.20. Kerosene emulsion has also been used, spraying it over the cattle with a knapsack sprayer. The flies are killed by the emulsion if it touches them. The emulsion may be made by mixing at the rate of one pint of soft soap (or one-fourth pound of hard soap dissolved in boiling water) and one pint of kerosene in 15 pints of water, thoroughly whipped and churned together.

At the Indiana Experiment Station, we have tried different substances to keep away the flies. None of these were effective over two or three days. We have secured satisfactory results by using a quart of fish oil, in which was mixed about two tablespoonfuls of crude carbolic acid. Fish oil is 60 cents a gallon in Lafayette. These liquids are applied on the body with a flat paint brush about four inches wide. Fish oil is especially disagreeable to flies, and is probably largely used in the special preparations sold at high prices. There is one objection to using any form of tar, in that it makes the hair sticky, which accumulates dirt, and so gives it a bad appearance.

Stockmen would do well to break up the manure in the pasture whenever possible, as the flies deposit their eggs in it, from which the young are developed. If the manure is gathered up or broken to pieces within a day or so, and if remedies to keep off the flies are applied to the cattle, the insects will disappear only in the season.

The Coming of Baby.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. The care and anxiety count for nothing against the clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates.

Origin of "Go to Halifax."

The expletive "Go to Halifax" originated in the terror with which rogues once viewed the law of Halifax, Yorkshire, England. This law was that criminals should be "condemned first and inquired upon after." Halifax lay within the forest of Hardwick, the customary law of which was, that if a felon was taken with thirteen and one-half pence worth of goods stolen within that liberty, he should be tried by four frith burghers from four of the precinct towns, and, if condemned by them, to be hanged the next market-day; after which the case might be sent to the jury. From these facts it can readily be seen that when it was desired to express the wish that a person might be in a place where he would be summarily dealt with, it was quite appropriate to tell him to "Go to Halifax."

Eternal Vigilance

Is the price of perfect health. Watch carefully the first symptoms of impure blood. Cure boils, pimples, humors and scrofula by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Drive away the pains and aches of rheumatism, malaria and stomach troubles, steady your nerves and overcome that tired feeling by taking the same great medicine.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver tonic. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Here is the Way.

To cure all heart and nerve troubles and weak, weary, tired feeling, sleeplessness, nervousness, etc., do as Mr. Thos. Glover, Chatham, Ont., did. Says Mrs. Glover: "One box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured me. I was so bad that I feared paralysis, but am now well and strong, thanks to these wonderful pills."

A WINNIPEG BURGLAR

Captured and the Goods Stolen Recovered —A Prominent Politician Murdered at Kaslo, B. C.

Winnipeg, July 5.—(special).—The burglar who stole $500 worth of furs from White's curio store here, was arrested by the police 24 hours after the crime had been committed. The property was all recovered.

C. Kasler, a Berlin man and a prominent politician, was found murdered near Kaslo, B. C., where he was prospecting. His head had been severed from the body.

A DISASTROUS ENDING

Explosives Were Used When It Was Not Intended That They Should Be.

Macon, Mo., July 5.—There was a disastrous ending to the 4th of July celebration at Ethel, in this county. A misdirected Roman candle struck an immense package of explosives, which shot off in the midst of the crowd attending the festivities. Horses reared and plunged and tore through the crowd, knocking people down right and left. Many women fainted. A number of people were struck by the flying fireworks and wounds of various characters inflicted. A Miss King was hit in the thigh by a skyrocket, which tore its way through her limb, inflicting a fatal wound.

HE FIRED A BOMB.

It Did Not Go Off as Expected and He Went to Investigate and Was Killed

Nonquitt, Miss., July 5.—Henry B. Stone of Chicago, vice-president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, was instantly killed by the explosion of a bomb at his summer home here today. The children were discharging fireworks on the lawn. Mr. Stone's little daughter asked him to fire off a bomb. He lighted it and threw it from him, but the explosion did not occur. After waiting a short time Mr. Stone approached the spot where the bomb lay, and bent over to see what the trouble was, just as it exploded. Large fragments struck him in the forehead and he fell, instantly killed.

CYCLONE AND CLOUDBURST

Barnum, Minn., Had a Taste of the Combination and Didn't Like It.

St. Paul, Minn., July 5.—Specials from Barnum, Minn., state that a cyclone followed by a cloudburst passed south of that place on Saturday. The Moose Horn River rose rapidly, and in five hours the water stood three feet deep in every house on the level ground, and a raging torrent ran through Main-street. Several families had no time to remove their effects. Every bridge in town was washed away and the streets completely torn up.

The houses of J. Murphy, William Nevers and Fred Maguire were blown away, and Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were badly injured, the former probably fatally. The St. Paul & Duluth Railroad lost several bridges and several miles of track. A great many logs and ties were washed away. The water has subsided, but the town looks desolate.

ENDEAVORERS AT 'FRISCO.

The City is Gaily Decorated in Honor of the Nation and the Christians.

San Francisco, July 5.—The broad area of this city is a sea of color, the decorative ribbons of the Christian Endeavor Societies, the Stars and Stripes and the bunting hung in honor of the national holiday floating in the breeze in mingling waves of blue and gold, purple and white, with the motto of the young people's organization displayed on every hand. From the ferries to the outermost civic limits by the Golden Gate, buildings, both public and private, business houses and residences, are covered with variegated colors, and with inscriptions of welcome. Early to-day 10 special trains containing 85 cars and 2172 passengers arrived over the Southern Pacific from the Santa Fe alone. The railroad companies are at a loss to find accommodation for all the cars which will arrive this week. Over 1500 Pullman cars are expected.

COUNTY REGISTRAR.

All Else Failing Mr. Geo. C. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills

Port Hope (Special) July 5.—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Geo. C. Ward, Registrar of this county, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his intimate friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

Farmer Allen Killed.

Milverton, July 5.—Charles Allen, a farmer, about 65 years old, and living near the north of Ellice, was killed by the falling of his barn this afternoon. It appears that he and others who were building a stone wall under the barn, which had been raised up for the purpose, took shelter under the building from the storm, when suddenly the whole barn toppled over on them. Mr. Allen was struck on the side and top of the head with falling timbers and was killed instantly. He leaves a widow and a grown-up family.

Shot by Robbers.

Chicago, July 5.—Patrick Grace, a saloonkeeper at 1501 West Forty-seventh-street, and his wife Mary were shot and mortally wounded last night by three masked men, who attempted to rob the saloon. Grace has a bullet in his right temple and his wife was wounded in the forehead. The robbers escaped. The three men demanded the contents of the cash drawer and upon resistance from Grace fired upon him and his wife at close range.

Albert Tardiff Was the Victim.

Bowmanville, Ont., July 5.—A despatch has just been received from William Tardiff, from Quebec city, to Mrs. Leonard Tardiff here, mother of the young farmer who disappeared off the steamer Quebec, sailing from Montreal to Quebec last Wednesday, saying the body found in the St. Lawrence opposite Lotbiniere Friday night is that of his brother, Albert Tardiff.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

GRAY AND SILVER.

I had a love, dark-haired was she,
Her eyes were gray;
For sake of her, across the sea
I sailed away.

Death, sickness, tempest and defeat
All passed me by;
With years came fortune, fair and fleet,
And rich was I.

Again for me the sun looked down
Familiar skies.
I found my love! Her locks had grown
Gray as her eyes.

"Alas!" she sighed, "forget me, now
No longer fair."
"I loved thy heart," I whispered low,
"And not thy hair."

For Mourning Gowns.

For the summer are new semi-transparent materials for mourning gowns imitating India textiles in their patterns, also handsome foulards and China silks, grenadines and crepines in black and white effects for light mourning, soft liberty silks with black grounds sprinkled with various delicate white devices, and white grounds with black bars, vine stripes and all-over designs and odd geometrical figures. White and black batistes, challis and French organdies follow very closely the newest, handsomest patterns in summer silks.

BABY'S COMING.

Nature intended that every woman should look forward to the coming of her baby with joy and hope, unclouded by anxiety. Almost painless parturition is quite the usual thing among uncivilized people. Even in our own country it occasionally happens with women in robust health and good condition. It ought to be the rule instead of the exception; and it is a fact that a very large proportion of the usual pain and suffering may be avoided by looking after the mother's general health, and specially strengthening the particular organs concerned in parturition.

Many mothers have been brought through the trying time almost painlessly by the aid of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It prepares the system for delivery by imparting the organic strength and elasticity which the system specially needs; shortens the time of labor and of confinement; promotes the secretion of abundant nourishment for the child and fortifies the entire constitution against the after period of depression and weakness. Its use should begin in the early months of gestation—the earlier the better.

Mrs Fred Hunt, of Glenville, Schenectady Co., N. Y., says: "I read about Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription being so good for a woman with child, so I got two bottles last September, and December 13th, I had a twelve-pound baby girl. When I was confined I was not sick in any way. I did not suffer any pain, and when the child was born I walked into another room and went to bed. I never had an after-pain or any other pain. This is the eighth child and the largest of them all. I suffered everything that flesh could suffer with the other babies. I always had a doctor and then he could not help me very much, but this time my mother and my husband were alone with me. My baby was only seven days old when I got up and dressed and left my room and stayed up all day."

Mrs Fred Hunt

WILDERNESS MAID.

The wilderness—as it was called—was a place the cattle drovers looked upon with little favor, for it was twenty miles in width, and it was necessary to traverse it with the stock in one day. Besides (and this meant much) there was a broad river to cross. When the cattle inclined to be little troublesome the water was no obstacle to speak of, but when the stock were restive or rebellious a great deal of time was spent in the river's brim, and the drivers were likely to be overtaken by nightfall while yet within the borders of the gruesome district. In those early days cattle were gathered along the southern border of Missouri and shipped, without being fattened, to the great markets of this country and of the world. Now this stock is held in little favor and supplies the home market within the picturesque mountainous region.

It was the season of the year described by the dwellers of this sequestered spot as the "pretty months," and the breath of springtime was wooing the buds even in the deepest recesses of the forests. A horseman emerged from the dark fringe of woods, slowly pursuing his way along the well defined path which was termed "the trail." To his right was a small farmhouse, set in a cleared space; behind it a corn bin, well filled, and testifying to the industry of the owner, to one side a number of young fruit trees. But what especially attracted the rider's attention was a cow and a yearling. These he eyed in the manner of a connoisseur and ended by drawing rein and springing from the saddle. Making his way to the front door, he applied his knuckles vigorously, and in response to his somewhat peremptory summons the door was suddenly thrust back and a young girl appeared on the threshold. She was a comely specimen of robust womanhood, tall, straight, and independent in manner. In testimony of her domestic qualities there was flour upon her bare arms, which were as shapely as those depicted by fancy upon the armless Venus. Her brown hair was somewhat ruffled, as a woman's hair will become when actively engaged in household duties, but the intruder, being fairly observant, noted that her complexion was fresh and charming, and her eyes at once soft and resolute. She surveyed the stranger critically and then said brusquely:

"Anything ye want?"

"How do you do?" he responded irrelevantly.

"Howdy. What kin I do for ye?"

"I want to buy the cow and the calf yonder, if you care to sell."

She shook here head resolutely.

"No. So you're a cattle drover, be ye?" she added curiously.

"Yes," he returned.

"Yer first trip in these regions, I take it. I heven't seen ye here b'fore."

"It is my first trip. May I have a drink?" he asked.

"Sartain." She disappeared but soon returned with a large dipper of cool spring water which he drank thirstily. "You're from the north, I reckon?" she said.

"New York State. So you don't want to sell the cow and calf?"

"Couldn't. Dad wants 'em hisself."

He jingled several gold pieces enticingly in the palm of his hand, but her eyes rested upon them without avarice or desire. She merely half smiled at his commercial shrewdness.

"Well, good day then, and thank you," he observed.

"Air ye going to buy many cattle?" she asked.

"A hundred or so."

"Then I cal-late ye hev about fifteen hundred dollars in gold in your saddlebags?"

"Perhaps," he replied reticently.

"Hev ye got a shooter?"

"A pistol. Yes."

"Well, take keer of yourself," she said very seriously.

"What do you mean?" he observed, impressed by her manner.

"The gang were see'd in the wilderness. Dad told me so. Good-bye, and if you see anybody git the drop on him first."

He laughed. "Thank you for your advice, Miss ——, Miss."

"Jes plain Madge."

"Well, much obliged to you, Madge." Holding her hand until the roses came to her cheeks and she jerked it hastily away. Thereupon he looked hurt, and she smiled kindly, gazed earnestly at him, and slammed the front door. But glancing back at the gate he saw her at the window and bowed with careless courtesy, when she immediately vanished. Then he mounted, and rode away. "A handsome girl," he muttered.

He was now passing through one of the most picturesque hollows in the country. To his right lay shadows upon the leaf-carpeted ground, although the pine tops were bathed in the warm sunshine and offered a vivid contrast with their pronounced green against the blue background of a sky Italian in character—for in this region are the tints one may observe on the Mediterranean, and here are moonlights second to none anywhere, when figures on distant mountain tops may be readily distinguished moving in the silvery glare. On the other hand rested the warm beams seeking the deepest and most secluded recesses, and it was noticeable that here were greater signs of life, numerous birds of various hues, some bright red, crimson as roses on the waving trees; some whose vocal abilities were restricted to shrill "caws" or monotonous musical intervals and others whose songs were not limited and whose outpourings were as varied as the melodies flowing from the fingers of a composer. The streams from a spring that gushed from the rocks purled and whispered, after the gossipy fashion of streams, through the hollow, murmuring to the stones, chatting to the bushes and caressing the wild flowers on the bank. Rabbits, squirrels and quail were in abundance, and, as he passed a turn in the trail, the rider abruptly came upon a majestic buck and two gentle does drinking at the stream. At sight of him the does fled through the bushes with feminine timidity, while the buck stared for a moment, proudly raised his head with its imposing martial armament of horns, and then, evidently concluding that discretion was the better part of valor, followed rather leisurely in the course of his frightened companions.

Suddenly at a bend in the trail the rider was greeted with the startling "Throw up your hands!" It was a rude awakening from a day-dream, for there in the bushes, with their horses tied to the swinging branches just beyond (to avert breaking the bridle by a sudden movement on the part of the animals), were Cherokee Bill and his "gang," as amiable and pleasant-faced (?) crowd of outlaws as ever shot a traveler in the back. The rider's hands went up readily enough; alas! he had forgotten the young girl's warning. Bill laughed boisterously.

"That's all right," he said. "You, Bob and Dick, take care of this handsome gentleman. The rest of us'll git out the horses."

"What'll we do with him, Bill?" asked the ferocious-looking scoundrel called Dick.

"Leave him here after ye git the gold," replied Cherokee in a tone that was deeply significant.

The leader and the others turned toward the horses, while Bob and Dick began their task.

"Now, where ye got it?" said Dick savagely to the rider. "Got a belt?"

"No; it's in the saddle bags," answered the disconsolate rider.

"Why didn't ye say so fust?" growled Dick.

He passed his hand into the bag, and gave an exclamation of gratification, when a report and a puff of smoke issued from the bushes. Dick staggered, then uttered an oath, and, clapping his hand to his breast, fell, face forward, to the ground, where he lay like a log. Another report and Bob gave a yell, and staggered against a tree. The drover's horse at the same time sprang forward, the rider now animated by the keenest desire to escape. To his surprise, he was immediately joined by Madge, who galloped out from the bushes on a black mare.

"Madge!" he exclaimed.

"Yes," she said. "They went by the house and took a shortcut over the divide to ambush you. So I followed. There they come! They'll kill us if they catch us. Here; this way!"

And she plunged into a path that was rendered nearly impassable by the intertwining branches. Behind them thundered Cherokee and his gang, cursing and shouting, but apparently not gaining upon them and finding no opportunity to use their firearms. The young man's face was set, but his eyes gleamed as he thought of the dangers this courageous girl had encountered. He stopped behind a great rock.

"I'll have a shot at the cowards," he said, impetuously, drawing his revolver. The first of the outlaws soon appeared. Crack! over he went, and the curses and shouts grew louder behind them. The path ran into the open road, and Madge fancied she saw something gleaming in the bushes.

"Hold, boys," said a stern voice.

"It's the Marshal!" exclaimed Madge. "He and his men are in the bushes thar. They've heard the firing."

The two riders rushed into the road. Down came Cherokee Bill and his gang! A dozen rifles rang out. Half a dozen bandits fell; the rest faltered, amazed at the sudden attack. The drover wheeled his horse and rushed to Cherokee.

"Hold up your hands!" he shouted. "You would have left me on the road, would you?"

Up went the hands of the leader, while the other bandits threw down their weapons as the marshal and his men closed upon them.

The rest is quickly told. The outlaws were sent north to Joliet, where they are still sojourning. Six month's later a traveler's wagon was moving through the wilderness. In it were Madge and the drover. The canvas-covered wagon represented a Chariot of Hymen. It was their wedding trip which began in the weird gloom of the wilderness, where the darkness was uncanny; where the long, clinging moss on the patriarchal pines wagged strangely; where the birds were quiet and an evil spell seemed to rest upon the face of the earth. Madge clung nearer to him as slowly they wended their way through the region where baneful influences were apparently concealed and a sigh of relief escaped her lips, as they emerged from the fringe of the forest out into a glorious hollow where the sunlight was cheering, where the songsters caroled a glad melody to the blooming bride

PEACE BE.

Since thy Father's arm sustains thee,
Peaceful be;
When a chastening hand restrains thee,
It is He;
Know His love in full completeness
Fills the measure of thy weakness,
If He wound thy spirit sore,
Trust Him more.

Without murmur, uncomplaining,
In His hand
Lay whatever things thou canst not Understand;
Though the world thy folly spurneth,
From thy faith in pity turneth,
Peace thy honest soul shall fill,
Lying still.

Like an infant if thou thinkest
Poor child!
Childlike, proudly pushing back
The offered hand.
Courage soon is changed to fear,
Strength does feebleness appear.
In His love, if thou abide,
He will guide.

Fearest sometimes that thy Father
Hath forgot?
When the clouds around thee gather,
Doubt Him not.
Always hath the daylight broken,
Always hath He comfort spoken,
Better hath He been for years
Than thy fears.

To His own Thy Father giveth
Daily strength;
To each troubled soul that liveth
Peace at length;
Weakest lambs have largest share
Of this tender shepherd's care;
Ask Him not, then, when or how;
Only bow.

To Pick Out Oriental Rugs.

A test of the genuineness of an Oriental rug or carpet, which a Constantinople gentleman says is sure, is to examine carefully to see if each stitch is knotted, instead of trusting to those easily put on marks of age—patches, holes and crooked places. If the stitch is knotted and firm the rug is genuine; but, if the stitch can be pulled out, it is imitation, no matter how close the imitation rug may have been copied in pattern or color. An Oriental dealer's test is to drop a live coal on the rug, and when it has burned a little to remove it quickly with the fingers. If the scorching entirely disappears, leaving the original colors unaltered, it is proof of the genuineness of the rug.—New York Journal.

The first of July passed off very quietly here, nearly every person being out of town. Quite a number spent the day down the Otonabee river, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. John Steel, the Misses Amleys, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Armstrong, the Misses Armstrong, Kate Carveth, Miss P. Burnham, Miss Shaw, Mr. Geo. Carveth and Mr. Herb Armstrong.

Mr. R. Ruddy, barrister, was in Toronto, on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mr. Davidson is presiding at the examinations here, and Mr. D. Hampton, our local principal, is acting in the same capacity in the former place.

Miss May Eakins, of Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. Geo. H. Dean, of Agincourt, is spending his vacation in town.

Mr. Will Campbell, son of Mr. Geo. Campbell, ex-M.P.P., is, we are sorry to report, on the sick list.

Mr. John Deyell and Bruce White, spent the First in Colborne with friends.

Mr. Will Wilgar, of Peterborough, was in town on Thursday last.

Mr. Fred Pendrie and Walter Coombe were in Toronto last week.

Capt. Winslow, with his company of "sod-pounders," returned home from Kingston camp on Saturday.

A number of our local members of the Canadian Order of Foresters drove out to St. John's church, Ida, on Sunday evening and attended service with Court Primrose.

ITCHING ECZEMA

An Editor's Little Son Suffers Terribly. Pain Intense, Face Raw and Bleeding from Constant Scratching. Cured by Cuticura.

My little boy was afflicted with Eczema in acute form for nearly a year, during which time we tried without success every known remedy. The disorder appeared on the right cheek and was of a blistery and bloody form. His pillow, mornings, would bear the bloody impress of the side of his face, while it was impossible to prevent the little fellow from scratching his face, owing to the intensity of the itching. I was advised to try CUTICURA. The first application was made before putting him to bed, and the appearance of the affected parts showed a noticeable improvement the next morning. As a result of the continued use of CUTICURA my child has as fair and smooth skin as can be found anywhere.

STONY LAKE NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

At the close of the school for the summer holidays there was a picnic in connection with the school, and a very enjoyable time was had. Nearly all the parents were out with the children to enjoy the fun and help it on. The programme consisted of dialogues, readings, recitations and music by the violin and bones. The violin was played by Mr. Nixon and the bones by Mr. Monroe. The music was excellently rendered. The children gave their different parts with credit to themselves and their teacher.

The campers are now rushing to the lake in full force. Mr. H. McKelvie, of Campbellford, arrived this week and has rented Mrs. Pope's cottage for a month.

Miss Lily Craig, of Belleville, and Mrs. Moss, of Brantford, have arrived at Belle Isle, the summer cottage of their mother, Mrs. Joseph Craig.

There are still more new cottages going up.

The stage has started to run three times a week for the camping season, Monday's, Wednesday's and Saturdays.

SCHOOL'S OUT!

Well, pupils, put away your books,
For little will you need them;
Discard your meditative looks—
We have no time to heed them.
Your long class days have reached an end,
The world's your school if you intend
A contest worth the winning

Your class room's narrow aisles will now
Give place to broader highways,
Thrice blessed he, the fates allow,
To linger in the byways.
The books you'll read are human hearts
And Nature's strange romances;
May you skip the tragic parts
Or dully long with "fancies."

'Tis well to learn this rule of three,
That Justice, Truth and Labour,
With just a touch of sympathy
For bird and beast and neighbour,
Will solve the problem of success,
Though fame and wealth may shun you—
You could not ask for more, or less,
So go, and blessings on you!

REFRESHING SHOWERS.

Enjoyed Every Day by Young Men at the Y.M.C.A.

Some people "do not know enough", it is said, "to come in when there is a shower on." This remark is scarcely applicable when weather such as we have had this last two days is the rule.

While perhaps because of long existing regulations all may not be permitted to take advantage of the showers to be had every day and hour at the new Y. M. C. A building between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. Yet, at the same time, young men may be always in it.

Those who have already joined the Y.M.C.A. and have, during the past week, used the baths daily, know enough to come in when there is a thunderstorm on, and also know that the shower and plunge baths are really a seasonable boon. For the bicyclist, after he has completed his century at the end of a hot afternoon; for the business man who has in his office or warerooom borne the burden and heat of the day, and endured the cloud of the dusty thoroughfare.

For the hard worked mechanic, who needs more sympathy than they all.

For these the Young Men's Christian Association has made ample provision.

There is only one opinion expressed by the goodly number of members who daily make use of these privileges, and that is that the baths are excellent.

The three shower baths are well supplied with hot and cold water, as may be desired, as well as the needle bath, which is highly approved of by all. The tub bath is for those who may have a preference that way. The plunge is well patronized and some good exhibitions in swimming may be seen at at any time.

Young men should be alive to their need and the way in which this has been met. A word to the wise is always sufficient.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Calcutt's brewery averages three hundred kegs of lager daily—such is the demand.

—There will be a meeting of the Bugle Band this evening in the Oriole club rooms at eight o'clock.

—The grass plot in front of the Collegiate Institute looks like velvet, owing to the care put on it by Mr. Laing.

—There is a badly broken board in the sidewalk in front of the Collegiate Institute, of which notice was given to the authorities over a week ago. It is a most dangerous hole.

—The thanks of the EXAMINER news room are extended to Mrs. Wm. Kindred, Temperance House, for two gallons of delicious buttermilk. This generous act was highly appreciated by the staff, and is certainly worthy of imitation.

—It is expected that there will be sufficient power by to-morrow morning to operate the street cars. This will be good news to those who intend going down the river with St. John's and St. Paul's Sunday school picnics to-morrow.

—The hot wave has made things lively on the Trent Valley Canal. First, we have a strike on the lower section and next a strike on the Lakefield section, but this was simply a sun strike—a large number of men having to quit work Monday on account of the heat.

RULES

—FOR—

Control and Use of the Nicholls Park.

This Park as a whole, is intended for the use of all the Citizens of the Town, but part of it has been specially prepared for cricket, baseball, football and sports of that nature, and a track has been made for the use of Cyclists.

In order that these may be properly used and accidents avoided, the Park Trustees have, pursuant to the authority conferred on them by the Will, in the meantime adopted the following rules:—

1. The Oval shall be used exclusively for games and sports of a nature that will not injure the turf or interfere with the use of the remainder of the Park by the general public.

2. Any Club or Organization desiring to use the Oval or any part of it for such purpose shall first apply to the Park Trustees.

3. During any games no one not engaged in the same shall go upon the oval.

4. No one shall be allowed to walk about on or stand upon the track when bicyclists are using it, except those who may be instructing others to ride.

5. The Bicycle Track shall be used exclusively by those riding bicycles, except at such special times as it may be desirable to use it for other purposes, such as foot races, &c., and it shall not be so used as to interfere with bicycling without the permission of the Park Trustees.

6. Up to 10 a.m., riders using the track may go at any speed they desire. After that hour no one shall go at a greater speed than 8 miles an hour.

7. All riders using the track shall go in one direction keeping the oval to their left.

8. Any rider desiring to pass another shall pass him on his right.

9. Those learning to ride shall keep on the outer side of the track.

These Rules are subject to such alteration as the Park Trustees may hereafter make.

A Man's Store

And They Get There.

Gough Bros.

Are firmly established in the belief that Men's Goods are cheaper at their stores than in any other in the Dominion of Canada. Did you ever try what you can do here? Is the habit yo've got into, of paying out your money without figuring how much better you might do at GOUGH'S, so strong as to make you careless?

Get in on the ground floor while this GREAT SMASH-UP IN PRICES is going on over the E. A. SMALL & CO. STOCK, which we snapped up from under the hammer at a mere decimal fraction of the wholesale cost.

Men Have Got to Have Clothing, Hats and Boots and Furnishings.

This used to be a Clothing Store only. Now you can buy pretty near everything else a man wants to wear, and the fact that very many of them do buy all they wear here, shows creditable work somewhere.

Summer Hats!
Summer Suits!
Summer Shirts!
Summer Trousers!
Summer Neckwear!
Summer Furnishings!
Summer Boots & Shoes

The completeness of each stock and the immense variety are our guarantees that you can be fitted and suited. Small boy and big boy, young man and elderly man, can depend on getting everything they need at a minimum of expense. The way we buy has everything to do with the way we sell, and we want every man to realize the resources of this great business.

It isn't possible in a proper store system to do justice to one stock and neglect another. System implies uniform low prices, small profits and clever management. You who buy Clothing here can get equal satisfaction in Footwear and Headwear.

We keep an accurate slate of every days' business of every year, and the fact that our record for the past six months of 1897 shows an average increase of $500 every month, means that we are keeping up our Record Reign with undiminished success.

A Special Departure In Summer Millinery.

After a most successful stretch of business, we feel like doing something exceptional in the interests of Ladies before the 1st of July.

Perhaps we ought to say we want to sell more Hats and mean to go about it in the quickest and best way to sell them. Please yourself how you consider the matter, but the facts are that the entire stock of Straw Hats in Fancy Shapes, Sailors and Leghorns have been marked down for the balance of this month. We also offer the additional inducement of reduced prices for trimming these Hats—provided, of course, the materials are purchased here.

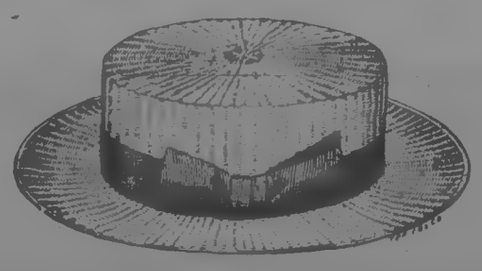
IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

BE GOOD TO YOUR HEAD THESE HOT DAYS.



FEATHERWEIGHTS in Hats are the most restful to the head just now. There is no need of wearing a heavy uncomfortable Hat when Straw Hats and Light Weight Felts are so low that any one can buy one.

Straw Hat Prices dropped with us right after July 1st.

We are selling choice of a fine line of Men's Straws, worth from $1.00 to $1.50, for 50c, and a cheaper line of Dress Straws at 25c.

In Boys' Straws we show a fine Mixed Straw and a White with black or coloured bands, 15c.

Children's Straws at about one-half price.

Ladies' Sailors from 25c to 50c, worth double.

Lightweight Hats in Fine Fur Felts, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00.

Call and see our lightweights in Headwear; it will pay you these hot days.

PETERBOROUGH TORONTO

MILLBROOK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The first of July passed off very quietly here, nearly every person being out of town. Quite a number spent the day down the Otonabee river, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. John Steel, the Misses Ameleys, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Armstrong, the Misses Armstrong, Kate Carveth, Miss P. Burnham, Miss Shaw, Mr. Geo. Carveth and Mr. Herb Armstrong.

Mr. R. Ruddy, barrister, was in Toronto, on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mr. Davidson is presiding at the examinations here and Mr. D. Hampton, our local principal, is acting in the same capacity in the former place.

Miss May Eakins, of Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. Geo. H. Dean, of Agincourt, is spending his vacation in town.

Mr. Will Campbell, son of Mr. Geo. Campbell, ex-M.P.P., is, we are sorry to report, on the sick list.

Mr. John Deyell and Bruce White, spent the First in Colborne with friends.

Mr. Will Wilgar, of Peterborough, was in town on Thursday last.

Mr. Fred Pendrie and Walter Coombe were in Toronto last week.

Capt. Winslow, with his company of "sod-pounders," returned home from Kingston camp on Saturday.

A number of our local members of the Canadian Order of Foresters drove out to St. John's church, Ida, on Sunday evening and attended service with Court Primrose.

ITCHING ECZEMA

An Editor's Little Son Suffers Terribly. Itching Intense, Face Raw and Bleeding from Constant Scratching. Cured by Cuticura.

My little boy was afflicted with Eczema in acute form for nearly a year, during which time we tried without success every known remedy. The disorder appeared on the right cheek and was of a blistery and bloody form. His pillow, mornings, would bear the bloody imprint of the side of his face, while it was impossible to prevent the little fellow from scratching his face, owing to the intensity of the itching. I was advised to try CUTICURA. The first application was made before putting the child to bed, and the appearance of the affected parts showed a noticeable improvement the next morning. As a result of the continued use of CUTICURA my child has as fair and smooth skin as can be found anywhere.

Messrs. Robt. Deyell and L. F. Clarry drove to Port Hope on Sunday last.

The local Orangemen and True Blues will go to Port Hope on July 12th.

Mr. John Berry, of Hastings was in town on Friday, the guest of Mr. R. J. Doak.

The East Durham Liberal Association will meet in convention here on Wednesday for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and the choosing a candidate to contest the riding at the coming provincial elections.

Mr. John Finlay, of Norwood, was in town on business to-day.

Mr. Harry Sing, of Port Hope, was in town on business to-day.

Mr. Harry Johnston has returned from Port Hope, where he has been spending a week's holidays.

Dr. Sutton spent Sunday in Lindsay.

Quite all members from here took in the Epworth League excursion to the back lakes on Saturday.

Mr. Henry Mulligan and Miss L. Mulligan returned from Fenelon Falls on Saturday.

Grafton's Summer Clearing Sale now going on. See the bargains.

STONY LAKE NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

At the close of the school for the summer holidays there was a picnic in connection with the school, and a very enjoyable time was had. Nearly all the parents were out with the children to enjoy the fun and help it on. The programme consisted of dialogues, readings, recitations and music by the violin and bones. The violin was played by Mr. Nixon and the bones by Mr. Monroe. The music was excellently rendered. The children gave their different parts with credit to themselves and their teacher.

The campers are now rushing to the lake in full force. Mr. H. McKelvie, of Campbellford, arrived this week and has rented Mrs. Pope's cottage for a month.

Miss Lily Craig, of Belleville, and Mrs. Moss, of Brantford, have arrived at Belle Isle, the summer cottage of their mother, Mrs. Joseph Craig.

There are still more new cottages going up.

The stage has started to run three times a week for the camping season, Monday's, Wednesday's and Saturdays.

SCHOOL'S OUT!

Well, pupils, put away your books,
For little will you need them;
Discard your meditative looks—
We have no time to heed them.
Your long class days have reached an end,
Your studies are beginning—
The world's your school if you intend
A contest worth the winning

Your class room's narrow aisles will now
Give place to broader highways,
Thrice blessed he, the fates allow,
To linger in the byways.
The books you'll read are human hearts
And Nature's strange romances;
Nor may you skip the tragic parts,
Or dally long with "fancies."

'Tis well to learn this rule of three,
That Justice, Truth and Labour,
With just a touch of sympathy
For bird and beast and neighbour,
Will solve the problem of success,
Though fame and wealth may shun you—
You could not ask for more, or less,
So go, and blessings on you!

REFRESHING SHOWERS.

Enjoyed Every Day by Young Men at the Y.M.C.A.

Some people "do not know enough", it is said, "to come in when there is a shower on." This remark is scarcely applicable when weather such as we have had this last two days is the rule.

While perhaps because of long existing regulations all may not be permitted to take advantage of the showers to be had every day and hour at the new Y. M. C. A building between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. Yet, at the same time, young men may be always in it.

Those who have already joined the Y.M.C.A. and have, during the past week, used the baths daily, know enough to come in when there is a thunderstorm on, and also know that the shower and plunge baths are really a seasonable boon. For the bicyclist, after he has completed his century at the end of a hot afternoon; for the business man who has in his office or wareroom borne the burden and heat of the day, and endured the cloud of the dusty thoroughfare.

For the hard worked mechanic, who needs more sympathy than they all.

For these the Young Men's Christian Association has made ample provision.

There is only one opinion expressed by the goodly number of members who daily make use of these privileges, and that is that the baths are excellent.

The three shower baths are well supplied with hot and cold water, as may be desired, as well as the needle bath, which is highly approved of by all. The tub bath is for those who may have a preference that way. The plunge is well patronized and some good exhibitions in swimming may be seen at at any time.

Young men should be alive to their need and the way in which this has been met. A word to the wise is always sufficient.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Calcutt's brewery averages three hundred kegs of lager daily—such is the demand.

—There will be a meeting of the Bugle Band this evening in the Oriole club rooms at eight o'clock.

—The grass plot in front of the Collegiate Institute looks like velvet, owing to the care put on it by Mr. Laing.

—There is a badly broken board in the sidewalk in front of the Collegiate Institute, of which notice was given to the authorities over a week ago. It is a most dangerous hole.

—The thanks of the EXAMINER news room are extended to Mrs. Wm. Kindred, Temperance House, for two gallons of delicious buttermilk. This generous act was highly appreciated by the staff, and is certainly worthy of imitation.

—It is expected that there will be sufficient power by to-morrow morning to operate the street cars. This will be good news to those who intend going down the river with St. John's and St. Paul's Sunday school picnics to-morrow.

—The hot wave has made things lively on the Trent Valley Canal. First, we have a strike on the lower section and next a strike on the Lakefield section, but this was simply a sun strike—a large number of men having to quit work Monday on account of the heat.

RULES

—FOR—

Control and Use of the Nicholls Park.

This Park as a whole is intended for the use of all the Citizens of the Town, but, part of it has been specially prepared for cricket, baseball, football and sports of that nature, and a track has been made for the use of Cyclists.

In order that these may be properly used and accidents avoided, the Park Trustees have, pursuant to the authority conferred on them by the Will, in the meantime adopted the following rules:—

1. The Oval shall be used exclusively for games and sports of a nature that will not injure the turf or interfere with the use of the remainder of the Park by the general public.
2. Any Club or Organization desiring to use the Oval or any part of it for such purpose shall first apply to the Park Trustees.
3. During any games no one not engaged in the same shall go upon the oval.
4. No one shall be allowed to walk about on or stand upon the track when bicyclists are using it, except those who may be instructing others to ride.
5. The Bicycle Track shall be used exclusively by those riding bicycles, except at such special times as it may be desirable to use it for other purposes, such as foot races, &c., and it shall not be so used as to interfere with bicycling without the permission of the Park Trustees.
6. Up to 10 a.m. riders using the track may go at any speed they desire. After that hour no one shall go at a greater speed than 8 miles an hour.
7. All riders using the track shall go in one direction keeping the oval to their left.
8. A rider desiring to pass another shall pass him on his right.
9. Those learning to ride shall keep on the outer side of the track.

These Rules are subject to such alteration as the Park Trustees may hereafter make.

A Man's Store

And They Get There.

Gough Bros.

Are firmly established in the belief that Men's Goods are cheaper at their stores than in any other in the Dominion of Canada. Did you ever try what you can do here? Is the habit yo've got into, of paying out your money without figuring how much better you might do at GOUGH'S, so strong as to make you careless?

Get in on the ground floor while this GREAT SMASH-UP IN PRICES is going on over the E. A. SMALL & CO. STOCK, which we snapped up from under the hammer at a mere decimal fraction of the wholesale cost.

Men Have Got to Have Clothing, Hats and Boots and Furnishings.

This used to be a Clothing Store only. Now you can buy pretty near everything else a man wants to wear, and the fact that very many of them do buy all they wear here, shows creditable work somewhere.

Summer Hats!
Summer Suits!
Summer Shirts!
Summer Trousers!
Summer Neckwear!
Summer Furnishings!
Summer Boots & Shoes

The completeness of each stock and the immense variety are our guarantees that you can be fitted and suited. Small boy and big boy, young man and elderly man, can depend on getting everything they need at a minimum of expense. The way we buy has everything to do with the way we sell, and we want every man to realize the resources of this great business.

It isn't possible in a proper store system to do justice to one stock and neglect another. System implies uniform low prices, small profits and clever management. You who buy Clothing here can get equal satisfaction in Footwear and Headwear.

We keep an accurate slate of every days' business of every year, and the fact that our record for the past six months of 1897 shows an average increase of $500 every month, means that we are keeping up our Record Reign with undiminished success.

A JULY DROP.

Just now a mite of money is worth a mountain of stock. Just now, nothing seems impossible in the line of saving money at the Golden Lion.

During the zenith of Summer trade, we mark down the prices of Summer Goods.

It's Fair's Way. Better to sell than to hold. Better to lose a little than carry goods over to another season. Profits don't stand in the way when the time comes to clear out stock:—

Blouse Clearance—

We let go our whole stock of Fancy Blouses. The lot includes all the latest and most exclusive styles.

Print Wrappers Clearance

Every woman should be interested in the Reduced Prices of our Wrappers. The values are better far than ever offered.

Fancy Parasol Clearance

The Fancy Parasol Stock goes at HALF PRICE. That's a Sweeping Reduction. No fabrication or exaggeration in what we say. Parasols at Half Price just means what it says.

Summer Millinery Clearance—

Just to liven things up, we offer all Summer Millinery, both Trimmed and Untrimmed, at cost. This is the chance of the season. You know our stock.

Balance of our SPRING CAPES and JACKETS at interesting figures.

Ladies' Underwear, Gloves and Hosiery—

Nothing but an examination can give a correct idea of how cheap these wares can now be bought here.

Our WASH GOODS SALE still goes on. All prevailing prices are lost sight of. Watch the window displays and prices.

P. S.—Special offerings in Carpets and Housefurnishings during this Sale.

Bargain Table of Trimmed Hats

All the Trimmed Hats must now be sold. If Ladies want the best dollar's worth they ever bought, let them spend their money round this Trimmed Hat Bargain Table.

Trimmed Hats from 50c to $2.00

REGULAR PRICE $3.00 to $6.00.

Can't afford to carry goods to another season. It may seem folly to work for nothing, but the Trimmed Hats must go.

TOO MANY BLOUSES.

The pressure on our Blouse Stock must be relieved, so it has been decided to rush out the whole lot at a very little over ONE HALF THE REGULAR PRICE, starting at 50c.

SPECIAL SALE OF HOSIERY.

Don't enslave your feet during the hot weather, when Stainless Black, Fancy Black and Tan Hosiery can be bought here at 5c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 35c and 50c.

LADIES' COOL UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' Vests, with or without sleeves, from 5c up. A good opportunity to replenish the wardrobe.

LADIES' BELTS at 15c and upwards, with or without the handy side pocket.

200 DOZEN HANDKERCHIEFS at 5c. each and upwards. Best linen with fancy border, for Ladies and Gentlemen. The balance of the month will be a great time for Bargains at

TWO-THIRDS OF THE MINERS OUT

Some are Working to Complete a Contract —Operators in Ohio Have Invoked the Law in Order to Protect Themselves From Violence— The Latest News.

Cincinnati, O., July 7.—A step was taken here last night in connection with the coal miners' strike which puts the power of the United States against all violence or unlawful acts, in at least a portion of Ohio. An order of the United States Circuit Court, Southern District of Ohio, eastern division, was made by Judge Taft, upon a showing made by Myron T. Herrick and Robert Blyckendorfer, receivers of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad Company, and of the Wheeling, Lake Erie & Pittsburg Coal Company, whereby the United States Marshal is directed to protect their miners at work and to prevent unlawful interference with the operation of their railway. The receivers state that they are engaged in the operation of two coal mines, of the Wheeling, Lake Erie & Pittsburg Coal Company, known as the Dillenvale and Long Run coal mines; that there is a strike among the mine workers of Ohio and other states under the direction of the United Mine Workers; that all of the 500 miners at Dillenvale and one-half of the 400 at the Long Run mine are desirous of remaining at work, but have refrained from so doing by reason of threats and warnings from other miners who have joined the strike; that it is necessary for the mines to continue in operation, and miners will continue at work if protected from physical injury to themselves and their property.

The receivers also represented to the court that they have been advised that in their operation of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railway they will not be permitted to transport over the road what is known as Virginia coal received from connecting lines; that they regard the situation as serious, and are placing watchmen to guard the wooden bridges along their railway at night; that a large body of men are liable to come upon the property at any time to prevent their men from working. They therefore ask the assistance and protection of the court.

Judge Taft gave an order to the United States Marshal to consult with the receivers, and sent to Jefferson county and to other parts of the district a sufficient number of United States Marshals to protect the mining and railroad property now being operated by the receivers under order of the court. The marshal and his deputies are directed by Judge Taft to arrest and detain any person destroying property or threatening to do violence to any person in the employ of the receivers for the purpose of preventing them from continuing in the employ of the receiver until proper proceedings for contempt of court can be instituted against the offenders.

The receivers are also directed to immediately file a bill for injunction against all persons engaged in any attempt to interfere with the lawful operation of the mines or of the railroad in their charge. Marshal Devanney was served with this order late yesterday, and will at once proceed in person to the locality, and after consultation with the receivers will take measures to fully obey the order of the court.

A Thousand Car Loads a Day.

Bellaire, O., July 7.—A large number of extra coal cars were sent into the Fairmont, W.Va., district by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company yesterday. The operators of that field have notified the railway people that they can furnish one thousand car loads of coal a day, and shipments are expected to begin soon. Most of this coal will be sent into Ohio to supply the trade in this State. It is predicted that trouble will result as soon as an attempt is made to move coal across the river.

Two-Thirds of the Men Out.

Pittsburg, July 7.—The strike order of the National Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America was obeyed by from 10,000 to 15,000 of the 21,000 miners in the Pittsburg district to-day. While it is estimated that at least two-thirds of the miners have thrown down their picks, enough men are still at work to seriously impair the chances unless they can ultimately be brought out. This President Dolan confidently claims can be done. The operators, on the other hand, are in no wise disconcerted, and assert that the strike cannot succeed. The first break in the operators' ranks was made by J. W. Steen of the O. L. C. mines at Rossville. The diggers refused to work and the mine was closed down, but a notice was posted that after Wednesday (to-day) the 69-cent rate would be paid.

Almost a Total Suspension.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 7.—Reports received from the river mines in the Pittsburg district indicate that there is almost a total suspension of work in the pits to-day, and that no strike, so far as the river miners are concerned, is general. A despatch from Monongahela says:

"The bitter feeling between the river and railroad miners that has always interfered when a strike was inaugurated heretofore and prevented good results has been lost sight of, and organized, unorganized and imported miners have gone in for one faith and for one purpose. To-day there are about 50 men at work and 7000 idle in the Monongahela Valley."

The few men at work are in the Chamouni mine, operated by the Tide Coal Company, and they are working out a contract which expires this month. Representatives of Central Pennsylvania and West Virginia coal concerns are in the city. Several operators whose offices they had visited said there would be no trouble in filling urgent orders held by Pittsburg operators, even should the suspension here become thoroughly general.

What the Miners' Officials Say.

According to the miners' officials the suspension in the railroad mines is almost as complete as it is along the rivers. All the large mines, except those of the New York & Cleveland Gas Coal Company, they claim, are idle to-day. Among the works, forced to close down by the refusal of the diggers to work, they say, are the Panhandle mines of Mark A. Hanna & Company, Beadling Bros., Robins Company and the Pittsburg Coal Company. According to President Dolan's figures not more than 3000 men are at work in the district to-day. Most of these are employed in the mines of the New York & Cleveland Company, and he will have them out before the end of the week.

He claims a large number of men quit work there yesterday and to-day. This morning he sent word to various members of the district executive committee, and extraordinary efforts will be made to induce the men still working to come out.

NOW, WHO IS LYING?

Operators Assert That More Men are Working Than Have Gone on Strike.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 7.—The operators still assert that more men are working than have laid down their picks. It is positively asserted that, notwithstanding Nolan's statement that all the men are out at the mines of the Pittsburg and Chicago Company, 8 cars, or 475 tons, were loaded at the mines yesterday, and 25 cars to-day. If this is true, the company must have nearly a full complement of men, as one miner is supposed to dig about four tons of coal per day. Nolan's statement that the Reading mines were idle, was also pronounced untrue by the officials of the Reading Company, who said the mines were running as usual.

Ratchford Says Reports are Favorable.

Columbus, Ohio, July 7.—President Ratchford said to-day: "There is no longer any doubt that an ultimate victory for the miners is assured." Mr. Ratchford said he would not give figures to-day, but the reports were favorable.

The Cincinnati Central Labor Council have taken up the matter of relief and submitted their proposition to the President of the American Federation of Labor, recommending that the entire membership of that organization be assessed 10 cents per man per week, which will amount to $60,000.

To carry out this movement and insure its success, the presidents of the various national organizations will, in a few days, meet in conference to deal with this and other phases of the subject.

Indications also point to the fact that railroad employes are taking a deep interest in the mining troubles, which interest may lead to their refusal to handle non-union coal during the present disturbance. The shipment of coal from the West Virginia fields to the lake market has never exceeded 6 per cent. of the whole stock in any one season. We recognize, however, that it is a difficult matter to displace any coal to which consumers become accustomed. The remedy for this evil, if it be an evil, lies in the hands of some of those who complain most bitterly. It is a deplorable spectacle to witness coal from West Virginia finding its way to the lake front over the coal roads of Ohio, while the mining properties on such roads have been standing in idleness and the managers, both of the mines and the roads, are giving a rate to West Virginia shippers which enables them to enter the market at a less price than themselves.

"Months ago we served timely warning upon the operators of the Pittsburg district that West Virginia coal would enter the markets in greater quantities this season than at any previous time unless they ceased to fight."

Lake Shore Will Confiscate.

Buffalo, July 7.—Buffalo has already received notices of the effect which the great miners' strike in the Pittsburg coal region will have upon this city. Among the first to be affected by the strike are the railroads, and the Lake Shore Railroad Company has notified the local gas companies and the shippers that it would confiscate all the coal coming over its line in case it becomes necessary.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Sir Sandford Fleming on the Fast Steamship Line.

HE WANTS A PORT IN NOVA SCOTIA

Mr. Peterson Reports That the Two Million Pounds of Stock Has Been Subscribed—He Hopes to Make the Scheme a Success in Every Respect.

Ottawa, July 7.—(Special.)—Sir Sandford Fleming is out with a third article on the Atlantic steamship service. Recognizing that Parliament has put its stamp of approval on the contract of Petersen, Tate & Co., Sir Sandford points out that there is nothing in the contract to prevent the adoption of conditions which, in his view, are of importance. Prominent among these is the establishment of a port of call during the open season on the eastern Atlantic coast of Nova Scotia. Sydney, in his judgment, being preferable. He strongly advocates the adoption of the southern route, through Cabot Strait, as superior to the northern one, through the Straits of Belle Isle. He points out that, by calling at Sydney, people of the Maritime Provinces would be placed in a corresponding position in relation to the fast line to the people of Quebec and Ontario, and he advances the further argument that the steamship company would be able to secure nearly the whole of the trade of Newfoundland by means of the new proposed ferry between Sydney and Port aux Basques. In this connection Mr. Dobell has just received a letter from Mr. Petersen, dated Newcastle-on-Tyne, June 23, from which it appears that the requisite capital for the fast line, amounting to £2,000,000 sterling ($10,000,000), has been all subscribed.

Mr. Petersen writes that Sir Blundell Maple has subscribed £500,000 sterling to the enterprise. Sir Blundell is known to all Londoners as one of the most substantial financial men of the Empire. The names of the other parties who join with Messrs. Petersen & Tate will be forthcoming later. An extract from Mr. Petersen's letter says: "I have made up my mind to devote myself to the completion of this important undertaking. I feel now that, backed by past experience and knowledge of this subject, I shall make the fast line project a ringing success, national as well as commercial. The opposition has been strong and spirited. Our opponents not only tried their hand at the Colonial Office, but in the Board of Trade and the very House of Commons. And when they saw there was nothing to be done in that direction, their tactics were directed against the financing."

Mr. P. A. Eagleson, President of St. Patrick's Literary Society of Ottawa, died suddenly this morning in the office of Mr. O'Keefe, M. L. A. Mr. Eagleson had been busy during the day interviewing, in company with friends, some of the Ministers in regard to certain political appointments. The exertion of walking in the hot sun, coupled with the fact that he had been suffering from heart disease for some time, doubtless was the cause of the untimely demise of deceased. Mr. Eagleson was greatly respected in Ottawa.

Mr. W. B. Dawson, tidal surveyor to the Marine Department, has left for Newfoundland, to inspect the tidal stations maintained by the Dominion Government in the Gulf.

It is the intention of the Government to erect a new fog alarm at Belle Isle, but it is hardly likely that the machinery will be out from England in time for the signal to be put in operation this year.

George W. Webster, who was chief clerk in the Customs Department up to July 1 last, and who was squeezed out by his office being abolished, intends practising law in this city. Before coming to Ottawa he was a law partner of Hon. John F. Wood, Brockville.

Word was received from Mr. Speaker Edgar to-day to the effect that he had appointed Mr. N. Mills, barrister, of Tilbury Centre, a nephew of Hon. David Mills, to the vacant position of postmaster of the House of Commons, in succession to Mr. Stansfield, superannuated. The salary has been cut down.

A meeting of the Cabinet was held this afternoon, and considerable routine business was disposed of. The regulations governing importation under the preferential tariff from Britain and New South Wales were approved.

Dr. Bourinot, Clerk of the House of Commons, left for Cape Breton to-day.

DEATH A PURE MISHAP.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury Last Night Regarding the Sad Death of Barrister Murdoch

Toronto, July 8.

The inquest regarding the death of the popular criminal lawyer, W. G. Murdoch, was concluded last night, the jury returning the following verdict:

That W. G. Murdoch came to his death as the result of an injury inflicted during a friendly fencing bout with umbrellas in the Grey Howell Hotel sitting room on Tuesday, June 29. No blame attaches to Frank Lockwood, as the evidence shows that the injury was a pure mishap, said parties being personal friends.

Coroner Emory presided and Mr. Dewart represented the Crown. Mr. Code represented Mr. Lockwood, Mr. N. Murray and T. D. Delamere deceased's relatives, and Mr. Greer the insurance companies. Several witnesses were called.

Coroner Emory, in summing up, said that homicide had been committed and he defined what homicide is. He made the remark that both men were more or less under the influence of liquor, to which Mr. Murphy raised a stoutly objection, the evidence being directly contrary. The coroner qualified his statement by pointing out the bartender's evidence to the effect that there had been "two treats." The jury was out for 10 minutes.

THE SAN JOSE SCALE.

A New Pest that Infests Fruit Trees—Its Distribution, and Character—Appearance of the Pest—Remedies and Suggestions.

The following exracts from Bulletin No. 106, Ontario Agricultural College, refers to the San Jose Scale, a most dangerous and destructive insect pest, in relation especially to fruit trees :

The discovery of the fact that the San Jose Scale (Aspidiotus perniciosus) has appeared in one of the most important fruit growing districts in Ontario, in the southern part, demands that we furnish at as early a date as possible information regarding its habits, etc. For the past four years it has excited much alarm among fruit growers in the Eastern States, and a wealth of literature has been published concerning it, so that all information is readily obtained from the numerous bulletins already issued from the Agricultural Department at Washington, and experiment stations in the United States. No insect is more fitted to menace the fruit-growing interests of our Province than this San Jose Scale.

WHY THE INSECT CAUSES ALARM.

1. It possesses marvellous powers of reproduction. A single female that has wintered over may be the progenitor of millions in a single season ; some have computed that her progeny may reach the incredible number of 3,000,000,000. There may be four generations in a season, the adult females of each giving birth to living young for five or six weeks, the progeny of these bearing young when about 30 days old. Each female brings into existence 100-500 insects during her lifetime. Thus it will be seen that a great confusion of generations will soon exist, as there may be upon a plant at one time the young of several generations.

2. Infested young trees perish in two or three years.

3. The range of food plants is extensive, and all parts of the plant may be attacked —leaf, stem, twig and fruit. The scale has been found upon the peach, pear, plum, apple, cherry, apricot, quince, currant, gooseberry, raspberry, rose, hawthorn and even elm.

4. The insect and scale are exceedingly minute. The scale is often much the same colour as the bark of the infested trees. Most are less than one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, and are thus almost invisible to the naked eye.

5. It is readily introduced by nursery stock and fruit from infested trees.

WHEN AND WHENCE IT CAME.

The general consensus of opinion after much investigation is, that it came originally from California, where it was noticed as a pest in the San Jose Valley as far back as 1873. In 1880 Prof. Comstock described it and named the insect Aspidiotus perniciosus, on account of its serious character as a scale.

HOW IT MAY BE DISTRIBUTED.

In the work of distribution, the insect itself can do but little, as it is quite helpless to move from place to place. Its life of active movement is very brief—a few hours, at most, a day or two. It moves only a few inches from its birthplace, then settles, becomes covered with a scale, and in the case of the female, remains fixed for life, and begins producing young in about thirty days. After becoming fixed, it lives by sucking the sap of the plant upon which it is located. The males have wings and may fly about at maturity, but the females are always wingless. During the few hours or days the tiny lice are moving about, they may get upon birds, such insects as ants and small beetles, and by them be carried to other trees. One observer has noticed that in infested districts, the scale is often more common near a bird's nest. As trees in a nursery grow close together, they present favourable conditions for being infested. Fruit from infested trees may have the scale upon it ; even wind may assist in spreading these insects that appear at first so comparatively helpless to travel by their own efforts. The birds, insects, fruit, scions from infested trees, and wind may all be important factors in the distribution of the scale.

THE LIFE HISTORY OF THE INSECT.

The nearly full grown insect passes the winter beneath its wax-like scale. About June the young begin to appear, as exceedingly minute, six-legged insects, like yellowish specks moving about. They creep about only for a few hours, at most a day or two, then settle but a few inches from their birthplace, and become attached to the spot from which the females never move. During their sedentary life the females lose their feelers and and legs, and have neither eyes nor wings. Males, however, have legs, feelers (antennæ) eyes and wings in the adult condition. The scale of the female is circular, with a small nipple in the centre. This scale is from a twelfth to one-twentieth of an inch in diameter, and may be of light or dark gray colour, and usually in much the same colour as the bark ; the nipple in the centre may be a pale yellow or blackish colour. The scale of the male is oblong, with the nipple near one end, and is thus readily distinguished from that of the female. The female brings forth living young, and does not lay eggs, as is usually the case with scale insects, such as the oyster shell scurfy scales. She may bring into existence from 100 to 500 young during the six weeks of her existence after reaching the adult stage.

The general appearance upon affected twigs is that of a grayish, slightly roughened scurfy deposit. This hides the natural reddish color of the young limbs of the peach, pear and apple. They sometimes even look as if sprinkled with ashes. If the scales are crushed, a yellowish oily liquid will appear from the crushed soft yellow insects beneath the scales. Examined in summer, many show orange-colored larvæ, snowy white young scales, mingled with old brown or blackened matured scales. This insect produces a peculiar reddening effect upon the skin of the fruit and of tender twigs. An encircling band of reddish discoloration around the margin of each female scale is very marked on the fruit of pears. The cambium layer of young twigs where scales are massed is usually stained deep red or purplish. Where the scales are few the purplish ring surrounding each is quite distinguishable.

REMEDIES.

The remedies for this scale present three forms :—Corrosive washes, such as whale oil soap ; penetrating substances, such as gases or kerosene emulsion, and varnishes or resin washes which cover the scale so as to prevent the escape of the young.

One of the most effectual remedies, and one readily applied, is the use of whale-oil soap, two pounds in one gallon of water. Apply this in the fall just as the leaves drop off, before the scales harden, and again in spring just before the trees bloom. Some recommend a weaker solution in the fall, one pound to one gallon of water, then just before the buds swell in spring, the stronger solution, two pounds to one gallon of water. Even the use of common soap has been followed by good results, but whale-oil or fish oil soap is preferable. Kerosene emulsion, diluted with nine parts water, or whale-oil soap, one pound to four gallons of water, is good for summer treatment, as soon as the lice are moving. Three or four applications of this at intervals of ten days will destroy many insects, but as the females are continually producing young throughout the summer, the spraying should be kept up to be effectual. Fall or winter treatment with strong solution is decidedly the most successful.

Pure kerosene is destructive to the scales, but will kill the trees unless great care is observed in its application.

There are two enemies to the scale among insects, both of which aid very materially in keeping the scale in check. One, the "Twice-stabbed Ladybird" (Chilocorus bivulnerus), is very common on infested trees, apparently feeding upon the scale ; the other is a chalcid parasite (Aphelinus fuscipenius.

SUGGESTIONS.

1. Examine carefully sickly trees and trees or scions brought from nurseries in infested districts.

2. If only a few trees are infested destroy them.

3. Trees infested, if well cut back and treated with whale-oil soap, as directed, may be largely saved.

4. Orchards set out within the last six years with trees from infested States, may be suspected. They should be carefully examined.

5. Examine fruit from infested localities.

"HE HATH THE FALLING SICKNESS."

—Shakespeare.

Epilepsy or the "Falling Sickness" has been known for many centuries, and for as long a period of time no cure has been discovered, till Ryckman's Kootenay Cure came upon the scene and revolutionized the healing art. Julius Cæsar, one of the greatest men of ancient times, was a victim to it, and no physician of his day could effect a cure. Napoleon, the greatest warrior of modern times, fell a prey to it, and among all his conquering hosts there was not one that could conquer this insidious disease.

But here is Samuel Duffin, residing in the Township of West Nissouri, eight miles from the City of London, who makes a sworn statement before a Notary Public, that about eight years ago he had a paralytic stroke, and has ever since been subject to Epileptic Fits, which came upon him so often that it was unsafe for him to be left alone. He was treated by five of the best physicians in the province, and spent hundreds of dollars, to no avail, in endeavoring to get relief. Then he tried Kootenay Cure, which contains the new ingredient. Note the change.

"I have taken between three and four bottles." "I have now a good appetite, sleep well every night, and best of all, the fits have almost entirely left me." "My friends see a change in my appearance, and ask me what I have been doing, I gladly tell them I have been taking Kootenay. My general health is wonderfully improved, and I certainly feel, after twelve years of terrible suffering, I have been given a new lease of life by Kootenay Cure, the Greatest Medicine of the Age."

The price of Kootenay Cure is $1.50 per bottle. If your druggist does not keep it, send to the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont. Chart book free on application. One bottle lasts over a month.

An Ill-Fated Train.

Mr. J. Plimmer, of Windsor, Ont., was on the train which which went through the bridge at St. George, Ont., in 1888. In the accident his kidneys and back were seriously injured, and have since caused him great suffering. Mr. Plimmer says :—"Until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills I never knew what it was to be free from pain. They have entirely removed the pain, and I am able to work every day now. They have produced better results than all the other medicines combined which I have used in all my years of suffering. I regard them as a specific for kidney trouble."

COLD STORAGE SERVICE.

The Department of Agriculture Has Arranged With the Railways—White Cars Will be Used.

Halifax, N.S., July 6.—It is announced that the Dominion Department of Agriculture has arranged a cold storage service in connection with the different railways throughout Canada, which, with the Intercolonial, will provide for a weekly car between Rimouski and Quebec, Moncton and Halifax and Moncton and St. John. The cars are to be painted white, as this color absorbs less heat than any other and are to be labelled, "Government cold storage line," so as to attract the attention of farmers and other shippers of perishable goods. These articles are to be picked up at all stations, and carried at the ordinary rates of freight. The arrangements to go into operation at once and a time will be fixed for starting the cars on the different routes. There is already in operation a weekly refrigerator car service from Hamilton, Toronto, etc., via Montreal to Halifax.

Would Like the Surplus Population of the Old Land Transferred to Canada, Where There Is Ample Room and Great Resources—General News by Cable.

London, July 7.—This evening the Fishmongers' Company gave a banquet to the colonial premiers.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion Premier, said in the course of an effective speech that he cordially disliked the word colony, because it seemed to imply superiority on the part of the inhabitants of the home country. He had no doubt, however, that the time was coming when the name colony would be exchanged for another word. Continuing, he said he wished to convey the surplus population of the congested districts in England to Canada, where there was ample room for them and abundant resources to employ them. In this connection he referred to the new railway over the Rocky Mountains to British Columbia.

Mr. G. H. Reid, the Premier of New South Wales, said he trusted that in the near future the Australian colonies would be federated, and would even surpass Canada in advantageous tariff terms. This latter statement was received with great enthusiasm.

Dinner to the Bishops.

London, July 7. At the banquet given to-night at the Mansion House, to the ecclesiastics attending the Pan-Anglican, or Lambeth Conference, Bishop Whipple of Minnesota, responding to the Lord Bishop of Dublin, who had proposed "The Colonial and American Bishops," declared that the American bishops would not yield even to Englishmen in their reverence for Queen Victoria, for they could never forget that the queen and the lamented Prince Consort at a critical period saved England and United States from fratricidal strife; how could they ever forget the Queen's message to the widow of Lincoln.

The Bishop of Ontario also responded to the toast.

The Visit of the Premiers.

London, July 8.—The Standard, editorially reviewing to-day the visit of the Colonial Premiers, disapproves any treaty or convention for common defence between the colonies and Great Britain. It believes there is not a single colony that would refuse aid if an occasion should arise where the honor of England was involved. "Therefore," it says, "let the bond be an unwritten one. There is far more vitality and endurance in spontaneous and absolutely free attachment."

Canadian Fi.heries Case Coming Up.

London, July 7.—An interesting case will soon come before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council concerning the disputed ownership of the foreshores of the American lakes on the Canadian side, between the Dominion and the Provincial Governments.

DARK YEAR FOR RUSSIA.

Harvest Prospects are Getting Worse and the Outlook is Serious.

London, July 8.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at St. Petersburg says: "The harvest prospects in Central and South Russia are getting worse and worse. Continuous rains are destroying the hay crops, while the exceptionally poor beat crop in Podolien (Podolia) has practically ruined the sugar industry. The crops in some of the Baltic provinces also have suffered heavily from rains; and a significant sign of the gravity of the situation is the fact that an unusually severe censorship is exercised over the news concerning it. There is every likelihood that the present will be one of the darkest years in Russian history."

INSULTING TO THE QUEEN.

Hyndman, the English Socialist, Says Ugly Things About Indian Affairs.

London, July 7.—Hyndman, the English Socialist leader, publishes an article in Justice, the Socialist organ, on the subject of the Indian riots. It is full of accusations against the Government, is insulting to the Queen, and concludes with: "Now let us say plainly, as Englishmen who are utterly sick of the infamous wrong and robbery being done in our name, who would gladly see the villains tried and hanged, from Lord George Hamilton (the Secretary of State for India) upwards, who have created the famine and murdered natives by the millions, that if ever rebellion was justified in the history of the world it is justified in British India to-day. No more intolerable tyranny ever crushed and ruined a suffering people."

RUSSIA TURNS THE SCREW.

A Circular Note to the Powers Asking for Pressure on Turkey.

Constantinople, July 7.—Russia has sent a circular note to the powers, suggesting that steps be taken to expedite the conclusion of peace between Greece and Turkey. This action upon the part of Russia is regarded here as being of the greatest importance, and as indicating that Russia desires to forestall a similar proposal upon the part of the other powers.

Both the palace and the Turkish Ministers were immediately informed of Russia's action. The German Ambassador here, Baron Saurma von Jeltsch, has received fresh and precise instructions to insist upon Turkey's acceptance of the strategic frontier proposed by the powers.

Disposed to Pay Up.

Athens, July 7.—The Asty says the creditors of Greece are disposed to advance the £4,000,000 required for the Turkish indemnity, payment of the sum being guaranteed by the receipts of the existing monopolies and tobacco and stamps revenue, their administration being under the control of a financial body, in which the creditors will have three representatives.

Colonial Premiers at Windsor.

London, July 7.—By special desire of the Queen all the colonial premiers, including Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, visited Windsor Castle to-day for the purpose of presenting to Her Majesty the Jubilee addresses from their respective colonies. Subsequently the premiers were sworn in as Privy Councillors.

COLONIAL REPRESENTATION.

That Is What the Duke of Devonshire's Hint the Other Day Referred to.

London, July 7.—The Manchester Guardian says that the Duke of Devonshire's recent hint that striking proposals are about to be launched by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, refers to the scheme for the representation of the colonies in the House of Lords. This scheme, The Guardian adds, has already been approved at conferences held between Mr. Chamberlain and the colonial premiers.

CEPHALONIA IN TOW.

The Cunard Liner Met With a Mishap But Arrived Safely at Queenstown.

London, July 7.—The British steamer Florida, Capt. Bullock, from Galveston for Liverpool, passed Brow Head at 10.40 this morning, having in tow the Cunard Line steamer Cephalonia, Capt. Pierce, from Boston, June 26, for Liverpool.

No details regarding the mishap of the Cephalonia are yet obtainable beyond the fact that her propeller is damaged.

Queenstown, July 7.—The steamer Cephalonia, in tow of the steamer Florida, arrived here this evening. Her passengers were despatched to Dublin on special trains.

RATS CARRY THE PLAGUE.

Scientists Tell How the Scourge of India May Reach Europe.

Vienna, July 7.—The special commission sent to India to study the bubonic plague reports that in a majority of cases the bacilli entered the body through the skin, although they sometimes enter through the lungs or by the tonsils. The period of incubation is from four to five days. The rat appears to be the only animal spontaneously infected, and it is unlikely that the disease will enter Europe under the present methods of supervision, except, perhaps, through rats in ships.

SUICIDE OF FANATICS.

Members of a Sect in Russia Show Religious Zeal by Starving Themselves.

London, July 7.—According to a despatch to The Daily Mail from St. Petersburg, two women have been found in the forest of Zurevosastch Urski, in the Tarunsk District, one dead and the other dying of starvation.

They were members of a sect regarding suicide by starvation as the highest form of religious devotion. Other members of the sect had previously disappeared, and the police have instituted a thorough investigation.

French Painter Killed.

Honfleur, France, July 7.—Joseph Edouard Dantan, the well known French painter, was killed to-day by being thrown out of his carriage, owing to the bolting of the horse attached to it. The legs of Madam Dantan, his wife, were broken through the same cause.

Earthquake in Italy.

Rome, July 7.—Three strong earthquake shocks were felt last night at Voltri and its vicinity. Voltri is a town of Northern Italy, on the Gulf of Genoa, and nine miles west of Genoa.

Nordica is Ill.

London, July 7.—Madame Lillian Nordica, the prima donna, is ill at the Hotel Savoy. While her condition is not regarded as dangerous she will probably be prevented from singing at the next State concert.

£1000 Damages for Libel

London, July 7.—In the libel action of Andrew Atteridge against E. F. Knight, Soudan war correspondent of The Daily Chronicle and Times of London, the jury to-day awarded the plaintiff £1000 damages. Knight wrote a letter accusing Atteridge of cowardice in remaining in the rear with the baggage, and of sullen and neglectful conduct toward a colleague, Henry Garrett, the correspondent of The New York Herald, who died of cholera in the Soudan on July 28, 1896.

Relief for Flood Sufferers.

Paris, July 7.—The Chamber of Deputies to-day voted the sum of 7,000,000 francs for the relief of the victims of the floods in France, Guadaloupe and Algeria.

The Spree in Trouble.

London, July 7.—The North German Lloyd steamer Spree, which was due to arrive at Cherbourg on Sunday last from New York, was spoken on Sunday in latitude 48.41 north, long. 20.34 west, with her main shaft broken. The Spree has been re-insured at five guineas premium.

The Troops Awed Them.

Calcutta, July 7.—The despatch of troops yesterday evening to intercept the striking mill hands up the Hoogly, who were said to be preparing to march on this city 8000 strong to reinforce the rioters here, has had an excellent effect. The mill hands and the rioters have dispersed, and all is now quiet here.

Export Trade Has Dropped.

Cairo, July 7.—General Sir Herbert Kitchener, who commands the Anglo-Egyptian expedition for the re-conquest of Dongola, embarked for the front to-day, and it is expected that the attack on Abu Hamed will be made about the 30th. The Egyptian Intelligence Department ascertains from its spies that owing to the disaffection of the Soudanese, little opposition will be encountered by the column in passing up the Nile beyond Merawi to Abu Hamed. The forces of the Khalifa are entrenched at Omdurman, variously estimated at from thirty to sixty thousand men.

Nile Expedition to Advance.

London, July 8.—The morning papers comment upon the [illegible] feature of the Board of Trade returns, which show a reduction of £1,470,000 in the export account, and attribute this principally to the contraction of the shipments of cotton goods to India, China, Japan, Central and South America.

NEW FLYING MACHINE.

M. Tatin Attains a Speed of Eighteen Metres a Second While Going Through the Air.

Paris, July 7.—A paper was read before the Academy of Sciences yesterday, recording the experiments of the French aeronaut, M. Tatin, at Carquenez, in emulation of Prof. Langley's experiments at Potomac Bay with a steam flying machine.

M. Tatin's machine was nearly thrice as heavy as Prof. Langley's and had a double instead of a single propeller. It attained a speed of 18 metres per second, as against Langley's 10; but the length of the run was only 140 metres, as against Langley's kilometre.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Scrofula

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this:

"In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards,

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My is now well and I have been greatly benefited otherwise. I have increased in weight and am in better health. I cannot say enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. H. BLAKE, So. Berwick, Me.

An Old Curio.

Mr. Tom. Henry has ran across a curiosity in the shape of a Rochester Advertiser of the date of 1826. At the time of its issue Rochester was only a village and there were no railroads connecting it with New York, Buffalo or other points, transportation being effected through the medium of stages. Mr. Henry will be pleased to donate the curio to the museum.

North Star Round Trips.

The 5 cent round trips on the Little Lake last night by the steamer North Star were a grand success. They will be continued each evening, leaving wharf at 8 o'clock, returning to the wharf every 20 minutes. Arrangements have been made so that parties taking the round trip on the street cars may drop off at the wharf and take the boat and then resume their trip on the cars without extra expense.

Ill-treating a Boy.

On Wednesday, Mr. G. Morrow, of Alnwick, was summoned before Magistrate Thackery and paid a fine of $5.00 and costs, in all $10 55, for ill-treating an emigrant boy, John Mewis, who were in his employ. Morrow admitted the charge but claimed he was in a passion while doing it. The law, however, makes no exception to those who do not control their tempers and protects the helpless when set in motion. There are other ways besides using a club or a dog.

A West End "Wild West."

Monkeys are said to be imitative, but the small boy crowds them closely for first place. Some Gilmour street boys had a "Wild West" last night. They fixed up an encampment with old matting and discarded tents that looked like a rag-picker's wagon struck by lightning. A procession was formed of hideously painted savages leading a mastiff saddled, and a two-months' kitten with a dog chain big enough to draw an engine. The show got a large patronage, and the financial outcome was a net total of 81c.

REPAIRS TO THE DAM.

The Water Has Been Raised by Stop Logs for the Present.

By sinking some timber across the sluice way which gave way the other evening at the Dickson dam, the water was raised sufficiently this morning to supply the necessary power to the Light & Power Company to generate electricity sufficient to operate the street cars.

The coffer dam which is to be sunk in front of the sluiceway, is being built on the bank, and when the water is shut off, repairs will be proceeded with rapidly. It will be fully two weeks before the work on the damaged sluiceway will be completed, but in the meantime the coffer dam will raise the water sufficiently high to supply the town with all the light and power which is absolutely necessary.

THIS AFTERNOON'S FIRE.

A Small Blaze in the Dickson Company's Lumber Yards.

Fire broke out his afternoon in the lumber yards of the Dickson Company on the west side of the river. The brigade was on the scene in a twinkling and a line of hose was quickly strung from the corner of Waterword and London streets to the river bank, where the blaze originated. The employees of the mill formed a bucket brigade also and the fire was soon under control.

It was most probably caused by boys smoking behind the lumber piles on the river bank, when a spark caught in the sawdust and debris. The fire did not get into the lumber but merely burrowed into the bank a short distance and was easily extinguished.

MR. JAS. NAVIN'S ACCIDENT.

He Has a Narrow Escape from Death in Falling from the Steps.

Mr. James Navin met with a very serious accident yesterday which it was feared at the time would result fatally but the physicians now have hopes of his recovery.

It seems that Mr. Navin had been troubled with some boys removing stuff from his premises whilst picking rags there and went to complain to their mother, a resident on Sherbrooke street. Here, it appears, he got no satisfaction and turned to leave with the remark that he would place the matter in the hands of the police.

The woman, it is said, told him to go and at the same time gave him a shove sufficiently forcible to cause him to fall from the steps and injure himself so severely as to necessitate his bein carried into Mr. Thos. LePlante's residence. He was afterwards taken to Mr. C. Rutherford's, his son-in-law, where he is still lying in a very precarious condition. His life was despaired of at one time but he has since rallied and it is hoped that he may yet recover.

The matter has been placed in the hands of the police for investigation.

THE CANAL STRIKE.

The Difficulty Apparently as Far From Settlement as Ever.

There is no change in the attitude of the contractors or the strikers on the canal since yesterday.

The men state that they have used no violence whatever as yet and do not intend to, but they are determined to allow no one to go to work.

It was rumoured that a gang of men was being brought from the east and the men are asking the employees of all the big establishments in town to stand by them and not permit the outsiders to leave the train when they arrive.

How's Your Thermom?

This tropical weather helps to send prices down to zero at the Peterborough Bookstore. No use wasting words—but it's really too hot to be without fans and hammocks, which we are clearing at reduced prices. You will feel new interest in life if you select from our pretty lot of fans and comfortable, airy hammocks during our summer clearing sale.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Hot Weather Suggestions.

Keep cool. People suffer unnecessarily during the heated spells of July for the want of a simple and inexpensive change of light clothing. A shell coat, a light pair of trousers, a thin vest, a cool straw or light felt hat and an extra pair of tan shoes will put a new interest in life when the thermometer is up in the 90's. Everything desirable from a 50c coat to the finest English serge can be had at Gough Bros. gigantic sale now in progress. The cost need be no hindrance. "Featherweight" prices for feather-weight garments prevail in each department. Negligee shirts, summer underwear, summer ties and summer shoes, in fact everything to make a man cool and comfortable. Fathers bring your boys and look to yourselves while you are here. It may take you only a few minutes to discover that you can save ten of fifteen dollars on your suits. It matters not what you want—a wedding suit, a business suit, a working suit or any kind of an outing suit—you will find it in our store. And it makes no difference what price you want to pay Gough Bros. can accommodate you. We never had a larger or more complete line of hot weather clothes—shell coats in alpaca, duck Russel cords, duck, flannel, silk or serge—any weight fabric you want. Fancy coloured and white vests and trousers to correspond. We're talking now about the genuine stuffs, the kind that high-class tailors charge like fury for. If we can't suit you in ready-mades, we take your measure on the spot and make up what you want to your own sweet style and taste. It is this store's business to make to order clothing that shall be a combination of excellence and fair cost. The power of money was never more abundantly manifest than in the great purchase which we made in Montreal of the E. A. Small & Co.'s stock of fine clothing. The clothes are elegant—the prices a curiosity. Not a stich, not a thread here that isn't worth double the price asked, and the quality ranks above the price.

GOUGH BROS.,
The Wonderful Cheap Men.

THE HOT WEATHER

Paralyses Activity—Hundreds Dying in the United States—Six Inches of Snow in Colorado.

It's no wonder that tropical peoples who have to live the year round in heat like this are lazy. It paralyses almost everybody sad it is almost cruelty to animals to think of work. The striking canal men selected a good time for a rest; they could not have worked anyway. With some of the printers dropping off their stools in a faint and others in a general state of collapse and reporters in a similar condition it is not to be expected that thrillingly newsy sheets should be turned out. There is a terrible consumption of lager, ice cream, soda water and other slops popularly supposed to be cooling.

So far there have been no fatal or even serious cases of prostration from heat. But the suffering and discomfort of infants and invalids must be intense and physicians are gravely concerned over the effects upon some of their patients who under ordinary conditions would make speedy recovery.

In the United States there have been hundreds of deaths from heat. In Cincinatti the rate is about ten a day for the five days of extreme heat and other cities have almost as formidable a death roll.

The beautifully varied weather of the United States is illustrated by the fact that while all over the country the heat is keeping things at the boiling point, Colorado is visited with a heavy snowstorm. Colorado papers received at the EXAMINER office this morning from Mr. J. P. Curran ("Joe") contain despatches from every part of the State giving particulars of a snow fall of six inches on July 3rd. At Telluride the weight of the snow broke down the trees and at scores of other places there were heavy snowfalls.

Some Peterborough people are, however, free from trouble with heat. Mr. John Irwin got a letter this morning from his son in South Africa who says that while Peterborough people are scrambling for ice they have it lying around loose in South Africa, the winter being on there now.

In Montreal the bricklayers begin work at five in the morning and rest during the middle of the day.

This morning at 7 o'clock the thermometer stood at 70, at 10 o'clock it reached 90 and at 1 o'clock it had gone up to 95.

ROUGHLY HANDLED.

An Ashburnham Man Says His Son Gave Him a Thrashing.

An old man with his face covered with blood, limped painfully over from Ashburnham yesterday afternoon to lay a complaint against his son for beating him. He had evidently been so roughly handled that a large number gathered around him to ascertain how he received his injuries.

The son was arrested later on in the day on a charge of assault, and was released on bail for a hearing this afternoon. His statement of the case is that his father came home drunk and fell to abusing his wife, hence his interference to save his mother.

ASHBURNHAM BREVITIES.

News Notes From the Fifth Ward—Address and Presentation.

The regular meeting of the Mark street Auxiliary of the W. M. S. was held on Wednesday afternoon and was largely attended. Some new names were added to the roll of membership and after the usual business had been transacted, Mrs. (Rev.) Beer expressed herself as being pleasantly surprised. As this was the last meeting before the departure of Mrs. Beer to another field of labour, those present adjourned to the residence of Mrs. John Wood, where tea was partaken of and a short time was spent in pleasant, social intercourse. Mrs. Beer will be greatly missed, as she has been a very regular attendant at the meetings, and has done much to assist in the work.

After the usual Wednesday evening prayer meeting the congregation assembled at the parsonage and when the gathering had been called to order, Miss Sarah Hamilton read the following address, the presentation of the purse and its contents being made at the proper moment by Miss K. Carton:

Miss L. Beer, Organist of Mark Street Methodist Church:

DEAR MISS BEER,—The congregation of Mark street Methodist church, realizing that by the removal of your family from our midst we are about to lose the services of a faithful pastor and his wife, of an efficient organist, and of several excellent workers in our Sunday school and Epworth League, have assembled this evening to express to each of you our high appreciation of your work amongst us, to assure you that we shall always cherish very pleasant recollections of your stay with us, and to wish each of you the best kind of success in your future labours.

As a slight token of the very high esteem in which you are held amongst us, we ask you to accept this purse, and our prayer is, that we may all eventually meet where parting will be unknown.

Signed on behalf of the congregation:
K. CARTON,
S. HAMILTON.

Miss Beer, and also Rev. Mr. Beer, made fitting replies expressing their regret at parting with the people of Ashburnham.

During the evening refreshments were served by the ladies, and after spending a social hour together, the gathering dispersed.

Rev. J. E. Moore, who succeeds Mr. Beer, is expected here next Wednesday, July 14. Mr. Beer expects to leave on Tuesday, July 13.

A Novel Scheme.

St. Andrew's Sunday School Association decided on a rather novel scheme last night. It is proposed to charter the City of Peterborough on or about the 20th inst, and to invite the entire congregation to the excursion down the river on that day. This will be a unique congregational outing. It is understood that any friends outside of the congregation who desire to take advantage of this pleasant excursion will be charged but a nominal fee.

No verandah will be complete this summer without one of those serviceable plaid Cushions. Material for the above in all shades at MRS. APPLEBY'S Fancy Goods Store

CANADIAN TOBACCO.

The Import Duty Imposed on the Foreign Product by the Government has Made our own Growth Popular.

Canadian tobacco is obtaining a firm hold on the market, and it is said that a tobacco user having once become fond of the natural flavour of the home grown weed will never use any other, so that things are looking bright for the growers in Quebec.

In talking to a local tobacconist the other day he pointed out three big sixty pound packages of the French Canadian product which he had just received and stated that while this would have lasted him for two or three years some time ago, it would not now continue in stock for as many months.

The reason given for the sudden popularity of Canadian tobacco is that on account of the recent import duty imposed on foreign tobacco by the Governmet a great many have been induced to give the home product a trial, with the result that they are now smoking it altogether. It is only twenty-five cents a pound, too, which makes quite a difference.

Through the Crown of your Hat.

Regular hat store prices are revolutionized in our hat department; and bear in mind that our hat department is as big as any ordinary hat store. Take a look through our immense piles of hats of all kinds, and you'll find the newest and nobbiest shapes of light summer felts and straws that have had a quarter and a third chipped off the price. It's foolish extravagance to pay $3 for some highly-advertised manufacturer's hat—$2 for the hat and the balance for the name in the crown. We sell the newest of finest felt shapes for men, made of a good felt, with the same silk bands, warranted not to change colour, and to wear as long as any $3 hat—or your money back—for $2. This is an instance where we can talk better through our hats. It is not much of a trick to sell straw hats at this season of the year. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade, but we're the SELLERS, and that suits us just as well. Gentlemen's fine American straw hats for 75c, worth $1.25; very light weight straw hat, 50c., worth 90c.; fine straw hats, 90c., worth 40c.; boys' hats, 10c., 15c., 20c. and up to 65c. We sell as we buy. In this respect, this store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

GEORGE STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

A Delightfully Successful Outing—List of the Prize Winners.

Yesterday morning at 8.15 the steamers City of Peterborough and North Star steamed away from the Wolfe street wharf, each boat loaded to its utmost capacity with the members of the George street Methodist and Grace church Sunday schools. The officers and teachers of the schools, of course were all present, and the members of the Sunday schools succeeded in a large measure in inducing their parents to accompany them on their excursion to Idyl Wild.

The most beautiful trip down the river to Idyl Wild was much enjoyed by all, and was made in very good time considering the number of person on board, arriving at just 12 o'clock. Once on the island the picnicers made preparations for dinner, some going to the hotel and others to their baskets.

A short time after dinner the sports committee, composed of Messrs. Alf. Parker, F. Dobbin, W. Might, A. E. and Reg. Dixon, ran off the following sports. Below is a list of the results:—

Boys' race, 15 years and under—Orville Kingdon, Joe Pollard.
Girls' race, 15 years and under—Lillie Carlisle, Maude Farrell.
Boys' race, 9 years and under—W Belleghem, Charlie Ackerman.
Girls' race, 9 years and under—Ruth Carlisle, Lottie Kennedy.
Three-legged race—Orville Kirgdon and Joe Pollard.
Race on all fours—Wm Cawthorne, Roland Kennedy.
Boys' primary class—W Belleghem, Edward Mann.
Girls' primary class—Lillie Long, Bertha Nicholls, Minnie Erskine.
Young ladies' race—Lottie Boyce, Fanny Kempt.
Boys' race, junior classes—Orville Kingdon, Jos. Lane.
Girls' race, junior classes—Alma Webber, Maude Terrill.
Boys' race, any age—Jos. Lane, Orville Kingdon.
Hop, step and jump—Thos. Manning, Iggie McFadden.
Teacher' and officers' race—R. Dixon, Mr. Alf. Parker.
Consolation race, girls—Lillie Ingram, Bella Lane.
Consolation race, boys—E. Belleghem, H. Long.

The satisfaction expressed by the various prize winners with the prizes received, was quite noticeable. The boat left Idyl Wild at 4 p.m., and made the run to Jubilee Point in half an hour, where the boat took on a supply of wood, and the excursionists partook of supper. The City of Peterborough started for home at about 5 o'clock, and arrived with her consort, the North Star, at Wolfe street wharf at 9 30, all safe and sound. The day passed off without an accident of any kind to mar it. All are loud in their praises of both crews and captains. Everything was done by them to give the excursionists a good time. The George street Sunday school always has a good picnic, but the one held yesterday eclipsed all others.

EAST DURHAM LIBERALS.

Convention in Millbrook—A Large and Representative Gathering—Election of Officers.

The East Durham Liberal Association met in convention here to-day for the purpose of election of officers and the transaction of other business. The meeting was by far the most enthusiastic and representative that has been held for many years and the prospects for winning the riding over to Liberal principles were never brighter.

At 3 p.m. the president, Mr. H. H. Burnham, took the chair and called the meeting to order. In a neat speech he dealt with the political aspect of not only the riding but the Dominion. The Senate of Canada was most severely criticized for the manner in which it is acted in the past session in throwing out bills that were passed in the Lower House.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—H. H. Burnham.
President—Dr. Powers, Port Hope.
1st Vice-President—W. A. Pickup, Millbrook.
2nd Vice-President—J. H. Helm, Port Hope.
3rd Vice-President—W. H. McCallum, Port Hope.
4th Vice-President—John Pritchard, Cavan.
5th Vice-President—W. T. McGuire, Manvers.
Secretary-Treasurer—B. P. Ross, Port Hope.

The subject of offensive partizans in the riding came up for much discussion and the matter was satisfactorily disposed of.

Mr. Frank Pedley, of Toronto, then took the platform and delivered a most stirring thirty-minutes speech. He compared the record of the Ontario Government for the last twenty years with that of other Governments, and showed conclusively that the record of the Mowat administration for honesty and progress was without a parallel.

Turning to Dominion affairs the speaker fully explained the trade policy of the present Government and amid much applause from his hearers termed Sir Wilfred Laurier "the uncrowned king."

In conclusion the speaker urged the necessity of bringing out a candidate at the earliest possible moment, and with good organization he felt sure that East Durham could be redeemed.

The matter of bringing out a candidate was then taken up and several nominations were made, but it was decided to adjourn to the call of the president to consider the nomination of a candidate.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Wm. Kindred, Temperance House, is visiting in Rochester.

Miss D. Dillon of Ashburnham, is visiting friends in Douro.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell is billed to speak at the Orange demonstration at Kingston on July 12th.

Miss Lilly Day, of Rochester, N.Y., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Day, Bethune street.

Mr. E. B. Gillbard, pharmacist, of New York, is visiting his sister, Mrs. W. Sailsbury, Stewart street.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor left today on an official visit to the western and northern portions of his extensive diocese.

The Hastings Star says: Mrs. (Rev.) E. D. Lewis, formerly of Hastings, and Miss K. Lewis, of Peterborough, are the guests of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

Mr. Harry Delaney has gone to British Columbia. Prior to his departure he was given a supper by Messrs. David Elliott, Walter Phelan, James Patterson, Jack Mervin and Eddie Hickey.

Mr. Andrew Little, well known as one of Peterborough's fast racing men, has left town to reside again in Sarnia. Andy was a genial fellow and will be greatly missed among the wheelmen.

At a meeting of the Conservatives of Victoria East yesterday, at Fenelon Falls, Mr. Hilliard Carnegie, M.P.P., formerly of Peterborough, was nominated as a candidate for the next general elections.

Mr. Wm. Sandom and daughter are in town on a visit from Auburn, New York, to Mr. Isaac Richardson, Rubidge street. It is fifteen years since Mr. Sandom visited Peterborough, and he thinks the town a most progressive one.

Mr. Sam Jordan, the popular George street florist is taking a well-earned holidayay to-day, taking advantage of the cheap excursion under the auspices of St. Paul's to Jubilee. His friends all hope that he will be greatly benefitted by his outing.

Councillor Cobb was able to be down town this morning for the first time since meeting with the accident in the fall of the grand stand on Jubilee day. Mr. Cobb is still very weak and has not yet regained the use of his hands, his left shoulder and right wrist both being badly strained. Anxiety for the state of Victoria Park brought the Councillor down town this morning, and it is hoped that the change will benefit him.

Mr. Robert C. Newman, equal rights candidate in the last Dominion election in West Peterborough, is in town for a few days. He still talks politics, and regards the Manitoba school question as dead, and gives great credit to Sir Wilfrid Laurier for the settlement according to his promises. He feels proud of Laurier, whom he regards as having done more by his speeches than any man since Confederation to develop pro-British sentiment and sentiments of Imperial unity.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

School Board met on Monday night and transacted the following business.

A communication from J. Davidson, Principal of High School, in reference to some repairs to outbuildings, was read by the secretary.

Moved by J. L. Squire, seconded by A. R. Anderson that the above communication be handed to the Property Committee to take action as they see fit.—Carried.

An application was received from Mr. Hall, science teacher, asking an increase of salary, also from Mr. Dundas, asking to be retained in same position as assistant, also from Miss Lewis, asking for appointment as assistant during model school term.

Moved by P. W. Stevenson and T. Rork that the secretary communicate with Mr. Hall, stating that the board cannot see their way clear to increase his salary, but if he chose to remain at same salary they would be pleased to re-engage him. If not acceptable that the secretary advertise for two teachers to fill vacancies on High School staff.

Moved by Thos. Fraser, seconded by Thos. Robson, that if Mr. Hall does not accept the position, the secretary advertise in Mail and Empire and Toronto Globe, for a science master at $800, and a moderns teacher at $560.

Account from J. Davidson, amounting to $2 85, was ordered to be paid.

Moved by A. R. Anderson, seconded by P. W. Reynolds, that Miss Garrett and Mr. Dundas each receive a testimonial from the secretary relating to their proficiency as High school teachers.

Moved by J. L. Squire and Wm. Webster that Miss Lewis' application be filed, and that secretary advertise for teacher as substitute for Principal of Public School during model school term.

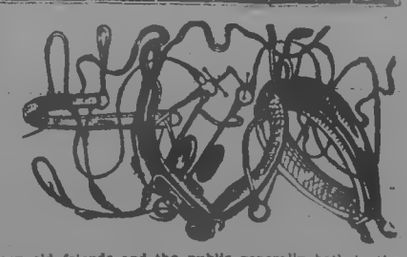
DEVLIN



In Harness Again!

I take pleasure in announcing to all my old friends and the public generally both in the town and county of Peterborough, that I have just Opened up a New Harness Shop at No. 133 Hunter St., Opposite Post Office.

In again soliciting a renewal of the patronage of the public, I promise to give my best attention to all orders which I may be favoured with. Customers may depend upon it that all work will be manufactured on the premises, and under my own supervision.

After 19 years experience in the business, every one knows the superior class of Hand-made work which DEVLIN has always turned out, and I am determined to keep up this record in the future.

SINGLE AND DOUBLE HARNESS, well sewed and well put together, guaranteed to fit and wear well. If you want the right kind of outfit for your horses, DEVLIN is the right man to make it.

DEVLIN'S HORSE COLLARS are my specialty, and I challenge all collar makers to beat them.

Bridles, Whips, Curry Combs, Harness Oil, and all kinds of Saddlery, Hardware and Stable Furnishings always in stock. Also a full line of Trunks, Valises and Satchels.

REPAIRING DONE neatly and substantially. All work done first-class and the old reliable DEVLIN will stand back of everything he says and does.

The competition of the day necessitates goods being sold at CLOSEST PRICES FOR CASH. While I will be glad to welcome all my old and new customers, I wish to state that business will be conducted on the STRICTLY CASH PRINCIPLE and ONE PRICE ONLY—money back if you want. Go where you will you won't find closer price than at

DEVLIN'S, The Harness King,

City Harness Shop, Opposite Post Office, Peterborough.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 58; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

All orders executed on the New York Stock and Cotton Exchanges and Chicago Board of Trade. Write for full information, my Vest Pocket Manual and Board of Trade Red Book. (Established 1886.) Only regular Stock Broker in Vermont.

DR. FOWLER'S EXT. OF WILD STRAWBERRY

BABY WAS CURED.

Dear Sirs,—I can highly recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It cured my baby of cholera infantum after all other means failed, and I have it great praise. It is excellent for all bowel complaints.

MRS. CHAS. BOTT, Harlow, Ont.

THE HEAD MASTER

GENTLEMEN,—I have found great satisfaction in the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and consider it invaluable in all cases of diarrhœa and summer complaint. It is a pleasure to me to recommend it to the public.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Buffalo, July 6.—The Torontos again showed themselves to strong for Franklyn's freaks, and again knocked them off the block. The Canucks outbatted and outfielded the visitors and won in a walk. They fell on Mr. Iaks in the last three innings, and aided by the Bisons' errors added nine runs to the two they scored in the second and cinched the game. Toronto's 12 hits were good for a total of 21 bases. Williams was in great form, and was backed up almost perfectly. Toronto's only error was made by Dr. Smith, who, however, is mentioned for playing the best game of the day, accepting nine other chances, many of them of the hot order. Score:

Buffalo	1 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—4
Toronto	0 2 0 0 0 0 2 4 3—11

SPRINGFIELD LOST AND WON.

At Providence Providence and Springfield played two games to-day, one being the game postponed on account of rain on Decoration Day. They broke even, Springfield winning the first and Providence the second game. The home team could do no effective batting in the first game. They also made a mess of fielding. In the second game, the home team rallied, and with a little hitting things were reversed. Score:

First game—	R. H. E.
Providence	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2 5 7
Springfield	2 0 1 0 2 1 0 0 *—6 11 2

Batteries—Egan and Dixon; Mains and Duncan.

Second game—	R. H. E.
Providence	2 2 0 0 0 1 0 1 1—7 13 1
Springfield	0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1—2 11 3

Batteries—Braun and Dixon; Woods and Duncan.

At Scranton—Scranton v. Wilkes-Barre; no game, rain.

Rochester, July 6. Syracuse won to-day's game in the first innings, when 10 men went to bat. Ten safe hits, two passes and two errors yielded twelve runs. Jim Corbett played first bag for Rochester. The crowd numbered close to 3000. Score:

	R. H. E.
Rochester	0 1 0 0 0 0 0 2 0—3 8 8
Syracuse	12 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 *—14 17 2

Batteries—McFarlan and Frary; Klusinger and Shaw.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

At Brooklyn—It was not until the ninth innings that the Brooklyns were able to find the wherewabouts of Meekin's curves at Eastern Park. Although they pounded out four runs, it was too late to win the game. Dunn pitched a fairly good game, but was poorly supported. Score:

	R. H. E.
New York	0 0 3 0 1 2 0 1 0—7 11 2
Brooklyn	0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 4—5 10 3

Batteries—Meekin and Warner; Dunn and Grim.

At Pittsburg—The game was errorless on both sides, and one of the best seen on the home grounds this season. Both pitchers did good work, and kept the hits scattered. Score:

	R. H. E.
Pittsburg	0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 1—3 10 0
Cleveland	1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—2 8 0

Batteries—Tannehill and Sugden; Powell and Criger.

At Cincinnati—The champions were easily defeated by the Reds in a slow game. Pond was sent to the slab for the Baltimores, but lasted only five innings. Blackburn, who relieved him, was also hit very hard, but finished the game. Doyle was injured sliding to home plate, and O'Brien finished the game at first. Score:

	R. H. E.
Cincinnati	0 0 2 0 3 0 2 3 *—10 15 1
Baltimore	0 0 1 1 0 0 1 0 0—3 7 4

Batteries—Breitenstein and Peltz; Pond, Blackburn and Bowerman.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia was never a factor against Boston, Stivetts held the local players down to seven hits, and, barring a wild throw by Long, his support was faultless. Child also pitched a good game, but his support was ragged at times. Attendance 2201. Score:

	R. H. E.
Philadelphia	0 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 0—2 7 4
Boston	0 4 2 0 1 1 0 0 0—6 9 1

The Coming of Baby.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. The care and anxiety count for nothing against the clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates.

A POINTED LETTER

From the Papal Ablegate to Archbishop Langevin.

THE POPE WILL GIVE A DECISION

And It Is the Duty of Catholics to Await That Decision and Abstain from Agitation—Not Anyone's Business to Anticipate the Judgment of the Pontiff.

Montreal, July 6.—Mgr. Del Val, the Apostolic delegate, has sent to Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface a letter dated Ottawa, July 3, 1897, in which he says:

"We must hope that the sacred work of peace and justice desired by the Holy See and by us will be fully realized. In this regard I can assure Your Grace that His Holiness will be able before long to give a decision and to trace for the Catholics of Canada the line of conduct to follow in the present situation.

"The Holy Father has exhausted all sources of information, and, unless wishing to conceal the truth, it is impossible to doubt that he is perfectly informed on the facts and their circumstances.

"In the meantime there remains, however, an imperative duty for all, and in the exercise of my functions I am obliged to inculcate it in a formal way with the certainty that the bishops and clergy will see to its exact accomplishment on the part of the faithful. This duty is to abstain entirely from all agitation, to forget divisions and resentment and to suspend all discussion.

"Things having entered for Catholics into a new phase by the simple fact of the direct intervention of the Sovereign Pontiff, it is for him today to determine finally their obligations on the religious side of this question and it is not our business or the business of anyone to anticipate his judgment and his action. It must be evident to every enlightened Catholic that the authority of the supreme pastor cannot be invoked or sustained by the taking away of that of the bishops, and that on the other hand, the authority of the bishops is weakened by the taking even indirectly of the free exercise of that of the head of the church.

"For my part, Monseigneur, I too quickly learned to esteem the Catholics of Canada and to admire their virtues to doubt that they rejoice in being able to leave to the vicar of Jesus Christ with submission and confidence the care of watching over their religious interests, deeply persuaded that his decision will be the most sacred and most wise."

Bryan Has Changed His Opinion.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 6.—Late last night a banquet was given in honor of W. J. Bryan by the Silver Republican Club. In his address Bryan said he used to think that all good was contained in the Democratic party and all bad in the Republican party, but lately he had seen so many good Republicans he had changed his opinion. He wanted to give the silver Republicans the front rank in the battle now being waged.

COUNTY REGISTRAR.

All Else Failing Mr. Geo. C. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Port Hope (Special) July 5.—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Geo. C. Ward, Registrar of this county, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his intimate friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

Here is the Way.

To cure all heart and nerve troubles and weak, weary, tired feeling, sleeplessness, nervousness, etc., do as Mr. Thos. Glover, Chatham, Ont., did. Says Mrs. Glover: "One box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured me. I was so bad that I feared paralysis, but am now well and strong, thanks to these wonderful pills."

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture, intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. ENDEAVORERS AT 'FRISCO.

Delegates Arriving in Thousands—Addresses of a Wisconsin Divine and a Preacher from London, Ont.

San Francisco, July 6.—All is now in readiness for the Christian Endeavor Convention. About 6000 delegates will arrive to-day and as many more to-morrow. To-night the great chorus, the concert chorus and the bouquet chorus will give their concert in the Mechanics' Pavilion. These singers are to furnish the music at all the Endeavor meetings, alternating the places of their appearance and so singing simultaneously at different meetings.

On the subject, "The Life Filled With the Spirit," Rev. Joseph W. Cochran of Madison, Wis., speaking on that subject in the Christian Endeavor Convention to-day, said in part: "This is not an international picnic, but an international filling with the spirit. Scenery, hospitality, decoration, music, are the bright background of a simple scene transpiring here. Jesus is in our midst and we are touching the hem of His garment."

Rev. Courtland Meyers of Brooklyn, N.Y., also spoke on the "Life Filled With the Spirit."

"Earth's grandest possibility," said Mr. Meyers, "is the subject of this hour. A life filled with the spirit is a life passed upon mountain tops, which pierce the clouds and touch the very threshold of heaven. This magnificent possibility is for all men and, paradoxical as it may seem, it is for only one man. The conditions precede the blessing. The one man is He who fulfilled the human part."

Rev. Robert Johnson, B.A., B.D., of London, Ont., spoke in Calvary Presbyterian Church on the "Spirit Life." His discourse was an elaboration of the thought "Man's Great Personal Responsibility to God," and he made an earnest appeal to his hearers to claim the inheritance of a Christian life, which was open to those fulfilling the conditions imposed.

A Claim AND . . . . An Offer

WE CLAIM there is only one preparation in Canada to-day that is guaranteed to cure BRONCHITIS, and that is DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE. It is MOTHER'S cure for her child when it is all stuffed up with CROUP and coughing its little lungs out with WHOOPING COUGH. One small dose immediately stops that cough. By loosening the phlegm, puts the little one to sleep and rest. Dr. Chase compounded this valuable syrup so as to take away the unpleasant taste of turpentine and linseed. TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples, and blotches. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. The skin is not a thing by itself, and skin diseases are frequently not skin diseases at all. All the lotions and bleaches and creams and powders in the world won't make a good complexion if the digestion is wrong. If the stomach is sour, and the liver torpid, and the bowels constipated, the skin will show it. No use trying to treat the skin for such a condition. The only way to relieve it is to cleanse the system and purify the blood. As long as the heart is pumping impurities to every part of the body, just so long these impurities will show through the skin.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients, it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It fills out the hollows, rubs out wrinkles and substitutes for sallowness a rosy, healthy glow. There is no mystery about it. It isn't a miracle. It is merely the result of a combination of rational, natural common sense with expert medical knowledge. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood. Don't let prejudice and scepticism cheat you out of your health. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will positively cure you, if suffering from diseases named above.

If you want to know hundreds of great medical truths, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only, and we will send you FREE, a copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

DEATH AN EPICUREAN.

Death loveth not the woeful heart,
Or the soul that's tired of living,
Nay, it's up and away,
With the heart that's gay
And the life that's worth the giving.

Seldom he stops where his welcome's sure,
When age and want are sighing,
Nay, it's up and away
For he scorns to stay
With the wretch that would be dying.

Ah, it's youth and love and a cloudless sky
The epicurean's after,
Nay, it's up and away
When the world's in May
And life is full of laughter.

ADVENTURE A WHEEL.

"You can talk all you want to, Vic, about your '97 wheel, with its 80 gear, three-point bearings, quick-repair tires and what not, but my '95 is all right, and I won't be in the rear on club runs by a long shot."

At the same time Jack Roberts, a bright-looking chap of athletic build, gazed admiringly at his companion's new bicycle, with all its improvements.

"Oh, you'll beat out some of the boys," replied Vic Nichols, patronizingly, "but your 68 gear and antiquated omnibus, Jack, put you in the rear division."

Some of Vic's cronies laughed with him. They were assembled this April evening at their clubhouse in one of the upper wards of Brooklyn. No one thought of going out for a ride, as it was windy and threatened rain.

"So you think you've got a cinch, Vic?" said Jack, his gray eyes flashing a little.

"Well, I can't figure you in it with that wheel, old fellow."

Jack was somewhat nettled. Vic's father presented his son with a new wheel every year, and the boy was enabled thereby to set the pace for most of the members of the club, a fact that made him rather boastful. Jack's parents couldn't afford such luxury, but he felt pretty sure he could beat his rival on anything like even terms.

"Well, I won't call you a better man till you've beaten me," Jack asserted, defiantly.

"What's the matter with racing to Brown's, at Valley Stream, and back to-night?" asked Vic, craftily.

"I'll go, if you think it won't rain."

"Hold on. Trifles like rain and punctures won't count. They'll be no excuse. We'll have the wind at our backs going out, and we'll buck it coming back. A 25-mile race like that ought to prove something. What do you say?"

"I'm with you"—and Jack began some hasty preparations.

Some of the boys tried to discourage the rivals from racing at such a time on such a night.

"Don't you know there's been wheelmen held up nights out in those woods?" cried little Will Jenkins.

"Newspaper stories," laughed Jack.

It was 8 p. m. before the boys got their wheels in trim, the chains lubricated, the tires inflated, the bearings oiled and the lamps filled. But they started promptly at that time.

For a few minutes they pedaled over some roughly-paved streets, and the raw wind made both begin to repent their rash venture. But soon they struck fair turf and macadam roads and sped along at great speed, the wind at their backs.

Slowly, but surely, Vic drew away from Jack, though his legs were not moving as fast as his rival's.

Their road wound along through sleepy villages, past fields and farms, into dark patches of cool woods, which brought vividly to the boys' minds the stories of wheelmen waylaid and robbed by men who sprang suddenly from the leafy coverts. Vic was considerably in the lead now. Looking ahead, Jack could see but the faint streak of light thrown on the ground by his rival's lantern.

"That's all right," muttered Jack. "His high gear and the wind favor him now, but I'll hold him coming back. Give me a low gear for pedaling against the wind."

The faint, ghost-like light now disappeared around a bend in the road, and Jack began to feel lonely.

"It might be better for us to keep together coming home, anyway, thought Jack, as a crackling noise reached his ears, as if someone were moving among the trees and underbrush on his right. The wind moaned dismally as it swept through the branches, and more than once Jack thought, in his excited state, that he detected fiery eyes in the dark depths, which glared at him as he swept by.

But the momentary fear passed away, and as he emerged from the woods he began to really enjoy his ride. He was perspiring freely, and some of the up grades made him puff, but at this he smiled as he thought of his rival's high gear.

At last the lights of Valley Stream gleamed ahead, and Jack wheeled into the yard of the appointed roadhouse just as Vic was mounting to return.

"Good-bye, Jack," that worthy shouted. "S'pose I'll see you later at the club?"

"Just ring when you get there," Jack responded. "I'll let you in."

Glancing at the clock as he entered, Jack noted that it was 9.35. The proprietor of the place knew both boys and had heard of the race from Vic. He chatted pleasantly until two wheelmen, apparently well-to-do business men, of middle age, entered, inquiring their way. They laughed and joked about their predicament in being out a night like that, having missed the last train to the city.

Right after them came another bicyclist, who impressed Jack rather unfavorably. He darted a quick glance at a roll of bills one of the gentlemen displayed in paying his bill. But while the boy was taking a critical survey of his wheel outside the man came out, got his machine, and rode off.

Jack purposely delayed starting a little, as he didn't want the man for a traveling companion. When he did get off he was six minutes behind Vic, but he had faith that he could eventually catch up.

Jack now began to work in earnest. He bent over his wheel and pedaled swiftly along the old Merrick road, though the wind was now in his teeth and the light of his lantern flickered fitfully.

Past Springfield he flew, and shortly turned into Locust avenue, without catching sight of Vic or the rough-looking stranger. He heard nothing now but the whir of his wheel and his own hard breathing. He was bent on winning the race.

Bump!

Jack uttered an angry ejaculation. In passing over a railroad track his light had been jarred out.

"Well, I've got no time to light it now," he muttered and worked the faster.

Now he caught sight of a faint light ahead. "That must be Vic—I'm overhauling him!" he thought, joyfully. "The man had no light!"

He was approaching the point where the Rockaway road intersects when the chain on his wheel jerked and creaked ominously.

"Fate's against me!" growled Jack. "It needs graphite."

He sprang lightly to the ground, pushed his wheel over against a tree, the trunk of which was hidden among the bushes, and bent down to apply the lubricant. He was busily engaged when he was startled by hearing low voices proceeding from around the bend, and presently a man came cautiously into view.

After gazing anxiously down the road, the man uttered to his concealed companions:

"That other kid ought to be along. We don't want him around when we hold up those fellows."

"Well, how're we goin' to know who's who?" was the gruff return.

"I'll tell yer. I'm goin' down the road a bit. If the gents pass first I'll signal yer with my dark lantern an' you do the trick. If the kid is first I'll do nothin' an' you do likewise—see?"

"All right. Hurry up; there's a couple of lights comin' up now."

The man approached, and Jack's heart beat wildly. Discovery seemed almost certain, but he held his breath in an agony of uncertainty. So close did the highwayman pass, his eyes bent keenly down the road, that the boy easily recognized him in the gloom as the suspicious character he had seen in the tavern.

But he passed on, and as his footsteps died away there was a silence, broken only by the soughing of the wind through the treetops.

Jack was in a fever of excitement. Turn either way and he would be confronted by either one or the other of the midnight marauders. "Yet I can't stay here and see two fellows murdered." He shuddered at the thought.

Then he ventured to stand up. A twig crackling under his foot seemed to him as a rifle report. There was a moment of terrible suspense, and then Jack heard something moving stealthily toward him in the bushes.

That settled it.

His nerves tingling, the lad grasped his wheel and half lifted, half pushed it into the roadway. As he sprang into the saddle a missile of some kind whistled by his ear. Then he pedaled desperately back along the road.

He heard a long-drawn, peculiar cry at his back—a signal of danger to the man ahead. Jack bent desperately to his work. He saw the lights of the approaching wheelmen, uttered a warning cry, and the next moment something fell with a dull thud in front of his wheel. There was a crash; Jack felt himself hurling through space; then he struck the ground and rolled over.

Dazed, he raised himself to his knee in time to see a dark figure leap toward him with upraised hand. Instinctively the boy raised his arm to protect his head, and thereby warded off a blow from some instrument just like a sandbag.

The wheelmen were now on the spot; the highwayman sprang into the woods and disappeared. Jack explained things hurriedly, his arm hanging limp at his side.

"My poor boy," said one, "you're badly hurt, I fear."

"No; 'twas a glancing blow," said Jack, though his face twitched with the pain of it.

"Well, lad, we owe you much—you risked your life for strangers. But, come, we must get out of this."

As the gentlemen were warned and were armed with pistols, they felt no further fear of an attack. Jack's wheel was picked up, somewhat twisted, but he found that he could ride it, holding on by one hand; so the trio proceeded cautiously on their way. The highwaymen had undoubtedly fled, for they encountered no opposition.

Meanwhile, worn out, but happy, Vic wheeled into the club grounds as the clock was striking 11. He was given an ovation.

"I've beaten him out of his boots!" he cried.

But as time went on the members became worried about Jack, and finally resolved to go in search of him. Anxious parents thronged the club house at midnight, wondering what detained their sons. Just as a relief party was about to sally forth a shout was heard and Jack rode slowly up.

To a volley of questions he answered simply and a little sullenly that he'd fallen over a log in the road, his light being out. The crowd got nothing further from him and dispersed, disgusted at having lost so much sleep for nothing.

"I feel sorry for him," Vic said, "but doesn't he feel sore over his defeat!"

Some people opened their eyes when they got their papers the next morning. There was a full account of the dastardly attempt to hold up two prominent business men of New York while wheeling on a lonely Long Island road, and how a brave Brooklyn boy, named Jack Roberts, had frustrated the highwaymen.

The club members waited on Jack in a body that day, and Vic was their spokesman.

About a week later an express wagon stopped in front of Jack's house and a big, boxed-up affair was left at the door. It was a wheel of the latest make, with every improvement and attachment that man's ingenuity could devise. On a little card was written: "Presented to brave Jack Roberts as a slight testimonial from two wheelmen for whom he risked his life."

It wasn't long after this event that Jack administered a crushing defeat to his rival, Vic.

UNKNOWN BOY DROWNED.

Sank Whilst Bathing at the Foot of Peter-Street—Dead When Rescued—No Marks of Identity.

Toronto, July 8.

Yesterday added another to the list of the season's drowning fatalities. This time the victim is an unknown boy, apparently about 10 or 11 years of age.

A number of boys had been swimming at the foot of Peter-street, and all had got out and partly dressed except one, when P. C. Craig came along about 4.30 and endeavored to get their names, but they scampered off, the only one remaining on shore being a young man of 19 named Alfred Spicer, 473 King-street west. He was watching the lad in the water, but thought he was swimming hand over hand, when suddenly he noticed that the young fellow went down with his hands up, and did not rise again.

As soon as possible young Spicer undressed and sprang in and endeavored to find the lad, but it was about 10 minutes before he did this and brought the boy to the surface.

When lifted to the wharf life was extinct. Drs. Gallow and Riordan were telephoned for, who soon appeared, and endeavored to resuscitate the lad, but without success.

The drowned boy's clothes were on the wharf, where he left them, and consisted of a small straw hat, black cassimere stockings, lace boots, dark knickerbocker trousers and dark coat. There were no marks on the body by which he could be identified, and none of those in the neighborhood appeared to know him.

MARK TWAIN'S LUCKY COUSIN.

He Located a Mine in Alaska and Has Sold It for $53,000.

Victoria, B. C., July 7.—Charley Clemens, a cousin of Mark Twain, the humorist, has suddenly come into a modest fortune.

He has been a prospector in Alaska for some time, and early this spring located a mine on the Klondyke-Yukon River. The announcement is now made upon authority that he has sold the mine for $53,000. £11?

THEY WEPT FOR JOY.

A French-Canadian Returned to His Aged Parents After Being Absent Since Childhood—Remarkable Story.

Quebec, July 6.—Louis Chretien, 29 years of age, has just returned to his home at St. Damaz, L'Islet County, after the most eventful career one can imagine. In 1875, when he was 7 years old, he strayed from home and was lost in the bush. Indians found him, and, after keeping him for some time, they sold the lad to the management of a circus. Since then Chretien has wandered the world over. Recently, however, some French-Canadians in the States urged him to retrace his name and origin. He accordingly came down to St. Damaz yesterday and found his old parents alive. They told him they had lost a boy long ago. Chretien then recalled scenes of his boyhood days, which he faintly remembered. Recollections were true, and he was thus identified by his aged parents, who wept with joy at having recovered the long lost son.

WILL GRANT A FIAT.

The Lord's Day Alliance People Worrying the Attorney-General About Sunday Cars in Kingston.

Toronto, July 8.

Referring to the application of the Lord's Day Alliance for a fiat authorizing the use of the name of the Attorney-General in a suit to restrain the Kingston Street Railway Company from running their cars or motors on Sunday, Premier Hardy has decided to grant a fiat if the cars begin running, but not until, or unless they do so. The Executive Council is not of opinion that a suit to restrain the railway company by injunction should be at the expense of the Province, or that a fiat can go upon other than the usual terms, viz.: the terms upon which fiats were granted in similar cases by Sir Oliver Mowat.

The company admit having run their cars on Sunday, May 23, as they allege, under special circumstances. They deny that they have been running since, or that they are running now, or that they have declared their intention of running regularly. Under these circumstances, therefore, it is thought sufficient that a fiat may be issued in case they begin running.

NINE MEN KILLED.

A Boiler Explosion on a Farm in Tennessee Which Was Disastrous.

Hartsville, Tenn., July 7.—A boiler exploded on the farm of W. A. Allen, this county, yesterday, and Mr. Allen and eight others were killed instantly and five badly injured.

Mr. Allen and his men had just finished threshing wheat and were preparing to leave the field when the explosion occurred. Some of the victims were mangled beyond recognition, and pieces of the boiler were blown 70 yards.

FINAL VOTE TO-DAY.

All Parties in the U. S. Senate Reached An Agreement White Pine Duty Will Not Be Tampered With.

Washington, July 6.—The final vote on the tariff bill will be taken in the Senate before adjournment to-morrow, an agreement assented to by all the parties having been reached at the close of the debate to-day.

Mr. Allison did not ask that the hour for the vote be set, being content with the positive agreement that it should be some time to-morrow. The limitation of speeches after 1 p.m. to five minutes will bring the debate within narrow limits.

The announcement by the vice-president that the agreement was perfected led to a general exchange of congratulations among the Senators.

Just before adjournment Mr. Pettigrew interposed an inquiry as to whether white pine lumber would be left at $1 per 1000 feet. He desired some assurance that the rate would not be disturbed, otherwise he would have to object to an agreement.

Mr. Allison gave assurance that the committee would not make a change. This satisfied Mr. Pettigrew, and the last danger was passed.

Blaze Near Port Erie.

Fort Erie, Ont., July 7.—The G.T.R. firemen had an exciting run to a blaze in Middletown this evening. The barn belonging to Mr. R. Wilker, yardmaster G.T.R., caught fire from some unknown cause and was totally destroyed with contents; loss $400. The firemen deserve great praise for promptness in their reply to the alarm. The work of the firemen was greatly hindered by the large number that had congregated from the surrounding neighborhood and the race track, but a wetting down soon dispersed them.

THE SULTAN DEFIANT

Things are Again Looking Stormy in the East.

WHAT WILL THE GREAT POWERS DO?

Abdul Hamid Prepared to Meet Germany and Russia—Edhem Pasha May Yet be Sent With His Army to March on Athens—General News (By Cable.

London, July 8.—Greco-Turkish affairs appear to be re-entering an interesting stage. Yesterday the Porte despatched a circular to its representatives abroad containing a skilful defence of the Turkish case and declining to consider any frontier line in Thessaly north of the River Peneios, which it regards as the natural boundary. It appears that the Sultan has convinced himself that the powers will not resort to coercion, and has decided to test the alleged concert of Europe to the utmost. Monday he summoned a council of Ministers for an extraordinary sitting of the Yildiz Kiosk, with the result that, after a heated discussion, a report was decided upon in favor of resuming hostilities if peace should not be concluded within a week. The Minister of War sent telegrams to Edhem Pasha announcing the decision.

This accords with all the news received for the last 10 days. The Turks are rapidly strengthening their positions in Thessaly, massing troops at Dhomoko, fortifying Velestina and in other ways entrenching themselves firmly. The Thessalian harvest has already been reaped by the Turkish soldiery and large quantities of grain have been stored at Elassona.

According to a circumstantial report of a conversation between the Sultan and an officer of his household, Abdul Hamed complained that the war had been forced upon him and that when he was victorious, Europe refused him either territory or indemnity. Therefore, he intended to resist to the utmost. He said: "We have nothing to fear. The six powers failed to coerce Cassos and his 2000 adventurers. What can they they do against 300,000 victorious troops in Roumelia? Supposing they wished to coerce me, who would undertake the task? I have information from all the capitals of Europe indicative of the indecision of the powers.

"Edhem was a fool not to have surrounded the Greek army and to have advanced to Athens; but he may be there yet. If no concessions are made within a few days, I shall give the order to advance. We can dictate our own terms from the Acropolis. Everything is ready for immediate action."

According to this report the Sultan discussed the possibility of Russia and Germany attempting coercion and declared that he was entirely ready to meet them both.

The foregoing may be perhaps only a bluff, and it is even alleged in some quarters, among others by the Italian admiral Canevaro at Crete that peace is actually in view. But it is significant that General Smolenski had long conferences with King George and M. Rolli at Athens to-day and will start for Thermopylae to-morrow to assume the command of the first division.

The distress of Greece and the stagnation of trade and industry have become very serious. In Crete there are signs of continued unrest. The Mohammedans of Candia are preparing to attack the wealthy Christian town of Archanes.

The Turks Warned.

Vienna, July 8.—The semi-official Fremdenblatt to-day warns Turkey that the harmony of the powers is not impaired, and that the policy of the Turkish Government is doomed to failure if it continues upon a disagreement. The Fremdenblatt adds: "Russia and France, like the other powers, have agreed that the negotiations must be brought to a close and the Porte will become convinced that its attempts to deduce extreme consequences from the Turkish victories are vain and must fail before the firm will of Europe."

Cubans Pardoned.

Madrid, July 8.—The Queen Regent has pardoned 108 Cubans who have been deported to the Spanish Penal Settlements at Ceuta, Fernandopo and the Chaffarine Islands. The men pardoned will be permitted to return to Cuba.

REDMOND VISITS THE FENIANS.

They are in a Desperate Condition, but Their Crime Was Desperate.

London, July 8.—Mr. John Redmond, M.P., the Parnellite leader, by special permission of the British Government paid a long visit on Jubilee Day to the Irish political prisoners in Portland Prison. Throughout that day he stayed with them in their cells, and he tells the Associated Press that some of the cases are desperate. Henry Wilson and Burton, Mr. Redmond adds, are complete wrecks. They are permitted to be seated whenever they like, and are only lightly worked. He fears they will die unless speedily released. Harragan is demented, and, if released, will have to be restrained, like Dr. Thomas Gallagher and Albert G. Whitehead.

Altogether there are only five Irish political prisoners undergoing imprisonment. The ordinary convicts of Portland Prison are mostly employed in the quarries and in the open air. The Irish political prisoners, however, are closely confined to indoor labor all the week, and are not allowed out except on Sundays.

Mr. Redmond is in constant communication with the Government in regard to the prisoners, and recently secured a special commission of London doctors to report on their cases.

THE DELAGOA BAY AWARD.

Lord Salisbury "Reassures" the Earl of Mayo in Cynical Fashion.

London, July 8.—In the House of Lords to-day the Marquis of Salisbury, replying to the Earl of Mayo, agreed that the delay in the Delagoa Bay award was most extraordinary, adding that he was afraid the arbitration would emulate the delays of the Court of Chancery. Continuing, the Premier said that he had been informed that a decision would speedily be given, but there was little comfort in this, as the same information had been supplied several years ago and he must leave the Earl of Mayo such consolation as was afforded by the reflection that the matter had been left to the sacred principle of arbitration.

They Chased the King.

Lagos, British West Africa, July 8.—A body of troops in the employ of the British Niger Company reports having discovered and pursued the fugitive King of Benin. During the pursuit three towns were captured by the troops with severe loss to the natives. The King succeeded in escaping. The troops lost Lieut. Fitzgerald and two men killed.

SIR HENRY STRONG

Attended the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council.

London, July 8.—(Montreal Star Cable.)—Chief Justice Sir S. H. Strong of Canada to-day attended the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, it being his first visit since he was sworn in as Privy Councillor. He did not, however, take his seat. Sir S. H. Strong will not take part in the hearing of the two out of four Canadian cases now before the committee, having already adjudicated upon these two in the Canadian Supreme Court.

Sir L. E. Davies, Canadian Minister of Marine, reached London to-day to assist Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his conference at the Colonial Office, respecting the German-Belgian treaties and the Canadian tariff. Mr. Chamberlain has received from the Australian Premier the strongest appeals to annul these treaties, if found to obstruct the operations of the Canadian tariff.

To-day, Mr. Chamberlain held, with the Premiers, the last of the joint conferences, leaving a week for closer personal discussions with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, before the latter proceeds to Paris, where he goes to July 16.

Col. Prior is slowly improving in health.

A DICKENS FETE.

The Gardens of Bleak House, in Kent, Gaily Decorated With Flags.

London, July 8.—A Dickens fete was opened to-day at Broad Stairs, Kent, in the gardens of Bleak House, where Dickens spent many summers and wrote much of his best work. The place has since been deserted, but to-day the house was decorated with flags, as were many other houses in the town in which dwelt the originals of some of Dickens' characters.

The lawn of Bleak House was arranged as a Dickens village, showing his most famous scenes and characters reproduced correctly from pictures by George Cruikshank and "Phiz" and May pole dances were performed in the meadows. The proceeds of the fete are to go toward the establishment of a sailors' and workingmen's club.

EATEN BY SHARKS.

The Boat on Which They Tried to Escape Was Smashed and Passengers Devoured.

London, July 8.—Despatches which have been received here of the foundering of the Indian pilgrim steamer Sultan, 100 miles east of the Island of Socotra, the first news of which was brought to Colombo by the Peninsula and Oriental Company's steamer Valetta, on June 15, last, show that the first boat lowered from the Sultan was smashed to pieces, and all its occupants were eaten by sharks in sight of those remaining on board the steamer.

BOUND BY GRATITUDE

Are Britain's Colonies to the Mother Country.

SPEECH BY MR. JOS. CHAMBERLAIN

At the Banquet Given by the Cordwainers' Company to the Colonial Premiers and Their Wives. Sir Wilfrid Laurier Was the Principal Colonial Speaker.

London, July 8.—This evening at the Hotel Cecil, the Cordwainers Company gave a banquet to the Colonial Premiers and their wives. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier sat on the right and left respectively of the master of the company, and covers were laid for 300 guests.

Among those present were the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Ambassador Hay and Mrs. Hay, the Earl and Countess of Dunraven, Cardinal Vaughn, Col. Aylmer, Lord Glencoe, the Canadian High Commissioner, and Lady Smith, Sir William Whiteway, the Premier of Newfoundland, and Col. Ivor Herbert.

The master of the company toasted "Our Guests, Their Excellencies the Ambassadors from the United States," which was received with hearty applause.

Mr. Whitelaw Reid, in the course of his reply, said that Americans in London now a days had to pinch themselves to keep from believing that they were not all the time at home. [Laughter.] Referring to the events of Jubilee week, he said that of all the wonderful sights and suggestions of the Jubilee, the supreme fact most obvious and conspicuous was the profound and touching affection of the people of the United Kingdom for their Queen. He humorously pointed out to "our Australian friends" that the geographical centre of the United States is now San Francisco, equally distant between the Atlantic and Honolulu.

Mr. Chamberlain, toasting "The British Empire," said the Jubilee displays of the army and navy were a guarantee to the colonies that Great Britain would spend her all in their defence. If by no other ties, he continued, the colonies were bound to Great Britain by gratitude for having accorded them free government. He pointed out the delicacy and fragility of the links binding the colonies to England, and added: "In their interests, everything is being done to bind the colonies to that England unto which they belong; and we hope soon to witness the federation of Australasia, which, of necessity, must be followed by the federation of the South African colonies, which in turn would lead to the federation of the British Empire."

Mr. Chamberlain, continuing, said: "I believe, however, that I express the feeling of those well qualified to represent the self-governing colonies when I say they are of the opinion that any change in the political relations between England and her colonies would be a matter of such vast importance and complexity, and involve such great constitutional changes, that it ought at all times to be approached with delicacy and reserve. It would be retarded rather than hastened by any attempt to press it to a premature conclusion. We hope that the colonists will take back this message from the bottom of all English hearts. We are prepared at any sacrifice to maintain intact their interests and honor and our own, and believe that unity of the Empire is the best guarantee of the integrity of the Empire."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying, said: "Mr. Chamberlain has opened up the subject which, more than any other, is engaging the attention of the Empire. It is of a character that must demand the attention of thinking men. One thing is certain, the colonies should either draw more closely together in the Empire or should separate. The decision, the choice, does not lie altogether in the mouths of the colonies, but rather in the mouths of the people of the Motherland. When Canada has her strength nothing else will satisfy her but Imperial representation. If this is thought to be a dream, then it is a dream that should appeal to all men and especially to all women."

In responding to the toast to "The Army and Navy," Col. Herbert highly complimented the Canadian troops, and advocated the representation of the colonial forces in Her Majesty's Imperial troops, so that they might be absolutely a part of the British army.

SIR WILFRID'S PROGRAM.

Will Visit France and Switzerland. Then Back to England and From There Sail for Canada.

London, July 8.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, goes to Paris on July 17, and later he will visit Switzerland. Then he will return to England, spend a few days in London and sail Aug. 19 on the Labrador.

STABBED WITH A FILE.

Engineer McNabb Badly Wounded His Captain on the Steamer Aurora in Lake Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, July 8.—(Special.)—Reid Anderson, captain of the steamer Aurora, quarrelled with McNabb, the engineer, while out on Lake Winnipeg yesterday, when McNabb used a loop file, stabbing Anderson three times. Anderson is now in a critical condition. McNabb has been arrested.

LET SLEEPING DOGS LIE.

The Conservative journals have been making quite a scandal, or, at least, trying to do so, over the appointment to Government office of some men who took part in the Riel uprising of 1885. Writing on this in the Farmers' Sun, Mr. Goldwin Smith says:

Exception is being taken to the employment of a man in the Northwest by the Government on the ground that he was once a Rielite. When civil war is over, its memories ought to be buried. Proscription of the vanquished is the very thing for which U. E. Loyalist and all good writers of history with them, have justly blamed the Americans, and which the best of the Americans themselves now deplore. Riel was, and still remains, an enigma; probably he was half patriot and half quack; at all events he met his doom. To the poor half breeds whom he led much sympathy is due. They saw the region which they had learned to regard as their own invaded by a power to which, though they unquestionably owed legal fealty, they could hardly owe the allegiance of the heart. They feared, not unreasonably, for their little local interests and their primitive means of livelihood. They were naturally in an agitated and suspicious frame of mind. They thought they had a specific grievance. But their complaint was pigeon-holed at Ottawa, and the warning letter of Archbishop Taché remained unread. On the carelessness of the Ottawa Government rests the chief responsibility for the outbreak. Attacked by a force far superior in numbers and still more superior in armament, they fought gallantly for the village which to them was country as well as home. The magnitude of the rejoicings with which we celebrated their defeat attested the bravery of their defence. The history of the whole affair has hitherto been written by the victor. But at all events this petty civil war in the Northwest is a thing of the past. Of proscription or disability we ought to hear no more.

The doctrine of letting by-gones be by-gones advocated by Mr. Smith seems to be a good one. Men are sometimes carried away by their enthusiasm and make sad political mistakes. Why, George Etienne Cartier and David Macpherson even signed a manifesto in favour of annexing Canada to the United States. This was in 1847, half a century ago. Yet these men and others who shared their disloyal sentiments outlived that "moment of weakness" and Mr. Cartier became Sir George Cartier—head of a Conservative Government, as colleague with Sir John Macdonald, and Sir Donald Macpherson became the Senator and a member of another Conservative Cabinet. To come to the matter of the alleged appointments of Rielite sympathisers, which is urged as so grave an offence on the part of the Laurier Government, these critics might remember the kindness extended to Louis Riel himself by the Conservative Government of the day, which gave him $2,500 of the public money to enable him to escape arrest for the murder of Thos. Scott, and the same Conservative Government also appointed Mr. J. H. Clarke, Attorney-General of Manitoba, on the condition that he should prevent the prosecution of Louis Riel. This same Conservative Government appointed Louis Schmidt, secretary in Riel's so-called Government, a land agent at Prince Albert, where, for all that is known to the contrary he still remains. This was fresh on the disclosure of his complicity with Riel, and while the cruel murder of Scott was fresh in the public minds. Yet after a dozen years have elapsed, two Northwest Metis who have outlived the indiscretion of having been concerned in the Northwest rising and have performed since their duties as peaceful and law-abiding citizens, are appointed to petty government offices, and according to Conservative organs a high crime and misdemeanor has been committed. We have buried quite a collection of hatchets by the settlement of the school question, and the new regime of tolerance and national brotherhood developed under the sunny ways of Mr. Laurier, and we might let the little indiscretions of misguided half-breeds, goaded by the injustice, oppression and apathy of the Conservative government of 1885, into taking up arms in the shape of rickity shot guns, and who have since been good citizen, lie at rest.

THE MARKETS.

Flour—Trade is quiet and prices as a rule unchanged. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.20 to $3.25 west.

Bran—Trade quiet, with bran quoted at $8 to $8.50 west; and shorts $9. Bran $10 here.

Wheat—The demand for wheat is moderate, and prices generally are unchanged. Red winter sold outside at 65½c west, and white is quoted at 66c to 67c west. No. 1 Manitoba hard sold at 72c Fort William and at 76½c to 77c Goderich. No. 2 hard is quoted at 74c to 75c Goderich.

Buckwheat—The demand is limited, and prices nominal.

Barley—The market continues dull, and No. 2 at 25c and No. 2 extra at 23c to 24c. Feed barley dull at 21c to 22c.

Oats—The market is fairly active, with prices unchanged. White sold at 23c west, and mixed at 22c west.

Peas—The market is firmer, with sales at 41½c north and west.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices firm at $2.90 to $3 for car lots.

Rye—Business remains quiet, with cars quoted at 31½c east.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Although Thursday is not a recognized market day in the full sense of the word, there were between 20 and 25 car loads of live stock at the local yards yesterday. They were composed of 450 cattle, 600 sheep and lambs, 350 hogs, 50 calves and 12 milch cows. Not many of the cattle offered were for export, but principally butchers', and they were mostly of better quality than was offered on Tuesday. Prices show little change from our quotations of Tuesday last. Exporters would fetch from $4.25 to $4.50, and extra picked stall-fed cattle would bring $4.75. Mr. Russell, one of the country dealers, sold a pair of nice steers that weighed 1210 lbs. each at $4.25. One heavy bull was sold at $3.75, but there were few on the market, and in fact the bulk of the beef represented was cows. Butchers' cattle sold at $3.25 to $3.50, and we think choice picked cattle would bring $3.75, but did not see any sold for that money. Stockers are the same as last quotations. Cows, no change from last reports. Calves were a little easier, and sold from $3 to $5 each. Export sheep ewes sold from $3.25 to $3.37½ per cwt. Lambs were worth $2.25 to $3.25 each, and extra good ones would bring a little more.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Chesterville, Ont., July 8.—At a meeting of the Cheese Board held here this evening there were 1210 boxes of cheese offered, 710 of which was white and the balance colored; 8¼c was offered for white and none sold; 8 5-16c offered for colored and a few sold.

Listowel, July 8.—Twenty-three factories boarded 5400 boxes cheese, of which 1700 were Junes; balance first half July make. Nothing was done on the board, and very little of anything afterwards.

Brockville, July 8.—At the Cheese Board to-day 57 factories offered 1676 white and 2024 colored: 141 white and 155 colored sold for 8½c. The remainder sold for 8¼c; all sold on the boards.

Kingston, July 8.—At the Cheese Board to-day 2000 boxes boarded sales 1600 at 8 cents.

Lindsay, July 8.—The regular meeting of the County of Victoria Cheese Board was held here to-day. All the officers were present; buyers Whitton, Bird, Fitzgerald, Flavelle and Steers; 1926 cheeses were boarded, which were cleared by Messrs. Whitton, Flavelle and Bird, each taking about equal shares. The prices ranged between 7¾c and 7 15-16c, which was quite satisfactory to patrons.

BRITISH MARKETS.

Liverpool, July 8.—Spring wheat, 5s 10½d to 5s 11¼d; red, no stock; No. 1 Cal., 6s 3d to 6s 4d; peas, 4s 1½d; corn, new, 2s 9½d; pork, 45s 0d for fine western; lard, 21s 0d; bacon, l.c., heavy, 25s 0d; do., light, 24s 0d; short cut, 24s 6d; tallow, 17s 0d; cheese, new, 41s 0d.

London—Wheat off coast firmer; on passage sellers ask an advance. English country markets firmer. Maize on passage less active.

Liverpool—Spot wheat firm; futures steady at 2s 10½d for July, 5s 7½d for Sept. and 5s 8d for Dec. Maize steady at 2s 9d for July, 2s 9½d for Aug. and 2s 10½d for Sept. Flour 20s.

Paris—Wheat 23f 50c for Aug. Flour 48f 60c for Aug.

Paris—Close—Wheat 23f 60c for Aug. Flour steady at 48f 60c for Aug.

London—Close—Wheat off coast and on passage firmer. Maize on passage less active.

THE MINERS' STRIKE

At Present the Outlook is Favorable to the Men.

ACCESSIONS GAINED YESTERDAY.

The First Pool Miners in the Pittsburg District Decide to Quit and the Panhandle Men Will Follow Railroad Companies Confiscating at Cleveland 125,000 Out.

Pittsburg, July 8.—There were but few new developments in the mining situation in the Pittsburg district today, and these were generally favorable to the miners. With the exception of a few men at scattering mines the only miners at work were those of the New York & Cleveland Gas Coal Company and the Canonsburg Coal Company. A meeting of the first pool miners was held last night and they decided to join the strikers. The result is the mines are practically closed to-day. These men are under contract, and ten per cent. of their earnings have been retained since the first of the year to be forfeited in the event of their failure to keep their contract. It was thought these men could not be brought out, and the fact that they have decided to quit will have the effect of inducing others to join the movement.

The Panhandle miners also met and decided to throw down their tools in ten hours after the first pool diggers quit work. These men are also under contract. The Reading men have also decided to quit.

It is said that arrangements have been made for a demonstration at Gastonville and Snowden to-night. If the program is carried out there will likely be trouble.

The Shaner diggers on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad have decided to return to work. They mine coal for the eastern market, and claim they will not be benefited if the strike is either won or lost.

The miners of the Yough Coal Company are meeting at Scotdale to-day. They are working under a verbal contract at 69 cents, and quit when the general order was issued. Nearly 2000 men are employed at these mines, and it is said they are anxious to return to work. President Dolan went to Scotdale this morning, and will endeavor to keep the men in line for the sixty-nine cent rate. A number of coal operators seen to-day say that the strike is becoming serious, as more men are out than they thought would join in the movement.

A Resort to Violence.

Wheeling, W.Va., July 8.—Yesterday morning, armed with pickhandles and clubs, the striking Wheeling and Lake Erie miners at Long Run proceeded to Gillonville and forced the working miners there to come out on strike. Back of Bellaire, on the Baltimore & Ohio road, two railroad miners were working at the rate demanded by the miners, sixty cents, but the striking miners elsewhere are determined that the men shall not work at these mines until the strike is settled.

Already Begun Confiscating.

Cleveland, O., July 8.—The railroads have already begun to seize coal for their own use, no matter to whom it is consigned. Whole trains are sent to railroad yards and unloaded. Nearly every manufacturing establishment in this city has been the loser by this, and with some of them the closing of the works will soon be necessary. An effort was made by railroad men to take three cars of coal from the side track of the Kilby Manufacturing Company, which has a Government contract, but President Kilby frightened them away by threats. The railroads take the coal by virtue of the fact that they carry the United States mails.

What Ratchford Says.

Columbus, O., July 8.—President Ratchford said to-day: "There is no longer any doubt that ultimate victory for the miners is assured. Presidents of various national organizations will meet soon to consider means of relief for miners. Railroad employes are taking deep interest in mining troubles, and may refuse to handle non-union coal. Months ago we warned the operators of the Pittsburg district that West Virginia coal would enter the markets in greater quantities than ever unless they ceased to fight."

Bloomington Miners Stay Out.

Bloomington, Ill., July 8.—At a mass meeting last night the miners decided not to enter upon strike. The meeting ratified the agreement of the miners and coal operators to the effect that if the miners did not go out the operators would ship no coal out of the city.

Virginia Coal for Ohio.

Massillon, O., July 8.—The independent miners in this district have endorsed the proposition to strike.

The Norfolk & Western Railway is moving West Virginia coal into Ohio yesterday. Two train loads passed north, but no trouble was experienced. Deputy marshals have been stationed along the line of the road to prevent interference with the trains and the possible destruction of bridges.

Syracuse Miners Will Join.

Pomeroy, O., July 8.—The Syracuse miners, 200 strong, have made a start today toward joining the great strike. They have laid down tools contingent on other miners of the Pomeroy bend coming out. It now looks as if the whole bend will join in the movement.

125,000 Miners Out.

Columbus, O., July 8.—United mine workers headquarters report from 125,000 to 130,000 miners out. This includes all who were formerly at work, except the miners in West Virginia, and those of Flemington and the Wheeling district and the New York and Cleveland Coal Gas Company of Pittsburg. Headquarters say that it is thought in Pittsburg that the miners of this company can be called out.

Will Not Come Out.

St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—The strike in the Belleville, Ills., coal district may be said to be off. In spite of the order to quit work only three mines are idle, and it is said on good authority that they will be running to-day. Miners in and about Murphysboro, another large coal centre in Southern Illinois, are not in sympathy with the strike movement, and say that they will not come out.

Bishop Potter Is Grieved.

London, July 8.—The first information Bishop Potter has had of the great strike in America and that the men desired him to act as arbitrator was given him to-day. The Bishop did not hesitate an instant when asked if he would act.

"I will cut my visit here short and go back immediately," he said, "if these men really want me to act for them."

Bishop Potter refused to commit himself to any expression of opinion with regard to the merits of the controversy, on the ground that he was not sufficiently well informed as to the cause of the strike, but he said: "I learn of this with unmixed grief and regret, and I shall be ready to make almost any sacrifice if I can do anything to harmonize those who are at issue."

They Favor Arbitration

New York, July 8.—Labor representatives here unanimously approve the suggested plan to settle the great coal miners' strike in the West by arbitration. They are especially pleased at Bishop Potter's willingness to return at once from his vacation in Europe and act as arbitrator if his services are wanted. He has been so successful in settling other big strikes that the labor representatives in this city are sure he can settle this one. The new collector of the port, George R. Bidwell, states that the miners' strike should be arbitrated speedily, but the mine owners should first try to adjust their own differences. Other prominent employers, in interviews to-day, favor arbitration, and there is a general feeling among them that the strike should be terminated quickly by mutual concessions on the part of both mine owners and employes.

THE GULDENSUPPE MURDER.

Martin Thorn Admits Many Things, but Maintains That He Did Not Kill the Man.

New York, July 8.—The harbor police began the work of dredging for the missing head of Guldensuppe at 8 o'clock this morning. Capt. Schultze of the harbor police sent three launches out at 7.30 o'clock with four expert grapplers. It is thought that the ferry was used and that the bundles were thrown off as the boat was entering the slip. If the work here is not successful the whole river will be dragged as far as Thirty-fourth-street, and across in the vicinity of the Navy Yard, where there is a strong eddy, toward which the bundle, if floated at all, might have slowly drifted. Martin Thorn still maintains a serene self-composure, but a break down is expected momentarily, although he still protests his innocence.

This morning, when he was brought before the chief of detectives, he told of his movements with Mrs. Nack. He admitted all the details that have been related, except those dealing with the fatal day when Guldensuppe met his horrible death in the house in Woodside.

Thorn admitted hiring the one-horse surrey for Mrs. Nack and having driven her to Woodside in it. He admitted sending a messenger to Buck's saloon to tell Mrs. Nack that a lady wished to see her on the corner. He told of sending the two boys to Mrs. Nack's house for a valise on the day prior to Mrs. Nack's arrest. And he told of all his movements after Friday. Here he stopped—not a word about Friday. When questioned closely regarding his movements on that day, he refused absolutely to say a word.

Gartha's statement telling in detail the awful tale of the murder as related by Thorn to his friend was read to the accused man last night, and when asked what he had to say, he replied: "Nothing."

Both Indicted for Murder

New York, July 8.—Martin Thorn and Mrs. Nack have been indicted by the grand jury for murder in the first degree.

THE WONDERS
OF THIS JUBILEE YEAR!

Elegant Gold Watches Given Away at H. LeBRUN & CO'S Clothing Store.

THE BIGGEST HIT OF THE SEASON

Wonders are coming thicker and faster than ever. The Jubilee year is to be full of new and startling wonders. Just imagine all the Wonderful things you have heard and read about lately, and then listen to this: The latest wonder of the day has been started by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co., who are holding their annual summer clearance during the months of July and August.

This firm intends to make the Jubilee summer holidays of 1897 memorable to the people of Peterborough by giving away elaborate ladies' and gentlemen's electro-gold hunting case watches to every cash purchaser of $35 worth of Clothing or Furnishings at their store.

This wonderful Victor Watch is the greatest watch the World has ever seen given away. The cases are electro gold plated, engraved in the most magnificent style—stem winding and setting—and guaranteed for time and durability. A princely present for a lady or gentleman. Specimens of the watches on exhibition in H. LeBrun & Co's show window, and you can have your choice of any of these beautifully chased patterns.

Ladies as well as gentlemen can take advantage of this wondreful offer. Every purchaser will receive a ticket on which the amount of each cash purchase will be recorded.

PRIZES! PRIZES!

In order to make our summer clearance sale still more interesting, we offer Three Special Prizes to the three largest purchasers of goods at our store during July and August as follows.

1st Prize—To the Largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.
2nd Prize—To the Second largest Purchaser, a Victor Watch
3rd Prize—To the Third largest purchaser, a Victor Watch

Those who are not lucky enough to get one of these special prizes, their amounts will be allowed on a $35 cash purchase.

Better hurry up if you want to share these special gifts. The town will be after them hot foot.

Prices all over the store greatly reduced during July and August.

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

Stomach

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. Let me fix a date for you and you'll never regret it. Apply at store, 329 George street. CHAS. LEGROS.

Street Watering.

Complaints come from citizens almost as thick as the dust on the street about the way the the street watering is not done. The growls come chiefly from the central section. The fact is it seems that the town team has too much territory to cover to do efficient work, and this sweaty hot weather it is impossible to urge horses so as to cover his large district in proper time and in a proper manner. The area to be covered should be subdivided. The intense heat is hard enough to bear, but the added plague of dust is intolerable. Every citizen who calls at this office says the street watering is a disgrace. If the weather weren't so hot we should have far more complaints filed.

STRIKERS ON TRIAL

On a Charge of Intimidating Men Who are Willing to Work.

Yesterday afternoon the County Court room was jammed to the doors by the striking labourers from the canal, who were anxious to hear the trial of two of their companions, who had been summoned before Magistrate Edmison on charges of intimidating workmen who were willing to continue their labour on the canal.

John Drummond and Thos. Moore were the two defendants, and Drummond acted as counsel to the delight of the audience, giving quite a fluent address on the wrongs under which he stated the men were suffering.

Fred Bouchette testified that he had been working on the canal for Messrs. Corrie & Laverdure. He was at work on Monday and on Tuesday morning. On Tuesday morning five or six men came to him, and put him in a waggon and took him along. He wanted to remain and go on with his work. He asked to be let go to go home. He was allowed to do so. He did not know who it was that molested him. He did not recognize either of the prisoners as having approached him. He was not injured in any way.

Dennis Bouchette had also been stopped from working but not by either of the defendants. He had been taken and placed in a waggon, and taken as far as Nassau. He recognized none of them. His brother had been taken at the same time in the waggon.

As other witnesses were needed who had not been supenaed the case was enlarged until this afternoon at three o'clock.

County Crown Attorney Wood is conducting the prosecution.

GARDEN PARTY

Under the Auspices of the George Street Church Epworth League.

Last evening being the occasion of a garden party given by the Young People's Society of the George street Methodist church, the grounds belonging to the old Menzies property, on the corner of Dublin and George streets, were very brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns. Entering the grounds off George street, the first ice cream booth, under the management of Mr. M. W. Browne, was encountered. Alongside of this booth a lemonade stand did a flourishing business under the management of Miss B. Might.

Misses L. Meharry, E. Shortley and M. Mason, were the proprietors of a strawberry, cream and cake stand.

The interests of the flower business were ably carried on in a booth ornamented with curtains on the ends and over the top. Misses M. Barclay, L. Pascoe and J. Higgins were the managers of this stand, Miss M. Barclay being head sales girl. This booth attracted quite a lot of attention on account of its artistic arrangement.

Last, but not by any means least, Miss Olive McGuire's candy stand did a rushing business.

The Fire Brigade Band was in attendance and discoursed excellent music all the evening.

The garden party was a decided success in every sense of the word and, although it had a good attendance, still it deserved even more than it received.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.

The Victoria Bicyclists and their Friends Journey to Stony Lake.

The most enjoyable "stag" party of the kind ever organized in the town journeyed out to Stony lake last evening, consisting of the members of the Victoria Bicycle club and their friend.

Two big 'bus loads were taken to Lakefield from the club rooms and a dozen or so of the boys went out on their wheels. After calling upon Mine Host Craig, the party boarded the Majestic and steamed away to McCracken's Landing, where Boniface Morgan had everything ready for their reception and prepared a supper which it would be hard to surpass.

The Lakefield Band accompanied the excursionists and provided an excellent programme of music.

The executive is to be congratulated on the success of the trip in every particular.

BOLIVAR STREET WEDDING.

The Wedding of Miss Hattie Inkpen and Mr. George Kemp.

The wedding took place last evening of Miss Hattie Inkpen, of the wire department of the Canadian General Electric Works, and Mr. George Kemp, of Utica, N.Y., formerly of the Auburn Woollen Mills.

The ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. Geo. Swain, 71 Bolivar street, and was performed by Rev. O. C. Elliott, of the Park street Baptist church.

The bride was very prettily attired in cream trimmed with white roses, and was assisted by Miss Hopkins, who looked most attractive in pink. The little maid of honour was Miss Pearl Morgan, who was attired in white. The groom was assisted by Mr. Jas. E. Fowler.

A sumptuous wedding repast was served at the conclusion of the ceremony, and the guests were afterwards given an opportunity of examining the many handsome presents which were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp will reside in Utica.

MARRIED IN TORONTO.

Nuptials of Miss May B. Weese and Dr. J. Fennell McKee.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy have been in Toronto attending the wedding of Miss May Weese, who is well known in Peterborough through having visited here on numerous occasions.

The Globe gives the following account of the wedding:—

"A very pretty house wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. George A. Weese, 124 Carlton street, when his daugnter, Miss May Beatrice Weese, was united in marriage to Dr. J. Fennell McKee, of Petrolea, Ontario. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with roses, smilax, ferns and palms, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Thomas, of the Jarvis street Baptist church. The bride was charmingly attired in cream duchesse satin, trimmed with brocade. She was assisted by Miss Mabel Stewart, prettily gowned in cream crepon, trimmed with lace. Mr. Jack McRobbie, of Petrolea, acted as best man. About 130 guests were present at the wedding reception. Refreshments were served on the lawn, and Glionna's orchestra dispensed sweet music. Dr. and Mrs. McKee left at 5 o'clock for a trip to the west. On their return they will reside in Petrolea."

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

Celebration of the Barlow—Williams Nuptials in Havelock.

The most fashionable and auspicious event that has happened in Havelock for years took place on Wednesday evening last, it being the occasion of the marriage of Miss Agnes Barlow, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Barlow, Ontario street, to Mr. Edward Williams, in St. John's church, by the Rev. R. H. McGinnis. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the ladies of the congregation, the communion table being banked with geraniums while the chancel was a mass of variegated bloom. A very pretty feature of the decorations was the wedding bell, composed of ferns, lillies and roses, which was suspended directly over the bridal couple. At 8 o'clock p.m. the wedding party drove to the church, where they were met by the ushers, who escorted them up the aisle, followed by the bridesmaids and the bride leaning on her father's arm. Miss Madge Scrivens presided at the organ and rendered Mendelsshon's wedding march with perfect touch and harmony, while the bridal party were entering the church. The bride was charmingly attired and carried a beautiful bouquet of flowers. She was assisted by Misses A. McKeown and E. Scrivens, who were also most becomingly attired. Mr. Thos. Williams as first man supported the groom through the ceremony, after which the usual congratulations were extended to the happy couple, and the company retired to Mr. Barlow's residence, where they sat down to a dinner intended to tempt the most fastidious appetite. The bride was the recipient of many valuable presents, which show the high appreciation in which she was held. Unitedly Mr. and Mrs. Williams have the congratulations of a wide circle of friends, also many and continued well-wishes for long continuance of happy companionship.

A VOICE FROM THE SOUTH.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In the name of suffering humanity why can we not have a little more water on our streets? Here is George street from Charlotte to Sherbrooke given a slight sprinkling twice a day. In this weather you can imagine the clouds of dust we are treated to. Surely we pay enough to warrant better treatment from our council.

Yours truly,
SOUTH END SUFFERER.

Jumbo Fruit.

Messrs. Oke & Co. have received a car of "jumbo" bananas from the Quaker City Fruit Company. The fruit is unusually large and in fine condition. Full and complete stock of oranges, lemons, pine apples, etc., for Jubilee week. Order early.

Keeping up Every Day.

If sales keep on at Gough Bros. as they have been doing the past four weeks or more, most of their mammoth stock of fine clothing from the E. A. Small & Co's. Underwriter's sale will have gone. As the mercury ascends the sales of these phenomenal bargains ascends correspondingly. Just when trade is inclined to be slow elsewhere the tempting advantages at this store enlarges our business. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means. We have sold an immense quantity, but we had an immense stock. Always keep in view what your small amount of money buys at this sale. It buys E. A. Small & Co's., the millionaire clothiers, best Montreal made clothing. Keep an eye open to qualities. Close your eyes and the world is full of cheap things; but with your eyes wide open you can confidently make choice of the real good things which abound in this high class stock. We welcome comparisons—for inspection will confirm you in the fact that prices are nowhere so low as here. Two cases in point out of hundreds of others: Men's very choice suits, usually sold for $5.50, our sale price is only $2.49; men's worsted suits, equal to the best other stores offer at $12, our sale price $6.79. THE HASTINGS FIRE.

Some further Particulars concerning it —How it Progressed.

The Hastings Star gives the following additional particulars concerning the fire which almost swept the village on Monday.

At five o'clock Monday evening, the fire bell tolled forth and in a very short time the whole village was astir. It only required a moment for the fire to be located and with the strong westerly wind blowing it was readily realized that a terrible struggle was ahead to save the north side of Front street, and which, but for the veering of the wind, no doubt would have been swept away.

The fire originated in J. Kelly's blacksmith shop and in five minutes the whole building was a mass of flames. A little delay occurred in getting the engine to work but the fire had gained such headway that all it could do was to save adjoining buildings. It was soon realized that Tate's furniture shop and dwelling could not be saved and all attention was devoted to confining the fire to these and saving the Clarendon stables and sheds. The veering of the wind to the southwesterly in a short time, Kelly's brick dwelling (occupied by Dr. Berry as a dwelling and office and T. McGuire as a dwelling) was on fire, but all help being required to work the engine and save the row of buildings along Front street, the only thing that could be done was to save as much of the contents as possible.

It was discovered that Mrs. Conlon's house was on fire but ladders being available it was soon extinguished with a few pails of water. The town hall was the next, the south east corner taking fire from the excessive heat from Kelly's dwelling. Every effort possible was made to save it, but the want of ladders made it inaccessible and in a short time it was beyond saving.

The next to suffer was the Presbyterian church catching in the steeple about ten feet above the base, but water could not be got up in time although several persons were on the top of the base. All that could be done was to save as much of the inside as possible and let it burn. At this stage the wind changed to the west and burning shingles began flying like hail all along Albert street and everybody east of the church had to look sharply after their own. It necessitated a desperate struggle to save Mr. Isaac Thompson's dwelling but having plenty of water on hand, by the use of blankets it was accomplished. The roof of the Catholic church caught in several places but was reached and put out from the ridge of the roof.

THE WORK OF THE Y.M.C.A.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—In one of yesterday's evening papers I notice a letter reflecting on our association work, in which the writer rather modestly signs himself "Disgusted."

The impression the writer sought to convey was that the members of the Y.M.C.A. were selfish and the principles of the institution and its work utterly disregarded the cry of the needy.

The design of our work is primarily to help young men, and considering the wideness of our field in all its varied interests, none will for a moment doubt but that it claims the first place—if the purpose for which the organization exists is to be carried out.

At the same time the Associations and and Association men all over Canada and the rest of the world, as far as the writer knows, are in hearty sympathy with every effort to help the widow and fatherless. Many Ontario Secretaries are prominent workers in the Children's Aid Society, and several are secretaries of the local branches of this worthy work.

The Association Bible class, with which the writer was formerly connected, spent the winter in searching for cases deserving of help and by direct contributions, supplying their needs.

It is a rule in many Ontario Associations every Christmas eve to send out drays loaded down with provisions and fuel to brighten the day for those who are suffering from the hardships of winter.

In regard to our own fold I am thankful that "Disgusted" feels led to look after the interests of those referred to and should he become better acquainted with our work and its workers he would always find ready hands to bear a share of the work and of the contributions to sustain it.

"As we have therefore opportunity let us do good unto all men."

Yours faithfully,
GEO. H. WILLIAMSON,
Gen. Sec.

ACTIVITY IN WOMAN'S INVENTION.

Development of Female Mechanical Ingenuity.

Should the present pace hold the year through, 1897 will prove a banner year for women patentees. There has been unwonted activity during the past two months in the issuing of patents to women for various inventions, and their width of application indicates an assertion of independence of her stronger brother in a marked degree. Messrs. Marion & Marion, solicitors of patents, head office, 185 St. James street, Temple building, Montreal, note the following as some of the most important inventions to which women have recently turned their attention and for which they received letters patent:

Alice J. Hoyrasdt, Hudson, N. J.—Safety pin.

Francis H. Gorrill, Newton, Iowa—Hook and eye.

Christina Mackie, Newark, N. J.—A furniture polish.

Sallie A. Seager, Alentown, Pa.—Non-refillable bottle.

Eva K. Hunter, Scribner, Neb—Improved window screen.

Caroline A. Stone, Allegheny, Pa.—Skirt supporting belt.

B. Parry, Galesburg, Ill.—Support for wearing apparel.

Elizabeth G. Tebutt, Albany, N.Y.—Self-measuring bottle.

Mary R. Lucas, Omaha, Neb.—Skirt lifter, holder and adjuster.

Mattie King, Plymouth, Mass.—Improved safety envelope.

Johanna C. Samuel, New York—Design for life preserver.

Evangeline Gilmore, Hamilton, Ont.—Vegetable or fruit grater.

Helen B. Rennie, Stratford, Ont.—Bicycle skirt adjuster and holder.

Louise Schaefer, Oneida, N. Y.—Apparatus for making patterns.

Jennie M. Secord, Rotterdam Junction, N.Y.—A garment or shawl pin.

Emma Taylor, San Francisco, Cal.—Machine for grinding bread or crackers.

Natalie Schell, San Francisco, Cal.—Bust and body form for dress-makers' use.

Mildred Blakely, Pittsburg, Pa.—An improved gas or other explosive engine.

Minnie E. Snyder, Brazil, Ind.—Vegetable sieve and strainer with interchangeable parts.

Emily A. Clingman, San Francisco, Cal.—Device to prevent the overflowing of kerosene lamps.

We know the great cures of Hood's Sarsaparilla are genuine because the people themselves write about them.

PERSONAL.

Miss Cairns left this a. m. for a trip to New York, Boston and Fall River.

Mr. Peter Connal's family went back to the lakes for the summer this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilchrist, of Peterborough, the Gazette says, are visiting in Barrie.

Mr. Wm. Lech and Mrs. Graham and her children are back at the lakes for the summer.

The Port Hope Times says,—Mr. Robt. Hamilton, of Peterborough, an old Port Hope boy, was in town to-day.

Mr. George Gobeil was again called to Toronto this morning by the extreme illness of his daughter, Mrs. Jas. Hamilton.

We are pleased to learn that Mrs. Harry Drake, Hunter street, who has been confined to her bed for the last two weeks, is able to be around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kemp, of Peterborough, says the Port Hope Times, are in town on their wedding trip, and are staying at the Royal.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Matchske, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mr. Geo. Matchske, of Desmoines, Iowa, are in town visiting their parents, Dublin street.

Mrs. A. B. Herbert, of Rochester, N.Y., accompanied by her sister, Miss Beebe Costello, arrived in town last evening on a visit to her mother, Mrs. D. Costello, George street.

Mr. Geo. Matthews, of Lindsay, Mrs. Matthews and Miss Alice Matthews sail this morning on the Vancouver from Montreal to the Old Country and will be gone about two months.

Mrs. Becker, of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. J. Griffin, McDonell street, and Mrs. B. M. Wylie and other friends for two weeks. She will visit Brighton friends before returning home.

Hon. Edward Blake is on the ocean on his way home to Point au Pic, a watering place below Quebec near Murray Bay. He has ordered a 16-foot pleasure canoe from the William English Canoe Company to be delivered at Point au Pic the early part of next week.

Mr. Robt. Fair left last night for a trip of combined business and pleasure to Great Britain and the continent. He will be joined in Montreal by Mr. J. D. Collins, who left to day at noon for a trip to the "Ould Dart." They will sail on the Laurentian, of the Allan Line, on Saturday morning.

Death to Flies

This is the season of the year when an improvement in fly traps will be appreciated by every housekeeper. One of the latest of these devices is a receptacle made preferably of glass and blown in such a shape that its lower portion is outwardly curved within the receptacle, forming a trough, in which any suitable liquid may be held, in which it is designed to have the insect drop and drown, suitable means being provided to induce the insects to pass within the receptacle, and, coming in contact with the inner curved wall of the trap, fall back into the liquid. While it is common in the art to construct insect traps substantially of the construction described, as far as the shape of the trap is concerned, what is claimed as new is a mirror, which is either placed at the upper portion of the trap, about its upper surface, with a material which may reflect from the under side, whereby flies or other insects which may be feeding below the trap may see their images in the reflecting portion above, and, flying toward it, come forcibly against the inner wall of the glass and fall back into the liquid in the trough beneath.

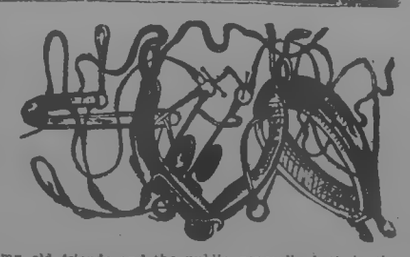
DEVLIN



In Harness Again!

I take pleasure in announcing to all my old friends and the public generally both in the town and county of Peterborough, that I have just Opened up a New Harness Shop at No. 133 Hunter St., Opposite Post Office.

In again soliciting a renewal of the patronage of the public, I promise to give my best attention to all orders which I may be favoured with. Customers may depend upon it that all work will be manufactured on the premises, and under my own supervision.

After 19 years experience in the business, every one knows the superior class of Hand-made work which DEVLIN has always turned out, and I am determined to keep up this record in the future.

SINGLE AND DOUBLE HARNESS, well sewed and well put together, guaranteed to fit and wear well. If you want the right kind of outfit for your horses, DEVLIN is the right man to make it.

DEVLIN'S HORSE COLLARS are my specialty, and I challenge all collar makers to beat them.

Bridles, Whips, Curry Combs, Harness Oil, and all kinds of Saddlery, Hardware and Stable Furnishings always in stock. Also a full line of Trunks, Valises and Satchels.

REPAIRING DONE neatly and substantially. All work done first-class and the old reliable DEVLIN will stand back of everything he says and does.

The competition of the day necessitates goods being sold at CLOSEST PRICES FOR CASH. While I will be glad to welcome all my old and new customers, I wish to state that business will be conducted on the STRICTLY CASH PRINCIPLE and ONE PRICE ONLY—money back if you want. Go where you will you won't find closer prices than at

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.60. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

All orders executed on the New York Stock and Cotton Exchanges and Chicago Board of Trade. Write for full information, my Vest Pocket Manual and Board of Trade Red Book. (Established 1886.) Only regular Stock Broker in Vermont.

PLANTING FORESTS.

A Hundred Men Can Plant 1,000 Acres in About 30 Days.

Robert Douglas, the pioneer nurseryman of Waukegan, Ill., has shown by his own experience that it is not only easy to plant a forest of 1,000 acres in a season, but that it is also possible to make it pay—for the planter—that is. It pays richly for the owner later. He is not inclined to glorify the European forestry, as some of our Americans do. If the Europeans had the task of setting out forests upon our treeless western prairies, they would find it harder than maintaining a standing army.

Americans can, however, manage the task, because they do things by the large. They cultivate by horse and steam power instead of by hand power. The forest trees should be planted in rows and tended like orchard trees. In selecting trees to plant those native to the locality, if there are any, should have first consideration, as these will surely thrive best. Many growths that do well in the east are not suitable for the west. "Western trees for western planting" is the motto, because western trees are the surest. The green ash, for instance, makes a fine and vigorous growth in the west, while in the east the white ash is far superior to it. The chestnut has been thoroughly tried in the west, and has been found wanting. The pines and other conifers of the Pacific slope will not grow at all in the prairie belt, although the conifers of the Rocky Mountains will.

Mr. Douglas finds that 100 men can plant 1000 acres of forest in 30 days. The ground should, however, have been previously prepared. Either autumn or spring will do for the planting. In spring the seeds of the trees should be sown so soon as frost is out of the ground. By fall they will have made a growth sufficient for transplanting to the forest that is to be. Forty acres will grow seedlings enough to plant 1000 acres.

The farmers of Kansas have set out in the past few years 147,340 acres of forest. Among them are 11,500 acres of black walnut, 12,486 acres of maple, 2637 acres of honey locust and 55,553 acres of cottonwood. The cottonwood grows the quickest and makes fuel for the farmer sooner than any of the others, hence his preference for it. Land prepared as for corn planting will grow the seedlings.—Norwich (N.Y.) Sun.

Science of Milking.

It is not everyone that can milk a cow as it should be done. Some can milk two cows while another is milking one. The operation should never be hurried; neither should it be done slovenly; but the milk should be drawn steadily as it flows. Some cows have tender teats, and in milking too rapidly the operation is likely to be roughly done, or if too much prolonged the cow gets irritated. A cow that is naturally impatient and fretful does not like to submit to rough handling, and if continued her disposition will soon be ruined by such treatment. The constant practice of being milked at regular times soon impresses itself strongly upon her, and she will readily submit without trouble. As the udder becomes distended with milk, it is a relief to her to have it drawn out. When the udders are filled to the utmost with milk they become painful, and if not relieved the cow becomes restless. If this happens frequently or for any considerable time it will cause the cow to dry up prematurely. Milk the cow dry. The last portion of the milk is the richest and best. In most cases neglect to milk regularly and clean is one cause of the cow's drying up early, of giving bloody milk, of garget and other evils. With kind treatment, regularity in feeding and milking, the cows will not only become gentle and stay so, but will give milk longer, and the season's product will be larger. A really good dairy cow is too valuable to be given anything but the best treatment.—St. Louis Republic.

The Coming of Baby.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. The care and anxiety count for nothing against the clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates.

LORD ABERDEEN'S SUCCESSOR.

The Duke of Abercorn is Now Understood to be the Eager Applicant for the Position.

London, July 7.—Competition among the Dukes for colonial Governorships was never so keen. It has hitherto been the greatest worry of the Colonial Secretary to find even Barons willing to serve. He has often had to give commoners a handle to their names to fit them for colonial society, but this Imperial sentiment and eager notion of some great Imperial political developments to come have made such a post as Canadian Governor-General one to be highly coveted. The Duke of Leeds was a candidate but was rejected, largely because the Canadian temperance folk could not stand even a Duke whose wealth has been made out of gin.

Now the Duke of Abercorn, a great Irish landlord and ally of Cecil Rhodes, whose barony dates back to James I., and whose wife was a daughter of the great Earl Howe, is understood to be an eager applicant for the place which Lord Aberdeen is soon to vacate at Ottawa.

William Goes Killed.

Belleville, July 7.—William Hoag, a young man from Deseronto, was struck by an express train in the Grand Trunk yard and killed on the spot. Deceased formerly lived at Belleville and Roslin.

Mr. Menard is Recovering.

Windsor, July 7.—Peter Menard, the Pilee farmer who was struck by lightning, is recovering from the shock, although still in a very nervous condition.

Durrant's Photos on Sale.

San Francisco, July 7.—In order to carry on the fight for life the parents of Theodore Durrant will place his photographs on sale. The photographs will show Durrant in the prison garb taking his daily exercise within the walls of San Quentin.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Syracuse, July 7.—There was no umpire on hand here to-day, and Captain Fields of Buffalo agreed to Urquhart and Mason. When the teams got on the field, however, Manager Rowe and Fields object to Mason on the ground that he was not a member of the Syracuse team. Mason held the watch on the Bisons, and when they did not come to time gave the game to Syracuse by a score of 9-0. At 4 o'clock Rowe agreed to play with Klasinger in Mason's place. Buffalo knocked Malarkey out of the box in the second, and the Stars hit Grey hard in the first, the score not being large on account of an exceedingly bad decision of Urquhart on second base. Willis and Brown were substituted, and both did excellent work. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Syracuse 1 2 0 0 0 2 0 0 6	5	12	3
Buffalo 2 4 0 0 2 0 0 1 0	9	14	1

Batteries—Malarkey, Willis and Ryan; Grey, Brown and Zahner.

At Scranton—Bonner's two-bagger and Massey's single with none out earned a run for Scranton in the tenth innings, and defeated Wilkes-Barre. Gillen pitched a good game, but was poorly supported by the Miners. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Scranton 0 0 1 2 0 0 1 0 0 1	5	12	4
Wilkes-Barre ...0 0 1 1 0 1 1 0 0 0	4	10	1

Batteries—Gillen and Boyd; Keenan and Diggins.

WHERE THEY PITCH FROM A BOX.

Hamilton, July 7.—(Special.)—The Hamilton baseball team hammered the Guelph Club's pitcher, Bradford, out of the box in the first innings in the game here this afternoon. His place was taken by Crow. Patton umpired the game, and the visitors did a lot of kicking and threatened to leave the field. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Hamilton .....6 0 0 0 0 4 1 0 *	11	13	3
Guelph 0 0 0 3 1 2 0 0 0	6	11	5

Batteries—Cochran and Cornell; Bradford, Crow and Vigneux. Time 1.50.

CANADIANS WIN THEIR FIRST.

Henley, Eng., July 7. The Winnipegs and the Jesus crew raced over the full course to-day in a trial heat. The latter had three lengths' start, but the Winnipegs won by half a length in 7 min. 54 sec. Both crews were nearly rowed out. The Leanders' best time was 7 min. 16 sec. McDowell, while practicing at Putney, collided with a barge. He leaped overboard and reached the shore unhurt, but his boat was badly damaged.

THE MARKETS.

Toronto, July 8.

Flour—Trade is quiet and prices as a rule unchanged. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.20 to $3.25 west.

Bran—Trade quiet, with bran quoted at $8.50 west. Shorts are firm at $9 to $9.50.

Wheat—The demand for wheat is moderate and prices generally show little change. Red winter sold outside for export at 65c west, and white is quoted at 66c to 67c west. No. 1 Manitoba hard sold at 72c Fort William and at 76c Midland. No. 2 hard is quoted at 74c Midland.

Buckwheat—The demand is limited, and prices nominal.

Barley—The market continues dull, and No. 2 at 25c and No. 3 extra at 23c to 24c. Feed barley dull at 21c to 22c.

Oats—The market is fairly active, with prices firmer. White sold at 23c west and mixed at 22c west.

Peas—The market is firm, with sales north and west at 40½c to 41c.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices firm at $2.90 to $3 for car lots.

Corn—The demand is fair and prices firmer at 25c to 26c west.

Rye—Business remains quiet, with cars quoted at 31½c east.

COUNTY REGISTRAR.

All Else Failing Mr. Geo. C. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Port Hope (Special) July 5.—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Geo. C. Ward, Registrar of this county, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his intimate friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

CRUSHED AND MANGLED.

The Horrible Fate of an Aeronaut and His Assistant in California.

Eureka, Cal., July 6.—Professor Geo. Weston, the aeronaut, and his assistant, H. S. Colton of Aberdeen, Wash., were fearfully crushed while the former was attempting an ascension and parachute jump. When his balloon was inflated and the restraining ropes cast off, it shot up 60 feet with Colton tangled in the ropes. He was dropped to the earth and sustained fractures and bruises from which he will die. Weston clung to the parachute and a strong wind carried him with terrible force through the tops of some trees, and he, too, dropped to the earth, crushed and mangled in a horrible manner.

HAD INDIGESTION!

For a Matter of Some Forty Years or More.

Joseph Gardner, stove dealer, of Bath, Ontario, is a great believer in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, Bright's disease, rheumatism, and kidney, liver and stomach troubles generally.

"I was troubled for over forty years with indigestion and constipation," he writes. "At intervals I suffered from severe headache. I spent dollars and dollars without result until Mr. Balfour druggist, advised me to try Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they are the only remedy that gave me relief. I would not be without them for anything."

Many people suffer from rheumatism. Bad blood and diseased kidneys bring it on. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will remedy all this and cure rheumatism, sciatica and all kindred complaints. Here is a sample case:

"My boy was all crippled up and suffered awfully with rheumatism," writes Mrs. H. Wills, of Chesley, Ont. "He also had a touch of diabetes. The doctors could do him no good, but Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured him."

Curious, Isn't It,

That when you buy goods on the instalment plan you expect to pay MORE for them than under ordinary circumstances, but when you buy insurance on the same plan you pay LESS.

A straight life policy in the Manufacturers' Life at age of 30 costs $20.40 per annum per $1000.00, while a 20 Instalment Policy for the same amount costs $15.95. NEAT JOB PRINTING AND BOOKBINDING DONE CHEAP AT THE EXAMINER OFFICE

Is there any reason for dodging and ignoring a great and vital fact simply because a few prejudiced, misguided people have antiquated ideas of what constitutes morality and modesty? Reason and honesty say certainly not. Men and women are attracted to each other because they are men and women and because it is right and necessary that they should be so attracted. The things that make a man attractive are the characteristics caused by his inherent manliness—by the strength which makes him a perfect man. The same is true of woman. There is strong attractiveness in perfect health. There is fascination and magnetism in it. A woman cannot be entirely womanly—she cannot be a perfect woman—if she is not in perfect health. In just so much as her sickness affects the organs that make her a woman, in just so much she loses attractiveness. This is the vital part of her health. If anything is wrong there, it may result in all manner of ills all over the body. Careless, or too busy, physicians frequently treat the symptoms of this kind of disorder as separate and distinct ailments. The symptoms are many and varied, so much so that when a woman is sick in any way, the first thought should be given to the organs distinctly feminine. About 9 times in 10 the cause of the trouble will be found there. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all disorders of this kind. There is no guesswork about it. There is no chance about it. It is a fact that has been demonstrated in 30 solid years of extensive practice.

Thousands of women have written grateful letters, who have wished the whole world of women to know the wonderful things the "Prescription" has done for them.

The Latest Fashions

MIDSUMMER GOWNS.

Charming and Graceful Dresses Made of Silk of Rare Softness.

Although midsummer is still some little distance off, many of the new modes intended for warm weather wear have put in an appearance, and it needs but a single glance to convince one beyond the shadow of a doubt that never were the fashions more charming and graceful than those depicted in the latest summer gowns. As far as colors are concerned, the new shades are of the softest and prettiest description imaginable, while the materials are exceptionally attractive and becoming, and the gowns themselves are designed in such an exceeding great variety of styles that the particular requirements of each and every figure seem to have been given special attention and consideration so that it will certainly be the sole fault of my lady if she does not look her best and prettiest in her summer frocks.

In the interesting matter of material the transparent canvas cloths in every variety of weave, both in silk and wool mixed and in silk alone, seem likely to be the most popular of all for best wear. When mounted over a foundation slip of some pretty, bright-hued silk, they certainly make a most strikingly chic and smart looking gown. Then there are the lovely grenadines in both plain and figured grounds that come in all the new and fashionable colorings, also in snowy white and somber black, not to mention the rich and effective silk nets that are woven in large square meshes in regular checkerboard fashion, the daintily embroidered mulls, fine sheer lawns and organdies, and cool-looking linens and dimities without number. The grass cloths brought out within the month are distinctly fascinating, this being particularly true of those arranged with fine cream-tinted lace insertions alternating with broad woven stripes in bright shades of silk either deep red, bright green, or pale pink. A dress composed of this material, made up over a silken lining corresponding in shade with the silk stripe and given a lavish touch of the same color at neck and waist, would result in as Frenchy-looking a gown as one could wish and one, too, that would pass as "imported" even in the eyes of our dearest and most critical friend.

If the coming summer should prove as warm and delightful as the weather prophets predict, white muslin gowns of every description will be much in evidence. Many of these airy-fairy frocks will, in their mode of garniture, recall in a measure the quaint and pretty fashion prevailing 30 years ago. Some will have the trimmings arranged in a multitude of ruffles, one overlapping the other, and each little ruffle edged by a narrow frill of fine lace. Sometimes the ruffles will cover the entire skirt from waist to hem, or again they will be grouped and put on in deep festoons. This latter style is one particularly liked by the French modiste, and many of the handsomest imported silk costumes have the skirts treated in this artistic manner. The bodice to many of these muslin gowns will be fashioned with fine tucks, bands of lace insertion and innumerable small frills, edged, of course, with narrow valenciennes lace to harmonize with the trimming on the skirt. In many cases the sleeves will be of the fine, clear muslin made without lining of any kind, but as a rule will be very full gathered from shoulder to wrist and finished with lace-edged frills long enough to fall well over the back of the hand.

There is no sign at the present moment of a decline in the popularity of the ever useful and comfortable coat and skirt costume. Many of the imported models are made with a small reefer similar in style to those worn last summer, but the newest and prettiest have swell little Eton jackets opening over a tight-fitting waistcoat. Some very handsome costumes are made of summer-weight covert cloth, with both the skirt and waist lavishly trimmed in small braided patterns, but the fancy of the moment is to have them made of linen, either white or colored. One is in linen duck, green in color, with a hair line of white running through it, made with a perfect hanging skirt innocent of trimming. White braid ornaments the dainty Eton jacket, while the revers are of white linen as is also the waistcoat, which is closed on the left side by small white buttons, enameled in green.

Some charming blouses have shown themselves within the past week, some of the most novel and original being made in bandana silk with plain silk sleeves simply finished with deep ruffles of cream-tinted lace. Foulard silk is in great demand for blouses, and is certainly dainty and pretty enough to please the most exacting. A model waist of blue and white foulard had innumerable small tucks running from throat to waist, and broken up here and there with full frills of very narrow valenciennes lace. This horizontal mode of trimming is quite the proper thing, according to some of the best dressmakers, but is really only suitable to the tall, slender woman. The plump sister should flee from it as from the plague.

For midsummer millinery only the very softest and lightest material is used, the "feather" straw being perhaps the most popular. Not only is it wonderfully light in weight, but it is also remarkably pliable, and can be bent into any shape by clever fingers. I have seen some very beautiful toques made of this feather straw in two shades of heliotrope, one of the most successful being turned up sharply on the left side to disclose a mass of purplish red roses. Very swell looking bonnets, jaunty and coquettish as to shape, are beginning to assert themselves, and should be well comed most grandly by those very many women to whom a bonnet is distinctly more becoming than either a hat or toque. An ideal bonnet for a brunette wearer, or one with prematurely gray hair, is of a very bright shade of cerise straw, with no trimming save in front, where a small cluster of geranium blossoms was placed that shaded through every color of pink and rose, from the very palest cerise to the deepest crimson.

Summer Gown For a Bud.

The dress is of white organdie, made over very pale blue taffeta. There is a collar of silk which forms the belt and the loops at the back of the collar. The sleeves are very full and finished with fine lace around the hand.

The only trimming is a design in lovers' knots around the skirt and waist, put on in fine black lace. The lace is appliqued to the organdie, and is so delicate as to look as though wrought in the goods. Lace makes a delightful trimming for summer gowns, if used upon material that is sheer enough to show the pattern through.—Philadelphia Press.

The Wearing of Tucks.

To be really fashionable one must wear tucks. They are seen on everything, and the work on some of the new blouses and bodices is enormous. Not only are quarter-inch tucks closely set in groups all over the bodice and up the sleeves, but these are frequently supplemented by a tucked bolero and by groups of tucks on the skirt. Even low-cut evening bodices are arranged with tucked draperies of lisse. Sometimes the tucks are horizontal, but more frequently they are arranged to run around the figure.

Caught

"I want to be sure I understand you rightly," said the lawyer, who was cross-examining the locomotive engineer. "At the time the accident happened to the plaintiff at what rate were you running? Please repeat your statement as to that particular."

"I had slowed down to about six miles an hour," replied the engineer.

"You are positive as to that, are you?"

"Yes, sir."

"You want the jury to understand that you had slowed down to six miles an hour, do you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Once again, you had slowed down to six miles an hour, had you?"

"Yes."

"Now, sir!" thundered the lawyer, rising to his feet, and glaring fiercely at the witness, "did you not testify in your direct examination that you had slowed up?"

"Of course, but—"

"That will do, sir! Gentlemen of the jury, that's our case!"

And the jurymen, without leaving their seats, brought in a verdict against the railway company.—Chicago Tribune.

Current Logic.

He was lying in front of the store door when the merchant came out, and, stirring him up with the toe of his boot, said:

"Are you drunk?"

"You bet."

"Then you move off from here."

"Are you drunk?" queried the inebriate.

"No, I am sober," was the indignant response.

"Then you can move off from here a-hic-sight easier than I can."—Texas Siftings.

Tired, Nervous, Sleepless

Men and women—how gratefully they write about Hood's Sarsaparilla. Once helpless and discouraged, having lost all faith in medicines, now in good health and "able to do my work," because Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to enrich and purify the blood and make weak strong—this is the experience of a host of people.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Here is the Way.

To cure all heart and nerve troubles and weak, weary, tired feeling, sleeplessness, nervousness, etc., do as Mr. Thos. Glover, Chatham, Ont., did. Says Mrs. Glover: "One box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured me. I was so bad that I feared paralysis, but am now well and strong, thanks to these wonderful pills."

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn. says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by John F. Nugent 359 George Street.

YARDS AND PARKS.

Description of an Economical Summer Run For Poultry.

Where fowls are kept in confinement it will be found best to provide outdoor runs or yards for them during the summer months. Give them free access to these yards whenever the weather will permit. The most economical form, everything considered, for a poultry yard is one much longer than wide. Two rods long and eight rods wide is sufficient for 50 fowls. Whenever a poultry plant of considerable size is to be established, it will be found most economical to arrange the yards side by side, with one end at the poultry house. The fences which inclose these poultry yards may be made of poultry netting or pickets, and should be at least seven feet high. In either case it is best to have a board at the bottom, for sometimes it will be desirable to give quite young chickens the run of these yards. If the poultry yards are constructed as described, there is sufficient room for a row of fruit trees down the centre of the yard and still leave ample room for horse cultivation on either side, either with one or two horses.

These yards are to be kept thoroughly cultivated. If thought best, grain may be sown before cultivation to furnish part of the green food for the fowls. Of all fruit trees probably there are none that are more suitable for the poultry yard than the plum. The droppings of the fowls will manure the trees, and the fowls as insect destroyers perform a great office in protecting plums from the curculio. After the trees are once well established, a crop of plums should be secured nearly every year. These, too, will require no extra cultivation. The plum trees perform a valuable service in providing shade for the fowls. Where trees are not available sunflowers may be used for this purpose with a considerable degree of satisfaction. However, some protection must be given the plants until they are well established, and even then many plants will be destroyed unless the fowls have an abundance of green food all the time. GERMANS FIRED ON BRITONS.

An Incident in South Africa Which Will Probably Need Investigation

London, July 9.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Cape Town says that Captain Burr of the schooner Sea Bird, belonging to the Cape Government and engaged in trade with the Guano Islands, reports that he has had trouble with the Germans on account of the restrictions placed upon obtaining labor supply for the islands from Damaraland. The captain on arriving at Angra Pequena, a bay on the west coast of Africa, was detained for several days, and then as his boat was about leaving she was fired on by German soldiers.

GREAT FIRE IN CHICAGO.

The Dock Warehouse of the Chicago and Alton Railway With Many Loaded Freight Cars Burned.

Chicago, July 8.—The dock warehouse of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company, extending from Van Buren to Harrison on the west to the river, burned this morning. Besides the warehouse, which was stored with merchandise, about 40 loaded freight cars were consumed. The loss is estimated at $200,000 to $250,000. The steamer Chemung of the Buffalo & Niagara Falls route, which was being unloaded at the docks, was slightly damaged. When the fire communicated to the Chemung a large number of sailors were asleep in their bunks, and several of them had narrow escapes. There was a panic among the men asleep in the dock house when they were hastily awakened by Watchman Suthe of the Alton Company, and some were badly bruised in escaping from the blazing structure.

Suthe remained in the building on the dock house so long that his escape by the main entrance was made impossible and he was forced to jump from a window. He was injured. Sparks from a passing steamer are supposed to be the cause of the fire.

Mr. Darling Badly Hurt.

Kingston, July 8.—T. B. Darling of Hamilton, here with his wife on vacation, rose early and started off on a bicycle run. At the corner of Alfred and Brock streets Mr. Darling collided with a street car. His collarbone was fractured, and his body cut and wounded.

Sidney Price, pleaded guilty to stealing a horse and rig at Lyn, Ont., and was sent up for trial.

Through the Crown of your Hat.

Regular hat store prices are revolutionised in our hat department; and bear in mind that our hat department is as big as any ordinary hat store. Take a look through our immense piles of hats of all kinds, and you'll find the newest and nobbiest shapes of light summer felts and straws that have had a quarter and a third chipped off the price. It's foolish extravagance to pay $3 for some highly-advertised manufacturer's hat—$3 for the hat and the balance for the name in the crown. We sell the newest of finest felt shapes for men, made of a good felt, with the same silk bands, warranted not to change colour, and to wear as long as any $3 hat—or your money back—for $2. This is an instance where we can talk better through our hats. It is not much of a trick to sell straw hats at this season of the year. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade, but we're the SELLERS, and that suits us just as well. Gentlemen's fine American straw hats for 75c, worth $1.25; very light weight straw hat, 50c., worth 90c.; fine straw hats, 30c., worth 40c.; boys' hats, 10c., 15c., 20c. and up to 65c. We sell as we buy. In this respect, this store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

LASCELLES COMES UP AGAIN.

Married the Wealthiest Girl in the Town and Skipped Out With About Ten Thousand Dollars.

Atlanta, Ga., July 8.—Sydney Lascelles, alias Lord Beresford, of Georgia, a shrewd swindler, who was recently pardoned out of the State Penitentiary, and immediately established himself in business at Fitzgerald, the Grand Army Colony in Georgia, is again a defaulter and fugitive from justice. Lascelles ingratiated himself with the people of Fitzgerald, and quickly became one of its most popular citizens, marrying the daughter of the wealthiest man in town. Last Friday he left for Savannah, and has not been seen since. Warrants have been issued for his arrest for swindling. His peculations from citizens of Fitzgerald and non-residents amount to $10,000.

FOURTEEN PEOPLE KILLED.

The Minnesota Cyclone Was a Terror—Telegraph Lines Down and Railroads Washed Out—Loss $1,000,000.

Duluth, Minn., July 8.—Fourteen people are now known to have been killed in the cyclones and cloud-bursts in this section of Minnesota Tuesday and Wednesday. The storm was general, and it is impossible to estimate the amount of damage. The cyclone, which was central near Glenwood, was the worst that ever struck this State.

The telegraph lines are down for 75 miles each side of Glenwood and particulars are hard to get. The dead at Glenwood, so far as known, number five, and two persons were probably fatally injured. The trainmen say a number of houses were blown from their foundations by the storm, and undoubtedly more lives are lost. Railroad traffic is paralyzed because of the heavy fall of rain. Many trains ran into washouts before they had any intimation of danger.

A bad wreck on the Great Northern Railroad is reported about eight miles west of St. Cloud. 20 freight cars being ditched. One man was killed and one seriously injured.

Hector, Minn., is under water about a foot, and damage to the amount of $50,000 has been done there. Straight River, at Faribault, rose 20 feet last night, and to-day is now within two feet of the danger line and still rising. A number of railroad and wagon bridges have gone out.

A freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road was wrecked near Faribault and two of the crew were killed.

Crops have been damaged and a large amount of live stock killed. Reports of washouts, floods and cyclones are being received almost hourly. Every railroad in the State has had some damage. The total damage will probably exceed $1,000,000.

The Wabash Railway Trains

running every day in the year between Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City are the finest known to the railway service; they are complete and solid vestibuled from end to end, the entire train being a moving palace of connected apartments, all furnished with the most luxurious elegance and perfection of accommodation known to car builder's art. They include free reclining, palace, sleeping, and dining cars of the latest and best patterns. Call on or write any railway agent for tickets and all information or address J. A. RICHARDSON, Canadian passenger agent, north-west corner King and Yonge street Toronto.

Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all Lung Troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Scranton, July 8.—The game to-day was never in doubt. The Canadians pounded Morse from the beginning, and their speed on the bases was great. Smith had an off day on third, but his errors were not costly. Toronto knocked Morse off the slab in the sixth. Wellner relieving him. He latter proved a puzzle to Irwin's men, they securing but one hit and no runs off him in the three innings. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Toronto	0	0	2	0	1	2	0	0	*	5

Springfield, July 8.—The home team won from Syracuse in the first innings to-day on two rank errors by Sheibeck and five hits, one of them a three-bagger. In the third Egan reviled Umpire Kennedy so extensively that he was put out of the game, Ryan taking his place. Towards the end of the game Egan wandered down into centrefield and began smashing the boards off the fence. Manager Burns ordered a policeman to put Egan off the grounds, but he refused to go. A general riot was averted by the finish of the game, and by Buckenberger, boss of the dirty gang, hurrying his angels off the grounds. The score:

										R.	H.	E.
Syracuse	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	3	4

Batteries—Woods and Dannan; Lamps and Shaw.

At Wilkes-Barre—Timely hitting in the eighth innings gave the Buffalos three runs and the game. The fielding on both sides was sharp. The feature was Field's two unassisted doubled plays. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	3	7	2

Batteries—Orwell and Diggins; McPartlin and Zahner.

At Providence—Rochester won from Providence in a game that was chiefly notable for erratic umpiring by Keefe. It made a travesty of the game, and the patrons were disgusted. Shearon's batting was a feature. He scored three runs and batted in three others. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Providence	2	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	5	8	5
Rochester	2	1	1	0	4	0	1	1	*	10	9	3

Batteries—Rudderham and Dixon; Yerrick and Frary.

COLTS BEAT BOSTON, 10 INNINGS.

Chicago, July 8.—The Colts defeated Boston to-day in a 10-inning contest, the most exciting and best-played game here this season. Boston scored their only run in the first on two singles and a wild pitch. A double, a sacrifice and a single tied them in the fifth, and the winning run came in the tenth, Griffith batting it in after a single and a steal. The visitors played a wonderful game in the field, but were unable to hit Griffith. Attendance 5000. Score:

											R.	H.	E.
Boston	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	6	0

Batteries—Griffith and Donohue; Nichols and Lake.

At St. Louis—The Brooklyns won from the Browns by a score of 1 to 0. The playing on both sides was fast. The local team claims it was shut out by the umpire. Attendance 2000. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	4	3
Brooklyn	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	3	1

Batteries—Donohue and Douglass; Payne and Grim.

At Cleveland—The Senators were never in to-day's game, although they hit Young hard. They were unfortunate when they had men on bases. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	2	4	3	0	0	0	0	1	0	10	14	2
Washington	1	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	1	5	13	1

Batteries—Young and Zimmer; King and McGuire.

At Louisville The Colonels played like champions, and the Orioles were novices in the game. Cunningham kept the visitors hits scattered, and his support was gilt-edged. The batting of Clarke and Wilson was a feature. Attendance 1800. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Louisville	3	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	2	7	11	0
Baltimore	0	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	3	12	3

Batteries—Cunningham and Wilson; Corbett and Bowerman.

At Pittsburg—There was enough hitting to make the game interesting, and the errors on both sides were costly enough to make it uncertain. The winning run was made on Ely's wild throw to the plate. Warner was put out of the game for using naughty words to the umpire. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	1	0	0	0	0	1	2	0	0	4	8	4
New York	0	0	0	0	1	2	0	2	0	5	11	5

Batteries—Killen and Sugden; Rusie, Wilson and Warner.

At Cincinnati—The Reds won from the Phillies in an uninteresting game. Both Dwyer and Taylor were hit hard. In the first innings Cooley was caught off first base and put out. After kicking for a few moments Umpire Hurst sent him to the bench, and Orth took his place in centrefield. The fielding of Hoy was the feature. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	3	0	3	0	0	0	0	0	*	6	11	3
Philadelphia	0	0	0	1	1	0	1	0	0	3	10	0

Batteries—Dwyer and Peltz; Taylor and Clements.

Killed on the Track.

MEN ALL OVER THIS DISTRICT

Are firmly established in the belief that Men's Goods are cheaper at their stores than in any other in the Dominion of Canada. Did you ever try what you can do here? Is the habit yo've got into, of paying out your money without figuring how much better you might do at GOUGH'S, so strong as to make you careless?

Get in on the ground floor while this GREAT SMASH-UP IN PRICES is going on over the E. A. SMALL & CO. STOCK, which we snapped up from under the hammer at a mere decimal fraction of the wholesale cost.

Men Have Got to Have Clothing, Hats and Boots and Furnishings.

This used to be a Clothing Store only. Now you can buy pretty near everything else a man wants to wear, and the fact that very many of them do buy all they wear here, shows creditable work somewhere.

Suitable and Appropriate for July 12th—

SILK HATS,	ORANGE AND BLUE TIES,
WHITE VESTS,	WHITE BRACES,
WHITE TROUSERS,	COLLARS, SHIRTS,
WHITE GLOVES,	HANDKERCHIEFS, ETC.

Also Special Line of Black Suits and Trousers.

It isn't possible in a proper store system to do justice to one stock and neglect another. System implies uniform low prices, small profits and clever management. You who buy Clothing here can get equal satisfaction in Footwear and Headwear.

We keep an accurate slate of every days' business of every year, and the fact that our record for the past six months of 1897 shows an average increase of $500 every month, means that we are keeping up our Record-Reign with undiminished success.

A Special Departure In Summer Millinery.

After a most successful stretch of business, we feel like doing something exceptional in the interests of Ladies before the 1st of July.

Perhaps we ought to say we want to sell more Hats and mean to go about it in the quickest and best way to sell them. Please yourself how you consider the matter, but the facts are that the entire stock of Straw Hats in Fancy Shapes, Sailors and Leghorns have been marked down for the balance of this month. We also offer the additional inducement of reduced prices for trimming these Hats—provided, of course, the materials are purchased here.

THE MINING STRIKE

Matters Appear Still to Favor the Men.

THE REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING.

President Gompers Had a Conference With Col. Rend, Who Favors Arbitration and Thinks There is a Chance for a Compromise—Confiscation at Chicago.

Pittsburg, July 9.—The developments of the next 12 hours promise to have a most important bearing upon the miners' strike, and anxiety as to the outcome prevails on all sides. The result of the conference of prominent labor leaders in this city to-day to consider a proposition of co-operation of various trades is awaited with anxious interest. President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor arrived in Pittsburg from Washington this morning, but at 10 o'clock he had not yet met President Ratchford or any of the other leaders. He expressed himself as desirous of aiding the strikers in every possible manner. The conference is scheduled to be held at the Monongahela House at 2 p.m. Just what is proposed is not known. It is thought that the meeting is to outline plans for making the strike general, and possibly to have the other trades organizations refuse to handle or use coal mined during the strike.

President Gompers was in conference with Colonel W. P. Rend, the wealthy coal operator of Chicago, this morning. The latter advocated arbitration. He stated that he believed the strike would terminate in the course of two or three weeks and that the men would compromise at 60 cents. The suggestion that a joint meeting of the Arbitration Boards of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania be held in this city next week, and an effort made to settle the strike, was received with favor here and it is believed that both operators, and miners would welcome it. Striking miners are beginning to find their way into town, and dozens of them visited the headquarters of the United Mine Workers' this morning.

The operators point to the fact that all the mines on the Pennsylvania Railroad within the 40-mile limit have resumed operations and are shipping coal west. One operator bought from the Keystone Coal Company 125 cars, which had been standing on a siding, at five cents a ton advance. The firm also contracted for 25 carloads a day as long as the strike lasts.

Situation Desperate at Cleveland.

Cleveland, July 9.—The situation in this city over the coal strike is becoming desperate. The Cleveland railroads are growing bolder in confiscating coal, and those who depend upon a regular supply are becoming anxious. Several boats were delayed to-day owing to the difficulty in securing fuel. The Inter-Ocean Coal Company, one of the heaviest firms on the lakes, has only coal enough to last its customers a few days. Several other fueling firms have nearly exhausted their supply. The Pennsylvania and Ohio Fuel Company has suspended business altogether in Cleveland. There is considerable fuel in the upper lakes, and some of it may have to be brought down here. It is generally admitted now that the coal dealers and mine operators were very poorly prepared for a strike. The Morris Coal Company has ceased shipping coal altogether, and in fact coal-dealers as a rule have delivered nearly all their coal. The vessel men say that the strike will cause all but the exceptionally large boats to lay up. The Cleveland Steel Company closed to-day for want of fuel.

Not a Man Answered the Call.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 9.—It had been announced by the Wheeling & Lake Erie management that its Dillon No. 2 mine at Dillonvale would resume this morning, with the miners protected by a numerous posse of United States marshals. At the blowing of the whistles not a man entered the mine. The men had met the night before and decided that if it was necessary for them to be protected by United States marshals they would not work.

Just across the river in the Wheeling Creek Valley, and back of Bellaire, on the Baltimore & Ohio road, all is quiet, there being a general observance of the strike order except at two or three banks where the operators have conceded the 60 cent rate demanded by the men.

Victory for the Strikers.

Cleveland, O., July 9.—The coal miners on the Wheeling & Lake Erie district won a great victory to-day. Col. Myron T. Herrick, receiver for the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad, received a private despatch at noon to-day, saying that only one man went to work at Dillonvale. This is the place where the receiver for the W. & L. E. decided to make a test. Mr. Herrick said that he was led to believe that the men wanted to work, and that, therefore, he secured protection for them. He fully expected that 1000 miners would go to the mines and was considerably astonished to learn that only one man reported. Twenty-five deputy marshals were on hand to protect the miners.

The B. and O. Statement.

Baltimore, Md., July 9.—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad officials to-day gave out the following statement relative to the coal-miners' strike:

"The strike situation of the Baltimore & Ohio road this morning is as follows: All mines in the Finlayville district, Willock and gas coal region are out this morning, except Shaner. These people have enough men working to-day to load eight or ten cars for the East.

"On the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, the conditions are as follows: Jackson County, O., miners are all out, but from the best information obtainable it is probable they will soon return to work, provided the West Virginia miners do not strike. About one-half of the Indiana and Illinois miners are out, the other half continuing at work."

They are All Out.

Mowequa, Ill., July 9.—Authentic information received here to-day is that the miners are all out at Pana, Taylorville, Assumption and Decatur, as well as this place. The Pana mines will close down. Over 2000 miners are idle and not a shaft is operating in this section.

The Outlook at Gloster.

Columbus, O., July 9.—W. C. Pierce, secretary of the United Mine Workers, left to-day for Gloster, O., one of the points through which West Virginia coal is passing, en route to the lakes and large western cities. He believes the miners at Gloster will not attempt to stop trains from West Virginia, but has gone there to more carefully study the situation and advise with the local committee, and also to see what there is in the pretty well authenticated stories that some of the Gloster miners have gone to West Virginia to dig coal. It was at Gloster where trouble occurred in 1894 by stopping trains.

A Concession of 12 Cents.

Danville, Ill., July 9.—At a meeting of the Danville operators the mine owners agreed to offer the miners of the Danville district an advance of 12 cents per ton, if they would agree to remain at work. An advance in coal prices enables them to do this, and it is hoped that it will prevent the miners striking at their meeting next Sunday.

Confiscation at Chicago.

Chicago, July 9.—Railroad companies have issued orders to confiscate all coal being carried over their lines. The order carried confusion in its execution and local coal companies, who expected to receive special shipments to meet the demand of the day, were thrown on their resources to overcome the difficulty. In addition to the confiscating order the price of common soft coal jumped 40 cents a ton, while the soft screenings were rated at just double the customary value. Fully 15,000 car loads from the mines in Southern Illinois were confiscated by the railroad companies. The seizure is made because of a recent Supreme Court opinion, which says that in case of strikes the railroad companies have the right to confiscate any coal on the property, regardless of the consignee. The railroad companies claim they are exercising their just rights in the confiscation, as they maintain their contract with the coal companies calls for so many thousand tons a year, and when strikes prevail they are simply taking their balance due in the contract instead of waiting until the bins were nearly empty, as heretofore.

Price is Going Up.

Cleveland, July 9.—An advance of 25 per cent. in the retail price of bituminous coal was announced yesterday, and the increase will doubtless soon reach 50 per cent. All lake shipments of bituminous coal have stopped.

Situation in Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—The miners' strike situation in Illinois is as follows: All the miners in the Wilmington district, 3000 in number, are out. In Springfield district most of the miners are working. In Peoria district the miners are still working, but will meet to-day. The miners at Staunton and Mount Olive have given assurance that the Bellville miners would strike, but the Bellville men at their meeting decided to go to work. At Carlinville there is no strike. Virden and Auburn miners struck weeks ago. The miners at Assumption are out, but at Pana and Taylorville are working. At Westville, Vermilion County, the miners are out, but are at work at Danville.

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR JUST CLOSED

The Regulations Governing Imports Under the Reciprocal Clause of the New Tariff—A Veterinary Surgeon Who Met With Serious Injury From Ammonia Explosion.

Ottawa, July 9.—(Special.) Ottawa custom house export returns for quarter ended June 30, 1897, are as follows: Value of exports for quarter, $1,951,980; value of exports for fiscal year, $4,169,595; increase in value over year 1896, $911,050.

Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Conservatives in Ontario, will address a mass meeting in the Opera House on Tuesday next. The Liberal-Conservative Association Executive Committee met last night and completed arrangements for Mr. Whitney's reception.

The regulations to collectors of customs in regard to the reciprocal tariff of Canada under the customs tariff, 1897, were issued to-day by the Minister of Customs, and are as follows:

"Persons making entry of goods under the Canadian reciprocal tariff of 1897 are required to furnish a separate invoice of the articles entitled to such entry, with a declaration annexed thereto from the exporter or his agent made before a notary public or a commissioner for taking oaths, or the chief municipal officer of a city or town, or a British consul, or before the president or secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, as to the origin and value of the articles. A declaration must be made that the said invoice contains a full and true statement of the fair market value when sold for home consumption of the said goods at the time and place of the exportation thereof direct to Canada; that such fair market value includes any bounties, drawbacks, royalties, rents or charges that may have been or are expected to be allowed or paid on the said goods, or is payable on patent rights or because of the lease of such goods, or for the right of using the same, and that no different invoice or account thereof has been or will be furnished to anyone. Where invoices are made out at prices below the fair market value for consumption in the country of exportation, invoices must show in a separate column, or otherwise, by addition thereto, such fair market value."

A peculiarly distressing accident happened to Dr. W. W. Boucher, V. S., of the firm of Fails & Boucher the other afternoon. Dr. Boucher was called upon to attend a horse at Brighton. He opened his medicine case and, as he did so, a six-ounce bottle of ammonia exploded, filling his eyes, nose and mouth with pure ammonia. He was thrown back at once, but his face is terribly burned. His mouth and nose were almost cooked, while his eyes have been terribly injured.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Rideau City of Montreal of Two Unsavory Characters. It Was Drink, Murder and Suicide.

Montreal, July 9.—(Special.)—"Go away, you dirty dog; you have ill-used her and she never wants to see your face again."

The above words were followed by the report of pistol shots and in a few seconds two of the lowest characters in the city were lying dead. The story is a horrible one, as related this evening to The World.

A few weeks ago the police raided a house on Jacques Cartier-street, kept by a woman named Meladie Ouelette, 54 year of age, who, accompanied by a young tough, named Xavier Charbonneau, moved to Constant-lane. It appears that the woman had got tired of her lover and ordered him to leave the premises. He left, but returned this morning under the influence of liquor, and, going upstairs, went to sleep. This afternoon he came down, and, asking for Mme. Ouellette, a woman present named Rose Ann Therien answered. He immediately whipped out an American 32-calibre revolver and fired. The ball pierced the woman's heart and she fell dead at her murderer's feet. Charbonneau then ran to the corner of the yard and, placing the same weapon to his head, pulled the trigger, but the weapon missed fire. He then fired two shots into the ground and again raised the weapon, this time with better success, as the ball entered the brain and Charbonneau was a corpse. The police being called, the bodies of these wretched people were taken to the Morgue and tonight they are packed in ice side by side. As Charbonneau had previously threatened the Ouelette woman, it is said that she too would surely have been a victim had she been in the house at the time.

The heat is getting in its work, the latest victim being Mr. Joseph Mulholland, one of the best-known men in the city. He formerly lived in Winnipeg, being president of the Liberal-Conservative Association of that city. Some years ago he returned to Montreal, and, marrying Miss Bagg, settled down in this city.

Mr. F. P. Walton, B.C.L. (Oxon), has been appointed Professor of Roman Law and Dean of the Faculty of Law at McGill University, in place of Dr. L. H. Davidson, Q.C., who has resigned as acting dean. Mr. Walton is a member of the Scotch bar.

The Vicar-General and Administrator of the Diocese of Montreal, Mgr. Bourgeault, died suddenly at the palace this evening. He was over 70 years of age and had been ailing for some time.

One loaf of bread may be light, sweet and digestible. You may use the same materials for another and have it heavy, sour and soggy. The knack is in putting the ingredients together just right. A substitute for Scott's Emulsion may have the same ingredients and yet not be a perfect substitute, for no one knows how to put the parts together as we do. The secret of "how" is our business—twenty-five years of experience has taught us the best way.

HOT WEATHER SERMONS.

The time has come when "suffering" worshippers are contributing letters to the papers as to the desirability of short sermons and church services, in the interest of what they call "afflicted" hearers. Of course there is something to be said in favour of abbreviated services and sermons. It is, as a rule, only too difficult for a minister, be he never so earnest, eloquent and well-meaning, to hold the attention of all the worshippers; and if he fail to do this, he is very much as one that beateth the air. If holding the attention of some of his congregation under ordinary conditions, is difficult for a minister, it is plain that the number of restless and listless worshippers will be very much increased, with the church heated by the torrid weather, to the comparatively sevenfold intensity of the Nebuchadnessaran furnace on the plain of Dura. Therefore, it is natural to expect that a prudent preacher will shorten, as much as possible, his efforts to hold the attention of his restless, roasting flock. On the other hand, there is the preacher's position to be considered. He has a great and solemn responsibility to discharge, and there is no mention of any absolving dispensation being made out of consideration of excess of temperature. His sheep will stray as much morally in hot weather as in cool, and the shepherd has to be always on the alert. The ninety and nine sitting with solemn stolidity and, at least, outward attention, under his pulpit ministrations, under the most oppressive thermometric conditions, does not relieve the pastor from the duty of looking sharply after the one stray sheep, that fidgets morally as well as physically under the restraint of the heated fold. The more listless his congregation the more the conscientious preacher feels it his duty to strive to enlist the wavering attention of his flock, bobbing about aimlessly on the crest of the hot wave. No doubt if congregations in hot weather would pay closer attention to the sermons they ought to hear, the sermons would be correspondingly shortened. For it must not be thought that a hot Sunday in church is not oppressive to the preacher also. He has to go through the exertion of delivering his address—pulling hard against the stream of indifferent faces and flapping fans. Sitting serenely and motionless in their seats the congregation are less subject to the tyranny of temperature than the minister, who with the energy of his exertion, conjoined with the sense of how his effort is being criticised, feels the pearly perspiration trickling in frequent beads down his clerical chest, behind his linen, whose immaculate serenity of expanse and appearance gives no suggestion of the heated blood behind it. There seems to be something very human about human nature. We have seen crowded political gatherings sit out with an enthusiasm, only equalled by the boiling temperature of a hall, a two hours' harrangue on party politics, to the accompaniment of frenzied shouts of approval and a wrapt and patriotic forgetfulness of the thermometer announcing ninety degrees. Yet we see men who left such a meeting hilariously happy, with their clothing saturated with sweat, and so hoarse with shouting that they could not say grace at breakfast next morning, go to church and faint under a thirty-minute service and a quarter-hour sermon. There are, however, two sides to this question, and mutual tolerance and moderation are suggested. Let the worshipper as well as the minister be reasonable—the former reasonable in his grumbling, and the latter reasonable in the length of his sermons and services. The hot weather itself might become an ad captandum argument, dispensing with a certain amount of preaching as well as hearing.

REVERRING to the Dominion Day dinner in London, the Canadian Gazette says:—"Sir Wilfred Laurier made a speech which inspires the Daily Mail—and we cannot wonder at it—to compare him with some of the first of British statesmen, and to wish that it were possible to place him side by side with them in the Imperial Parliament.

The Brantford Expositor points out that that city's exports of manufactured goods increased from $99,000 in 1890 to $527,000 in 1896. In view of the fact that during the past six months the many factories of the city have been extremely busy we safely conclude that the figures in 1897 will show a considerable advance over those of 1896. The Liberal trade policy is having a revivifying effect upon manufacturing and all the prognostications of evil to result from a change of government at Ottawa have come to naught.

THORN IS WILLING TO DIE.

But He Doesn't Want Anything to Happen to Mrs. Nack—Some Thrilling Details Have Come Out.

New York, July 9.—The Herald says that it is able to state on competent authority that Martin Thorn, in addition to the statements attributed to him in the confession given out at Police Headquarters last night, made a complete acknowledgment of his connection with the crime for which he and Mrs. Nack have been indicted by the grand jury. This statement, The Herald says, is made on the authority of a police official who claims to have heard the confession and who says that Thorn admitted everything except that Mrs. Nack had anything to do with the murder of Guldensuppe.

"I am perfectly willing to die," Thorn told the detectives, "but I don't want anything to happen to Mrs. Nack."

Some thrilling details of the incident at Woodside just before the murder are to be found in the statements made by Thorn. Thorn then denied positively and emphatically that Mrs. Nack had anything to do with the killing of Guldensuppe.

The Herald further says that John Gartha betrayed Thorn through no motive of public duty, but because he feared for his own life, and a startling story reached The Herald last night to the effect that Thorn, in arranging with Gartha for the meeting on Tuesday night, did it with a view to luring Gartha away to Mount Morris Park, where, it is alleged, he intended taking his friend's life. Gartha possessed much information about Thorn's movements, both before and after the killing of Guldensuppe, and his report to Acting Inspector O'Brien of Thorn's alleged confession to him indicates why Thorn might wish to have him out of the way. The story of the plan to kill Gartha comes from a barber who, up to the present time, has not figured in the case before the public.

Insanity In Summer

BROUGHT ON BY NERVOUS AND MENTAL TROUBLES.

Paine's Celery Compound The Great Tower of Safety.

Nervous diseases when aggravated by mental disturbances produce more cases of insanity in the hot weather than at any other season of the year.

Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and chronic constipation induce depression of spirits, extreme weakness, morbid fears, despondency and languor; from these dread insanity comes slowly and surely.

Nervous sufferers have a dread of hot weather. Finding themselves deeper in the pit of misery than they were in the spring and early summer they are in utter despair. Thousands whose cases have not been met by treatment they are now under are loudly calling for help.

There is hope of rescue for you, reader, if you are one of the sufferers. You are in need of Paine's Celery Compound, that great builder of the nervous system. Its vitalising action commences with the first bottle you use. You soon begin to realise that you are daily drinking health. The volume of blood immediately increases in the arteries, and the body is fully fed and nourished. Your appetite becomes keen and natural, the tired nerves and brain are strengthened, and you feel impulses of health that cheer the soul.

The power of Paine's Celery Compound over nervous summer diseases is admitted by tens of thousands who have used the marvellous medicine. This remarkable remedy will most assuredly meet your case and give you a new life; it will lay the foundation for future happiness and long years. Weak wretched, and infirm reader, we counsel you to make use of this life-restorer at once, and enjoy the true blessing of health.

An Ill-Fated Train.

Mr. J. Plimmer, of Windsor, Ont., was on the train which which went through the bridge at St. George, Ont., in 1886. In the accident his kidneys and back were seriously injured, and have since caused him great suffering. Mr. Plimmer says:—"Until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills I never knew what it was to be free from pain. They have entirely removed the pain, and I am able to work every day now. They have produced better results than all the other medicines combined which I have used in all my years of suffering. I regard them as a specific for kidney trouble."

The Chief Secretary's Scheme of Development

WON THE THANKS OF NATIONALISTS

Railways, Steamboats and Coaches to Form a Tourist Route Right Across the West of Ireland Another Banquet to the Premiers—General Cable News.

London, July 9.—In the House of Commons to-day in the course of a discussion on the Irish estimates, Mr. Gerald Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, after a fierce attack by Timothy Healy on the Irish Board of Works, made a statement as to the manner in which the Government proposed to expend the half million pounds voted by Parliament last year for the development of the resources of Ireland.

"The scheme," said the Chief Secretary, "proposes the construction of light railways through the congested districts of North Donegal, and to open up by means of steamboats and coaches a new tourist route right across the west of Ireland. A steamer service 100 miles up the Shannon will begin on Aug. 1, while other lines of steamers and coaches will connect Killarney district with Connemara."

Then occurred a curious scene. The Nationalists, who had previously been abusing the government for its wanton disregard of Ireland, arose one after the other, and effusively thanked Mr. Gerald Balfour for the broad and generous manner in which he had dealt with the problem, all admitting that he had done the best possible with the funds at his command.

PREMIERS AGAIN BANQUETTED.

Mr. Reid of New South Wales Gives Evidence of a Little Pique on the Favors Shown Laurier.

London, July 9.—The London Chamber of Commerce gave a banquet this evening to the Colonial Premiers. Owing to slight indisposition, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was absent. The speeches were notable for the varying opinions expressed regarding the representation of the colonies in the Imperial Parliament.

Mr. G. H. Reid, the Premier of New South Wales, said there must be no misunderstanding. Any attempt to bring the colonies back into a position of relative insignificance by giving them some indefinite minor representation at Westminster would never be accepted in Australasia. He caused considerable laughter by reminding his hearers that New South Wales gave, two years ago, a freer tariff than Canada. "If this had only occurred in the Jubilee year," he said, "the Premier of New South Wales would have been the fiscal lion of the hour."

Sir Edward Brandon, Premier of Tasmania, and Mr. Richard Seddon, Premier of New Zealand, spoke strongly in favor of direct and adequate representation at Westminster.

Librarians Feted.

London, July 9.—The American and Canadian librarians who have arrived in this country for the forthcoming international library conference, are being feted by the municipal authorities of Manchester, Birmingham and other large towns.

BIKES GO DOWN.

The Rudge-Whitworth Company Suddenly Makes a Slaughter.

London, July 9.—The Rudge-Whitworth Cycle Company yesterday took the cycle industry by surprise by suddenly, and without the slightest warning, either to their London managers or agents, reducing the price of their bicycles from £30 to 16 guineas for the highest grade and from 20 to 12 guineas for the second grade. Something like consternation has been caused in the cycle trade by this action, and it took every rival concern by surprise, as only a couple of days previously the London manager stated that his company had no intention of making a reduction in response to the Columbia Company's action. The London managers of the Swift, Premier, Humber, Rover and other leading companies express the belief that a general reduction is inevitable, and the consequence of this will be that American machines will have no chance of selling here, even at reduced prices, as the English machine will probably be sold at the same value.

The Rudge-Whitworth Company's action is generally regarded as suicidal by English companies and certain to create a considerable fall on the Stock Exchange in the value of shares, terminating with many companies liquidating and others amalgamating.

Cycle Shares Tumbled.

Birmingham, England, July 9.—The cut in cycle prices announced by the Rudge-Whitworth Company, Limited, of London, has caused a general fall of cycle shares on the Stock Exchange and almost a panic throughout the trade.

The Number Killed in Calcutta.

London, July 9.—Lord George Hamilton, the Secretary of State for India, replying in the House of Commons today as to the number of persons killed during the recent rioting in the vicinity of Calcutta, said that about seven persons were killed and that about 20 were wounded during the riots.

Advices to native reports, put less than 50 persons were killed during the disturbances about Calcutta.

FOUR DISCONSOLATE WOMEN.

They Were Dressmakers in Paris and Shuffled Off of Their Own Volition.

Paris, July 9.—A great sensation has been caused by the discovery that four dressmakers have committed suicide by inhaling charcoal fumes in a flat belonging to the well-to-do Mme. Marechal, in the Faubourg Poisson-Rep. Mme. Marechal had long suffered from melancholy because of the insanity of her husband, and it is supposed that she instigated the act and persuaded the others, who were deserted either by their husbands or their lovers.

The four met in the evening, partook of a sumptuous dinner, with wine, sang and smoked until late, and concluded life with the statement in writing, signed by all: "We die deliberately and without any regret."

When the bodies were discovered the tables and floor were strewn with cigarets and cigar ends. On the centre table were letters addressed to their relatives. In the room with them a pet dog was found dead.

A Fire at Buckingham Palace.

London, July 9.—At 10 o'clock last night, while the guests were assembling for the state ball at Buckingham Palace, a fire broke out on the second floor. The stream of carriages entering the palace grounds was stopped and an enormous crowd collected. The fire engines arrived promptly, but found no difficulty in extinguishing the flames, which were due to the accidental igniting of a window curtain. An hour after the fire broke out the engines had departed and the reception of guests was resumed. Among the guests were many of the Indian Princes still remaining in London. The Prince of Wales entered the salon soon after 11 o'clock and dancing began immediately.

A GAME OF FREEZE OUT.

The Powers Will Keep Things Dangling Until Winter Expels the Sultan

London, July 9. Eastern affairs show but little change during the last 24 hours. A sensational newspaper in Paris published a rumor yesterday that M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has informed the Cabinet that matters in the East were very serious, and that Admiral Besnard, the Minister of Marine, had instructed the admiral in command of the Mediterranean fleet to mobilize his forces with a view of making a naval demonstration in the Bosphorus; but this is regarded as unnecessarily alarmist.

More to the purpose is the fact that Austria-Hungary has presented a note to the Porte declaring that unless the Turkish Government appoints a day for the Turkish military commission to discuss with the European attaches the strategic frontier proposed by Europe, the Ambassadors will request their respective governments to adopt energetic measures.

According to the best information obtainable this strategic frontier would give Turkey about 200 square kilometres of territory in the district of Metsovo and some villages in the Tyrnavos district.

The indemnity would be £4,500,000 Turkish, £1,500,000 to be paid on the departure of the Turks from Thessaly, and an equal amount in the course of a year, a Franco-English company raising the money by farming the Greek customs. These concessions are made with a view of enabling the Sultan to overcome the objections of the war party.

It is the general belief that the negotiations are likely to continue until the end of the year, when winter will compel Turkey to withdraw her troops from Thessaly. Just now, while the weather is good and food abundant, it is comparatively easy to keep them there. An Imperial order has been issued to the commandant of the Dardanelles to prepare for the sailing of the Turkish fleet under sealed orders.

FRANZ JOSEF TO THE SULTAN.

He Advises Abdul to Settle With Greece on the Basis Mapped Out.

Vienna, July 9.—The Sultan having wired the Emperor Francis Joseph, asking his friendly assistance in arriving at a settlement of the frontier question, the Emperor replied by telegram, assuring the Sultan of his "sincere friendship," and urging him to "conclude peace with Greece, on the basis of the conditions the ambassadors have formulated, which are the maximum concessions recognized as equitable by the concert."

The telegram concludes as follows: "The concert of the powers is firm and united in its decisions. Therefore, I request Your Majesty to take my advice into earnest consideration."

SIR LOUIS DAVIES' MISSION.

The Canadian Minister of Marine Expected to Discuss Pelagic Sealing.

London, July 10.—The Daily Mail publishes this morning a brief interview with Sir L. H. Davies, the Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Sir Louis has come to England to consult the Imperial Government with reference to the treaties with Belgium and Germany, and to obtain an opinion from the Privy Council as to whether the control of the internal fisheries of Canada lies with the Dominion Parliament or with the parliaments of the provinces in which the particular fisheries exist. He also expects to discuss the question of pelagic sealing with John W. Foster, the special commissioner of the United States on the sealing controversy. The length of his stay here is uncertain.

The Porte Called Down.

Constantinople, July 9.—Acting under instructions received from their respective Governments, the ambassadors of the powers to-day presented a collective note to the Turkish Government, demanding a cessation of the obstruction of the peace negotiations.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years; in the Toils—Nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills could touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson a telegraph operator of this place has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal,—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma Bronchitis, and all Lung Troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

Must Follow the Majority.

London, July 9.—The Committee of Engineers of the Allied Unions has issued a notice to the members of the bodies, instructing the latter that wherever 25 per cent. of the unionists are locked out on Tuesday next the remaining 75 per cent. are also to go out on strike.

The Old Lady is Still in It.

London, July 9.—Baroness Burdett-Coutts gave a garden party to-day at Holly Lodge, Highgate, to over 200 guests.

A Swell Cap[illegible]'s Suicide.

London, July 9.—Capt. Francis Yorke McMahon of the First Royal Dragoons, the brother and heir-presumptive of Sir Horace Westroop McMahon, Bart., has committed suicide by shooting himself at his brother's residence. He was financially embarrassed.

The Kaiser's Hopes.

Berlin, July 9. The Frankfort Zeitung to-day publishes a despatch from Constantinople saying that Emperor William, through the German Ambassador there, Baron Saurma von Jeltsch, has expressed the hope that the Sultan will not resist the desire of the powers for the evacuation of Thessaly by the Turkish troops.

Mr. Balfour's Good Promise.

London, July 9. In the House of Commons to-day, in response to appeals by Irish members, that the Government should make some provision for a Catholic University in Ireland, Mr. Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury, in a very sympathetic speech, admitted that the absence of a university was a hardship for Ireland, and said he would do his utmost in the direction of such an institution, but he said he was not in a position to make a definite promise.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Heat Prostrations.

Physicians and hospitals find that in heat prostrations cereal is the most valuable beverage, and that it constitutes one of the most life and nerve saving additions to the materia alimentaris known. It is generally given cold and clear. The effect on the stomach, nerves and blood is remarkable. Grain coffee is an absolutely pure product of the cereals. Seventy per cent. is from the gluten, albumen and phosphates of wheat, which go directly to make the gray matter in the nerve cells. Twenty per cent. is the starchy particles of grain which go to make strength for the body, and 10 per cent. is saccharine matter (sugar). That is why the famous saying "It makes red blood" is true, when common coffee does exactly the other thing. Don't take any mixtures. Ask for Madden Cereal Food Coffee.

A PROPOSITION MADE.

To Corry & Laverdure, by Citizens who Would Like to see the Strike Settled.

Last evening, Mr. Laverdure, T.V.C. contractor, was waited upon by a deputation of citizens selected by the striking labourers as their representatives. The deputation was composed of Messrs. Wm. Yelland, Robt. Weir, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, J. B. McWilliams, Rev. Herbert Symonds, Thos. Cahill and John Burnham, Q.C.

After talking over the situation for some time, Mr. Laverdure was asked to withdraw and the deputation after considering the representations made by both the contractor and strikers, submitted the following proposition to Mr. Laverdure:

The undersigned citizens of the town of Peterborough having heard the statements on behalf of the workmen of Messrs. Corry & Laverdure in regard to their grievances, and the statement of Mr. Laverdure in relation thereto, would recommend, as a settlement of the matters in dispute, as follows:

1 That the wages of the teamsters should be $2.60 per day; board for man and team by contractors not to exceed $1 per day.

2 The wages of men should be $1.10 per day of 10 hours.

3 Wages of water boys should be 50 cents per day.

4 No reduction should be made in men's time while having contractors' tools repaired.

5 Men to be allowed to board where they please.

6 Pay day should be fortnightly.

7 That if these terms are accepted, the former hands are to be taken on again as far as practicable—no ill will to be harboured by either side.

Signed. WM. YELLAND, ROBERT WEIR, D. J. CAHEY, J. B. MCWILLIAMS, HERBERT SYMONDS, THOS. CAHILL, JOHN BURNHAM.

Mr. Laverdure asked for time in which to consider the proposition and consult with his partner, Mr. Corry.

MONSIGNEUR MERRY DEL VAL PASSES THROUGH PETERBOROUGH.

He Went From Montreal to Toronto Yesterday, and Was Met at the Station by Several of the Priests From the Cathedral.

Monsigneur Merry del Val, the Papal Ablegate, passed through Peterborough yesterday afternoon on the 4.10 C.P.R. express on his way to Toronto from Montreal. He was accompanied by his private secretary and Rev. Father Antoine, Principal of Laval University.

The party travelled in the private palace car, "Hochelaga," which has been placed at the disposal of Monsigneur Merry del Val by the railway company.

It was not generally known that His Grace was about to pass through, or doubtless there would have been a large number of citizens assembled at the station to do him honour. Rev. Father Joseph Phelan and Rev. Father O'Brien, however, were there, and calling upon him in the car, paid their respects and enjoyed a few moments' conversation with the distinguished prelate.

Returned to Town.

Mr. Andie Paterson, formerly of the Inspection department of the Canadian General Electric Works, who left town about three months ago to fill a more lucrative position in the Southern States, has returned to Peterborough. Mr. Patterson states that the extreme heat which has prevailed down south ever since his arrival there was too much for him—110° in the shade—being a frequent indication of the torrid atmosphere. Such a scorcher as we have been sweltering under to-day would be considered a cool day by the residents of that zone. Mr. Paterson has decided to remain in Peterborough and commence business for himself, having secured a lease of the machine shop in Whyte's foundry, McDonel street, west, where he purposes beginning work on Monday.

Ho for the "Thousand Islands!"

Please note these details in connection with the grand annual excursion under the auspices of the Fire Brigade, on Thursday, July 15th. This year it is to the world-famed Thousand Islands per special C.P.R. train to Kingston and thence by palatial steamer down the St. Lawrence through the magnificent lake of the Thousand Islands. The Fire Brigade Band will go with the excursion. Train leaves Peterborough Thursday, July 15th, at 7.30 a.m., reaching Kingston at 11 a.m., giving two hours for dinner and sightseeing in the Limestone City. The steamer will leave the wharf for a five-hour's cruise—touching at all the principal points—among the most magnificent reach of water scenery in the world. Return to Kingston at 6 p.m., leaving two hours more to see the city sights. Train starts for home at 8, reaching town at 11.30. Note this: Return tickets good to return up to Saturday, 17th, only $1.75—to be had of the committee (see big bills) or at C.P.R. ticket offices.

STRIKERS BEFORE THE COUNTY MAGISTRATE.

THE CASE IS ENLARGED UNTIL MONDAY NEXT.

This is Done in Order that the Way May be Smoothed to an Amicable Settlement—The Contractors did not Raise the Price of Board as was Stated on the Streets.

The Court Room was again jammed to the doors yesterday afternoon by the strikers from the canal, on the occasion of the resumption of the trial of Drummond and Moore on the charge of intimidating men who did not wish to strike, but were satisfied to work on the canal at the old scale of wages.

Mr. R. T. Wood, County Crown Attorney, represented the Queen; Mr. W. H. Moore, appeared for the private prosecutor, Mr. Laverdure; and Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., was in attendance to guard the interests of the strikers.

Mayor Yelland, who was present, was invited to take a seat on the bench, which he did, amid applause from the men.

County Magistate Edmison asked for a statement from the Crown Prosecutor of the circumstances which preceded the strike.

Mr. Wood stated that the contractors knew nothing of any trouble until Monday at noon, when after dinner the foremen called on the labourers to resume work, and they refused to do so, marching in a body along the picking up the different gangs as they went along from the lower end all the way to Nassau. No complaints whatver had been made to Mr. Laverdure and no deputation had waited upon him to state the grievances of the men. The strikers, Mr. Wood said, not only refused to work themselves, but compelled those who were willing to work on the canal to keep away by means of threats, intimidation and roughness.

LINE OF THE CANAL,

Mr. Poussette, speaking for the men, stated that he was informed that in reality they had interviewed Mr. Laverdure and asked for an increase, but had been told to "Go to hell" for their pains, and refused to give an increase. A deputation had waited on him at his hotel when he had agreed to the increase asked for giving the laborers $1 25 instead of $1,00 a day and the teamsters $2.75 instead of $2 25. He had afterwards, however, changed his mind and refused to do this.

Mr. Laverdure contradicted. Mr. Poussette at this point stating that this was not so. He had seen no men at all at any time in reference to a raise in wages. The gang of strikers had marched up the canal to Nassau and naturally he was very much excited when he saw the men stopping work all around him. At this time some man had approached him and spoken something about wages but he was too excited to listen to him and did not know what he said.

Mr. Poussette stated that one grievance was that Mr. Laverdure had raised the price of board in the boarding house at the canal.

Mr. Laverdure—This is false.

The magistrate stated that he, too, had heard it said that the contractor had raised

THE PRICE OF BOARD,

but it was a most erroneous statement. This was not the case.

Mr. Wood explained that it was the hotels and private boarding houses which had raised the price of board. When the contractors heard of it they advised the men to move to the houses on the canal, where the rates would remain unchanged.

Mr. Poussette quoted from the "Trade Disputes' Act," stating that in case of a strike, such as the present one, it was the duty of the Mayor to notify the registrar of the province, who would then take the matter into his hands. If the latter was unable to settle it, the Council of Conciliation would be called in. He thought, however, that if the parties directly concerned could settle it amongst themselves without resorting to these extreme measures, a great deal of time and money could be saved. In order to facilitate matters in this respect the strikers wished to suggest as arbitrators the names of Messrs. John Burnham, Q.C., Rev. H. Symonds, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, J. B. McWilliams, Mayor Yelland, Robt. Weir and Thos. Cahill. The men were willing to put their case in the hands of these arbitrators to settle with an equal number named by the contractor. The present difficulty might possibly have occurred through unforseen circumstances for which the contractors were not responsible, one of them, for instance, being the increased price charged for board. The men also thought they were entitled to higher wages at this season of the year than at any other time.

Mr. Laverdure urged that the trial of the defendants be proceeded with. He was not prepared to make any concessions until he had thought the matter over carefully.

Mr. Poussette asked that the hearing be be postponed for a day or two.

Mr. Wood did not agree to this, pointing out that at present the contractor was losing heavily by the delay. He had thirty teams of his own standing idle. If Mr. Poussette would to the effect that the men who wished to work could do so unmolested by the strikers, then the hearing could be postponed.

GIVE AN UNDERTAKING

Mr. Laverdure pointed out that even after the warning the men had the day before, they came upon the works yesterday, unhitched the horses and chased them away and stoned the men who were working until they had to cease.

Mr. Poussettes found it impossible to give such an undertaking as he thought the men were justified in their course.

The magistrate pointed out that the strikers had no right whatever to approach the workers or to intimidate the men in any way whatever. Of course they could persuade them not to work if they were able to do so, though they would be liable if they went to the canal to do it.

Charles Crowe was then called as the first witness.

Before his evidence was taken another effort was made to postpone the hearing, but Mr. Laverdure insisted on having the undertaking, mentioned above, from Mr. Poussette before he would agree to such a course of procedure.

Mr. Poussette then gave his personal undertaking, as counsel for the strikers, that any one who wished to go back to work could do so without being interfered with, Mr. Laverdure agreeing not to bring in any outside men.

Mr. Poussette then addressed the strikers, of whom there were about 300 present, explaining what he had done and stating his hope that they would not cause him to break his promise, as arrangements, it was hoped, would be made immediately for an amicable settlement of the difficulty.

By a show of hands the strikers decided unanimously to live up to the undertaking and any man who is now off work can return to the canal, if he wishes to do so, without fear of being molested. None of the men are to approach the works unless they intend to seek employment.

The case was then adjourned until Monday afternoon, at three o'clock, on the understanding that the arbitration committee was to meet Mr. Laverdure in the evening, which it did as mentioned in another column.

DROVE OVER A CULVERT.

But no Damage of any Account Resulted—Trouble With the Lambs.

Mr. R. J. Winch and Mr. H. Rush met with a peculiar accident the other evening when returning from Bethany with a load of lambs.

They had driven over some bad pieces of road in safety and were within 150 yards of the barn where the accident occurred. After crossing the locks bridge they drove up the back way intending to cut through Ware street, behind Mr. Harry Winch's residence, but since they had driven through the street before a culvert had been constructed and the ditches greatly deepened. In the dark the wagon was driven over the culvert and upset. The horses were caught before any great damage had been done, but a great deal of trouble was experienced in securing the lambs, which had to be set at liberty to prevent them smothering in the cage. Handkerchiefs, pieces of string and halters had to be utilized in tieing them.

Mr. Winch thinks that the town should place a light at the culvert.

OBITUARY.

The Late Erastus Anderson, of North Monaghan.

On Thursday evening, July 8th, Erastus Anderson, of North Monaghan, died at his residence, lot 12, concession 10, at the age of 58 years. The deceased has been suffering from illness for the past three and a half months, originating in an attack of la grippe. Mr. Anderson was a native of Northumberland county. WHO "LIFTED" THE PLANK?

It was Taken From the Sidewalk and Travelled a Considerable Distance.

An amusing incident occurred in connection with the recent case of Moncrief vs. Peterborough, which was tried before Judge Weller on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. E. B. Stone happened to be passing the spot where the sidewalk had been said to be defective and thought he noticed a loose board. Stooping he took hold of it and lifted it out of its place, exposing to view the cellarway beneath. It was a portion of the trap door in the sidewalk. The plank was taken into Fairweather & Co.'s and afterwards sent up to Mr. John Burnham's office and the Chief of Police notified that it had been taken to be used in evidence.

The chief, after considerable trouble, located the hiding place of the plank and removed it from Mr. Burnham's office again. It is now nailed down securely with railroad spikes.

CAPT. JOHNSTON REPLIES.

To the Editor of The Examiner :

SIR,—My attention has been called to a report of a meeting of the Town Council which appeared in your issue of the 6th, and which contains statements unfair and untrue respecting the action of the cavalry on Jubilee day. In justice to the corps I would ask for space to state the case as it appears to us.

On the 8th of June when in camp at Kingston I received an invitation from the secretary celebration committee inviting us to unite in a demonstration to be held on the 22nd June. I accepted that invitation and waited for some further notification as to what they wanted us to do. The camp broke up and we came home on Saturday 19th without hearing from them, and I dismissed the men ordering them to parade at the drill shed at 9 a.m. on Tuesday 22nd thinking that in any event that would be early enough.

I also heard incidentally that there was a meeting of the committee to be held that night and I asked Lt. Bradburn to attend and find out what we were down for. He reported on Monday that we were to take part in the procession. That evening hearing on the street the place assigned to, I went to Mr. McWilliams office, and as he was not in I went to Mr. Neill and stated my objections. Mr. Neill said he would try and arrange it, but notified us later that they could not make any change, passing over the action of the town council in discussing a matter that I am at a loss to know how it could have come before them in their official capacity, and allowing a member to insult a body of loyal citizens without a protest, I come to the charges you report Mr. McWilliams as making, namely, "That they refused to march unless given their dinner and the head of the procession." In regard to the first charge, when that was spoken of in camp I said then if the town offered to give the men a dinner we would accept it, if not I would pay for it myself. Mr Bradburn says that he suggested to the committee at their meeting on Saturday night that they put up the dinner, but did not say anything about it being conditional on our turning out. As to the proper place for cavalry on parade, it is unnecessary for me to state to an intelligent public that Mr. McWilliams is not an authority on military matters ; aside from that there are good sound reasons that we did not take the rear of the procession. Horses move faster than men on foot. Street cars, fire crackers, etc., would very probably have caused some restive horses to bolt, and in all likelihood have injured some one in front. Nobody with any knowledge of the matter would want to go in front of cavalry under the circumstances. As Mr. McWilliams appears to be in some doubt as to who is in command of this squadron, I beg to state for his information that I am, and I accept full responsibility for anything that has been done.

I have the honour to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
W. D. JOHNSTON, Capt.
Commandant "C" Squadron 3rd Dragoons.

PLANS OF THE Y.M.C.A.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

In reply to a letter from Mr. Bartlett re. Y.M.C.A. building plans I wish to state I never saw Bartlett's plans and know nothing of them except that I was told by the secretary they did not meet the requirements. If his plans had been the most suitable doubtless the Y.M.C.A. would have adopted them. If I choose from limited time given or press of other work, to employ any one to assist me in preparing my design, I think I am at liberty to do so, surely. I am honoured that a professional man should resort to misstatements to secure credit for a building he had nothing to do with.

Yours truly,
W. BLACKWELL.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MEETING.

ADDRESSES GIVEN BY A NUMBER OF PETERBOROUGH CLERGY.

Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year—Synopsis of the Papers Read—The Delegates Hospitably Entertained.

The Otonabee Sunday School Association held their annual convention on Monday, July 5, in the Presbyterian church, Keene.

Despite the extreme heat there was a good attendance of delegates, many having driven in from a distance.

The convention consisted of two sessions, afternoon and evening.

The afternoon session opened at 2 30, the president, Mr. John R. Kindred, presiding. After devotional exercises led by Rev. F. Andrews, the secretary presented a full and comprehensive report of the work in the township, for which she received the hearty thanks of the association.

Encouraging reports were received from the several schools in the township through their delegates. All but two reported—Hiawatha and River Road Union.

REV. J. G. POTTER

gave an excellent address on "Laws of Teaching," under the following heads :—Who are teachers? What we teach, How we teach, closing with the teacher's influence, urging them to carefully watch their actions, for one act of their's during the week may undo all they have accomplished in the teaching hour on Sunday.

Mrs Anderson and Miss Bryce sang very sweetly the duet entitled "Morning Land."

Mr. Alfred Day, general secretary of the Provincial Association was present and addressed the convention on "The Teacher's Text Book." Mr. Day said, "Close the Bible, look at it, ask yourself some questions about it and see if it will not grow in interest."

Take for instance the longevity of the Bible. Why has it continued to grow? Look at its popularity. While other books have fallen into disuse, it is more largely used at the present time than ever before. Large sums of money have been paid for a copy of it—as high as $500 having been paid for the first copy of the revised version.

The unity of the Bible is a marvellous thing. Look at its sociological power uplifting manhood ; and lastly, the Bible is true.

At the opening of the evening session, after devotional exercises led by Rev. J. J. Liddy, the report of the nominating committee was received and adopted.

THE OFFICERS

for the ensuing year are :

President—Mr. John Lancaster.
1st Vice-President—Miss Edith Armstrong.
2nd Vice-President—Mr. T. E. Sargent.
Sec.-Treas—Miss Laura Bennett.
Supt. of Primary—Mrs. Harrison.
Supt. of Normal—Dr. Harrison.
Executive Committee—Misses May Hanbidge, Lizzie Davidson, Emma Lewis, Susie Bennett, Mrs. Humphries, Mr. A. Shearer, Superintendents of schools and all co-operating pastors.

On the recommendation of the nominating committee, the following resolution was adopted :

That as in the past the executive have been using the Y.M.C.A. parlours, and as the Endeavousers are furnishing the committee room, we, as an Association, contribute a sum toward the furnishing of it, and thus be honourably entitled to the use of it.

It was afterwards desided to contribute $5 towards the furnishing of the committee room.

To Mr. Day was accorded the privilege of introducing the new officers to the Association which he did in his own inimitable way. Mr. J. Lancaster, the new president, occupied the chair for the remainder of the session. The thanks of the Association was tendered the retiring president, Mr. J. R. Kindred, for his efficient services.

Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed gave a short patriotic address, explaining very clearly what a true patriot was and impressing the fact that "Righteousness exalteth a nation."

At the conclusion the audience rose and sang with fervour "God Save the Queen."

REV. A. T. DYKMAN

gave an earnest and pointed address on "What we want and how to get it." What we want is not high license, nor low license, nor any license but prohibition pure and simple. The burning question of today is or should be the rum question. From 6,000 to 7,000 die annually in Canada from this cause. He characterised it as the gigantic crime of all crimes. We want a law to make it a criminal offence to sell intoxicating liquors and thus protect our citizens.

How to get it. Organize. The opposing forces are organizing. Appoint temperance committees in your schools and the association, scatter temperance literature broadcast through the land, to educate the people and do all in your power to drive the curse from our land. Mrs. Liddy and Mrs. Harrison favoured the convention with a well rendered duet, "Why stand ye here idle."

Mr. Day again addressed the convention the subject being "The Teacher's Masterkey," dealing with the personality of the teacher and the personality of the scholar. The address was full of practical hints both to teacher and scholar.

Much of the success of the convention is due to the presence of Mr. Day, and also to the authorities of the church in which the sessions were held.

All delegates were hospitably entertained by the kind people of Keene, and all expressed themselves as delighted with their reception.

THE COUNTY'S TRIBUTE.

The Address of the County Council Forwarded to Her Majesty.

The following is the copy of the loyal address forwarded to the Queen in recognition of her Diamond Jubilee, on behalf of the County Council :

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty :

The Warden and Council of the County of Peterborough, in the Province of Ontario and Dominion of Canada, humbly offer their congratulations and good wishes upon the happy completion of the sixtieth year of your Majesty's most gracious reign.

The Victorian age has been to this Dominion a period of prosperity and happiness, and the loyalty to your Majesty, which makes Great Britain and Ireland the head of the united empire, is more wide-spread in Canada to-day than ever.

Among the many colonies which comprise your Majesty's vast Empire, none can be found where British connection is more highly cherished, or the blessings arising from that connection are more highly appreciated, than in Canada, which within the past sixty years has become a prosperous Dominion, stretching, as it does, across a mighty continent.

With other parts of this vast Dominion, which is now enthusiastically celebrating your Majesty's Diamond Jubilee year, the County of Peterborough shares to a large extent the progress and prosperity which has been enjoyed during Your Majesty's munificent reign.

In 1836 this county was almost covered by the primeval forest with only a few scattered settlements and a population of probably less than 6,000. Today the forest has given place to smiling fields and the population of which (including the town of Peterborough) is now upwards of 34,000.

Your loving subjects of the County of Peterborough pray that Your Majesty may long be spared to rule over the many millions who acknowledge your sovereignty and with whom we most heartily unite in the heartfelt prayer of "God Save the Queen."

WM. ANDERSON,
Warden,
EDG. PEARSE,
Clerk.

BICYCLE ROAD RACE.

The Officials are Messrs. A. H. Stratton, Alex. Gibson, Alf. Terrill, H. R. H. Kenner, W. A. Buchanan and F. D. McKay.

Mr. P. J. Galvin is organizing a road race for the Peterborough wheelmen to be run from town to Chemong, on Thursday next, when an interesting programme has been prepared to take place at the park. The oarsmen who are to compete in the races at Jacob's Island will give exhibitions and busses will run out from town.

The officers of the road race will be as follows:

Starters—Messrs. A. H. Stratton, Alex. Gibson and Alf. Terrill.

Timers and judges—Messrs. H. R. H. Kenner, F. D. McKay and W. A. Buchanan.

Intending riders should make their entries as soon as possible in order that the handicaps for the six mile scorch may be arranged immediately.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 80 ; 1889 at 53 ; 1890 at 75 ; 1891 at $1.00 ; 1892 at 44 ; 1893 at 59 ; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of 5¢ for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. FOR SALE.
House and Lot on Gilmour Street.
PURSUANT TO AN ORDER OF THE High Court of Justice, made in the matter of the estate of the late Andrew Douglas, and in the cause of Fairweather against Douglas, bearing date the 25th day of November, 1896, there will be offered for sale by Charles Stapleton, Auctioneer, at the MORGAN HOUSE, on Hunter street, in the Town of Peterborough, on Thursday, the 22nd day of July, 1897,
at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the house and lot, No. 52, Gilmour street, in the Town of Peterborough, formerly occupied by the late Andrew Douglas, as a residence, and being lot 38, according to registered plan, No. 88, for the said town.
The lot has a frontage on Gilmour street of about 12½ feet by a depth of about 185 feet. There is erected thereon a large two-story brick house with rough-cast kitchen attached, with convenient woodshed and a large stable, all well built, and the grounds are well planted with shade and fruit bearing trees.
TERMS OF SALE—10 per cent. of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale, and the remainder thereof within 30 days thereafter, or a portion thereof may remain out on mortage upon terms to be made known at the time of sale, when further particulars and conditions of sale will be given. There will be an unreserved bid.
Further particulars can be had from Messrs. Roger & Bennet, Messrs. Stratton & Hall or from the Auctioneer.
Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of June, 1897.

HENRY OWENS'
NEW IMPROVED
MODEL PUMPS.
I have recently added some valuable improvements to my Model Pumps, which I have manufactured for the past thirteen years and which are known in every township and concession of Peterborough and adjoining counties. Numerous instances could be mentioned where these pumps are still doing good work after thirteen years constant use. Their durability would almost seem to have rendered further improvements unnecessary, and yet recent valuable changes which I have made deserve special mention.

The New Improved Model lift pump is supplied with a cone-shaped iron head, attached to which is an iron bracket from which a new leverage power is obtained, increasing the length of stroke for a stronger discharge of water. The movements of the handle, while they produce a more powerful action, have a steady even bearing, and the pump remains rigid and steady at every stroke. The new iron head adds increasing durability to these pumps, all checking and loosening being positively prevented. All the important working parts are of steel and consequently not liable to wear out. Another valuable improvement is the increased water space between the spout and head, which allows more freedom for the surplus water lifted, thus greatly reducing the liability of freezing in winter. Everyone requiring a new pump will find it much to their advantage, before purchasing elsewhere, to call and examine my new Improved Model Pump, at my Pump Works, corner of Simcoe and Water streets, Peterborough.

WHEN THE WORLD SEEMS AWRY.

When everything goes wrong,
And the world seems all awry,
I'll tell you what I do, my dear,
I just sit down and cry.
When the biscuit will not rise,
And the jelly will not jell,
And the wood's all of a size,
And the ax is in the well,
When the fat's spilled on the floor,
And the bread's burned black as oak,
When there's company at the door,
And the house is full of smoke.
When things are all askew,
And the world seems all awry,
Why, then, the thing I do, my dear,
Is just to sit and cry.
When the setting hen won't set,
And the butter will not come,
When the girl gets in a pet
And threatens to go home,
When the washing will not dry,
And the front door key is lost,
When the soap turns back to lye,
When the plants are touched by frost.
When things go all askew,
And I feel as though I should fly,
I think th' thing I've a right to do.
Is just to sit down and cry.

I see the natural thing for you,
When the world goes so awry,
Is to drop the troublesome things, my dear,
And cry, and cry, and cry.
But be sure you go by yourself,
And be sure you lock the door;
Then bury your head in the feather bed,
But, before you do any more,
Think how you regarded Dot,
When the world went awry;
What of the right of poor little Tot,
That day she began to cry
Because of her shattered doll,
And her broken tea-set blue?
Then tell me what you think of yourself,
And I'll know what to think of you.

—Charlotte Whitcomb.

HEART RELIEF.

Eight Years Hanging Between Life and Death With Acute Heart Disease—And in 30 Minutes After Taking the first Dose of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Relief Comes—What it did for Alfred Couldry, West Shefford, Que., it can do for any Sufferer From the Same Cause.

"I had been suffering from acute heart trouble for over four years. When doctors had tried and failed so give me relief, I procured Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. In thirty minutes after the first dose I had relief, and although mine was a case of long standing, eight bottles effected a permanent cure, and I firmly believe, after knowing what it has done for me, that there is no hopeless case while this cure is to be had. I cheerfully sanction the use of my testimony in whatever way it may do the most good."

A Coat of Grass.

The oddest thing in bric-a-brac is a little Italian vase made of red clay, upon which, with a little care, you can have the "green grass growing all around" in the utmost luxuriousness.

All you have to do is to soak the vase in water for a day and then sprinkle timothy seed all over the outside. The seed sticks to the wet clay and sprouts, and in about ten days from the time you sow your seed you have a harvest in the form of a green-jacketed vase that makes the most beautiful flower receptacle imaginable.

The grass lasts for about a month if you are careful to keep water in the vase, and then it can be peeled off and renewed in the same manner as before.

The Coming of Baby.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. The care and anxiety count for nothing against the clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates.

Merry Quips Which Tend to Minimize the Heat Evil.

"You remember," said the gentleman in the bald wig, "how all the world went to Chicago four years ago?"

"I do," answered the gentleman in the pea-green whiskers.

"Well, now, all the world has gone to Wheeling.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Teacher—Define the word "objectively" and give a sentence in which it is used correctly.

Boy (after several moments of profound cogitation)—Objectivity is the quality of being objectionable. Some persons have a great objectivity in wording.—Chicago Tribune.

"Miss May, I have called to invite you to attend our class day performance. I take part, you know."

"Thank you, Mr. Beasley, but I have another engagement."

"Then, the weather man was right."

"In what way?"

"He said 'Heavy frost to-night' good evening, Miss Englehat."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wayworn Watson—Everything is gittin' to be done by machinery these days. It is something awful.

Perry Patetic—I don't see no call for you, ner me, neither, to git excited about it. I guess no machine won't never take up our trade and ruin it.

"That boy of yours is a credit to his father, Williams."

"I must admit that he is. I think it was all in the system I put in the first fifteen years bringing him up, and the past six calling him down."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

She declared herself one of those bashful timid girls who can never sit still or decide what to do with her hands.

He answered by putting an embracing arm about her waist and taking both of her little hands in his.—Detroit Free Press.

The Minister—Little boy, aren't you afraid that something will happen to you if you keep on riding your bicycle on Sundays?

Little Boy—Oh, I ain't a-scared. I've got my repair outfit in me pocket.—Cleveland Leader.

"Oh, I wouldn't be a mermaid!" she exclaimed, as she turned away from the picture.

"You wouldn't?"

"Well, I should say not. Why, what could she do with a bicycle?"

The dead silence that followed showed that everybody saw the point.—Chicago Post.

"There is no excuse," exclaimed the theatre patron, "for having the waits between acts so long."

"That's exactly what I said to the last company that played here. It's very dangerous to let an audience go to sleep and take chances on being able to wake it up again."—Washington Star.

"My wife," said the young man, in earnest tones, "is a jewel!"

"They all say that," said the elderly man, speaking apparently to the wall.

"But I know, of course, you won't believe it, but she watches me take my bicycle all to pieces without offering a single suggestion."—Indianapolis Journal.

"Those young men are practising for their college field day. Do you see that good-looking fellow over there? He is entered for the mile run, and I think he'll win it."

"Why so?"

"He's a Greek."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wallace—Hargreaves is pondering whether to buy a dog or a bicycle.

Ferry—Which did you advise him to get?

"I didn't advise him. He will be just as big a bore about the one as he would about the other."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Whenever I make a new acquaintance I instinctively size him up."

"Well, I hope that you don't overlook the fact that the new acquaintance instinctively sizes you up."—Chicago Record.

"I'm one of the few persons who don't ride wheels."

"Indeed!"

"Yes; I'm just learning."—Chicago Record.

"What," exclaimed the legitimate hero, drawing her gently nearer to the footlights, "if our love is but a farce, after all!"

"Ah, what!" the legitimate heroine sighed with a shiver.

There was much to suggest the terrible thought; for the box office was actually selling out the house.—Detroit Journal.

Soxey—Why do so many young men carry their umbrellas under their arms?

Knoxey—Oh, I suppose its because they like to have their arms around some kind of ribs.—Pittsburg News.

"Her husband is a terribly hard man to get along with."

"I guess she blows him up too much."

However, still proceeding with the similitude of men to bicycle tires, one could hardly be run on with any degree of facility unless he were blown up quite a bit.

"Girls make no objection to being hugged in the waltz, and by perfect strangers."

"Of course not. Dancing is the poetry of motion and hugging is merely poetical license."—Detroit Journal.

"She gave me a beautiful nickel-plated cyclometer the last time I called," he said joyfully. "What do you suppose she meant by that?"

"Keep moving," was the heartless explanation.

And everyone who knew the recipient of the gift felt that it had been properly interpreted.—Chicago Post.

"Still my heart, still!" he whispers.

Among those who are there, not a few wonder if he hasn't confounded his heart with the colored shirt he is wearing.

But they say nothing.—Detroit Journal.

"How do the children of the school take to the idea of contributing their pennies to send the teacher away?" asked the superintendent.

"Oh, they are enthusiastic over it. The further away the better, they say," replied the assistant.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Conference on the Seal Question.

London, July 8.—The conferences between the United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay, and Mr. John W. Foster; United States Commissioner; Marquis of Salisbury and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, on the question of seal protection, have resulted in the British Prime Minister showing more disposition to reopen the question than when the United States first requested that this be done.

Experts belonging to the Foreign Office are compiling evidence to sustain the British contention that the Paris agreement sufficiently protected the seals.

THE WONDERS OF THIS JUBILEE YEAR!

Elegant Gold Watches Given Away at H. LeBRUN & CO'S Clothing Store.

THE BIGGEST HIT OF THE SEASON

Wonders are coming thicker and faster than ever. The Jubilee year is to be full of new and startling wonders. Just imagine all the Wonderful things you have heard and read about lately, and then listen to this: The latest wonder of the day has been started by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co., who are holding their annual summer clearance during the months of July and August.

This firm intends to make the Jubilee summer holidays of 1897 memorable to the people of Peterborough by giving away elaborate ladies' and gentlemen's electro-gold hunting case watches to every cash purchaser of $35 worth of Clothing or Furnishings at their store.

This wonderful Victor Watch is the greatest watch the World has ever seen given away. The cases are electro gold plated, engraved in the most magnificent style—stem winding and setting—and guaranteed for time and durability. A princely present for a lady or gentleman. Specimens of the watches on exhibition in H. LeBrun & Co's show window, and you can have your choice of any of these beautifully chased patterns.

Ladies as well as gentlemen can take advantage of this wondreful offer. Every purchaser will receive a ticket on which the amount of each cash purchase will be recorded.

PRIZES! PRIZES!

In order to make our summer clearance sale still more interesting, we offer Three Special Prizes to the three largest purchasers of goods at our store during July and August as follows.

1st Prize—To the Largest purchaser, a Victor Watch.
2nd Prize—To the Second largest Purchaser, a Victor Watch
3rd Prize—To the Third largest purchaser, a Victor Watch

Those who are not lucky enough to get one of these special prizes, their amounts will be allowed on a $35 cash purchase.

Better hurry up if you want to share these special gifts. The town will be after them hot foot.

Prices all over the store greatly reduced during July and August.

THE old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling great gratification at the thought that his children and his children's children have inherited from him no weakness nor tendency to disease. The healthy old man is the man who has throughout his life kept his digestion good and his blood pure. Once in a while you find such a man who has never taken any medicine. That man has lived a perfectly natural life. Not one in a thousand does do it. Sometimes very slight indiscretions or carelessness pave the way for serious sickness. The germ theory of disease is well authenticated, and germs are everywhere. This need make no difference to the perfectly healthy man. Germs go through the healthy body without effect. They are hurried along rapidly and thrown off before they have time to develop or increase. Let them once find lodgment or let them find a weak spot, they will develop by the million and the blood will be full of them. Instead of rich, life-giving properties, the blood will be a sluggish, putrid tide of impurity. Instead of giving strength to the tissues, it will force upon them unwholesome and innutritious matter, and the man will lose flesh. The more flesh he loses and the weaker he becomes, the more susceptible he is to disease. His trouble will become complicated and serious consequences will follow. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the only medicine that absolutely and infallibly cures all blood diseases, and almost all diseases are blood diseases. It isn't a medicine for some one particular so-called disease. It is a medicine for the whole body. It forces out all the germs of disease, replaces impurities with rich, red blood, feeds the tissues and makes strong, healthy flesh.

T. J. LIPTON.

The Man Who Gave $125,000 to Feed the Poor of London.

T. J. Lipton, the big tea planter and merchant of London, who made a magnificent donation of $125,000 to the fund for the Prince of Wales' dinner to London's poor on the day of the Queen's Jubilee, practically guaranteed success to the Prince of Wales' scheme. The story of the proposed dinner is quite simple. An idea, in a general way, had been conceived that some magnificent display, away out of the ordinary, be made in the Queen's honor at the Jubilee. Suggestions, however, were not forthcoming, when the Prince of Wales mentioned the propriety of raising a large sum of money by public subscription and treating the poorest of London's poor to a square meal on Jubilee day. The suggestion was so very novel and genuinely kind that the public took it up, and $25,000 was in the hands of the Lord Mayor in a fortnight. It was estimated that $150,000 would be ample to feed the poor of the city at the present excessively cheap prices of everything. The fund was growing rapidly when Mr. Lipton stepped forward, and, with one stroke of his pen, completed it. Mr. Lipton desired that his name be not made public, but as the gift was attributed to others, the Lord Mayor thought it best to set all doubts at rest by publicly announcing the real benefactor. London has a population of 6,000,000, a large percentage of which are poor.

T. J. LIPTON.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

BABY WAS CURED.

DEAR SIRS,—I can highly recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It cured my baby of diarrhœa after all other means failed, so I give it great praise. It is excellent for all bowel complaints.

MRS. CHAS. BOTT, Harlow, Ont.

THE HEAD MASTER

GENTLEMEN,—I have found great satisfaction in the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and consider it invaluable in all cases of diarrhœa and summer complaint. It is a pleasure to me to recommend it to the public.

CURRENT FUN.

Mere Moments Superinduced by Witty Newspaper Paragraphs.

Miss Highup—It's perfectly scandalous! I never heard of Miss De Pink's—

Miss Upstep—No. What has she done?

"Oh, the most immodest thing imaginable. She's let all the world know she is ready to get married by going and joining a cooking school."

"She was altogether consistent in her sin against the conventional duties of society."

"Yes?"

"Oh, yes. She broke her arm once, and the bone wouldn't knit." Detroit Journal.

Myra—That Miss Beane puts on a good deal of style when she goes to the opera.

Maude—Well, good gracious! the woman's got to put on something! Yonkers Statesman.

Mr. Watts—I don't see why weather was invented anyway.

Mrs. Watts—If it were not for the weather there are a good many men who would never turn their eyes heavenward at all.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Question of Conjunctions.—Mudge—I never had any chance in this world, but I have remained honest.

Wickwire—You mean you have never had a chance, and you have hence remained honest.—Washington Star.

He Too Had Eaten Olives.—"My mouth is all in a pucker since I ate those olives," she said, as she turned her sparkling eyes full upon him.

And he was not at all like the young man who could not grasp the suggestion of the situation.—Detroit Free Press.

Summer Boarder—Oh, Mrs. Furrow, will you let me have four of your biggest doughnuts?

Mrs. Furrow (highly flattered)—Certainly. You kin have a dozen of 'em.

Summer Boarder—Four will be enough. I want to use them for quoits.—Judge.

Not Inherited.—"It's queer that young Jenkins should be such a rounder."

"Why?"

"His father is one of the squarest men in this town."—Cleveland Leader.

"And you are the gentleman who was saying that a woman knows nothing of economy!" exclaimed the business man's wife as she surveyed the scene of the burglary.

"Why this loss is one that I couldn't have foreseen. I locked everything up with scrupulous care."

"Of course you did. Nobody but a man would think of compelling burglars to ruin a $250 safe in order to get $11 in money and a bundle of promissory notes."—Washington Star.

"Can you tell me, professor, if this amber jewelry is genuine?"

"Oh, that's easily determined. Soak it in alcohol twenty-four hours. If it's genuine, it will then have disappeared."—Fliegende Blaetter.

"I love you!" exclaimed the Count, and a look of deep affection welled up in his aristocratic face.

"I love you!" he repeated. They were alone in the elegantly appointed drawing-room of Boodlegreat, Sr.

"I love you!" he protested for the third time, and, taking up Boodlegreat's chequebook, which had been left on the table, the Count warmly pressed it to his breast.—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Counsel—What is your age, madam?

Witness—I only know from what I've been told, and you just told me that hearsay evidence was not valid in court.

"Why do you always have your eggs boiled?"

"I prefer them in a form which requires them to be opened in my presence."

Uncle Silas (in art gallery)—Giminy crickets, Maria, I tell them artists is old fellers!

Aunt Maria—How do you know?

Uncle Silas—Why, look at that air picter. It's signed "Jones, '07."

Barnstormer—Yes, when we opened at Skaneateles the audience went into a perfect tumult.

Tiewalker—Greatly egg-sighted, eh?

Marketman—Yes, sir, steaks have gone up lately.

Epicurus—I thought as much. That last one I bought from you struck me as being rather "high."

"Dearest!" The New Woman spoke affectionately to her delicate young husband. His deft fingers were busily sewing buttons upon her ample bloomers, while with his foot he gently rocked the baby.

He looked up sweetly into her eyes.

"What is it, darling?" he lovingly inquired.

"Dearest," she repeated approvingly, "these pies are better than those mother used to make."

And his heart was inexpressibly gladdened by the words of appreciation from his stronger half.

The Circassian looked with disgust upon the sword swallower.

"Sir," she said haughtily, "do you suppose for a moment that I would place my children with a father who ate his pie with a knife? No; I reject your proposal."

But he was not perturbed. Deftly juggling the pie in one hand, while he played carelessly with the knife in the other, he lightly retorted:

"Ah! you mistake me. I am even more punctilious than you, dearest."

Suiting his actions to the word, he gulped down the pastry and skillfully disposed of the shining blade in a single swallow.

She threw herself lovingly into his arms.

Catarrh of Long Standing Relieved in a Few Hours.

It is not alone the people of our own country, and prominent citizens like Urban Lippe, M.P. of Joliette, Que., and other members of Parliament, who, having used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, pronounce it the most effective remedy ever known, but people everywhere are expressing their gratification at the effectiveness of this medicine. C. G. Archer, of Brewer, Maine, says: "I have had catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and since using the wonderful remedy I have not had an attack. I would not be without it." It relieves in ten minutes. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 399 George Street.

THE SOFTEST SNAP.

I have looked about this world here
For a really good profession;
I have sat up with my daddy
In fully many a weary session.
We have talked of surgery, and
We have talked of medicine;
We have talked about the lawyers,
And the laurels poets win.

We have looked the whole field over
With the deepest meditation
For the thing exactly suited
To a fellow of my station.
We have thought of architecture;
We have bothered those in art;
We have likewise looked deep into
The conditions of the mart.

I have tried my hand at music—
I've composed a march that's dirgy;
I have even gone so far that
I have thought about the clergy.
I have thought that I would publish;
I have thought I'd take a farm;
But I've missed the one vocation
That has held the highest charm.

It was on the grass-green golf links
That I got the inspiration,
Where I found the work quite suited
To a fellow of my station.
When I saw a plain young chappie,
With a somewhat Scottish name,
Teaching several lovely ladies
All the fine points of the game.

Sure to Be Serviceable.

In the practical housekeeper's wardrobe this season there are a half dozen very serviceable garments that one may call by the good old-fashioned, comfortable sounding name of wrappers. These are made of linen, Madras and gingham volantes, all durable and designed to stand any number of washings. They are cut after the Princess model, the one so much in vogue some years ago. The sleeves fit close below the elbow, the skirts have several small ruffles about them and at neck and waist white embroidered linen collars will be worn or little frills of washable lace. The fronts are closed all the way down with pearl buttons and buttonholes. At each side there is stitched a pocket at a convenient distance below the waist line. There is nothing fancy about these little summer house robes—not even their names, but there will not be any garments more useful to the practical housewife than these. They are models of neatness and are certainly comfortable.

LACROSSE.

The following will be the Peterboroughs team for Monday's game in Port Hope. They will please report at the G.T.R. station at 11.45 a.m:—Dobbin (Capt.), goal; Brown, point; King, cover point; Mein, Glover and Borland, defence; McCabe, centre; Lipsett, Rubidge, and McDonough, home; Phalen, outside home; McCabe, inside home; J. Begley, field captain. As will be observed another change is being made as an experiment on the defence. King is to play at cover point and Borland is moved out to his old position in the field again.

Last evening the members of the lacrosse club visited the new Y.M.C.A. at the invitation of the general secretary, who threw open the various departments for their inspection. All the boys took advantage of the baths and enjoyed the evening so much that doubtless some arrangements will be made whereby the club can join the Y.M.C.A. as a whole. After viewing the building refreshments were served, the boys being looked after by Secretary Williamson and Messrs. James Connal and Harry Martin.

At a subsequent meeting of the club a cordial vote of thanks was moved to the Association and to Mr. Williamson for the members of the club.

COUNTY REGISTRAR.

All Else Failing Mr. Geo. O. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Port Hope (Special) July 5.—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Geo. C. Ward, Registrar of this county, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his intimate friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

Here is the Way.

To cure all heart and nerve troubles and weak, weary, tired feeling, sleeplessness, nervousness, etc., do as Mr. Thos. Glover, Chatham, Ont., did. Says Mrs. Glover: "One box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured me. I was so bad that I feared paralysis, but am now well and strong, thanks to these wonderful pills."

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

Through the Crown of your Hat.

Regular hat store prices are revolutionised in our hat department; and bear in mind that our hat department is as big as any ordinary hat store. Take a look through our immense piles of hats of all kinds, and you'll find the newest and nobbiest shapes of light summer felts and straws that have had a quarter and a third chipped off the price. It's foolish extravagance to pay $3 for some highly-advertised manufacturer's hat—$2 for the hat and the balance for the name in the crown. We sell the newest of finest felt shapes for men, made of a good felt, with the same silk bands, warranted not to change colour, and to wear as long as any $3 hat—or your money back—for $2. This is an instance where we can talk better through our hats. It is not much of a trick to sell straw hats at this season of the year. Perhaps we'd not the "leaders" in the hat trade, but we're the SELLERS, and that suits us just as well. Gentlemen's fine American straw hats for 75c, worth $1.25; very light weight straw hat, 50c., worth 90c.; fine straw hats, 20c., worth 40c.; boys' hats, 10c., 15c., 20c. and up to 65c. We sell as we buy. In this respect, this store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

They are Getting Down to Work at San Francisco Early Morning Prayers and Sight-Seeing.

San Francisco, July 9.—The sessions of the Christian Endeavorers' convention last evening, both at the Mechanics' Pavilion and Woodward's Pavilion, were even more largely attended than those held in the morning, and fully 20,000 people listened to the proceedings at the Mechanics' Pavilion, the services being conducted by Rev. Robert F. Coyle of Oakland. Rev. Ezra Tinker of Washington, D. C., leading in the devotional exercises.

The second day of the Christian Endeavor convention opened this morning bright and pleasant. It is not visible that the many who came to town wearing their thinnest summer clothing have taken on more substantial protection against the cool breezes from the Pacific. As early as daylight this morning little parties of a dozen or two score could be seen going toward the parks, the Cliff House and the beach in search of pleasure, while hundreds of others attended the early morning prayer services at the different churches. Long before the hour for calling the meetings to order in Mechanics' and Woodward's Pavilions, crowds filled every available space in the big buildings. The latter were even more enthusiastic than on the first day of the convention, nearly all having had sufficient time to recover from the fatigue of a long journey.

Secretary Baer is elated at the success of the meeting and says no convention has ever had such a meeting place.

Fine California fruits and flowers have been artistically arranged in numerous booths in the Pavilion, and each delegate is invited to sample the fruit and carry away a pamphlet, reciting the resources of each county in California. The total number of registrations at headquarters this morning is announced as nearly 20,000, of whom 7000 are from California. Arrangements have been made by the Chinese converts to show special attention to visiting Endeavorers. Rev. Kee Gam, head of the Congregational Church Mission, promises free guides to all who wish to go through Chinatown. All the Chinese missions of different denominations will hold receptions during the week, when all visiting Endeavorers will be welcomed and served with refreshments in Chinese style.

The presentation of the badge banner to the country making the greatest proportionate gain in number of societies during the last 12 months, which has been in possession of Scotland the past year, and which was won by Ireland, was presented by the United Society by Rev. Charles A. Dickinson of Boston. The junior badge banner was awarded to Spain.

The badge banner for the greatest increase in number of societies during the past year, which had been held by England, was retained and presented to the same country, the address being delivered by Rev. W. J. Darby of Evansville, Ind.

The junior banner for the greatest increase in number of societies held by Pennsylvania for three years, was wrested from the Keystone State by Ohio, whose representatives were extremely enthusiastic when the presentation was made by Rev. J. Z. Tyler of Cleveland. Then a poem, "The Army of Daybreak," by Rev. Ernest Warburton Shurtleff of Plymouth, Eng., was read.

Christian Endeavorers crowded the various churches, where meetings were to be held to-day. The topic of all these was the Christian Endeavor pledge, and the leaders were Rev. C. W. Finch, Cookshire, Quebec; Rev. J. H. Barton, Caldwell, Idaho; Miss Tyler, Wilkinson Temple, Texas; Mr. John R. Gamer, Rushville, Ark.; Judge W. S. Dewey, Cairo, Ill.; Rev. D. W. Fahns, Independence, Iowa; A. G. Lellingwell, Appleton, Wis., and Rev. O. C. Sargent of Claremont, N.H.

The regulations of conventions were commenced simultaneously at the big pavilions at 9.30 o'clock. At Woodward's Pavilion President Clark presided and R. Powell Evans of San Francisco was musical director. After singing and devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. James McLean of Great Village, Nova Scotia, an address on the Senior Society of Christian Endeavor was delivered by Barton W. Perry of San Leandro, Cal.

The Only Perfect Dyestuffs in the World.

The scientific preparation of dyestuffs and putting them up in proper shape for family dyeing has been brought to perfection by Wells & Richardson Co., who are proprietors of the celebrated Diamond Dyes.

These popular dyes have banished from the homes of Canada madder, fustic, logwood, cochineal and all other antiquated dyestuffs. The work of home dyeing is now done quickly and successfully by Diamond Dyes; the process is one that would astonish our grand parents.

To-day millions all over the world use the scientific Diamond Dyes in preference to all others. Diamond Dyes commend themselves to all who use them, because they are the strongest, brightest and fastest, and the easiest to work with.

Diamond Dyes, like all other perfect and popular preparations are largely imitated in style of package and the way they are put up. These imitations are worthless and adulterated dyes, ruinous to all kinds of goods and dangerous to handle. Great caution is advised when buying dyes for home use. Ask only for the "Diamond"; see that the name is on every packet.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

The Head Master.

Gentlemen,—I have found great satisfaction in the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberries, and consider it invaluable in all cases of diarrhœa and summer complaint. It is a pleasure to me to recommend it to the public.

OVERCOME BY THE HEAT.

Several Toronto Men Went Down Under the Scorching Rays Yesterday—John Willoughby One of Them.

Toronto, July 10.

Mr. John Willoughby, the popular track-master, was overcome by the heat at Queen and John streets yesterday afternoon. He was taken to his apartments, at the house of Mr. R. Ferguson, 85 Sullivan street, and was delirious last night. Three doctors are in attendance upon him. The sick man is a brother of Dr. Willoughby, M.L.A.

Isaac Pletcher, the well-known newspaper-street cigar man, was prostrated by the heat on Thursday, and has since been very ill at his home, 115 College-street.

Thomas Proctor, King-street east, was taken to the hospital yesterday, suffering from prostration by heat.

Yesterday afternoon a man named John Ring was prostrated by the heat at Queen and Caledonia streets, and was shortly removed to Grace Hospital. When he recovered he was in such exuberant spirits that the hospital authorities had to telephone for a patrol-waggon and Ring was taken to No. 3 Station, where he was locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

ECZEMA ON HANDS

Completely Covered, and Between the Fingers Skin Perfectly Raw.

Husband Had to Dress and Undress Her Like a Baby.

Physicians' Medicines Drove Her Almost Crazy.

Hears of CUTICURA. Husband Goes Twenty Miles for It.

First Application Gives Perfect Ease in Five Minutes, and a Night's Sound Sleep.

My hands were completely covered with Eczema, and between my fingers the skin was perfectly raw. I had to sit with both hands held up, and away from the fire. My husband had to dress and undress me like a baby. I tried the best physicians, but their medicines gave me no relief, and drove me almost crazy. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES, and did so, although my husband had to go twenty miles to get them. As soon as he got back, I used the CUTICURA (ointment), and in five minutes after the first application I was perfectly easy, and slept soundly all that night. Before I commenced using CUTICURA REMEDIES I could get no ease night or day. I could not bear to get warm, it would put me in a rage of itching. I always keep CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house now, and recommend them to everybody, because of their wonderful effect. Yours gratefully,
AGNES M. HARRIS, Push, Mecklenburg Co. Va
